Anti-Pollution Bill Passed And Now Becomes Law

By MARION STEVENS

House Bill #120, signed into law March 30 by Governor Wesley Powell, set into motion after considerable study and hearings, the opening up of the Great Bay area for future development.

The bill classified the waters of the Piscataqua River and its tributaries, placing miles of fresh water streams and thousands of acres of salt water in this region under a B-1 category. Certain ponds and reservoirs now serving as water supplies received an A classification.

The most significant factor of the B-1 rating, as set up by the New Hampshire Water Pollution Commission, is that it requires treatment of all sewage and industrial wastes so that waters will be acceptable for bathing and other recreational purposes and also maintain fish life. In addition, fresh water streams shall be of a quality to permit use as water supplies after adequate treatment.

this move, met last year with state representatives to study Newmarket's particular problems.

A story carried in THE NEWMARKET TIMES on Aug. 11, 1960, reported that representatives of the Planning Board, Budget Committee, Water Works and Selectmen met with an official of the State Water Pollution Commission to discuss the whole problem as it affected Newmarket.

The state, in a preliminary study for re-classification, proposed two different methods of elimination of Newmarket's contribution to the pollution of the Piscataqua Watershed.

Group A recommended a sewer treatment plant and pumping station on Bay road, a pumping station and force main at New Village and a pumping station and like force main at Creighton street. A total of three stations and the treatment plant.

The cost of such a project was estimated by the state to be $343,000. The federal government's share (thirty per cent) would be $103,000, the state's share would be $69,000—leaving a balance of $171,000 to be financed by the town and a bond issue over a period of years

WEATHER FACTS

At the Lee Weather Station
By EDGAR HOBBY
Mr. Hobby's weather station is approved by the U.S. Weather Bureau and supplements the weather observations for the U.S. Weather Bureau in Durham, New Hampshire.

For the period March 28 through April 4, 1961:

Maximum temperature was 53°F and minimum was 26°F.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

The skeptics and sidewalk superintendents said it couldn't be done and many others had grave doubts, but Kenneth Eickholt's unwavering dedication, determination and enthusiasm kept his "Faithful Four's" courage up during all kinds of weather, including sub-zero, to finish the job they had started in true scout tradition.

The Brisson Block is down! Not only down but in such an orderly fashion that we feel the workers deserve the congratulations of the whole town.

Ever since last January, Sgt. Eickholt and his "Faithful Four" co-workers, Ralph Willey, Earl Hodsdon, Frank Hill and Adelbert Clark, have spent evenings and weekends methodically demolishing the old building. Never, in all this time, was there any evening that the premises weren't left neat and clean.

Wilfred Beaulieu of Newmarket Plains, let the workers have the use of his truck and the final chore done each night was to load the last of the rubbish on the truck and take it back to Beaulieu who dumped it the next morning.

Mention must also be given to the older scouts who worked alongside the five men; Bobby Turcotte, Jerry Eickholt, John Willey, Ronnie Bloom, Paul St. Pierre, Leman and Raymond Hatch and Larry Gowen.

Others who donated their help were John Ross, Robert Harney, Ray Bernard and Earl Hodsdon Jr.

Many thanks are extended to all those who in any way contributed to the final accomplishment of the project. Special thanks to Dick Walker and his crew for their help.

Easter Sunday Fires

The Lee Fire Department was called out at 7:50 a.m. Easter, to the old MacRae homestead off Route 4, where Durham Fire Department, having been notified first, had the fire under control.

Damage, according to Chief Lloyd Stevens, was slight to the bedroom where the blaze originated. Probable cause was listed as a match not completely extinguished, caught fire somehow and set clothes hanging on a door on fire.

At 3 p.m. on the same day the fire department was again called out. This time it was for a permitted grass fire which whipped by a sudden gust of wind almost got out of control.

According to Chief Stevens, everything was quieted down by the time the fire truck arrived, adding that the fire department appreciated being called before anything serious could happen.

The regular session of Municipal Court was held Friday, March 31, with just one case heard. James Plumer of Mast road, Lee, appeared before Judge McGuirk on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct.

He entered a plea of not guilty, but upon hearing evidence of the police officer, the judge found him guilty and fined him $25.

Stage Coach Days

The stage for Dover left the office at four o'clock in the afternoon each day, connecting with the stage for Portsmouth and towns along the route east.

The stage from Boston started from Branscomb's Tavern at 8 a.m. each Monday, going by way of Lowell; Wednesday, by way of Haverhill; and Friday, by way of Newburyport. The first stop on the route was at Stinson's Inn, two miles from the start, not for relays but for the convenience of passengers who felt the need of fortifying themselves against the jolting weariness of the journey.

A "Day Call Book" kept at the stage line office in Newmarket in the years 1839 to 1841 is of interest as it recalls the names of long forgotten residents. In this call book, strangers are listed as "gents" and "ladies", but residents are easily identified.

For example, "One seat for Major Seth Walker at the counting room, one seat at John Spees' near the woods, Benjamin Carter for Lowell, Dr. Priest for Dover, Joseph Pinder, No. 26 on the hill, one seat at Tuxbury's 'high as heaven', Parmelia Murray, Eliza Creighton and Lucy Branscomb, all going to Boston.

"One seat at Churchill and Folsom's store, George Horn at the Old Ark. Two seats for Lynn jail, nobody else going. One seat at Seth Shackford's stage stop at foot of the hill, two at Ben Mathes', Charles Branscomb for Lowell, Madison Chapman for Newfields, Joseph Elkins for Exeter."

The "Old Ark" is frequently mentioned but its location and ownership are past finding out, but we are pretty sure it was a boarding house.

In the year 1868 (March), in the shop of the Abbot-Downing Co., makers of the Concord stagecoaches, work was commenced in Concord on a coach which was to have incredible adventures on the wild trails of the West. It was built as were all their coaches, for the job it was to do.

Under a shining coat of paint and fancy gold leaf scroll work was a frame of the hardest iron and wood obtainable. Stout sheets of iron plate completed the job of giving this coach the strength and invulnerability of an armored car. So hard was the iron used that it took the combined efforts of four men to turn the die that made threads on the wheel shafts.

All could see that this coach was intended for some pretty rough use. When the final minute inspection had been made and every detail of the coach found to meet the high standards of workmanship of the company, it was taken to Boston where it went by the clipper ship General Grant around Cape Horn to San Francisco. From there it went into use on the most deadly mail route in the whole wild west. It ran from Cheyenne to Deadwood via Laramie.

The Sioux Indians were the first of many to attach her in a battle as savage as any on TV's western shows. During the first year of use of the Deadwood Coach or Treasure Coach, as she became known, for the rich cargo of gold she carried, such colorful spots as Lame Johnny Creek, Buffalo Gap, Squaw Gap and Red Canyon became noted as spots where holdups and attempted holdups were made.

The great coach saw a lot of action. She averaged an attack per trip by either Indians or highwaymen. Sometimes they were successful and many times attackers met violent death from the shot guns and six guns of the driver and guards.

One day the coach came thundering into town after having been held up. Gathering around, the townspeople were amazed to find that a woman had taken over the reins when the driver had been shot. The woman's name was Martha Canary. History, however, re-

DURHAM CHANNEL 11 WENH-TV RECEIVES NATIONAL AWARD

WENH-TV, New Hampshire's educational television station, has received a national award for "outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life."

The award, which cited Channel 11's in-school program, "New Hampshire History", taught by Mrs. Dorothy Wilcox of Durham, was made by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. It was forwarded to Keith J. Nighbert, manager of Channel 11.

The National and School Awards Jury of the foundation chose for "special honor" program "Paul Revere's Ride to New Hampshire", which was one of the lesson presentations in the fourth grade history course prepared by Mrs. Wilcox. The program and the entire series on New Hampshire history was produced and directed by Alton S. Hotaling, Channel 11 production manager.

Mrs. Wilcox, a teacher at the Oyster River Cooperative School in Durham, took a year's leave of absence in 1959 to prepare and present the historical series and the teacher's study guide which accompanies it. This study guide is considered by many authorities to be the most complete history of the State of New Hampshire now available.

The series, which was originally produced a year ago, is now being repeated in 270 classrooms throughout the state including Newmarket and Oyster River.

Mr. Nighbert said on learning of the award, "Channel 11 is very gratified at the recognition and honor received from Freedoms Foundation. We feel that it is a tribute particularly to Mrs. Wilcox for her dedicated work in making possible for the school children of New Hampshire a means of learning the historical heritages of their state. It is also a personal honor for Mr. Hotaling. But I cannot help but feel that in its largest sense it is a significant recognition of the kind of contribution Channel 11 and educational television in general can make to the schools and community."

St. Mary's Student Places Second in Championship Contest

Peter Hamel, 13, eighth grader at St. Mary's School, won second place in the Rockingham regional championship contest spelling bee held by the Exeter-Hampton Lodge of Elks Saturday afternoon.

Eliminating word for Peter, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hamel of Ash Swamp road, was "bacillus".

Judith Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Simpson of Derry, won first place. Third place winner was Diane Melville, 12, seventh grader at Newton Memorial School and fourth place went to Linda Lavigne, 14, of Epping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lavigne.

Local Residents Kin Is T.V. Prize Winner

Arthur Jackson, brother of Ralph Jackson of 180 Main street, Newmarket, was a $28,087 winner on "The Price Is Right" show last Friday, March 24.

Arthur, who has visited his brother many times in Newmarket, is a third year student at Plymouth Teachers College.

In December he was one of only one hundred students chosen throughout the entire United States for Who's Who in American Colleges.

records this and her many other exploits under another name—that of Calamity Jane.

Young gunslingers frequently attempted holdups of the stage and many others to start their reputations. Over $60,000 in gold was taken from her in one holdup. Though often heldup and sometimes robbed, she never failed to reach her destination.

Many were the famous personages of the west who were carried by the Deadwood Coach while in service. Buffalo Bill is said to have come back from the Indian Scout Wars of 1876 in this coach with a tidy collection of Indians scalps he collected in battle.

It was on reaching Deadwood that the stage was at her colorful best. Always she came racing down the steep incline leading into Deadwood with brakes set and horses on a dead run.

It was Buffalo Bill who saved the coach from oblivion. He bought and took her with him as he toured the United States and Europe with his traveling show. Many were the noted people of the time who rode in the coach down the streets of our country and across the sea.

One day in 1895, the Deadwood Coach returned to the land of her birth to Concord. Lewis Downing was dead but his son, Lewis Jr., rode with Col. Cody in the parade viewed by over 20,000 people. With him was Hiram Rolfe, Abbot-Downing's foreman for fifty-two years.

Today she stands proudly beside many other vehicles that have helped make our grand country. You will find Concord's most famous stage coach in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

By Richard Schanda

A stroll down Water street to the Town Landing will show what damage this past winter's weather has done to the only public landing ramp in town.

Two or three loads of gravel would improve the landing temporarily and allow the local boys to launch their boats for the spring season.

In past years this ramp has become a semi-private storage lot for second hand weir pockets. This makes it very hard to launch a boat as the only level spot is usually blocked by this well-used pocket.

I guess we will have to speak to at least five people: the unknown owner of the old pocket, our three selectmen and my old pal, Richman Walker. How about it Rich? Can you talk the boys out of two or three loads of gravel?

The Upper River ice went out officially on March 31. The moat is still iced over but the main river from Big Tree to the dam is free from hard ice.

The moat is now unsafe for ice fishing as is the ice house cove. Ice fishermen may still try their luck up north but with every passing day soft spots appear overnight.

Normally the northern lakes break up between April 10 and May 2. From the sound of the long range weather forecasters, ice out will be around the first of May.

Most of you readers have noticed that I do not favor the Fish and Game Department's bill on poison baits to combat the porcupine in New Hampshire.

Now I dislike porcupines as much if not more than the next fellow, but the damage that poison bait does cancels out the good of a lowered porcupine population.

Fishers, a rare mink type animal, just loves to feed on porkys. He will eat this porky not caring if his dinner has just eaten one of those poisoned apples the state wants to put out. You can guess what the results would be.

This also applies to bear, partridge, squirrel and many other fruit eaters who would also be able to get at this bait.

Out west, porcupine infested states are importing fishers from British Columbia. They are adding a valuable fur bearer who cleans out the porkys. Pretty good trade I'd say.

Our own state reports an all time fisher high and all time record low porcupine population up in Bear Brook state park, which tends to back up this article.

Bill and Charlie Gendron tried for salmon last Saturday and from what Bill reports I'd say the weather was pretty bad.

Bill tells me that he saw my "Old Uncle Flub" fish for almost two hours without getting his bait wet. Charlie said the snow was coming down so hard that at time he could not see his rod tip.

These boys are what you call just plain fishermen. By the way, my promised roasted salmon dinner came out of a can.

Keep an eye on the fields down the Ash Swamp road, as the swamps are filling up and this will drive the deer out of their winter feeding grounds.

Last year a herd of seven used the field for two or three weeks until the swamps dried out. As far as I know, only two were shot by hunters, dogs got one and one was nicked by a local hunter.

As these seven deer were spotted before they dropped their fawns, this herd probably numbered upwards of twelve before hunting season rolled around. We should see at least eight or nine this spring. Keep your fingers crossed.

Proposed hunting laws to keep your eyes on:

Note: HB 339 would apply to eel spear fishermen and through the ice smelt fishermen.

HB 71 places a twenty dollar ($20) bounty on wolves, payable from Fish and Game funds.

HB 163—"To repeal free fish and game licenses for members of the armed forces."

HB 208 makes it illegal for a person to buy a hunting or fishing license while his is under revocation or before he has paid fines ordered by the court for fish and games violations.

HB 164—Extend condemnation proceedings available for acquisition of land for propagation purposes to include game as well as fish.

HB 339—Relative to the manner of marking holes in the ice on Great Bay.

Junior High Basketballers End Successful Season

The Newmarket Junior High basketball team has ended a most successful campaign with nineteen victories and only three losses. The defeats suffered were to Hampton Junior High twice, 31-23 and 31-27; and to St. Patrick's CYO of Portsmouth 29-26.

The most notable accomplishments of the season were the overwhelming victories over state CYO runner-up St. Joseph of Manchester 47-22 and a triumph in tourney play against a powerful Portsmouth all star team 39-35.

Other teams that the local basketeers defeated were Portsmouth Junior High, Somersworth, Exeter Junior High, Exeter All Stars, St. Martins, Epping, Farmington, Manchester YMCA and Nottingham.

Leading the team in scoring was Gary Gage who averaged thirteen points a game. Gary was selected as most outstanding player of the junior high tournament.

Roger Sklarski and Dale Marden were nominated to all-tourney first team berths and were high scorers in several of the games this season.

Much of the success of the team is also credited to Lemon Hatch and Mike Anderson. Lemon was playing basketball for the first time and his improvement throughout the season amazed many observers. Mike was the key man in the team's fast break as he dashed down-court on numerous occasions to tally important baskets.

Substitutes who deserve a lot of credit for their improved playing included Ronnie Sklarski, Warren Russell, Stan Wojnowski, Joe Teed and John Carpenter. The boys who saw little action but are counted upon to fill the gap next season are John Pazdon, Tony Zych, Joe Cotton, Al Knight, Tom Moore, Mike Marchese, Randy Gage and Craig Bomze.

Coach Robert Dorval and his team would like to thank the officials for their outstanding refereeing of the games; the drivers of cars for transporting the players to out of town games; the fans for their loyal support and THE NEWMARKET

TIMES for their helpful publicity throughout the season.

Local 4-H Mules Discuss Animal, Plant Raising

The weekly meeting of the Newmarket 4-H Mules was called to order Thursday evening at 6:40 by President Larry Smith.

A discussion on raising animals and plants was held, after which was talked about who wanted to take part in demonstration work. Those who volunteered were George Phalen, Billy Ernest and Dale Marden.

It was reported that the three 4-H clubs in Newmarket, working together selling Easter lillies last Friday afternoon between 3 and 6, earned $35.28.

Following the business meeting, County Agent Harry Knox talked on automobile safety. The group decided to enter the National Safety Slogan Contest.

Mr. Smith then explained the purpose and function of a car battery.

Mrs. Smith served refreshments following the meeting.

RIVER —

—adding only $1.50 to the present tax rate. It was noted that New Hampshire is the only state which guarantees bond issues for the abatement of pollution from sewer treatment plants.

Group B recommended the construction of gravity sewers at Main street beyond the present sewer lines, on Packers Falls road and New road. This plan could cost $100,000 and would not be eligible for federal assistance although it would provide extension of sewers.

An engineering study must be undertaken before any definite commitments could be made.

It is significant to note that in the Planning Board's report in this year's Town Report, members recommended that the town authorize a committee to study the problem and return a full report for Town Meeting 1962 or earlier by a special meeting if the selectmen receive the expected order in 1961.

As the Planning Board stated, the cleaning up of the Lamproy River will be a large undertaking. It will require a great deal of study and long term consideration. The time to start this is now, to plan for an overall financing arrangement which will not overburden the taxpayer. Although the state will allow a five-year period for completion of the project, it would be unfair to the taxpayer to procrastinate and end up with a crash program. With each passing year costs would also rise.

One of the first steps would be the hiring of an accredited engineering firm to study and recommend the most feasible plan for Newmarket's solution to the pollution problem. Federal loans are available, interest free, for just such studies. It is also significant to note that federal aid of thirty per cent and state aid of twenty per cent is available to towns and cities for sewerage treatment plants. The cleaning up of Lamproy River and the Great Bay has particular significance to the Town of Newmarket. It isn't hard to see that the town will benefit greatly, both recreation wise and business wise by the development of this area.

It is hoped that consideration of the problem will take place immediately.
