Students Scold Air Raid Warden

Phillips Exeter Academy students had evacuated their classrooms in exactly one and one-half minutes in a test conducted a short time before, it was announced at a meeting of Exeter civilian defense wardens and volunteer workers in the Exeter Town Hall, Monday night.

So seriously are the students taking these tests that one of them is reported to have commanded a warden to "Put out that cigaret!"

The procedure for wardens in reporting to the center was explained by Chief Air Raid Warden James A. Pirnie.

ELSIE BROWN HONORED BY LEGION UNIT

Mrs. Elsie Brown of Durham, chapeau departmental of the 8 and 40, the fun-making branch of the American Legion, was given a testimonial dinner recently in the president's dining hall at the University of New Hampshire.

The event was attended by many department officers, as well as past officers and officers of the Legion auxiliary. Greetings of the auxiliary were brought by Mrs. Verne Sawyer, department president, who praised Mrs. Brown's outstanding work for the auxiliary over a period of years.

Mrs. Brown has served the auxiliary as president of the Newmarket unit, then advanced to alternate district director and district director, a post she holds at the present time. She organized the Rockingham County salon, No. 264, 8 and 40, and served as its chapeau for two years. She has held the officers of demi-chapeau in the departmental for two years and was elected state head of the organization at the convention in Keene last June.

Mrs. Mabel Plourde, chapeau of the Hillsborough County salon, brought greetings from Manchester, and telegrams and messages were read and given from the other three salons throughout the state. Memoir cards were sent to Mrs. Leah O'Brien of

DR. ENGELHARDT ASKS GOAL FOR BETTER WORLD

Speaking at the final session of the three-day planning conference program of the N. H. Extension Service in Durham last Saturday, Dr. Fred Engelhardt, president of the University of New Hampshire, expressed the hope that American youths and adults, in performing their wartime tasks, will set as a goal the high purpose that "it shall not happen again."

Admitting the horrors of the Second World War, Dr. Engelhardt advised that people of the United States think more of the opportunity of constructing a better world after the war than miseries of the conflict while it is in progress.

Adhering to these principles and with full realization of what they are fighting for, Americans need have no fear of the outcome, Dr. Engelhardt declared.

Here today, he continued, is an opportunity for every loyal American, an opportunity that will come once in a lifetime, to buckle down and have a glorious part in a tremendous task, with the goal the end of war and the beginning of real peace.

The opportunity, he said, and the responsibility, is so tremendous that unless America fully realizes both, then, he said, the cause surely will be lost. Many things must happen in this war, he said, if we are to win, end war, and write a real peace. All must realize, he insisted, that the job cannot be done by the same processes as used to win the first war.

Turning to the problems of the college student, Dr. Engelhardt insisted that boys should continue in college and colleges should continue to prepare youth, until they have the background and the maturity for war tasks.

THREE EXETER CRASHES DUE TO ICY ROADS

Three automobile accidents occurred in Exeter, Saturday while most all of New England was experiencing motoring difficulties due to slippery road conditions.

In the afternoon, a bus containing members of the Tufts hockey team, which clashed with the University of New Hampshire in Durham in the evening, skidded from the road near the home of James A. Tufts, Jr., between Exeter and Hampton. The trip was completed. Cars driven by Fred A. Goddard of 19 Highland St., Exeter, and Leonard Wright of Portsmouth avenue, Exeter, collided on Water street Saturday morning in another skidding mishap. Drivers were unhurt but the cars were damaged.

At the same spot, the same morning, a car owned by William Rusine of Exeter and driven by his son, William, Jr., collided with a car driven by Pearl E. Swain of North Hampton. Minor damage to both cars resulted.

Woman's Club Meets In Exeter

The Exeter Woman's Club met in the Pine Room of the Exeter Inn on Tuesday, Jan. 6 at 2:30 p. m. The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance to the American flag and the singing of "America." The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved.

Miss Henriette Gallant made a plea for more workers from club members at the Red Cross rooms. Miss Drake from Rye spoke on the nurse's aide course to be given in Exeter. Mrs. Winthrop Fiske asked that a member be appointed from the club to a general committee which will formulate plans for this course.

Mrs. Harold Smith, chairman of the civic and welfare department introduced the speaker, Prof. Charles Dobrovolsky, who gave an illustrated lecture on "Parasites in Disease and Common Food Poisons and How to Avoid Them".

Tea was served by Mrs. Everett Smith and her committee.

Humphreys Lucky As Team Captain

Charles Humphreys, husky guard on the Newmarket high school basketball team, has had 100 per cent good fortune while acting as captain of the quintet.

The team defeated the Alumni, Traip academy and the Farmington high School five in the first three games in which Humphreys captained the group.

WOMEN URGED TO BE READY FOR AIR RAIDS

The urgent need of Newmarket women being prepared to do their part in the various phases of civilian defense was emphasized by Mrs. Robert Bennett, chairman of the women's division of the Civilian Defense Committee, at the most recent meeting of the Newmarket Women's Club.

The speaker told of work being done by the groups already organized, such as first aid, air raid warden and driving corps classes and said other classes in canteen work, home nursing, ambulance driving and nutrition were being formed.

Mrs. Bennett said many women who have expressed eagerness to help the cause will soon be able to sew on first aid belts to be made of ticking and blue uniforms to be worn by women engaged in home nursing work.

There was also an interesting talk by Mrs. Philip Wilcox, home economics teacher at the University of New Hampshire, who stressed the vital part that nourishing meals will play in the defense program.

Forty per cent of the American people do not eat the proper food, Mrs. Wilcox said, and this is not due, in many cases, to a lack of food or a lack of money, but to a lack of planning. She cited three means of giving the masses better menus; first, a better distribution of food products; second, a more intelligent use of foods and third, better menu planning.

Mrs. Irene Walsh, presided at the business meeting. Plans were completed for a food sale held Friday at the Electric Light office. Mrs. Lil-

NEWMARKET'S SCHOOL COAL COST ASSAILED

The methods of purchasing coal for the town departments in Newmarket, especially the schools, are sternly criticized in a few paragraphs of a long report prepared by John D. Langmuir, executive director of the N. H. Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, who charges that public waste in purchases of supplies for New Hampshire cities and towns amounts to half a million dollars annually.

Exeter is also mentioned in the report, which points out that the schools there use 150 tons of soft coal annually, which is not purchased on bids. "In spite of its relatively large tonnage," Mr. Langmuir says, "the school department receives a discount of only 50 cents a ton, and might save as much as $2 additional on each ton."

Regarding the situation in Newmarket, the report states:

"The buying of coal in Newmarket is open to very severe criticism. With the evidence before them of proper purchasing methods, the town officers cannot fail to realize what present methods are costing the town as a whole. The shining example of proper purchasing is the water department. This little department uses only 25 tons of coal yearly, but it buys this quantity all at once, and it buys all on bids. As a result, the water department pays $8.35 a ton.

"Yet the schools, although buying from the same dealers as the water department, and buying a similar grade of coal, pays $9.50 and $10 a ton for it, asking for no bids. There seems actually reason to believe that the School Board at the same time and on similar grades of coal, is paying one retail dealer $9.50 a ton and the other retail dealer $10 a ton, yet without objection from the board.

"The contrast is emphasized again when it is pointed out that the water department's coal is said to be purchased at $1.65 under the retail price whereas the schools, using six times as much coal, pay from 50c to $1 under retail."

CAR HITS POLE, IS ABANDONED IN NEWMARKET

Newmarket police were confronted with a mystery early Monday morning when they found a 1936 black Ford sedan bearing Massachusetts registration plates abandoned at Wright's corner on the Exeter road, after it had crashed into an electric light pole. Blood spots indicated that the driver had suffered minor injuries, but a check of hospitals failed to reveal his identity, and the automobile plates had been issued such a short time before the accident that the numbers were not recorded even in Boston. The car was towed to a Newmarket garage. A number of farms are situated in the section where the crash occurred and power was disrupted so that electrical machinery could not be operated Monday morning. The investigation of the mishap was made by Officer John Vallier of Newmarket police.

U. N. H. Hockeyists Trim Tech Team

The University of New Hampshire hockey team pinned a 3-2 defeat on Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Durham last Saturday afternoon in an overtime game in which Larry Perkins rammed home the victorious goal. Perkins made good on a pass from Adams after seven minutes of the extra session had elapsed. Others to score for New Hampshire were Sakoian (unassisted) and Adams (Quinn). Meanwhile, on the same day, the Wildcats' basketball team was defeated by Tufts to the tune of 50-29. This contest was also staged in Durham.

and shortage of lumber for farm automobiles, a possible shortage of gasoline and a scarcity of farm labor. At the same time, the Extension Service has revealed that nearly 30,000 rural residents of New Hampshire sought guidance and technical information from the organization during the past year. Some 12,000 men of the farm received direct benefit, with 10,000 of them signed in the soil conservation programs. The women's programs reached another 10,000 rural folks with tips and topics on better home making, and 8,000 rural boys and girls and older rural youth were reached by the broad 4-H club program.

Hampton Is Tied With N. H. S. Five

Unofficial ratings compiled by the University of New Hampshire News Bureau show that the undefeated Portsmouth, Somersworth and Epping high school fives are leading in their respective classes for participation in the 21st annual interscholastic basketball tournament scheduled at the University of New Hampshire in Durham, March 26-28. Newmarket and Hampton are tied for eighth place in Class B, where the competition is exceptionally keen. These ratings are based on the point system used in the selection of teams for the tournament. Victories at home are awarded five points, victories away from home six points. Class A teams receive no credit for games played with other than A teams. Class B and C victories over Class A teams are recorded although losses to Class A teams are disregarded. Out of state teams are classified as accurately as possible so that games with teams in neighboring states may be computed in the standings.

Exeter Debating Societies Elect

Phillips Exeter Academy's two debating societies have elected the following officers:
Golden Branch, Thomas Wallace, pres.; Lewis Wheelock, vice pres.; Andrew Lewis, sec., and Eugene Vidal, treasurer; the G. L. Soule, Robert Zollner, pres.; James Harper, vice pres.; Douglas Cater, sec., and Minot Simons, treas.

A refresher course in elementary fire-fighting was given for members of the ladder company, Monday night, with Ray Simpson and Jack Noonan as instructors.

The final session of Exeter's air raid warden school was scheduled at Thomson Gymnasium at Phillips Exeter Academy last night, with Theodore Gunn of Peterborough as the principal speaker. An interesting feature was a demonstration on how to combat incendiary bombs by Mr. Gunn. A cage was used for the demonstration so that the flames could reach considerable height with out endangering the building.

Auerbach Named To Cadet Board

Prof. Eugene K. Auerbach of the University of New Hampshire has been named to the New Hampshire Aviation Cadet Committee, headed by State Director of Aeronautics Russell Hilliard as chairman. The committee, announced by Lieut. Col. John L. Rice, Corps Area recruiting officer, will organize in 10 New Hampshire districts educational "refresher" classes for applicants who lack one-half the credits necessary for a college degree. Aviation cadet examinations are scheduled in February, May, August and November.

First Aid Class Opens In Exeter

The first class in emergency first aid for instructors was held at Exeter high school, last week, with 44 men and women of Exeter and nearby towns in attendance. At subsequent sessions, the attendance was also encouraging. Joseph Curran is acting as assistant to Mr. Tytus in the class work. Many of those who are attending this course have had the standard 20 hour course in first aid, but are working for the instructors certificates to act as teachers for groups of people desiring to take the standard course.

Skuse Tendered Farewell Party

J. Richard Skuse was given a farewell party at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. Ross Baird, in Exeter, prior to his departure for military service at Fort Devens in Massachusetts. The young men had previously served with the United States Marines at Quantico. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Skuse, 13 Halplace. After the family came to Exeter from Berlin, N. H., he attended Exeter High school for one year and graduated from the Phillips Exeter academy in 1937. He received his AB degree from Tufts college in 1941. While in college, he studied journalism. He was publicity agent for his class and was sports correspondent for the Boston Post at that time.

SCHOOLS MAKE QUICK TIME IN RAID DRILLS

In school air raid drills worked out in Newmarket, it is possible to complete an emergency rehearsal at the high and primary schools in one minute and at the Stone school in 35 seconds. The signal at the high school is continuous ringing of the inside bell. Students march in orderly manner to the lower hall, while a safety squad of boys from the seior class remains on the top floor to fight possible incendiary bombs and fires. In case of an air raid, all windows will be opened and shades lowered to absorb shock from exploding bombs. The primary school pupils, signaled by two rings of the bell, form against the inside wall of their room in a column of twos. Pupils on the second floor march to the lower rooms and line up against the wall for added protection. In an emergency, they would proceed the same as in a fire drill. At the Stone school, where there are windows on both sides, the children formed in the center of the room.

BIRTHDAY STAG PARTY IS HELD FOR MONGEON

Camile Mongeon, one of Newmarket's prominent young athletes, was entertained at the home of Charles Humphreys on Main street with a surprise stag party given in honor of his 19th birthday. S. S. Humphreys acted as chef, a la supreme, with Andy March as assistant. Ralph Silver was toastmaster and delighted the guests with his original wit and humor. Camile's response to the singing of "Happy Birthday to You," was "Why Did You Do This for Me?" The party disbanded at a late hour after a very pleasant evening. A meeting of the Newmarket Civilian Defense Committee is scheduled at headquarters over the N. H. Gas & Electric Co., office, Monday night. Mrs. Arthur Palmer, who has been under treatment at the Lahey Clinic in Boston, is now a patient at Exeter Hospital.

It was learned this week that :wart V. McCormack is resigning assistant headmaster of Newmar high school to become headmaster Hollis high school about Feb. 1. The Newmarket School Board which regrets to lose Mr. McCormack but at the same time is pleased o his advancement, will soon receive from Supt. H. Raymond Danforth names of candidates for successor Mr. McCormack, a native of Milf, and graduate of the University of N Hampshire. Due to selective service and tractive government positions n open to women, several other teachers may be lost by next September, cording to Superintendent Danfort. He added, however, that Phil I Gregory, cadet teacher, who h joined the U. S. Air Corps, will r be replaced.

JOHNSTON SAFE IN HONOLULU RAID ON SHIP

Friends of Charles Johnston, former Newmarket high school athlete, have been pleased to learn that he is safe in Honolulu, where he was aboard the American warship Wes Virginia which was damaged by the Japanese on the opening day of the war with the United States. Word that the well known young man was safe was contained in a letter received by his father, Edward Johnston, who resides in Lee. Charles Johnston was graduated from Newmarket High with the class of 1938, after starring on the school's baseball team. He later pitched for a semi-pro nine in Newmarket.

Newmarket Boys Off To Devens

Four Newmarket young men were among a group of 20 given a hearty send-off as they left Portsmouth Monday morning to enter the United States Army at Fort Devens. Mayor Stewart E. Rowe presented a carton of cigarettes to each of the youth, and gifts and "good luck" messages came from other city officials and civic leaders. The Newmarket boys were Sidney Irving Keir, Rockingham Junction; Francis Edward Gilli, Ellsworth; Batchelder Macdonald, RFD 1, Henn Pelletier, 7 Nichols street. The New Market National Bank is placing a chart in its window to record contributions to Newmarket's first aid work.

THE LONE RANGER

Registered in
U. S. Patent Office

By Fran Striker

It's Now Or Never!

WAIT, DON'T BE FOOLHARDY! THERE ARE AT LEAST A SCORE OF OUTLAWS IN THE FRONT PART OF THIS CAVE!

I KNOW IT. EVERY ONE IS A MEMBER OF THE LEGION OF THE BLACK ARROW!

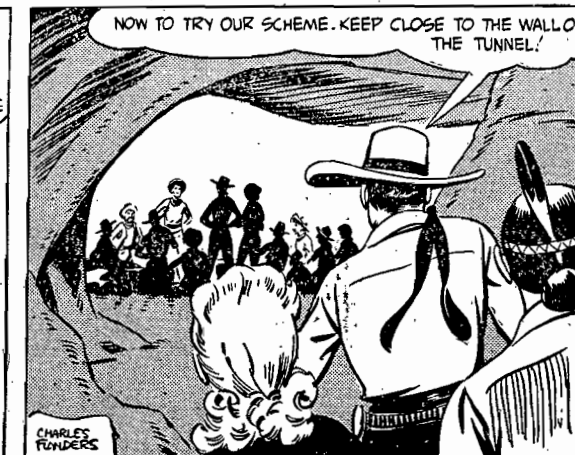

AND A MURDERER! YOU AND TONTO DON'T HAVE A CHANCE AGAINST SUCH ODDS

WE HAVE THE GUNS WE TOOK FROM BREALT AND HIS PARTNERS, AND I HAVE A PLAN!

WE'RE THE ONLY ONES WHO KNOW THIS IS HEADQUARTERS OF THE BLACK ARROW, JANE IF WE DON'T SMASH IT NOW AND FIND THE REAL LEADER, IT MIGHT MEAN THAT OUR WESTERN COUNTRY WILL BE TAKEN OVER!

NOW TO TRY OUR SCHEME. KEEP CLOSE TO THE WALL OF THE TUNNEL!

The Man Who Didn't Come Back

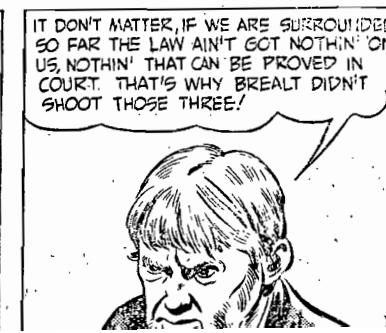

IT'S TIME BREALT WAS BACK. IT SHOULDN'T TAKE HIM AND THE OTHERS THIS LONG TUN SHOVE THE LONE RANGER AN' TONTO AN' THE GIRL OVER THE LEDGE!

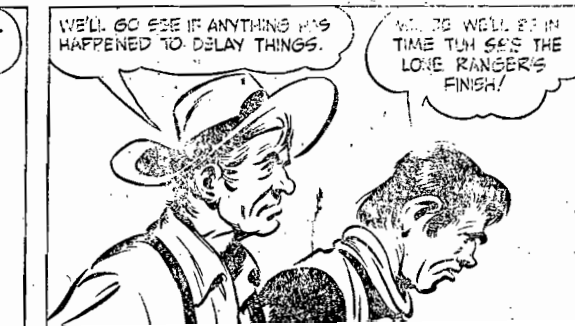

I AINT HEARD NO YELLS FROM 'EM, MEBBE WE SHOULD GO AN' INVESTIGATE.

D'YA THINK IT'S RIGHT THAT THE LONE RANGER HAS MEN SURROUNDIN' THE ENTRANCE TO THIS CAVE?

I DUNNO.

IT DON'T MATTER, IF WE ARE SURROUNDED, SO FAR THE LAW AIN'T GOT NOTHIN' ON US, NOTHIN' THAT CAN BE PROVED IN COURT. THAT'S WHY BREALT DIDN'T SHOOT THOSE THREE!

WE'LL GO SEE IF ANYTHING HAS HAPPENED TO DELAY THINGS.

WE'LL BE IN TIME TUN SEES THE LONE RANGER'S FINISH!

Lee Town Hall Used As School

The pupils who lost their classrooms when the South Lee school was destroyed by fire recently are now occupying improvised quarters in the Lee town hall.

Seats and desks have been installed and the pupils are studying from books gathered from schools in neighboring towns after their own were lost in the fire.

One Way To Get F.D.R. Autograph

Marilyn Smith, 11-year-old Newfields girl, decided the other day that President Roosevelt's signature should be among her collection of autographs.

So she dashed off a letter to the President, and at the end she added this P. S.: "If you are too busy to bother with this, please write and let me know."

Durham Woman At Conferences

Mrs. Harry W. Smith of Durham, state commander of the Women's Field Army, plans to attend a conference of the American Society for the Control of Cancer in New York. A more active role for the field army in national defense will be discussed.

Preceding the conference, Mrs. Smith in her capacity as national deputy commander of an area comprising Maine, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, attended a regional luncheon meeting in Schenectady January 14, at which physicians prominent in cancer control spoke, and the following day attended the state executive meeting in Rochester, N. Y. On January 20 she will go to Waterbury, Conn., for the state executive and workers meeting at which district commanders and physicians headed by Dr. Charles Larkin, chairman of the executive committee, will discuss plans for the year.

Advertising . . .

We challenge anyone anywhere to show us a town that grew and prospered without a local newspaper. In the same breath we challenge you to show us a prosperous merchant who didn't use the columns of HIS local paper to tell the citizens of HIS town the good buys at HIS store.

Among sponsors of the "What to Do in a Blackout" feature on the front page of this newspaper last week were several establishments, which, due to the nature of their business, do not fall into the category of regular advertisers.

These smaller establishments set a fine example, however, because their sponsorship of the air raid instructions showed their realization of the benefit of advertising, even on a small scale, as well as their patriotic eagerness to help prepare the townspeople for possible enemy attacks. We trust there was considerable appreciation of their contribution to this cause.

It should be pointed out that although a few participated, no particular pains were taken to induce our regular advertisers to support the project, since, as far as advertising is concerned, they are adequately covered through the usual channels, and they have other opportunities to aid the many phases of national defense.

Certainly, there should be little doubt of the influence and prestige of any newspaper, large or small. The little weekly that faithfully records every coat of paint splashed over the old town pump is as vital a part of its own community as the metropolitan daily which regales its vast list of readers with the glamour girls and political scandals.

Most business firms quickly grasp the opportunity to progress with their community and their newspaper. A few of them do not, however, and they even grumble if a competitor in a nearby city is willing to let the read-

Judge Shute

At 85 years of age, Exeter's grand old man, Judge Henry A. Shute, still carries on with physical spryness and mental brilliance.

The No. 1 Exonian, the "Pluppy" and author of the time-honored "Real Diary of the Real Boy", the veteran member of the old Exeter Band, and the lawyer whose staggering total of legal cases handled would resemble the sum of a foreign war debt, exemplifies every true characteristic of old Yankee stock.

Few communities are blessed as Exeter with a noble citizen who has lived such a long and useful life.

The writer felt genuinely honored the other day to have a chat with the venerable judge. He felt that out of thousands of people in this section of New Hampshire there could be no one who had enjoyed such distinction for more than four score years.

With customary modesty the judge was less talkative than ourself, when we reminisced about his authorship of "The Real Diary of the Real Boy", which still delights countless boys and girls with the mischievous pranks of "Pluppy" and the other real boys of Exeter many, many years ago.

"I wish you had known him", remarked Judge Shute as he pointed to an informal photo of the late Judge Templeton, his closest friend, which adorned the wall of his law office. Then the judge related with obvious sadness how Judge Templeton, who had contributed immeasurably to the progress of Exeter, had planned to witness Exeter's 300th anniversary parade with Judge Shute three years ago, but died suddenly the day before the historic event.

The fact that Judge Shute is still able to be so energetic in his daily duties at his law office was quite amazing to us, and in reply to a remark to this effect, the man who has become the shining symbol of Exeter, attributed his

Smelters Launch Great Bay 'Raid'

The Royal Order of Great Bay Smelters has established "head quarters" at the mouth of the Newmarket River, and from now on, it's every smelt for himself.

It will be a lucky smelt indeed that can elude this band of 15 fishermen who have constructed a 6 by 12 shelter as a base for stalking their finny prey.

They will fish from the stove-heated building, traveling to the smelt house in a snowmobile.

U.N.H. Trounced In Connecticut

With second-stringers playing most of the game, the University of Connecticut basketball team trounced the Wildcats from Durham, 57-36, in Storrs, Conn., Tuesday night.

The Huskies' first team was withdrawn by Coach Don White midway in the first period after rolling up a 29 to 9 lead. New Hampshire couldn't match Connecticut's second best, and never took the lead.

The score at halftime was 31 to 15. Hal Monica, New Hampshire forward, was high scorer, netting 13 points.

Durham Tomatoes To Benefit Hawaii

The people of Hawaii are expected to benefit from the early maturing tomatoes developed at the University of New Hampshire Agricultural Experiment Station in Durham.

Seeds of several of these strains of tomatoes have been shipped to Hawaii, says Dr. Albert F. Yeager, head of the Horticultural Department of the university, and leader in plant breeding work.

In a letter mailed December 24, the geneticists of Hawaii Sugar Planters Experiment Station asked for seed of the early bearing tomatoes, in hopes that they would provide an early crop before the rank virus and other diseases prevalent on the island could damage the plants seriously. Ordinary tomato varieties are hard to grow, because disease kills the plant before they have ripened fruits.

Tomato seed sticks sent to Hawaii add to the supply of early tomato seed in the islands, says Dr. Yeager, as samples of these tomato seeds have already been sent to the University of Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station for trial.

Exeter High School Notes

Monday evening of this week the Exeter High five were defeated by a powerful Pinkerton Academy team. The Exeter team had several disadvantages, such as height and the loss of an important player. The player was Ted Kukesh, who received an injured ankle during the game. With the loss of Kukesh, the team lost ground rapidly. The Pinkerton team, composed mostly of very tall players, scored quite a few points in the last period. The high scorer for the Exeter team was Gaulin, who tallied for 22 points. The game ended with a Pinkerton victory of 55 to 38.

Mid-year examinations were being held this week at the Exeter High school. The exams lasted for two hours each. They began Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 and two were held each day until Friday afternoon. This plan gave each boy a chance to display his half-year accomplishments on paper.

On Jan. 16 the high school basketball team plays one of the most important games of the season. The game is with Hampton academy and promises to be a good one. The

DISTRICT AIR RAID WARDENS ARE ASSIGNED

Although he believes that chances of gas attacks are remote, Stanley R. Shimer of Durham discussed four classes—tear, lung irritant, sneeze and blister—at the third session of the ARP school at Newmarket high school this week.

Speaking on the topic, "High Explosives and Gases and Duties of an Air Raid Warden," Mr. Shimer explained all details of this type of enemy attack and means of protecting raided areas.

James B. Griffin, deputy air warden, announced air raid wardens for local districts named to date.

The tentative list included Jack Cook, Charles LaBranch, Joseph Smalley, Emile Roy, Benj. LaBelle, Charles Marelli, Harry Basset, Walter Schultz, Alfred Zuk, Frank E. is only because they themselves have neglected to let their newspaper inform the people that they want their business.

They haven't any more right to complain about progressive competition than Joe Whatsis, the ditch digger, who thinks that he is getting a tough break because his cousin, Pete, educated himself for something better.

Fitanides Named On Greek Eleven

Theophilus "Tuffy" Fitanides, University of New Hampshire halfback, has been named on the Greek All-American eleven selected by the Atlantis, a Greek daily newspaper in New York.

Although only in his sophomore year, Fitanides appears as a first string halfback on the mythical team that lists such stars as Frank Londos of Washington State, Mike Baltisaris of Tennessee, and Nick Burke of Northwestern. The team was chosen by Sports Editor George Bacalles after a survey of all college players of Greek nationality.

In eight games this past season, the sensational sophomore proved himself in a field of backs considered the best in many years at the university. He carried the ball 51 times for a net gain of 288 yards, completed passes for 231 yards, and punted 12 times for an average of 35.5 yards. He scored two touchdowns, one on a 56-yard runback of a kick and hurled two scoring passes, the plays carrying 67 and 46 yards, respectively.

played considerable part in placing the judge on Father Time's favored list, but all who know the imminent gentleman are also aware that his devotion to the job of being an outstanding citizen, a capable lawyer and a civic leader in the finest sense of the word has kept him too busy to think of growing old.

It is Exeter's extremely good fortune that he has been able to serve so long.

And may his fine influence be felt for a long time to come!

200 Coeds Study First Aid Work

First aid courses are being taken by more than 200 coeds at the University of New Hampshire, in co-operation with the Durham chapter of the Red Cross.

The courses, which were started through the foresight of Gail Daly, a sophomore from Brookline, Mass., include bandaging, artificial respiration, transportation of injured persons and treatment of burns, cuts, internal injuries and shock. Upon completion of a 20-hour course, the girls plan to assist in the Durham Red Cross mobile disaster unit.

Miss Daly, Judith Austin of Warner and Marilyn Whitcomb of Bath are the student instructors.

Other instructors include: Eleanor Spillane, graduate assistant in the women's physical education department; Philip A. Wilcox, foreman of the university's poultry plant, and Mrs. Leon W. Glover, Mrs. Kenneth Barraclough, Miss Emily Collins, and Dr. Anna C. Rudd of Durham.

Exeter High Five Defeated 24-22

In an exciting game that was in doubt until the final whistle, Exeter high school was defeated 24-22 by Somersworth High in Exeter last Saturday night.

The contest was tied at 14-all at the end of the third period, but smart plays by Papatoneus and Noonan put the game on ice for the visitors.

The Exeter Jayvees also lost, the Somersworth Jayvees piling up 35 tallies against their 12.

Jury Deadlocked In Accident Suit

A jury which deliberated nearly 24 hours was unable to agree in Rockingham County Superior Court in Exeter in an action brought by Carl Walker through his father, Clarence Walker of Hampton, against Hollis A. Duant of Exeter, for injuries allegedly suffered in an automobile accident at Hampton Falls.

The panel was discharged by Justice A. J. Connor.

Smoke Disrupts Church Service

The Sunday night service was interrupted at the Advent Church in Exeter when an oil burner in the basement overflowed and flamed.

The heater was shut off and excess oil mopped from the floor. By the time firemen arrived on the scene only smoke was left.

Ned Shute Clings To Old Flag Pin

Edward A. (Ned) Shute of Exeter is still wearing an American flag pin which he placed on his coat lapel when the United States entered the first World War in 1917.

He thought of discarding the pin for a new one when he recently discovered it had broken, but Mrs. Shute's advice prevailed, and it was repaired by a jeweler.
