WAR SHOE WORKERS PRAISE

BEAR SCARES NEWMARKET'S FISHING PARTY

The thrilling experience of a large bear stalking their trail almost spoiled a brook trout fishing expedition for Selectman Stanley Szacik, his wife, and their companions, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knight, all of Newmarket, in Ossipee last week-end.

Fishing a stream in Ossipee Valley, Szacik and Knight decided to separate to learn where the speckled ones were biting the best, but it wasn't long before Szacik heard a rustling in the bushes and became startled. He was thoroughly alarmed a few moments later, when Knight, who was heading upstream, gave a shout, "Bear!"

In his excitement at actually seeing the bear, Knight fell into the river, ruining his favorite hat and rendering a half-smoked cigar no good for further use. The bear, apparently having not seen any of the party, was frightened by the splash, and fled.

When all members of the party, none of whom carried a gun for protection, recovered their wits, they decided to proceed to safer fishing grounds.

In spite of their fright, however, the party stayed in the Ossipee Valley section through the week-end and came home with a good catch of trout.

They had one consolation, too—bringing home a thrilling story which was absolutely true as well as fish in contrast with skepticism often shown after the angling escapades of one ardent Newmarket fisherman, Adolph "Dola" Pohopek.

NEWMARKET BOY BECOMES AIR MECHANIC

Edward W. Tourigny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Tourigny, 42 Spring street, Newmarket, is one of eight New Hampshire youths who have been graduated in the 13th class at the country's greatest Air Corps technical school at Keesler Field, Miss.

They were several hundred in the class who completed an intensive 19-week course in air mechanics and are now qualified to join fighting American air forces.

Starting in the aircraft maintenance fundamentals branch, the airplane mechanics advanced to airplane structures, hydraulic systems, propellers and instruments; then instruction in engines, electrical and fuel systems and engine operation. The final steps in their training included inspection of multi-motored planes.

Service for Portsmouth employees is now being provided by Filion and Hill bus oughlin, who enlisted in the navy after his recent graduation from Newmarket high school, stationed in Co. 438, 1st R. I., training sta-

PLEADING OUR OWN CASE

The Newmarket News is thoroughly justified in calling attention of Newmarket people to the fact that when county documents, such as administrator's notices, mortgage sales, and other such notices are to be published, no newspaper on sale or circulated in Newmarket offers such adequate coverage in reaching the town's population as the Newmarket News. We have easy and ample means of proving this statement.

On several occasions within recent weeks attorneys in Rockingham County, who apparently have discretion, or possibly the indiscretion, of placing these public advertisements wherever they see fit, have paid good money of their clients to insert them in their "favorite" publications, regardless of the ultimate benefit to parties involved. The clients, in most cases, entirely ignorant of social or political motives which might possibly be involved, seldom realize how little they receive in advertising value.

While it may be the prerogative of the at-

RAID REPORT POST IN NEED OF MORE HELP

A shortage of several volunteers to serve at the Newmarket air raid report center places the town in a dangerous position in the event of an emergency, it was stated this week by E. Albert Sewall, chairman of the local Safety Defense Council. Mr. Sewall reported that test warnings were coming through in increasing number, which would seem to indicate that officials believe the chances of an actual bombing in this area are becoming more real.

The location of Newmarket in the No. 1 danger area of the entire Atlantic seaboard should awaken people in this section to the treat of a surprise enemy attack at any moment, in the opinion of a number of civilian defense leaders.

Volunteers at the Newmarket center are expected to serve only one two-hour shift each week in pleasant quarters situated over the office of the Newmarket branch of the N. H. Gas & Electric Co. on Main street. Little actual work is involved, and defense officials are frankly disappointed that out of a population the size of Newmarket's, there are not enough volunteers to operate this vital unit of the defense setup. The present staff of watchers consists mostly of women, a number of whom manage to give their time despite the task of caring for households and families. It is felt that many men in town could more easily spare two hours a week to share in the work.

Those willing to respond to the desperate need for volunteers should contact Chairman Sewall or other civilian defense officials at once.

FILION GIVEN O. K. FOR NEW NAVY YARD BUS

R. H. Filion of Newmarket has received word from Interstate Commerce Commission officials that the addition of another bus to the line which he operates between Newmarket and the Portsmouth Navy Yard has been approved in Washington.

It is expected that the new 37-passenger White motor coach, which was purchased last January and has since been awaiting release in Boston, will be placed in operation within a few days.

This will make a total of three Filion busses operating between Newmarket and the Navy Yard and will greatly relieve crowded conditions on most of the daily runs.

It would have been impossible to remedy the congested situation without adding the new bus to the line.

Lieut. Camire, Now In Virginia, Has Brief Visit Home

Lieut. Edward Camire of Fort Meyers, Va., spent a brief furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Camire, in Newmarket over the holiday week-end.

The lieutenant was recently transferred to the Virginia camp from Fort Monmouth in New Jersey and has become a detachment commander.

He is a radio expert and his knowledge in this direction has been of much value in the army.

'DOZEN ROSES' COMPOSER IS SMITH GUEST

Roger Lewis of Chicago, who wrote the smashing song hit, "One Dozen Roses," paid a brief visit this week to relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, at their home in Durham. The noted song writer was on his way to Canada for a month's vacation.

During his visit, he revealed that 300,000 copies of his famous song have already been sold, as well as a million phonograph records and countless orchestration copies. The song has been featured on big radio programs on an average of 24 times a week and has already led the "hit parade" for two consecutive weeks.

Since penning "One Dozen Roses," Mr. Lewis has written three other numbers which are scheduled for publication in the near future.

Mr. Lewis, an ASCAP member, has been a professional song writer for 30 years and has produced several hundred tunes. Some of his past hits have included "Down By the Winegar Works" and "When I Was a Dreamer and You Were My Dream."

Redden Discusses Defense Problems

County Civilian Defense Chairman Alvin Redden of Portsmouth discussed problems confronting the Newmarket Civilian Defense Council, at a meeting of the organization Wednesday night.

The largest problem, it was reported, is the shortage of men in various units, due to the fact that a number of the original volunteers have gone to work at the Portsmouth Navy Yard or entered the service.

It was reported that Newmarket has only 10 percent representation in the work, while Raymond, where the response has been considered ideal, boasts a 25 per cent record.

ARMY MEN PAY SAM SMITH CO HELP TRIBUTE

Employees of the Sam Smith Shoe Corp., Newmarket, were part of the extremely important program they are playing in the war effort by making shoes for Uncle Sam's armed forces, when the work-stopped their machines at 11:30 p. m., Thursday, and gathered in the cutting department to hear talks from army officers connected with the filling of government orders at the plant.

A platform, over which hung a large American flag, was used for the speakers and a group of employees who led the entire gathering in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the conclusion of the program. Several local musicians provided accompaniment.

The program was opened by Sam Smith, head of the shoe concern, who reminded the workers and guests that his plant was one of the first in the United States to inaugurate a system of purchasing war stamps on the payroll allotment plan. The idea was immediately successful and as early as a year ago last May the shoe factory had a 100 per cent enrollment for stamp purchases.

Mr. Smith also told of generous gifts by the management and employees to the USO for the benefit of servicemen. He recalled the money which would have gone toward a Christmas party at the plant last year was turned over to the Red Cross instead. The manufacturer announced that the annual employees' outing would be omitted this year so that the money would permit "the boys to drink beer instead of ourselves." The management is contributing $350, he said, and he urged the workers to do their bit to the worthy cause. He declared that this was asking "very small sacrifice" compared with sacrifices being made by the servicemen.

The crowd was deeply impressed by a stirring talk given by Lieutenant William Eagan, who was accompanied at the meeting by Captain Alex Smith. Both are attached to the Boston Ordnance District of the United States Army. Captain Smith spoke later at a luncheon at the Exeter Inn.

Addressing the shoe workers, "Fellow Soldiers," Lieutenant Eagan paid them a fine tribute as real soldiers on the production end of the fight to win the war.

"The Army depends on your help to give the boys the things they need," declared the officer. "Clothing and shoes are extremely important to them in their fight to save the freedom of our people."

"And, remember, that our freedom must be saved, because the world would be no pay envelopes if America should lose the war."

Lieutenant Eagan, answering a question which he said had often been asked by workers as they toured the factory, revealed that army shoes of the type being produced by the Sam Smith Shoe Corp. last from two to six weeks, depending upon circumstances. Thus, he emphasized, it is extremely important that shoe employees put their finest workmanship into their product.

Police Boat

The new boat which has been acquired by the Newmarket police department for use in drowning accidents means more to the town than most people might realize.

Lack of such a boat has been a serious handicap in dealing with emergencies for a number of years. It has meant considerable delay in reaching the scenes of accidents and difficulty in recovering bodies of drowning victims.

There have also been cases of parties lost at night on various bodies of water in this section, and their families have suffered needless hours of worry because the police were forced to hunt around for an available boat and then use inadequate lighting equipment in their search.

The new police boat will be equipped with a trailer which will enable the officers to move it wherever needed. It will carry grappling irons and other devices necessary in emergencies.

Several residents generously donated their services in helping to bring the boat to Newmarket and in preparing it for use, so that the total cost of the town's added protection will be very small.

There is other equipment, such as a police car, which the Newmarket force could well use, but purchase of the boat is at least one praiseworthy step in maintaining police efficiency.

Needless to say, a small town police force cannot be expected to deal adequately with emergencies if the officers are given only "toys," instead of real equipment.

Gov. Blood Asks Aid For Leaders In Raymond Talk

An appeal by Gov. Robert O. Blood for the people not to be discouraged by immediate reverses for the United Nations in the present war, but to retain their faith in their leaders, was voiced in an address at the Fourth of July celebration in Raymond.

There was a big parade, nearly two miles in length, in which more than 1,200 persons took part.

Gov. Blood, accompanied by Cong. Arthur B. Jenks and Chester Merrow of Ossipee, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress, and a number of other officials, reviewed the parade from a special stand at the park. A highlight of the spectacle was the presence of more than 200 troops of the Coast Artillery at Camp Langdon, their mechanized equipment and military band.

Vacation School Opens In Exeter Methodist Church

The annual vacation Bible school was opened in the Methodist church in Exeter, Monday morning, with the Rev. Howard P. Weatherbee, pastor of the Baptist church, and the Rev. William H. Davis, pastor of the Methodist Church, in charge.

Due to the fact that Exeter has its new playgrounds this year, the school will omit the usual directed outdoor recreation program and concentrate on brief walks, educational and entertaining motion pictures, class study, handiwork, songs and worship.

All children from 4 to 14 years are invited to attend the vacation school.

CHAPTER 12

Cabin in the Woods

Jim Jenkins, left in care of the Barton property, had not been idle. The morning Sonny and his two friends had departed, he had done the chores about the house and barn, had put things in order, not that order did not prevail on the place, but there had been the business of getting off early so as to be the first to greet the morning sun coming up behind the Berkshire Hills on the way to Maine, and some things had to be put to the rigid rightness that Jenkins thought proper. He had plenty of time to do it in, and he was not used to shirking.

First of all, then, there was the clump of willows, a sore spot to him. Why in time Sonny allowed the unsightly plot of ground under the willows to remain in such shape, he couldn't see. This forenoon he was going down there to see what he could do to tidy things up. The lumpy looking place should be cleared of dried grass for one thing, and after that, he would see.

But Jenkins did not do a bit of cleaning up among the willows. After a hasty look around he had better not. He decided to wait until afternoon, and then see.

Hidden by dead grasses and withered leaves there was a well worn path. Where that path led he had not the remotest idea. Jenkins could trace its windings as far as to the underbrush that lined the edge of the heavy growth of giant trees, but beyond that he could not even guess as to where it led.

There was nothing to prevent him from following that path up into the seemingly endless stretch of forest. His work had been done, the house could be locked in case anyone should try to enter. He wanted to find out about that path. Not that he was curious. He had been a man once, had been on western trails, had at one time known and practiced all the tricks of warfare with Indian tribes, and he had not yielded to curiosity when not needful. He was an old man now, and perhaps old age had tricks of its own to lure a man on. Anyway, he would follow the path up into the woods as far as—all tarnation, if he had to. Therefore, he went.

He struck the path, very narrow, but there was no branching off. Straight ahead, through a lesser growth of trees up, always up, for miles, it seemed. There was no danger of getting lost; the path was plain and well-trodden. He would find his way back, of that he was sure. Therefore, he trudged on.

All at once he became aware of an opening among a lesser growth of trees, and then a clearing came into view. And into that clearing Jenkins went, wholly unprepared for what he saw there; a sight so wonderful to aging eyes that he had to stop and admire.

There was an ordinary log cabin in the middle of the open space. Around it were stumps, here, there, and everywhere. And these stumps were overgrown, literally covered by naturtiums in full bloom. Blooming out of seasons! And what a wealth of color! fiery red, lighter shades, too—all tints of yellow and green leaf backgrounds. And the logs of the cabin covered with morning glory vines with their blooms. Jenkins had never seen anything like it in his long life. He sat down on a log and marvelled at the beauty. How long he sat there, he could not guess. Then he went to the door of the cabin, found it unlocked, opened it and entered.

All was spotlessly clean. Some one evidently had been there shortly before. There was an open book on the rough table. He stooped to read it, found that he could not, and looked at the title—a foreign title. Then he knew.

This was the place Sonny would go to whenever he could not be located about the premises. Well, then—he, Jenkins was not the one to interfere. This place should be left just as he had left it. Reverently, Jenkins shut the door, retraced his steps, and said not a word about what he had found or where he had been.

And up in Paris, Oxford County, State of Maine, Mrs. Spencer, a widowed lady, her son, a 15-year-old boy, and a 13-year-old daughter, were anxiously awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Spencer's sister, Mrs. Lord, and her seven-year-old daughter. It was late afternoon of the day that the two were to arrive. Theodore had asked his mother why it was that his aunt was a Mrs. Lord when their maiden names had been that. Mrs. Spencer had not explained. Elsie, his sister, hastened to motion him to be silent, but he had persisted. Mother kept silent and kept on watching.

And in the sitting room of the Reed house there had been unfolded a tale "just like a story out of a book," as Annie had declared, and one fully as strange as any story ever told.

Newmarket Items . . .

Word has been received from Pvt. Ralph B. Silver of Marine Corps Unit No. 690 that his new mailing address is in care of the postmaster at San Francisco, Calif. This would seem to indicate that the Newmarket boy is already or soon will be on his way to an unknown destination.

Miss Phyllis Sewall, daughter of Selectman and Mrs. F. Albert Sewall, is roving in Exeter Hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

The following young people have been awarded chevrons for earning 150 points for achievements at the 4-H Club at Bear Hill Pond: Allen Wright, Exeter; James Mahoney, Newington; Edward and Glenwood Hunter, Newington; Norma Brisson, Newmarket; Laura Barnes, Epping; Cynthia Merrill, Hampton Falls; Ellen Odiorne, Greenland; Lorette Proulx, Newmarket; Estelle Dionne, Epping; and George Merrill, Hampton Falls.

Helen B. Broderick

The funeral of Mrs. Helen B. Broderick, 51, a native of Newmarket and a resident of Exeter for the past seven years, will be held in St. Michael's Church, Exeter, Saturday morning. She died Thursday morning in Exeter Hospital after a long illness.

Survivors are a daughter, Marion Broderick of Exeter, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Toot of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Must Exchange Worn-Out Auto Parts For New One

According to a ruling made Monday by the War Production Board, motorists will be required after July 15 to turn in a worn-out auto part before being allowed to purchase a new one.

Furthermore, the order forbids the sale or delivery of a new part to replace one which could be restored to working order.

Do you believe in monopoly?

One thing that has made America a great country is this:

Any man with the courage to start a new business—or sell a better product at a better price—is free to do so.

And he also is free to compete for customers by advertising the advantages he offers.

Advertising is one of the simplest safeguards against monopoly.

It lets each man tell his story—and the public picks the winner.

KINGSMAN IN ALABAMA AIR CADET SCHOOL

Chester Kingsman, former teacher and athletic coach at Newmarket high school, has been transferred to the 381st School Squadron at Craig Field, Selma, Ala., for training as an aviation cadet, according to a letter received recently in Newmarket.

"Chet" wrote as follows: "Oh, Suzanna, don't you cry for me, for I come from Alabama with my banjo on my knee. . . ."

"Just recently arrived here for training as aviation cadet. The planes are buzzing around here like flies, 24 hours a day.

"This is a replacement center and an advanced flying field. There are many R. A. F. boys training here also. We'll be here only a few weeks before being transferred again.

"And is it hot! Hot water doesn't have to be boiled, just left out in the sun.

"Haven't seen much of this country yet as I have been busy studying. Within a week I have traveled approximately 1500 miles. Sure do get around, don't we?"

"My class is due, so will sign off. Drop me a line and give me the news around town. Hope all is fine with everything.

"Your friend,

Stevens-Brown Wedding Is Held

In a simple ceremony attended by only close relatives, Elmer Stevens, Newmarket painter, and Mrs. Aletita F. Brown were married in the Community Church parsonage in Newmarket last Friday night, with the Rev. R. G. Schofield performing the service. Mr. Stevens was one of several Newmarket young men who entered military service at Fort Devens in Massachusetts on Thursday of this week.

Attendants at the wedding were Miss Doris Stevens, sister of the bridegroom, and Charles Stevens, brother.

Since fireworks were banned, the Fourth of July was probably the quietest in many years in Exeter. No special program was staged.

THREE LABRECQUE BROTHERS AT DISTANT ARMY STATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Labrecque of Cedar street, Newmarket, have contributed their share to the man power of Uncle Sam's fighting forces—with all three sons serving at widely separated camps.

Their oldest son, Pfc. Reginald Labrecque, 25 years old, enlisted two years ago, and had been in the service only two weeks when he was sent from Fort Slocum, N. Y., to Fort Randolph in the Canal Zone, where he is now stationed.

Pfc. Paul Labrecque, 24, has been in the Balloon Barrage School in Tennessee and is a winch operator.

The youngest of the brothers, Corp. Thomas G. Labrecque, 19, had served about four months at Fort MacLellan in Alabama and then his parents received no word from him for a month. Finally, a letter came from an undisclosed destination, which contained no suggestion of his whereabouts except that "the weather is fine here."

Since the letter had been censored, it is apparent that he is now stationed outside of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Labrecque admit that they are very proud of their three sons in the armed forces. The young men were employed at the Rockingham Shoe Co. in Newmarket before they went into the service and are well known and popular in their home town. Thomas and Paul are graduates of St. Mary's school.

While they are serving, the rest of the family is also helping Uncle Sam on the home front. Their mother and two sisters, Gabrielle and Laurette, have completed the standard and advanced first aid courses in Newmarket's civilian defense program.

Former Town Clerk Edward N. Richards is now serving in the Quartermasters Training Corps at Camp Lee, Va.

Attorneys to print these public notices wherever they choose, it is also the prerogative of this newspaper to acquaint its readers with the facts.

No newspaper coming into Newmarket, with any advertising value at all to Newmarket, has more than a fraction of the circulation of the Newmarket News. After all, there are records of papers mailed each week to regular subscribers at the Newmarket post office, as well as transient sales in Newmarket stores, which have reached quite surprising proportions within the past several months. True, certain people regret to know that it is a reality, but what some of them pretend to believe is a lack of power on the advertising end at present, may prove to be a very potent factor on the editorial end in the not distant future.

Out-of-town attorneys have no reason to overlook the importance of the Newmarket News in Newmarket, as many of the leading legal lights were contacted some time ago and should have been made quite conscious of our existence. In case they are still indifferent to us, we hereby report, without much fear of contradiction, that the Newmarket News has much good will in the town which it serves. At least, townspeople are manifesting much interest and showing co-operation almost beyond belief. If they are not using the Newmarket News in which to print legal notices which concern them, they either do not have much choice in the matter or do not understand proper procedure. We now urge them to keep their eyes open in this respect. Even in the maze of a lot of legal bewilderment, they could do themselves and the home town newspaper a lot of good by insisting upon the Newmarket News for this sort of publicizing the necessary documents.

In the future, in your legal notices, insist that they be published in the Newmarket News, where they will be seen by the most Newmarket people, and NOT in some newspaper published by a social or political clique favored by your attorney.

—GUY LANGLEY

Newmarket POLISH CLUB Notes

Miss Nellie Przybyla of Lowell, Mass., and Corp. Chester Kruczek of Camp Niantic, Conn., were visitors at the club last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wajda spent last week-end in Chicopee Falls, Mass., with their son, Joseph Wajda.

Charlie Miesowicz has received his 1-A draft classification, which moves the Miesowicz family one step nearer the possible four-star service flag record.

About 100 persons gathered in Polish Hall last Sunday night to witness a presentation of motion pictures and slides of Hitler's invasion of Poland by a Polish priest, who was in Poland at the time, but is now living in Boston. As the pictures were shown, the priest described the horrors inflicted by the "Beast of Berlin," with actual "blitz" experience as a background. The priest managed to escape with other clergymen after the invasion. The Nazis' terrific bombing of Warsaw and other Polish cities was vividly illustrated throughout the program. President Andrew Kruczek was in charge.

Emil Breton has resigned his position at the Rockingham Shoe Co. to take a course of study in preparation for vital war work.

Pvt. John Sklarski of Fort Standish, Boston, and Lauretta Belmont are to be married soon, friends at the club have heard.

Edward Johnston of Lee, father of Charlie Johnston, the plucky sailor and former Newmarket High athlete who escaped both at Pearl Harbor and in the U. S. S. Lexington sinking, was greeted at the club the other day after an absence of some time. Like his son, he has been pretty busy (working at the Portsmouth Navy Yard) to hasten the day when the Japs will regret Pearl Harbor.

GIRLS' STATE SESSION HELD IN DURAM

Doris Marcotte and Doris E. Willey of Newmarket, Mary E. Baraclough and Phyllis N. Roberts of Durham and Margaret A. Kurtz of Exeter were among the 42 girls from all over New Hampshire who attended the Granite Girls' State program held their week in Durham as the annual citizenship event of the State American Legion Auxiliary.

Pretty Eleanor O'Brien, 17-year-old senior at Portsmouth high school, was administered the oath as Girls' State governor by Robert O. Blood, at a joint session of the schoolgirl House and Senate in the trophy room of Commons on the University of New Hampshire camps, Tuesday.

Governor O'Brien is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. O'Brien, 343 Union street, Portsmouth who have lived in the Seaport City since they moved from Portland, Me., five years ago. Her father is a shipfitter at the Portsmouth Navy yard; a brother, Donald, 20, also works there and a younger brother, Robert, 18, graduated from Portsmouth High this year and will enter the University of New Hampshire this fall.

The new governor maintains a standard of gubernatorial beauty established last year by Miss Barbara MacPherson, of Concord, an attractive blonde while her successor, a petite brunet, weighs 100 pounds and stands five feet five inches tall.

J. Forest Kent, Frederick York and R. Paul Norton have returned from the 4-H Club camp in Allentown. They came back with Mrs. Ione Kent and Mrs. Fred C. York.

CARS HIT TWO AT SAME STOP IN FEW HOURS

Two persons were struck by automobiles in practically the same spot in front of the Newmarket post office last Friday.

William Goodreau, who carried mail between the post office and railroad station, stepped from his truck, which has parked at the side of the post office, Friday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock, and walked into the path of an automobile driven by Gerard Mongeon.

Police reported that the motor carrier was knocked down and suffered lacerations on the head which required two stitches. He was treated by Dr. Max Baker.

During the forenoon, George Brown, 9, had stepped from behind a parked truck into the path of a car operated by Albert F. Snow on the Bay road. He was merely brushed by one of the mudguards but was extremely fortunate not to suffer severe cuts, as two empty milk bottles which he was returning to a store, were smashed when he landed against the street curb.

Both mishaps were investigated by Police Officer John Valliere.

REGISTRATION HELD FOR NEW GAS RATIONING

Registration for the new gasoline rationing system which becomes effective July 22 was started at Newmarket high school, yesterday, under the direction of the Rev. Desmond O'Connor, site administrator. The enrollment is continuing today and Saturday.

The Thursday and Friday sessions were scheduled from 4 to 6 p. m., while tomorrow's registration will be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Assisting Fr. O'Connor during the three-day period are Austin McCaffrey, headmaster of Newmarket high school; the Rev. R. Schofield, Arlene Behan, Eleanor Marelli and Natalie Jordan.

Other site administrators in the district include the following: Exeter, Miss Mary E. Brown; Kingston, Mrs. Margaret C. Tilton; Kensington, Richard Prescott; Newfields, Mrs. Leila Mayo; Stratham, Rep. Charles A. Parker; Greenland, Mrs. Edna B. Week; Raymond, Mrs. Iver Holmes; Candia, Mrs. Nessie M. Blake; Deffield, Lewis A. Stevens; Epworth, Wilfred Porier; South Hampton, Rufus B. Floyd; Freemont, Mrs. Clara W. Towle; Brentwood, Mrs. Havican; Kingston, Isabelle M. nuson; Northwood, Mrs. Orlan A. Lester, and Nottingham, Mrs. Helen Sauliner.

Academy Tutors Enter Service

Two members of the Phillips Exeter Academy faculty, William Jones, French instructor, and Harold B. Gross, English instructor, have entered Uncle Sam's armed forces.

Mr. Goss, commissioned as a lieutenant, senior grade, in the Navy, reported at the school of instruction, A. V. S. at Harvard. Later he will go to Chicago for further training.

Dr. Louis Theobald, commissioned a lieutenant, left to report active duty with the U. S. Army Medical corps at Camp Edward Mass. Another Phillips Academy faculty member, Jackson B. Adkisson, of the Mathematics department, has entered the Navy as a lieutenant, junior grade.

Selectmen Praise O'Connor's Work on Registration

In an efficient manner in which Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor of St. Mary's Church supervised the recent selective service registration in Newmarket was praised last week by the Newmarket Board of Selectmen.

Speaking for the board, Selectman F. Albert Sewall said: "It is fortunate for Newmarket that it has someone of the type of Rev. O'Connor to assist in such work."

The Board of Selectmen greatly appreciates the fine manner in which he conducted the task of registering the new age group in Newmarket.

Change Honors Aviation Cadet

Lewis L. Jennison, who is entering the U. S. Naval Air Corps as an aviation cadet, was tendered a surprise party in Lee by Jeremiah Smith Grange, of which he is overseer. In behalf of 30 Scouts, Past Master David Bartlett presented a pen and pencil set as a guest of honor.

Mr. Jennison, who completed his year at the University of New Hampshire last May, will go to the University at Chapel Hill, N. C. for the first three months of training.

an Institute for Youth At U. N. H.

Plans are being made for a Youth Institute for young people of New Hampshire, according to Mrs. Ruth Lam of Rochester, county 4-H agent, who will be in charge at Strafford county.

Sessions will be held at the Unity of New Hampshire starting today morning, Aug. 11, and ending Saturday, Aug. 15. All persons from 14 to 25 years of age, regardless of whether or not they are members of a 4-H club, are eligible for membership, Mrs. Lam said.

Courses planned so far include economics, crafts, agriculture, training in recreation, photography and leadership training.

Try It Once!

You know, folks, when I introduce a new customer to an Andy Bread, I feel as though I was spreading friendship. Never in my life have I ever heard of anyone being disappointed with Pan Dandy. I guess that's because the people who make Pan Dandy are real people—friendly people and, above all, people who know how to make the best bread they know how.

Speaking for Pan Dandy, our old pal, Strawhat Harry, says:

"Just try it Once— You'll Like Pan Dandy!"

A Tough Break For Newmarket

It is reported that beer salesmen passing through Newmarket this week warned clubs and dealers that the supply question was becoming serious.

The distributors' representatives pointed out that ample supplies of beer and ale were in warehouses, but the gasoline and tire situation promised a grave transportation problem.

Most of the far-seeing retail dispensers in this section put their orders as large as possible.

Paper-Fire Hazard

The War Production Board recently reported that its "Salvage for Victory" program met with so great a public response that there is now a surplus of waste paper, and no need now for further collections, except in a few certain territories. As a result, it is likely that paper already collected may be stored for some time. Unless certain rules are carefully followed, storage of paper will create a grave fire hazard.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued a simple set of commonsense rules, which should be rigorously observed in handling waste paper now and in the future. The paper should be in tightly tied bundles and whenever available a baling machine should be used. When paper is sorted and handled, there should be no smoking. Churches, schools, club houses and other public or semi-public buildings should not be used for prolonged storage. When the paper is stored, suitable aisles should be maintained between piles. Care must be taken to see that the windows are not blocked, that the paper is not piled directly against walls and that it is not scattered loosely about. The storage place should be periodically inspected by a fireman or some other expert.

In the home, similar safeguards are essential. If the paper is stored in the basement, it should either be kept in a covered box or tied in bundles not over eighteen inches high. Bundles should not be stacked on top of each other, and storage must be well away from furnaces or stoves. Matches should never be struck near the paper.

The observance of such rules as these will go a long way toward eliminating the danger of fire. Safety lies in understanding the hazards—and then taking the definite steps that will offset them.

Whiskers Shorten Life Of Shirts

One good thing about vacation whiskers is that generally they are only temporary.

Otherwise, say experts of the American Institute of Laundering here, the chin sprouts could, with encouragement and added cultivation, become full blown beavers.

The low-slung face foliage, the laundering authorities explain, cuts down the lift of a shirt. Extremely abrasive to collars, whiskers cause minute rents in the cloth that are too small to be seen, but which, nevertheless, weaken the tensile strength of the fabric.

The experts' advice on shirts, generally, is this: Wear your shirt one day only, to prolong its life. Turn down the cuffs, and turn up the collar before putting the shirt in the laundry bag. A professional laundry will do this for you, but if you do it yourself, you will be doubly sure.

The best poison ivy killed is ammonium sulfamate, a non-inflammatory salt that can be mixed with water and sprayed on the plants anytime in the summer.

A community canning center helps take care of surplus food, makes equipment available to those without it, provides opportunity for persons to learn how to can foods, and enables people to work together.

Watch For Valuable Records, Magazines When Junking Paper

The following warning was issued in a recent bulletin of the League of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts:

"With all the housecleaning in attics which is going on, and the selling of waste paper for war purposes, be careful not to discard anything of a historical or antiquarian value. Great as the provocation may be, it is bad economy to sell for a few cents ancient magazines or other printed records which may as the years go on, advance greatly in value. Look for old Godey's or Peterson's magazines, and remember that the early copies of these are now so scarce that many public libraries will not allow visitors to handle them without special permission. And people are continually combing through the elderly Harpers', Pearson's and others for old ideas which can be revamped now; we may be going to need them."

Scouts To Check On Scrap Rubber

A canvass of each family in Newmarket will be made soon by the Boy Scouts to determine the quantity of scrap rubber available for collection.

At the same time, the boys will distribute leaflets from the OPA office entitled "What You Should Know About War-Time Prices."

NOO MARKIT WONDERS...

If the faith of the townsfolk has not increased in Elmer, who it was predicted, would be overwhelmed by a wanderlust when Spring came and sally forth to some unknown destination—and not of the military variety? One of his Willey Corner colleagues named Bernard, who was willing to take bets at long odds that the Spring or, at least, early summer weather, would cause Elmer to hit the road, has now succumbed to the warm weather urge and evaporated into the open country. The call of the wild became too much for Bernard during the past few days, and as he eyed each sweating brow in a local office where he worked, his farm in a nearby town looked more inviting. Meanwhile his old boss here in Newmarket hopes he won't sit under the apple tree with anybody else but hard working fellow farmers. In the meantime Elmer is sticking faithfully with HIS boss, sharpening lawn mowers, mowing the lawn, tightening hinges on restaurant doors, and otherwise conducting himself in a noble manner befitting the unsettled condition of the world. It only goes to show that an irresistible impulse can be met with an irresistible will power.

If dentists aren't doing pretty well these days? No sooner does one of the town's business men write an important chapter in dental history than his prominent wife also feels the need of taking an "ivory inventory."

If the readers think that this paper discloses ALL it knows from week to week?

If there aren't at least three big stories in town that would cause sensations if facts that are known were suddenly exposed?

If Newmarket friends can guess the identity of a prominent soldier from town who has very good reason to believe that he will shortly leave for a foreign destination?

If early morning risers have ever heard the melodious baritone voice of the "Singing Milkman?" At a recent local gathering, he did a pretty fair job of vocalizing. He happened to be the only guest present in overalls, but explained it satisfactorily in this manner, "Every time I doll up, everything wonders where the hell is he going."

If the barber who hung out the sign, "Away on business until Wednesday" completed the business on schedule?

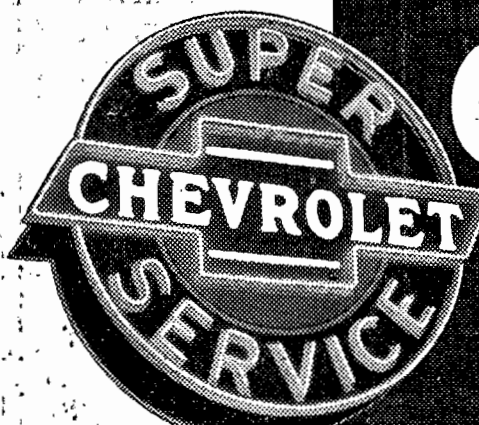

If certain Newmarket business establishments will finally realize that no medium of advertising will reach so many people at so little expense as the NEWMARKET NEWS?

If a more elaborate appeal elsewhere in this issue will bring the much needed volunteers to fill the ranks at the Newmarket air raid report center?

If any aspirants in town are thinking of tossing their hats into the September primary ring?

When Newmarket will have another chance to shoot off fireworks on the Fourth?

Agricultural Expert Warns Farmers Against Dangers Of Fire From Combustion In Hay Stored Away During Damp Season

Not many years ago the chief of the Department of Public Safety of one of the larger eastern states attributed the large number of barn fires to "fire bugs" or careless tramps. It took a whole season of research—taking careful temperature readings in the hay mows on a dozen or more farms to convince him that hay could and does generate enough heat in the mow to actually cause a fire.

One day the engineer taking the temperature readings found one excessively high. He went into the chief's office and asked him to come out to the farm about 10 miles away. He called the local volunteer fire department and they came over and ran out the hose. Then they started pulling out the hay. It was so hot in one pocket that it charred and actually burst into flames when opened—but was easily controlled since everything was ready. The chief is like a lot of people—he had never in his experience seen it happen so it could not be possible. That day he was convinced and the "fire bug" menace was lifted.

Rank Crops
The spontaneous combustion of hay is always with us and perhaps this year since we have had so much wet weather and such a

Cat Has Elaborate Burial In Epping

A pet cat owned by Harry P. Phillips, editor of the Biddeford, Me., Daily Journal, was buried in regal fashion in Epping last Saturday.

The feline, a Maltese named "Babe," was given to the editor and his wife in 1929 and they were so fond of the pet that a veterinarian had made three attempts to save its life.

The cat was buried in a cloth-lined casket on a hillside at the home of Mrs. Sadie Womick, Canal Zone government worker and cousin of Mrs. Phillips, in Epping.

rank crop of hay there will be a tendency to slight the curing operation. If this happens, we will have a number of barn fires with total loss of building, hay and stock—none replaceable. In this time of emergency, be sure you do not set up conditions for a fire in your barn. Properly cured hay—well placed in the mow should offer no fire hazard, says George M. Foulkrod of the U. N. H. Extension Service.

Improperly cured hay, too tightly packed in spots and lightly in others, does offer a menace.

Safety Devices

There are two or three safety devices which can be used. One is an alarm cable, the insulation on which fuses at about 180° and allows the wires to short circuit to ring an alarm. It is on the priority list and can be obtained only on special order. A thermocouple wire can be laid in the hay and temperature readings can be taken at some remote point. But the equipment is out of the question for the average farmer to own. Then there is your own sense of smell. In most cases of spontaneous combustion, the owners or operators have noticed a charred or smoky smell around the barn before the fire occurred.

Have Floors Tight
Clean out the mow space, see that the floor is tight, and after the hay is completely cured, put it in uniformly throughout the space. Don't allow it to pack solid in some places. Never put damp hay in against dry hay. If you notice any excessive heating, get all the fire-fighting equipment in the neighborhood ready before you start to tear out the hay. Don't wait too long to do it for a sudden change in atmospheric pressure like the approach of an electric storm may cause draft enough to ignite the hay, or rather the gasses generated in the hot pocket.

Chopped hay completely cured is no more of a fire hazard than long hay. But what might be a doubtful moisture content in long hay certainly is a sure menace in the chopped hay.

So if you chop—cure a bit more—if you store it long be sure it is cured enough. Don't take the chance of losing your entire farm plant.

Exeter Items . . .

Alvin T. Redden, chairman of the Rockingham County Civilian Defense Committee and executive secretary of the Seacoast Regional Association, has been renamed by Gov. Robert O. Blood as a member of the N. H. Aerial Tramway Commission.

Parents inspected work being done at Exeter's new playgrounds at an open house program on the Fourth of July. Mothers and daughters played softball at the Robinson Seminary grounds, while fathers and sons engaged in games at the high school.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clemons in West Epping was the scene of a celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Hartford of Rochester last Friday night.

An Exeter garage purchased nearly three tons of rubber which Troop 193, Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster Sumner Whetherell, collected during the salvage campaign.

Early Signs Point To Active Summer Season For New Hampshire Resorts

Many signs point to an active vacation season at New Hampshire summer resorts, as railroads report heavy movement of children to the boys' and girls' camps, two summer theatres announce season schedules, and favorable reports of early season business are made from Hampton Beach and the Dartmouth-Lake Sunapee region.

Summer vespers each Sunday afternoon are being inaugurated for vacationists around Newfound Lake. Dock improvements have been made at Wolfeboro on Lake Winnepesaukee. Lisa Gardiner, head of the Acworth Ballet center, which features members of the Washington National Ballet, writes: "We have a much larger enrollment this season, rather to our surprise. . . ."

The State Planning and Development commission has recently issued the new 1942 edition of the New Hampshire tourist map and, jointly with the State Forestry and Recreation department, a revised edition of the booklet, "New Hampshire Public Recreation Areas."

The State Council of Defense has announced that visitors who are members of civilian defense protective services in their home communities are being invited to join the local ARP organization at New Hampshire summer resorts, for the vacation period.

The Boston and Maine Railroad reported the heaviest summer camp movement in 10 years as it started to carry more than 15,000 boys and girls to camps in northern New England, and the general passenger agent said that an all-time high record may be made if advance reservations hold up. Camp Belknap, popular Y.M.C.A. camp on Lake Winnepesaukee, opened full to overflowing, and it has reported that for several weeks applicants have been turned away.

As announced several weeks ago, the New London Players are to open their tenth season on July 9, again featuring Charlie Jobs, the Newport mail carrier and favorite of New London audiences.

The schedule announced for the New London playhouse includes "Hope for a Harvest," the opener, followed by "Ah, Wilderness" and "Lavender and Old Lace."

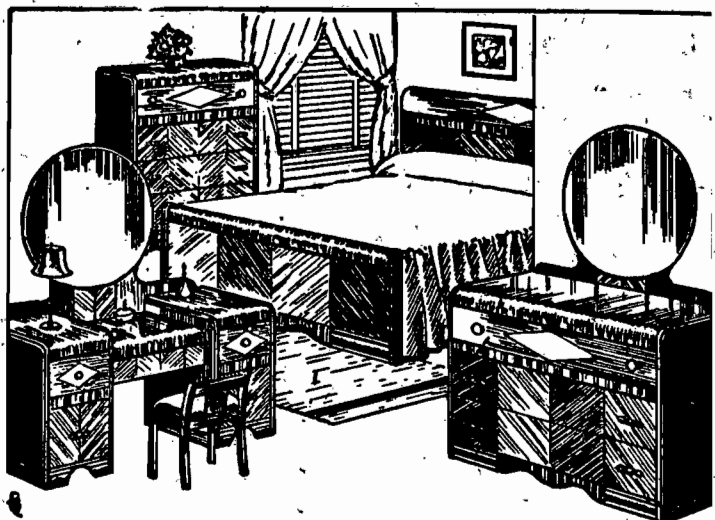

The Peterborough Players, after a campaign to sound out sentiment and support for the 1942 season, decided to open July 2, with "Ah, Wilderness."

Articles Sought For Tanker Men

The Exeter branch of the British War Relief Society has made an appeal for articles which will add to the comfort of men in the British tanker fleet, who risk their lives in transporting oil from the Persian Gulf and the United States to keep Allied tanks and bombing planes in action against the enemy.

In asking for warm clothing and other supplies for these seamen, the Exeter branch points out that their work is both dangerous and essential in the war effort.

UNITARIAN CHURCH HAS NEW PASTOR

The Rev. Elbridge F. Stoneham has been announced as the new pastor of—the First Unitarian Church in Exeter, succeeding the Rev. Carl Storm, who has taken a pastorate in Lincoln, Neb. The new pastor and his family will move to the Exeter parsonage during the summer and he will assume his new duties when the church re-opens in September.

The Rev. Mr. Stoneham is a native of Portland, Me., and graduated from Deering High school. He then went to Harvard where he received his A. B. degree in 1920.

After graduation he served on the advertising staff of a Portland paper. After some years in newspaper work he decided upon the ministry, and returned to Harvard, graduating from the Harvard Divinity school with the degree of S. T. B. He has filled pastorates in Stoneham, Winchendon, and Canton, Mass., and has visited England, and France in an official capacity. Rev. Mr. Stoneham is married, and has a son and a daughter. The latter intends to enter college in the fall.

Exeter High In Rubber Collection

Exeter rates high in the scrap rubber collection campaign in New Hampshire, with an average of 12.6 pounds per person, it was announced by Emile J. Soucy, salvage committee director, in Concord, Wednesday.

Mr. Soucy said at that time the town of Contoocook was leading, with a per capita collection of about 20 pounds.

CINCINNATI GROUP PICKS NEW LEADERS

At the annual meeting of the Society of Cincinnati, held in Exeter last Saturday, the following officers were elected: William Lithgow Willey of Cambridge, Mass., president; Maj. Preston Brown of Vineyard Haven, Mass., vice president; Horace Morrison of Boston and Peterborough, secretary; Josiah C. Norcross of Cambridge, treasurer; Henry D. Warren of Kendall Green, assistant secretary, and William Lunt, assistant treasurer.

The standing committee is composed of Preston Brown, Maurice A. Hall, Ewing Hill, William W. Lunt, Horace Morrison, Josiah C. Norcross, William G. Renwick, Jonathan Sawyer, Henry D. Warren, John T. G. Nichols and President Willey.

Rev. Francis Lee Whittmore was named chaplain and Mr. Willey was elected as a member of the standing executive committee of the General Society of Cincinnati. Delegates to the general society named were Mr. Brown, Mr. Lunt, Mr. Norcross, Mr. Warren and Mr. Willey. Alternates: Mr. Hall, Mr. Hill, Mr. Renwick, Mr. Sawyer and James A. Sullivan. Mr. Warren was also elected as trustee of the permanent fund for two years.

Funeral services were held at the Brewitt Funeral Home Monday afternoon for Mrs. Faoline K. Gove of Kensington, who died in Boston at the age of 70 years. The Rev. Paul T. Martin, pastor of the Exeter Congregational Church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Saltonstall and family have moved into their new home on Pine street.

Fats, Greases, Worth 4c Pound

Waste fats and greases, once tossed into the waste or poured down the drain, will bring household salvagers 4 cents a pound, according to a recent announcement by Emile J. Soucy of the State Conservation division.

Housewives are urged to turn their fats and greases over to meat shop proprietors and receive their 4 cents per pound. The retailer will get an extra cent from the rendering plants.

Aim of the fat salvage drive is to get much-needed glycerine for making explosives, as an essential by-product of the commercial soap industry. The amount of glycerine produced in making 10 pounds of soap is enough to make 6 pounds of dynamite.

Exeter Items . . .

George Clements, 19, was arraigned before Judge Ernest G. Templeton in Exeter Municipal Court on a charge of firing firecrackers in a settled part of the town without a permit. A $5 fine was suspended upon payment of costs of $4.70.

Former Rep. Forrest E. Knowles, chairman of the North Hampton Board of Selectmen, has announced that he will oppose State Senator Renfrew A. Thompson of Exeter for the Republican nomination for senator from the 23rd District in September primary election.

The town of Raymonds' 1942 tax rate will be $38.50 per $1,000 of valuation, an increase of 90 cents over last year's levy, according to Selectman Joseph Blake.

The first four of Exeter's summer band concerts have been completed by the Exeter Brass Band in the Swasey Pavilion. The next four programs will be given at the intersection of Front street and Railroad square.

Exeter's tax rate has been set by the selectmen at $23.50 per $1,000 of valuation. This is the lowest levy for a number of years.

First Lieut. Charles Mantegani of Exeter and Miss Alice Havey of Manchester are to be married in Manchester tomorrow.

Word has been received in Exeter of the marriage of Miss Agnes Connors of Rainbow Lake, N. Y., and James H. Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Blake of Exeter. The bridegroom is a New York teacher and his father is a member of the Phillips Exeter Academy faculty.

Corp. Dominic Poggio has been home from Fort Dix, N. J.

Robert Vining, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Essex Vining, underwent an operation and blood transfusion in Mitchell Memorial Hospital after an accident in Raymond, in which police said the child was struck by a car operated by Bernard Gup-till of Chester Rd. It was reported that the victim suffered a fractured hip bone and internal injuries.

Rockingham Park Will Open July 20 For 10th Race Meet

Rockingham Park, its barn area now opened to thoroughbreds and its racing strip already in first-class condition, is ready to inaugurate the 10th season of horse-racing in New England.

New England's smallest and oldest track definitely will open on the 20th of July for a three week Summer meeting, and just as definitely will conduct an autumn meeting starting deep in the month of September, unless the war forces a complete close-down of all race-tracks. It will fulfill all its commitments to horsemen, regardless of the transportation problems now confronting all sports enterprises.

A stake event will be staged each Wednesday for an added purse of $2500, each Saturday for an added purse of $5000, and each

Army Men Praise War Shoe Workers

"Each soldier needs about nine pairs of shoes," he explained, "and in an army of two-three or more millions of men, it is easy to see the enormous quantities of footwear which must be turned out for the government."

"There are 142 sizes of shoes in stock in the United States Army at all times—more than any single shoe factory, regardless of size, could possibly manufacture."

"Our soldiers must have the best of equipment, and in order to get it, the will to work and produce must be shown by employes in the factories."

"A poor fitting shoe puts an American soldier out of a battle as definitely as though he fell victim to a bullet."

Lieutenant Eagan urged the workers to produce the needed military equipment without thought of hard work or long hours. He reminded them that the soldiers cannot think of time-clocks and are on call for duty 24 hours a day.

He said rapid and heavy production is needed to win the war, as was evidenced by the continuation of work on the Fourth of July—something which was not considered necessary during the first World War.

Following Lieutenant Eagan's talk, the program was closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the entire gathering, led from the platform by Toni Sklarski, Dorothy Zocchi, Toni Cifo and Lewis Paquette, director of the Newmarket Eagles' Drum Corps.

Following the factory gathering, Sam Smith was host to the army ordinance officials and invited guests at a luncheon at the Exeter Inc., where Captain Smith gave a brief talk in which he stressed the fact that conversion of thought, as well as conversion of plants, is a vital factor in America's struggle against Hitlerism. He said that Germany had gained an advantage by its early conversion of thought, and that Americans must make the same change.

Besides Sam Smith, Captain Smith and Lieutenant Eagan, others attending the luncheon included: Deputy Sheriff Ralph H. Berry, Thomas Fillion, Rev. R. G. Schofield, pastor of the Newmarket Community Church; Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor and Rev. Hector Benoit of St. Mary's Church, Newmarket; Judge J. B. Griffin, James Waldron, manager of the Newmarket branch of the N. H. Gas & Electric Co.; Austin J. McCaffrey, headmaster of Newmarket high school; Stewart S. Humphreys, Selectman Stanley Szacik, Guy Langley, editor of the Newmarket News; Roger Lewis of Chicago, author of the current song hit, "One Dozen Roses;" Judge J. Sidney Bernstein of the New York State Supreme Court, father-in-law of Sam Smith and Chief Inspector Luther Hitchings of the Boston Army Base, who supervises inspection of army shoes at the Smith plant.

of the stakes is an old friend. They will be, in the order of their running, the Salem Stakes for two year old fillies at five furlongs; the Raceland Handicap for three-and-up at six furlongs; the Maplewood Stakes for two year old colts and geldings at five and one-half furlongs; the Granite State Handicap for three-and-up at a mile and one-sixteenth; the Matron Handicap for fillies and mares, three-and-up, at a mile and one-sixteenth; and the traditional Rockingham Park Handicap, last year won by Market Wise, for three-and-up at a mile and a furlong.
