CHIEF WARDEN PIRNIE CALLS FOR MANY MORE VOLUNTEERS IN EXETER'S RAID DEFENSE

Chief Air Raid Warden James A. Pirnie this week emphasized the need for more wardens in Exeter, where at least 100 registered volunteers are needed in that town alone.

Although there was a large attendance at the first air raid warden class in Exeter, Chief Warden Pirnie explained that many of the number included volunteers from surrounding towns.

A second class was held in Robinson Seminary, Monday night, and it was prior to this session that the call for additional volunteers was sounded.

Two posts for Exeter and surrounding territory have been manned since Christmas day. Almon R. Pingree post, American Legion, supplied volunteers for the newly established post at Shaw's hill.

A constant watch is kept from the cupola at Robinson seminary, where a telephone has been installed.

Exeter's defense organization is not complete, but those who have registered for duty at the observation posts and at the control center, are doing their part in the huge civilian defense program.

Women are eligible for warden duty at the observation posts and control centers during the day.

What Are We Waiting For?

By the time this greets the readers' eyes, it may have happened, but at the writing, the American people are wondering if it isn't about time that Uncle Sam threw some of the enemy's foul tactics of warfare back into the yellow and surly faces of the Japanese.

Goodness knows no warring nation ever deserved more retaliation than the barbaric Japs. Even the world's closest approach to the devil, Hitler himself, could not set his distorted mind to more horrible deeds than the cowardly sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and the shameful bombing of undefended Manila.

Let's hope that we Americans aren't going to sit back, as trustful Great Britain did for quite a while, hoping that the enemy will see the error of their ways and start fighting an honorable kind of war. All the way through the conflict it has been shown that all the honor the Axis warlords possess you could shove between the slanted eyelids of a Jap.

America is, or soon should be, in a position to send swarms of heavy bombers roaring over the

LLOYD'S SEES BOMB ATTACKS ON THIS AREA

There is little comfort for this section in a revelation by Eric Huddleston, a professor at the University of New Hampshire, that Lloyd's of London is giving 100 to 1 odds that the Portsmouth area will be bombed before the war is over.

Speaking at the Kittery ARP School, Tuesday night, Professor Huddleston said he agreed this would be a "logical place" to raid, but he did not personally believe the area would be attacked. Many of his listeners, however, remained impressed by the great number of times that Lloyd's has wagered on the right side.

"Blackouts and Shelters" was the subject of Prof. Huddleston's talk. He urged that the attics be cleared out and all inflammable material be removed or destroyed. "Now is the time to plan for the worst possible conditions. I believe we are going to be warned in time to take the proper precautions before anything happens."

He also told his listeners that scattered houses in the country would not be any danger to the community if they were not completely blacked out. He cited England where none of these had received a direct hit.

Exeter To Provide Sand For Raids

Sand will be distributed on every street in Exeter next Monday, providing the weather is favorable, so that householders may put it in pails and other receptacles for use in fighting incendiary bomb fires in case of an enemy air attack.

A call has been issued by Chief Air Raid Warden James B. Churchill, for additional volunteers to serve at the air raid lookout, where a new shelter has been built and stoves, cots and a telephone have been installed.

Graduation of members of the wardens' class is scheduled Monday, Jan. 12.

It's Safer In Army Than Coming Home

Second Lieut. Robert Johnson of Newmarket has been assisting in wartime preparations at Fort Devens in Massachusetts without suffering a casualty.

However, he came home for the holidays, and returned to his station with a broken arm.

While climbing a fence in the woods near his home on the last day of his leave, he fell and broke the arm between the wrist and elbow.

EXETER SEES WAR EFFECT ON ACADEMY

The regular schedule of Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter is not expected to be changed by war conditions, but there may be revision in the summer session which has been held for the past 20 years.

America's entrance into the war has not demanded the armed services of any academy students, since their ages are below the selective service minimum, and even the enlistment minimum.

Two faculty members, however, are in the government service, Dr. Andrew Longacre, instructor in physics, on a leave of absence, is working for the government in the laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Robert H. Bates, instructor in English, is in Washington as chief consultant of cold weather equipment for the army. Ransom V. Lynch, instructor in English, has resigned to enlist.

U. N. H. LEADERS USE VACATION FOR PARLEYS

Pres. Engelhardt, who is chairman military affairs committee of the American Association of State Universities, gathered with civilian and military officials who are tackling educational problems brought on by the war.

Other New Hampshire faculty members in attendance at meetings will include: Raymond Keesey at the National Association of Teachers of

OVER FOUR MILLION YEARLY WAGE TOTAL GIVEN FACTORY HELP IN ROCKINGHAM COUNTY

The Bureau of Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports that a survey of New Hampshire manufacturers made in 1939, under the supervision of Thomas J. Fitzgerald, chief statistician for manufacturers, showed there were 91 industrial establishments in Rockingham County, with a 1940 population set at 58,142.

The yearly average number of workers employed in these plants was 4,932, their wages, $4,194,388; cost of materials, supplies, fuel, etc, $8,608,086; value of products, $16,586,435, and value added by manufacture, $7,978,349. Some of these figures are altered somewhat by a complicated set of notations which space does not permit this newspaper to publish.

Industrial groups are divided in the voluminous report from No. 1 to No. 20, and the manufacture of shoes and other leather products is far ahead in the number of factories engaged in work. The census report discloses that there were 28 such plants in operation in Rockingham County during the period covered by the survey.

It is also said that there were these other establishments: 19, food and

FIFTY ATTEND REUNION AT FILION HOME

Fifty members of the family, including 13 children of the couple, attended a Christmas afternoon reunion at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Filion on the Packers' Falls road in Newmarket. Two others were absent—Mrs. Robert Filion and her infant son, Richard, who had not yet left Exeter Hospital.

Among the guests at the gathering, where there was a distribution of gifts and a buffet lunch, were Mrs.

by both color and disposition, may well think that their earthquakes and tidal waves of the past were mere dress rehearsals.

Possibly, as a radio commentator said the other night, Uncle Sam has a very good reason for delaying such an attack upon the Nipponese.

This may be true, but it doesn't abate the present blood-thirstiness of the American people. Americans are not ordinarily a blood-thirsty race, but some awful things have happened out there in the Pacific that thoroughly warrant their demand for revenge.

So, let's "Buy Bonds and Drop Bombs."

Nutritious Items On January Food Stamp Plan List

Families participating in the Food Stamp program in New Hampshire will begin the new year with virtually all the nutritious foods which made up the December blue stamp list again available for purchase with free blue stamps.

Philip B. Hearn, state administrator of the Surplus Marketing administration, has announced that all commodities which were on the December blue stamp list, except raisins, have been retained on the January list.

"This month again," Mr. Hearn declared, "the ten thousand persons participating in the food stamp plan in New Hampshire will be enabled to enrich their diets with a wide variety of American farm products. By lifting the dietary levels of needy families as a means of stabilizing farm markets, the Surplus Marketing administration is making a two-fold contribution to the Food for Freedom program."

The complete list of foods available for purchase with blue stamps during the period from January 1 to January 31 includes butter, pork (except that cooked or packed in glass or metal containers), fresh grapefruit, pears, apples, oranges, fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, self-rising flour, and whole-wheat (graham) flour.

The campaign was conducted by Chairman L. J. Waldron and a large committee of canvassers.

Double Charges For Summer Home Robbery

A Rochester man is out under bond pending a hearing next Saturday and a Gonic man is being detained at the Strafford County House of Correction for appearance before the February term of superior court on charges of entering and breaking, and assault and battery, as the result of misdemeanors committed earlier this month, ranging from Milton to Winter street, this city, and culminating with their arrest and subsequent appearance in Rochester municipal court this week.

Arraigned before Judge Gardner S. Hall Tuesday morning, Raymond Ritchie, 29, of Gonic, through his attorney Justin A. Emery, waived reading of a warrant charging him with breaking and entering the summer home in Milton of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Otis of Prospect street, this city, on December 15, and pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on Louis Weinstein, Winter street junk dealer, on the same date. Ritchie was temporarily freed pending further hearing January 6 when ordered to furnish bonds of $500 cash or $1,000 personal surety.

Phillip DeMerritt, 31, of Union St., this city, arranged with Ritchie and not represented by counsel, pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering. Judge Hall ordered him to furnish $1,000 cash or $2,000 personal surety, but being unable to find a bondsman, DeMerritt was committed to the house of correction pending his appearance before superior court in Dover next February.

The arrest of Ritchie and DeMerritt came as the result of an investigation by county and local officers of a report by Mr. Otis, baggagemaster at the Rochester railroad station, that he and his wife had gone to Milton December 14 and closed up their summer home, but that on returning the following day had found the place had been broken into and that a considerable amount of personal property was missing.

Clever sleuthing on the part of County Solicitor John F. Beamis, Deputy Sheriff Frank D. Callaghan and State Trooper Frank D. Manning assisted by Deputy Sheriff Stanley Tanner of Milton, who was first notified of the break, disclosed that DeMerritt and Ritchie had approached Louis Weinstein of Winter street and asked him to buy the stolen goods, but when Mr. Weinstein refused he

They had a horrible time over at Pathe trying to do a newsreel on "Young America Wants to Help" . . . Commentator Tex McCrary was there as were some American kids, Mrs. Roosevelt and an English youngster, who had been evacuated . . . Despair was rampant. Tex was tearing his hair, and cameramen were miserable because the English lad (used once before when he arrived) had acquired full-flowering Brooklynese in a Brooklyn school. He had shown up completely minus his immaculate British accent, and they simply could not get him to say "bawth-room"!

Innocent Bystander:
 Mrs. Roosevelt tells this story about Bunker Hill Monument, of which all New England is proud . . . When it was nearing completion there was difficulty in raising

$20,000 which was needed . . . A Mr. Laurence of Massachusetts gave $10,000, saying other New Englanders would surely help . . . But the other $10,000 came not from New Englanders, but from Judah Touro, a Jewish merchant of New Orleans . . . Mrs. Roosevelt likes to tell the story, she explains, "because it is the only piece of American history I ever told my husband that he didn't know before."

John Hearst, the newspaperman's boy, met a fellow in Reuben's the other middle-of-the-night, who once trimmed him with an old racket . . .

thieves, Deputy Sheriff Callaghan and Trooper Manning went to the home of DeMerritt on Union street Monday night, found both men there and placed them under arrest. Before leaving the house however, DeMerritt asked if he might go to the cellar to get wood to put on the fire. He was allowed to do so, but Callaghan, who had followed him, saw him toss away something which was found to be an unloaded .32 calibre revolver. Further search of the house revealed a supply of ammunition for the gun.

The recovered articles taken from the Otis home included a valuable brass kettle, home-made quilts and shawls, sheets, pillow slips, blankets and other household articles.

Mr. Otis estimated damage done to doors, windows and shutters of the house at about $300.

Both men it was learned have previous police records, Ritchie having received a 60-day suspended sentence on payment of costs of $20.12 on a charge of larceny of junk on Dec. 20, 1937, and DeMerritt having appeared in Rochester court on Nov. 5, 1932 and receiving a one-year suspended sentence for breaking and entering; in Dover court on April 13, 1936 for larceny and receiving a 3-month suspended sentence on payment of costs; and again in Rochester court on Dec. 3, 1940 for theft, receiving a 4-month suspended sentence on payment of costs.

portant as human rights . . . Perhaps Life magazine is a jinx. First it went all-out for a baseball rookie who never lived up to their sugary words about him. Then Life threw a book of pretty orchids at a football team in Texas which got licked and went right into a losing streak. Now Life hangs a blue ribbon around a show whose star has become very ill and forced the play's postponement . . . Jim Young's piece in Flying and Popular Aviation is eye-arresting.

The Front Pages: Mr. Woolcott got a little originality into his back-from-Europe interview. He recalled that the funniest thing said in the Old Country during his sojourn was a little ad lib of his own—"Oh, to be in England now that Averell is here!" . . . He also declined to be quoted on something he could sell—which is a line from his character in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" . . . A local copy-reader has a scrap-book of editorials walloping FDR for allegedly muzzling the press. His title for the collection is "In Defense of Hysteria" . . . In "The Chuckling Fingers," (a whale of a crime yarn) the author reports news photos setting up their tripods. What kinda torpedoes have they out West, holding still for portraiture?
