P. T. A. TO SPONSOR BANTAM BOWLING TEAMS THIS SUMMER

The PTA met Monday night in the old auditorium of the high school and agreed to sponsor a Bantam Bowling League during the summer, subject to the approval of new executive board. The newly elected president, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, will represent the local group at a series of organizational meetings to complete a league schedule. Permission slips have been sent home from the Central, Stone and St. Mary schools.

The proposed Sponsorship project for summer Bantam Bowling Leagues for children (boys and girls) between the ages of 7-12 years old will be held at the Exeter Bowling Lanes, 10 Columbus avenue, Exeter. It is held in cooperation with PTA's from Exeter, Epping, East Kingston, Newfields, Brentwood, Stratham, Kingston, Kensington, Newmarket, Hampton and Seabrook.
The object is to teach youngsters to bowl, develop coordination, develop good sportsmanship, develop confidence and make new friends and get along with one another.
This bowling project offers youngsters the opportunity to take part in a sport and activity which does not require precision skill, a particular age, height, weight, or exacting physical strength or ability. The bowling project will allow the youngsters good clean fun and will keep them busy and happy.
Certainly this project is one of the ways to stem juvenile delinquency by bringing mothers, fathers and children together in an active sport.
Sponsors are required to organize children who want to bowl from the grammar schools for the leagues; to provide transportation to the alley from the home town; to provide supervision of from four to six mothers at each league from among the eleven towns.
Also, to teach children how to keep score and the league books; to provide a banquet for the children at the end of each season such as a covered dish

Other honored guests will be past grand worthy president Andrew J. Halloran of Framingham, Mass., Robert H. Filion, Mayor of Somersworth and a member of Lamprey Aerie and Nickolas Zuk, chairman of the board of Selectmen. The Rev. Eugene Dumas, pastor of St. Mary's church will offer grace and benediction to the assembly.

The committee urges all wishing to attend the banquet to please secure their tickets from the Eagles club room, or from any member of the committee. May 15 will be the deadline for reservations.
An Anniversary Dance will be held at the Eagles club following the banquet, where dancing fraternalism and a general good time is planned for those attending.

The 50th anniversary observance will close Sunday, May 22nd, at 2 p.m., with an initiation of a class of 15 or more members at the Aerie home.
Andrew J. Halloran, past grand worthy president will be the principal speaker. The ritualistic work will be exemplified by the well-known degree team from Leominster, Mass.

This event will close the four-day celebration in which all Eagles are trying to pay honor and demonstrate their appreciation to those members who founded this great fraternal order.
Visitors are expected from all Aeries in New Hampshire, as well as from several neighboring states.

AN EDITORIAL

From time to time newspapers report needless tragedies which involve children who find discarded refrigerators and ice boxes and use them as playthings.

Usually they lock themselves in and unless the child or children are found within a very short time, death by suffocation follows.

Old unused ice boxes or refrigerators should have the doors removed if they are going to be stored where children have access to them.

As our paper went to press there were two unused refrigerators next to the dump road near the former home of old Mary. They are within the reach of many children in that area. It is a simple matter to remove the locks on these refrigerators before tragedy strikes some little boy or girl in the neighborhood. We hope someone takes care of it!

Elementary School Activities

Grade One

There is a new pupil in the first grade. Her name is Cassandra Marchese and she comes from Spain.

The girls finished the curtains for the playhouse. We planted some seeds and plan to do some experiments with the plants.

The Jack-o-lantern reading group has started to read a new book.

In our spare time we cut pictures out of catalogs. Then we paste the picture on a piece of cardboard and write the name on both sides. We learn many new words this way.

Grade Two

One of our reading groups recently went to the library to choose books for oral reading to the group. The children read the various books silently and then choose one book to read to the group. A book report will also be written by each child.

This group has recently finished the last reading book of their series.

Some of us have started working with examples involving carrying.

We recently completed a unit about farms. Several children gave reports about the different phases of farm life. Our room now boasts a miniature farm.

We are presently studying about trees; their roots, leaves, etc.

Written work is improving as the children are relying more on the dictionary to help them spell the more difficult words.

Grade Three

The third grade made booklets and covered tin cans to give to their mothers on Mother's Day. The booklet consisted of two poems about mother and a third which they made up themselves. The poems were written in ink. They also covered tin cans with material which made attractive catchalls.

Before their vacation they had a 200-word spelling contest. Those receiving perfect papers were Susan St. Amour and Linda Wilson. One wrong: Betty McKenna and Johanne Russell; two wrong: Roger Sewall and Susan Wright; three wrong: David Brown and Philip Mitchell. Congratulations to these people!

They have finished learning how homes are built and the different materials that make up homes and they are now studying what it is like to be living in apartments in the city.

In science they are studying the different types of rocks, hard and soft. They will be making a collection of the rocks in the area and then mount them.

The third grade welcomes two new boys. They are Christopher Marchese from Spain and Michael Strack from Stratham. We hope you boys will enjoy it here!

Grade Four

New class officers have been elected for the month of May. They are: librarians, Fred Doe and Doreen Wilson; room manager, Timmy Russell.

We are beginning the last part of the year after returning from our spring vacation. We have begun new units in our history and geography. In history, we are now studying about the early pioneers and how they moved westward. In geography we are studying about the country of China, its people and background.

Grade Five

In social studies we are finding the Western states a very interesting part of our country. We are each making a booklet. Dorothy Melendy brought in some excellent films to be seen in our View-Master.

We are studying about mushrooms in science. Many interesting specimens have been brought in. Some were found near by in our school yard.

Dorothy Melendy, Greta Wilson, Raymond Hatch, Sharon

Sewall, Barbara Sewall, Jill Carmichael, Gary Rodrigues, Donna Stevens, Janice Call, Alan Smith and Fred Toland received 100% in the weekly spelling test.

Lana Roussel was our champion in arithmetic last week, receiving 100% in a review test.

Grade Six

This week we welcomed a new pupil into our class. He is Leonard Marchese and he has lived in Madrid, Spain, for the past three years.

We completed the work in our social studies book and we have started on another book which tells all about the beginnings of civilization.

In our English class we are doing a short play based on the story of Rip Van Winkle. Two groups are doing the same play but are using their own scripts.

The high scorers in spelling were Theresa Emond, Cynthia Sewall, Linda Marelli, Christine Carpenter, Jane Hazeltine, Marion George, Jacquelyn Varney, John Pazdon, Wayne Piecuch, Irving Brown and Thomas Moore.

The room manager for the month is Jacquelyn Varney.

Because the weather has been so warm we have enjoyed eating our lunches out-of-doors.

Our new books arrived from the Book Club and we are all busy reading.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

By Carole Willey

The eighth meeting of the Newmarket Girl Scout Troop #585 was held May 4th, with 38 scouts present.

A vote was passed stating that no scout can hold more than one office at a time.

The troop's scribe, Miss Nancy Demers previously resigned as scribe as it was too much work. Nancy is also a patrol leader.

Diane Rousseau was elected to the office of scribe.

The scouts are making plans for a hike on the Saturday following Memorial Day. They are working on personal first-aid kits which are to be brought in at the next meeting.

It was voted to take money out of the treasury to buy a record for folk dancing. The other records necessary are being bought privately. The program-aids will teach the dances upon arrival of the records.

We are happy to announce that troop #585 came in second in selling the most cookies in the Oyster River neighborhood.

Our leaders and troop committee attended the Neighborhood Meeting and Pot Lunch Supper at the Durham Community Church, Monday night.

Slaves Owned in Newmarket

According to old records of the town of Newmarket, or Lamprey River, as it was then called, the largest number of slaves owned in the year 1767 were 29. Captain Eliphalet Coffin, of Lamprey River, mentioned his mulatto girl, Tina, his negro girl Peg and his negro man Jack, in his will, were to be the property of his wife while she lived.

Rev. John Moody had a slave by the name of Scipio, who was killed while he was trying to lower a hogshead of cider into his master's wine cellar — his helpers had failed to hold it back.

In 1742, Pomp, Lt. Samuel Gilman's negro, was chosen constable and at a parish meeting March 21, 1743, Pomp was chosen day whipper, whatever that was.

Caesar was born a slave in Durham. When quite young he was sold to a resident of Nottingham, whose daughter married and lived in Newmarket. This gave Caesar a chance to buy his freedom. He was a very fine singer and had earned money by singing. He was told he could always have a home with his master's daughter and this settled the question. It was said that Caesar was intelligent, honest and devoted.

The widow of Andrew Glidden owned a slave by the name of Sambo. On Jan. 1, 1731, a complaint was entered in court against Sambo who "on December 28, 1730, did put a man, Edward Hilton by name, in great fear of his life by threatening speech and by attempts against him with force of arms. The said Sambo, holding an ax in his hands, of the value of twelve shillings, struck at said complainant a fell blow, swore profanely that he, the said Sambo, would split out the brains of said complainant and bury him in a swamp. And said Hilton prays that Sambo may be dealt with according to law." The result was a fine of ten shillings which was paid by Colonel Joseph Smith, son-in-law of Widow Glidden.

In New England, schools and churches went together. The schools had a law that in each town "After the Lord had increased them to the number of fifty households, one within the town shall be appointed to teach all children who shall resort to him to read and write."

The first schools were taught in homes. Nehemiah McNeal was the town school master, who taught and boarded in his pupils' homes. It was proposed in 1774 in town meeting that two reading and writing schools be kept in the town. This was voted down. Decisive action was taken in 1776 in regard to the schools.

The town was divided into six school districts, each district to provide a place for a school. The length of each term was determined by the number of children in each district. The boundaries of these districts were far apart and the children had to walk long distances. One of the earliest school houses stood on the northern slope of Pine Hill.

The Pastorate of Rev. John Moody

Lamprey River settlement or Newmarket as it is now, used to be part of Exeter, and the folks had to go to Exeter to church from 1639 to 1727. They did not want to pay their church tax and have their minister so far away from their homes. So, in 1727, thirty good men petitioned to be set off as a separate parish to be called New Market. Their request was granted.

At that time there were seventy-eight ratable polls in Newfields and Lamprey River settlements. These two villages combined formed the parish of New Market. It was voted to build a meeting house at the center of the parish. This was a little over one hundred rods south of the present Rockingham railroad station. Seventy years later a new church was required. This was built at the junction of the Exeter and Ash Swamp roads and the records say this was the center of the town.

Between the years 1727 and 1737 New Market was a parish separate from Exeter for church purposes only, but by an act of the General Assembly in September, 1737, the parish of New Market was granted full township rights.

The first minister in Newmarket was Rev. John Moody and he served fifty years as pastor. The parsonage was started in 1729 and finished in 1730. It was purchased in 1930 by Ralph Waugh, a construction engineer, who restored it to its former beauty and he and his family are still residing there. The house is in fine condition, although it is the oldest standing house in Newmarket. It consists of 12 large rooms, all usable and there are five fire places.

Monday night, May 16th, will be the regular meeting plus preparations for the Memorial Day ceremonies. Riverside cemetery veteran's graves have been checked and it was necessary to order 46 new grave markers to replace those that have disappeared. It is hoped that they will arrive and be placed before Memorial Day. Calvary cemetery will be checked this week, but we never have any trouble with disappearing markers down there. It is too far for the vandals to walk.

Special notice: Due to pressing business the Junior Vice Commander elect has had to resign. There will be an election to fill said office on Monday, May 16th.

Following are the important to 1777, refer to the pastorate of Rev. John Moody. He had a fine education, and was an eloquent preacher and was a valued associate of the ministerial body.

A contract was drawn up and signed by Rev. Moody on March 25, 1725 and is as follows: "The town agrees to pay Mr. Moody one hundred pounds a year for the first three years with a yearly increase of five younds, each year for eight years and to still increase his salary if his family stand in need of it and pay him quarterly. Secondly, the town agrees to bring to his house what firewood he shall stand in need of for his family. Thirdly, to give one hundred and thirty acres of land for his own. Fourth, to give him one hundred pounds in money towards building his house. Fifth, we also promise to make his yearly salary good as money now passes in the Colony."

This was a very generous contract and for a few years everything went all right. In 1741 money had dropped to one-fourth its value when this contract was signed. In July, 1777, a council of ministers was called, both parties to the contract agreeing to accept as final the decision of the council.

In this settlement, Mr. Moody was allowed one hundred and seventy-four pounds on condition that he surrender his contract with the town and the council allowed the town a surplusage of firewood, which was furnished to Mr. Moody at his demands, of nine cords per year for fifteen years. In this way the trouble was settled.

A SIMPLE FORMULA

From the halls of Congress to Main street, Newmarket, the debate over inflation — its causes and cures — will rage hotter than ever during a presidential election year.

The average citizen may find it increasingly difficult to cut through the swath of economic jargon in search of the answer as to what he can do to preserve the integrity of his dollar.

Recognizing that the fight against inflation is everyone's fight, the American Bankers Association has some down-to-earth advice. The cornerstone of successful family living, say the bankers, is a wise spending and saving plan. Simply stated, this means getting the most value from the dollars you have; borrowing only what you need; and applying the old fashioned virtue of thrift to everyday living.

P. E. A. TEAM RUNNER-UP IN LATIN COMPETITION

A team of three Latin students from the Phillips Exeter Academy won the runner-up position in the Upper Group competition of the twenty-sixth annual Baird Memorial Latin Contest sponsored by the Department of Classics of New York University.

More than 1,000 students from 242 secondary schools representing eight states took part in the competition which was held in New York City in late March. Students are required to translate Latin prose at sight. The Upper Group must have had no more than four years of Latin. Bishop Loughlin High School of Brooklyn, N. Y., won the Upper Group prize with a score of 402 out of a possible 450. Exeter repeated its second place of last year with a 400 score.

The Exeter team was composed of three Upper Middle (11th grade) students: They were: J. Randall Conrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Conrad of Wonneta Parkway, Westlake, Ohio; James D. Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Wilkinson of Martin's Pond road, Groton, Mass.; and Brian L. Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Cooke of Litchfield Turnpike, Woodbridge, Conn.

Conrad was a member of the team from Exeter last year which won the Lower Group competition. In this year's contest he was runner-up in the individual competition from the New England region with a score of 140 out of a possible 150. The highest individual score in the competition was 142.

Bright Ideas

Portrait photographs of family and friends can help you create an architectural illusion in your home, according to a prominent New York interior designer. Joseph Freitag, A.I.D., says "To give the impression of height, hang large framed portrait photographs in a vertical column. This is especially effective in a location where furniture is in the way — for example at the end of a long hall or on a corner wall of an L-shaped living-dining room combination." The photographs can be culled from albums, desk drawers or paper easels. Or they can be a Father's Day gift to Dad.

ADD A GAY, PARTY-ATMOSPHERE to your large, potted plants by transforming them into flowering trees. A split-leaf philodendron is perfect for this, or use a potted palm of rubber tree if you have one. To make the flowering tree arrangement you'll need these materials: A bunch of your favorite fresh flowers, green floral tape, six or eight orchid tubes, the same number of long, narrow green-wooden sticks and an aerosol Leaf Shine, such as Antrol's. First spray the plant with the Leaf Shine to give the leaves a fresh, clean luster. Then fill the orchid tubes with water and place small clumps of flowers in each tube. Using the floral tape, attach each of the filled tubes to a stick, and force the stick — with the tube — into the soil.

BACKYARD SWIMMING POOL — once a luxury associated with the estates of Hollywood stars — is now within reach of Mr. and Mrs. Average Income. Credit plus new building methods is the answer. So if you plan to take the plunge, here's a tip: Start at your local bank. Banks check very carefully into the reputation of the dealer. And they will advise you whether the cost of your pool is in relation to your property.

TRANSPLANTED HOUSE PLANTS add an extra touch of beauty to your outdoor living area. So why not move as many as possible out into the yard? If you've had the plants for some time, make sure the containers are still large enough for the roots. Then set the potted plants into the ground where they'll accent your permanent plantings. And protect them from insects and disease during the summer months with regular dusting or spray treatments. A combination insecticide-fungicide-miticide — such as Black Flag's Garden Duster — keeps the plants healthy and beautiful all summer long.

There are two freedoms — the false, where a man is free to do what he likes; the true, where a man is free to do what he ought. —Kingsley

Stamp Collectors News

By Mrs. Ione Kent

Previously a reference to the Inter-American conference scheduled to have been held in Quito, Ecuador, starting Feb. 1, 1960, was made in this column. New word has arrived that the meeting will not take place until Mar. 1, 1961. Of course, the 10c commemorative stamp, marking the event, will be delayed until that date. First Day Covers which had been sent to the Postmaster at Washington, D.C., will be held until the new date.

Interesting as it is to all the Philatelic World, the centennial of Poland's first postage stamp should be of special interest to our Americans formerly from Poland. The International Philatelic Exhibition called "Pol-ska 60" in Warsaw will be held Sept. 3-11. This #1 stamp of Poland was in use in Poland for 58 years, so has a long history.

V. Rachmanoff's 20 page booklet can be obtained from Polonus Philatelic Society, 25-28 Drake avenue, Chicago, Ill. The cost is $1.50 plus postage. The strange part about this stamp is that it does not carry the name of its country.

The American Woman stamp has been considered by some to have a political significance. The Postmaster Generals like political popularity.

As men think they should be honored, William H. Bunin of St. Paul has offered this poem:

A STAMP FOR DAD

They've been issued for planes, They've been issued for trains, For labor and bankers too. They've been issued for youth, And recently the tooth, And now one for "Dad's Day" is due.

They've commemorated trees, Sportsmen with skis, Soldiers and Sailors too. We've remembered balls and bats, Energetic acrobats, And now one for "Dad's Day" is due.

There're stamps for Scout and engineer, For salmon and deer, For newsboys and gardeners too. The chickens have a stamp, And Edison's lamp, And now one for "Dad's Day" is due.

Stamps are printed with parks, And seagoing barques, For teachers and poets too. They forget not the states, Or "Golden Gates", Isn't one for "Dad's Day" now due?

For "Poppies" not "pops," For conservation of crops, For the Slavs and Albanians too. We don't forget mom, Or the atom bomb, And now one for "Dad's Day" is due.

They've got one for Poe Whose first name we all know, One for bridges and statues too. We remember the law, But forget our own "paw", A stamp for all Dads is now due.

Hope you gals don't mind the above horn-blowing. Undoubtedly we'll be told we blow all the time anyhow, and that this extra blast will in no way affect the general status quo.

NEWS FROM LEE

By Mrs. Lloyd Stevens

Lee Civil Defense Exercise Successful

Staton Curtis, C. D. Director of Lee, termed the town's participation in last week's nationwide alert very successful. Over 60 cars were detained during the 15 minute period between 3 and 3:15 p.m. at three places, Lee traffic circle, Lee Hill and the junction of 155 and 155A. Curtis and his staff, Deputy Director Alice Dudley, Fire Chief Lloyd Stevens, Police Deputy Bob Keniston and Ralph Granger observed 100% cooperation from local residents and motorists passing through town. No one failed to respond to the alert. Assisting with traffic control was a state trooper.

Lee put into use a 4-way communications system with Keniston tuned in on the State Police frequency, the fire trucks on the forestry band, the deputy and deputy director with car radios tuned to Conelrad and the official alerts coming through the Red Network. The alarm was sounded simultaneously over the fire station siren, the truck standing by at home base and the other truck which was station at the traffic circle. Director Curtis wishes to extend his appreciation for the cooperation of all who took part in the exercise.

Lee Community Club

Officers elected at the may meeting of the Lee Community Club were Mrs. John E. Marshal, president; Mrs. Derek Seeley, 1st vice president; Mrs. David Myers, 2nd vice president; Mrs. John Hull, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Piper, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas Brown, treasurer; Mrs. John L. Randall, auditor; Mrs. Elmer Kimball, Mrs. Frank Caldwell and Mrs. Ira Hull, directors. Outgoing president, Mrs. Elmer Kimball, was presented with a pin in recognition of her service by the new president, Mrs. John Randall.

The business meeting which was held at the Lee Church Vestry was followed by the annual luncheon held at Flagstone's Restaurant.

Lee Hill 4-H Club

The first meeting of the Entomology group was held Saturday morning at UNH's Nesmith Hall with Dr. Robert Blickle in charge. Present were David Sawyer, Danny Shannon, Dave Laney, Ralph Granger, Jr., Marina Marelli, Margaret and Jean Woodward.

Prof. Blickle outlined plans for the program and gave instructions for making "killing jars". He also issued nets for catching specimens to those present.

Girls from the Lee Hill 4-H Club participating in the Strafford County Dress Revue held at the Memorial Union Tuesday evening were Carolyn Granger, Jayne Boynton, Marsha Mc-

Laran, Jean Woodward, Kathy Dow, Patty Richmond, Margaret Woodward, Nancy Taylor, Joan Dow, Dianne Wenant, Judy Byers, Joanna Tyson and Maye Mahoney. The girls modeled their own creations. The County winner was Jayne Boynton of the Lee Hill Club. She is now eligible to enter the state Dress Revue.

Lee Riders

"A stitch in time save nine", is a good motto for the busy members of the Lee Riders who are going full tilt ahead on plans for their 2nd annual Gymkhana to be held July 9 in conjunction with the Lee Fire Department Auxiliary's Fair. The group has enlisted the help of the clothing group, under the leadership of Mrs. L. O. Wenant, to make the ribbons while Lee Rider Peggy Ninde is preparing the rosettes.

A class list with games and contests has been prepared and the group is now formulating ways and means to obtain trophies for class winners. Anyone interested in donating towards the trophy fund may contact Joan Chadbourne.

Participation in the Horse Show-Gymkhana will not be limited to a radius of 15 miles as it was last year. Any interested rider is cordially invited to take part.

Members of the Lee Riders who entered the Rockingham Riding Club's Class "C" Horse Show held at UNH last Sunday were Nancy Chase, Peggy Ninde, Linda Morphy, Dale Gelinis and Donna Goodrich.

Town Officers Attend Meeting

Mrs. Florence Caldwell, town treasurer, Mrs. Inez Bennett, tax collector and George Bennett, selectman, attended the annual meeting of the Municipal Accounting Association which was held May 2 at the Exeter Town Hall. An interesting and instructive program consisting mainly of the duties of town financial officers was presented.

NOTICE

All dog owners take note! According to Mrs. Annie Piper, town clerk, a 50c fee will be attached to all dog licenses not paid before July 1, 1960.

Lee Fire Department

Members of the fire department have been busy the past week checking equipment and radios in anticipation of the fire season. They also have been burning over hazardous areas and the dump.

The department responded to two calls. Friday at 3 p.m., quick spotting and reporting by Mrs. Charles Howarth, of a grass fire near the Garrity road plus the hasty response of the fire department (Stevens, Tyler, Turner and Evans), prevented any extensive damage. Saturday the truck quelled an outbreak of fire at the dump.

Personals

Mrs. Ralph Granger attended the annual Alumnae Association Reunion banquet of Leslie College, Cambridge, Mass., last Saturday. Mrs. Granger, who was celebrating her 25th reunion, was accompanied by another Leslie graduate, Mrs. Joseph Reinhold of Durham, who graduated in 1953.

Mrs. Lloyd Stevens attended the afternoon workshop sessions and banquet of the N. H. Weekly Publishers Association which was held Friday at the Memorial Union in Durham.

Also invited to attend the conference were members of the New England Publishers Association. Following the banquet, members and guests heard an exciting "out-of-this-world" talk by Lt. Comdr. John A. Powers, director of the Astronaut Project and the National Astronaut and Space Agency. His appraisal of the future program when within the next two years one of the seven astronauts is expected to go into orbit to be followed soon after by multi manned capsules and space stations, stretched the imagination beyond this everyday world. To illustrate his talk, Powers had on hand a detailed model of the capsule including a miniature astronaut and even the instruments he will use.

Mrs. Christopher Cook and children spent the weekend visiting with Mrs. Warren Cook in Newton, Mass.

Mrs. Ira Hull is spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Lee Harrison in Torrington, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Knox have returned to their home on Wheelwright Pond after spending the winter in Florida.

We recommend interested parents and friends attend the play "Hi Jinks At Hollister", being produced by Girl Scout Troop #6 which is comprised of girls from Lee, Madbury and Durham, to be held Friday, May 13 at 7:30, at the Durham Community Church.

The enterprising youngsters of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Wenant have started a business of their own at their father's service station at the Lee traffic circle where they have set a stand to sell geraniums and pansies at present. They will sell other plants and vegetables as they come in season.

Birthdays

Ricky Stevens celebrated his 4th birthday with a lawn party at his home on Tuttle road, Thursday afternoon. Guests present were Brett, Trigger and Esther Cook, Ann and Maye Mahoney, ane and Ellen Jervis, David and Randy Stevens and Joanna Booth. Unable to attend due to illness were Bell Mahoney and Peter Whipple.

Sick List

Three Lee residents, Mrs. Norman Whippen, Bishop John T. Dallas and Mrs. Ethel Thompson and one ex-Lee resident, Mr. Henry Nichols, are listed as patients at Exeter Hospital.

Mrs. Thompson, who just recently returned from a winter in Florida, had a shock and fell last Wednesday morning at her home on Tuttle road. She suffered a fractured left knee and multiple bruises and is considered in serious condition. Our most heartfelt sympathies go to our favorite next door neighbor.

Mrs. Guy Wilson of Concord visited with her father, Norman Whippen over the weekend and her mother, who was a patient at Exeter Hospital.

Children confined to their homes last week were Scott Faulkner and Carolyn Nugent with chicken pox, while Karen Knabenschuh will be out of school this week recovering from a tonsilectomy performed at Exeter Hospital Saturday.

Willie Labonte, who underwent a serious surgical operation at the Portsmouth Hospital was released last Monday and is recuperating at home on Lee Hook road.

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

By Joe Dixx

The Little League officials held their regular bi-monthly meeting at the town hall with 22 members present. It was voted to return the policies for re-writing. The policies were in effect during the latter part of April.

The first item discussed was the present condition of the Little League Field. A report on this was given by the head groundskeeper, "Beef" Loiselle. The report was favorable and the field was opened for use both for practice and scrub games. The 3rd item brought up was the handling of the refreshment stand. George Bergeron offered to handle all the details, which was approved by all members present.

The next item discussed was the legal wording of the insurance policies covering both the Little and Pony League teams. The raffle tickets were passed out to the team managers who will return give the tickets to the Little Leaguers. The Little Leaguer who sells the winning ticket will win a baseball glove. Joe Dixx's Sport Corner

By Richard Schanda

Take good care of your various licenses this year, for the price of duplication has gone up. The new price will be $2 on the fishing or hunting, but only $1 for clam or oyster. The reason for the increase in price is the new $1 stamp which you must have to validate your license.

The commanding officer of the local Coast Guard station at Portsmouth has issued a warning to people who may try to watch the launching of the new sub, the Abe Lincoln, from their boats: He warns that the wave which will be created when the sub hits the water will be dangerous to all small boats in the area. So if you plan to do some deep sea fishing on Saturday, get down through the harbor real early or late in the forenoon. By the way, if you want a good view of the launching, pull your boat up the creek, across from the Navy Yard, and walk out on League Island bluff, which looks down on the launching area.

The State of N. H. has issued the new 1960 Law Book on rules governing the operation, equipment and navigation of boats. You may pick up this book at Mike Menter's house up in Lee Hill. He also carries boat registration plates.

The 1960 fees are as follows: outboard - motors, 5 h.p. or under, $3.00; 5.1 h.p. to 13.9 h.p., $4.00; 14 h.p. and up, $5.00.

At the State Officers' and Directors' Meeting of the New Hampshire Farm Bureau Young Peoples Association Meeting held at Concord on Wednesday evening, May 4, James A. Purington, County Agricultural Agent of the Rockingham County Cooperative Extension Service, Exeter, N. H., was awarded a plaque in appreciation of services rendered to Young Farmers. The plaque reads: "Thanks to 'Jim' Purington, Friend and Advisor of Farm Bureau Young People in N. H., May 4, 1960 — 'It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.'"

Mr. Purington was one of the original committee to draft the Constitution and By Laws at a meeting, held at the home of John A. Perkins at Nottingham, in 1945 and has worked continuously with Young Farmers since serving as one member of the State Advisory Committee.

or buffet dinner and to provide a secretary for each league to keep the records.

The summer bowling season will begin soon after school ends and will end approximately September 1st. Each child will bowl 3 strings per week at a cost of 50c.

Each league will be composed of from eight to ten teams. Each team will be composed of either five or six players and may carry a spare bowler. A team captain will be elected for each team.

The alley is clean and well kept with automatic pinsetters. A new nursery is being built for the convenience of mothers with younger children. A new air-conditioning unit is going to be installed and refreshment are available for children and adults as well.

The success of this project is dependent on parent cooperation. The local group will be divided into two sections, one to bowl on Wednesday and the other on Saturday.

New officers were installed by Mrs. Betty Gowen, past president and district officer. They include Mrs. Nellie Anderson, president and Mrs. Ruth Carmichael. Also serving will be Mrs. Mary Schmeer, as secretary.

The program was presented in the new gymnasium-auditorium with Melvin Cross, physical education instructor directing a group of students in several demonstrations of coordination. Miss Jean Cutter, practice teacher, conducted a group of students in modern dancing and Louis Kasiaras presented a portion from the first act of the Junior class play "Susan Slept Here." Members of the cast include Peter Jordan, Eva Szacik, Richard Homiak, Carol Roper, Roger Sklarski, Roger Gagne and Heather Branche.

John Dodds presented a farewell gift from the group to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Filmore, who have served as officers and will be moving soon from town. Refreshments were served.
