NEWMARKET YOUTHS, SERVING AS MARINES AT PARRIS ISLAND, TO GO TO UNKNOWN DESTINATION

Frank Schanda and Ralph B. Silver, well known Newmarket young men, who are serving in the U. S. Marine Corps, are being transferred from Parris Island, South Carolina, to some unknown destination, according to letters received from both boys by friends in Newmarket this week. It is probable that the transfer will also affect several other Newmarket youths stationed at the same camp.

This newspaper is privileged to publish these letters, in which undoubtedly there will be much local interest. They read as follows:

"I received your letter the other day. Thanks for the envelopes and stamps.

"I am out on the rifle range now. My platoon fired for record Sunday and eleven of us won medals; I was one of the lucky eleven. I received a marksman's medal.

"I have been seeing Ralph Silver, Herbert Reardon, Phil Bernard and Eugene Rondeau every day now because my platoon has finished training and is now on eight days of mess duty.

"I dish out the dessert. Ralph and Herbert say that this has been the only time they have been getting enough dessert.

"I will be shipped from here soon and will write you.

"As ever,

Newmarket Awaits Great Pistol Duel

The sports world was struck as if by a bombshell this week when S. S. Humphreys accepted a challenge from Sydney Langley to engage in a pistol match at some future date in Newmarket.

The battle will be for the heavy-weight championship of the town, and both gladiators are lining up managers, and possibly sponsors, if they can inspire enough faith in the next few days of practice to secure either.

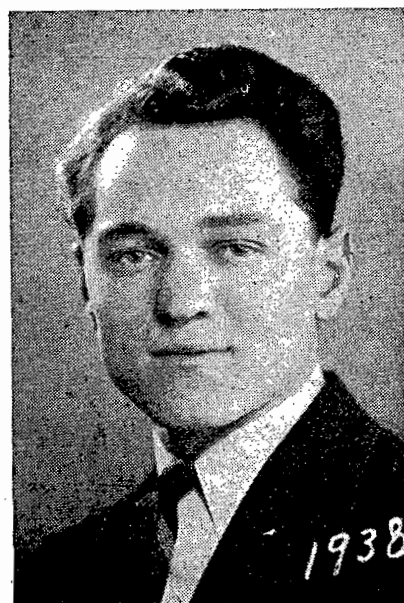

Humphreys has approached Officer John Valliere with a proposition to act as his manager, but the policeman, with a reputation of his own as a marksman to consider, had not announced acceptance up to press time.

Langley was contacting a number of prominent townsmen at the Town Hall, Monday night, prior to the semi-monthly pistol practice, but it is not yet known whether anyone is eager to pilot him in the thrilling duel with Humphreys.

P. S.—Marksman Langley is not to be confused with Editor Langley, who is a straight shooter only in an editorial way.

Another "Sell-Out" Of Newmarket News

For the second successive week, there was another sell-out of the Newmarket News at local stores this week.

A large increase was made in the number of copies left at Turcotte's News Stand, Friday afternoon, but the entire supply had vanished by Sunday morning. Another delivery was effected and this supply was also exhausted, so that a third delivery was necessary, thus repeating the situation of the previous week.

This great increase in store sales, combined with a vastly lengthened subscription list during the past several months, should be good news indeed for our advertisers.

Undoubtedly to the disappointment of many supporters, Theodore Filion, a member of the Newmarket Board of Selectmen, who is slated soon to become chairman, has failed to make any reply to the statement issued by "Reputable Citizen" in this newspaper last week.

Approached as he was unloading lumber from a town truck at the Town Hall one afternoon during the week, he was assured that these columns were open to him for any comment he might want to make.

"I think I know who this man is who is criticizing me," he said, "and if he is who I think he is, I may not bother to make any reply."

Later, the "Reputable Citizen" required whether there was any indication that Filion would issue a statement. Informed that nothing had been heard from the selectman, the "Reputable Citizen" declared, with obvious disappointment:

"Well, it seems entirely proper for Theodore to call a good American citizen a yellow-livered Japanese and a 'snake in the grass,' but when he is confronted with hard, cold facts and figures, he apparently is unwilling to stand up and punch it out.

"I believe many people would like to hear from him, especially in regard to those promises that he made at the Taxpayers' Association meeting. Since many citizens of Newmarket were present, they know Filion made the promises, and they also know by now that they haven't been kept."

fore, I am using the unexpected half-day off to catch up on my letters. I am four behind.

"I have written and received answers from most of the folks and am glad to hear they received my correspondence.

"That Somersworth game was certainly a heart-breaker. I would like to have seen it. I was glad to receive the Newmarket News. There were some interesting articles in it. I think that it's a good idea to let the people know about basketball games played years ago. It is interesting.

"I gave your regards to "Chink" and "Herbie" and they sent theirs back to you. I saw Phil Bernard and Rondeau last night for the first time. They seem to like it down here. They (and Chink) will leave the island about a week before "Herbie" and I (we are together, you know) do. As for the other Newmarket boys, I haven't seen them, but have heard many stories as to where they are.

"We are scheduled to leave the island Feb. 12, but have no idea where they will send us. There are many rumors going around that we will get a 15-day leave, but I doubt it.

"We are living in tents at the rifle range and it is tough. You have never really felt a wind until you feel the ones that blow off the bay down here. I wouldn't call it cold, but it is the coolest wind I have ever felt. We wear gloves all the time, despite the fact that the sun is shining most of the time. It doesn't snow, but when it rains, it rains. You have to swim to your destination.

"The food they feel us is good, but most of us could stand a little more. We eat at different times, depending on the work we do during the day.

"I will close now so I can answer some other letters. Give my regards to gang. Tell them to write. I wrote to Mrs. Roper, but haven't received an answer as yet. Tell Camille (Muncheon) that if he should see her to remind her to write. The boys that are left in town are lucky to have all the girls there. They ought to make a hit. It sure is a break for Camille (my being away).

"Good luck and write soon.

Chief Air Raid Warden Austin J. McCaffrey answered his telephone just 15 seconds after the Exeter sub-station of Civilian Defense put through a test call at 1 o'clock in the morning recently. The local Defense center is now open 12 hours daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and night calls are switched to Mr. McCaffrey's home telephone. The Exeter sub-station was testing the efficiency of this system.

Chief Air Raid Warden Austin J. McCaffrey has visited the Rockingham Shoe company and Sam Smith Shoe Corp. plants to instruct the air raid wardens in their duties during an emergency.

Such problems as place to put sand and shovels, ventilation, electricity and water during a blackout and the proper place for workers to go when an emergency call comes in were discussed.

Humphreys Named As Town Auditor

Stewart S. Humphreys has been appointed by the Board of Selectmen as town auditor in Newmarket.

He was given the oath of office by Town Clerk William E. Neal.

Under the varsity teams, there are also junior varsity and junior high clubs for boys and girls. New equipment in the form of balls, bats, suits, etc. has been purchased for the players. Football was also inaugurated into the school program and has become very popular. Plans are being made to introduce track also this spring. As coach of athletics, Kingsman has left an outstanding record of wins, as well as several well coached boys who are participating in various sports in clubs and organizations.

The last tournament team in basketball was brought through in his first year at the reins. Outstanding teams were developed in baseball, which included victories over Dover and Austin Cate Academy. Besides playing the game, the boys were taught the finer points of sportsmanship and the enjoyment of sports as a leisure time time activity.

Mr. Kingsman regrets leaving his work and his friends, but is also anxious to take part in the service of his nation. He is also very interested in aviation and this provides him an opportunity to enter that field.

MEN REGISTER IN NEWMARKET AND EXETER

Due to a number of local men registering at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, where they are employed, less than 200 men were signed in the third selective service listing in Newmarket, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Chief Registrar Austin J. McCaffrey reported that 80 men were registered in the Town Hall on Saturday, 70 on Sunday, and less than 50 on the final day.

On Monday, Newmarket schools were closed to enable teachers to assist in the registration. E. K. Putnam, Chester Kingsman, Miss Claire Sing and Miss Dupres gave their services, and students of the senior high school also helped in the week-end enrollment.

'BILL' MALONE PLANS TO ADD TRACK AS NEW SPORT AT NEWMARKET HIGH

William Malone, new faculty member at Newmarket high school and former middle distance star at Boston College, has been looking over the prospects of inaugurating track as a new sport on the school's athletic program.

In fact, he has done more than just look, as his manual training class has already begun building some hurdles and jumping standards.

"Bill" Malone is like a race horse which likes to return to the track each spring.

His track career began back in his high school days at Winthrop, Mass., where he ran away with the Massachusetts quarter-mile championship.

He entered Boston College in 1933, and as a freshman earned enough points for his letter. Under the expert instruction of Coach Jack Ryder, he developed into the leading inter-collegiate middle distance runner and won many trophies and medals, as well as establishing several track record times. In four years at B. C., he made his award each year in both spring and winter track. The latter means working outdoors and running the meets indoor.

Some of his outstanding accomplishments in this sport have been as follows: Member of B. C. one-mile relay team that holds the present college record; member of B. C. two mile relay team which won the Penn relay meet and won several points in the National Intercollegiate meets in the Madison Square Garden, New York.

Newmarket high school has no track on which to practice, but this will not stop the running. Permission may be obtained from the University in Durham to use its track occasionally.

With some success, this new sport should prove popular, and would add greatly toward building up the N.H.S. athletic program, which already is serving nearly all interests.

Sherburne Buckler of Dedham, Mass., successor to Chester Kingsman at Newmarket high school, will handle the coaching of the varsity baseball this spring.

Foot in Heaven". She is a member of the Young Women's Recreational Club and has been employed as a fancy stitcher at the Rockingham Shoe Company. The bridegroom was graduated from English High School in Boston and is employed at Lever Brothers at Cambridge, Mass.

Following their wedding trip the couple will reside in Newmarket and Mr. Cirasice will commute to work.

WILLIAM MALONE

Mr. Buckler played on the Rutgers College, N. J., varsity teams and is well trained to take over this job.

Newmarket High school has been very fortunate to secure the services of two such men as Messrs. Malone and Buckler to lead their programs of sports.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olsenoški announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to "Rusty" Sharples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sharples.

Gilbert Valliere, son of Police Officer and Mrs. John Valliere, has returned to Fort Meade, Md., after spending a short furlough with his parents this week.

In a talk on "Democracy and Education" at the February meeting of the Newmarket Women's Club, H. Raymond Danforth, superintendent of Newmarket schools, declared that while the United States leads the world in the field of education, this nation must resort to methods used by Germany, but to achieve a different goal.

"We must use the same intensity to train this generation in America," he said, "use the same traits as Germany has used, but for the betterment of our country. We must use the lesson demonstrated in Germany but not for death—for life."

"Our people must learn to live and live more abundantly so as to develop all the possibilities in every individual for a fuller, happier, richer life.

"No sacrifice is too great to hold these rights. This conception of democracy is the aim and purpose of education."

At the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Irene Walsh, members voted to participate in the town-wide carnival which the Newmarket Civilian Defense finance committee plans to conduct shortly.

Got Any Sweets For This Marine?

In another column in this newspaper is a letter from Ralph Silver, popular Newmarket boy who is stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps at Parris Island in South Carolina.

It is our intention to bring into greater prominence an obscure reference in his letter to the fact that candy, cookies, and fruits are scarce in camp and he would appreciate some of these sweets from Newmarket friends.

The editor hopes that this notice will bring a good response.

William E. Smith

Funeral services were held in St. Mary's Church, Thursday, for William E. Smith, 81-year-old Newmarket resident, who died of pneumonia in Exeter Hospital, Monday. He was a retired painter and paper hanger and had resided in Newmarket for 55 years.

Mr. Smith was born in Canton, Mass., May 4, 1860. He leaves two sons William E. Jr., and George L., Newmarket; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Curley, Malden, and Mrs. Nellie Ward, Canton, Mass., and three grandchildren.

Charles Miesowicz, who is 20 years old and registered in the new selective service call, has three brothers already in Uncle Sam's forces. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miesowicz.

Wilkie Talks— But That's All

It is in extremely bad taste for Wendell Wilkie to start appearing around the United States in this grave hour with any suggestions to the Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces on how to win the war. Were Mr. Wilkie as well qualified to offer such opinions as President Roosevelt, who learned quite a lot about warfare as assistant secretary of the navy in the First World War, that would be one thing, and if Mr. Wilkie's recent address had been before a non-partisan audience in Boston, instead of the Middlesex Republican Club, it might also have been another.

When defeated candidates go running around in these crucial times and confine their cure-all suggestions to partisan groups, their motives may very well be questioned.

Mr. Wilkie has the right to advocate, as he did in Boston, the elevation of General Douglas MacArthur to become supreme commander of the American forces in the battle against the Axis. Surely, anyone who has followed MacArthur's most courageous stand in the Philippines would agree to giving his ability full credit, but, on the other hand, the man whom our President gave a trouncing in the last national election, shouldn't confine his "infallible" strategy for winning the war to a mere 1,500 food-stuffed Republicans in a Boston hotel banquet room.

If he had one fraction of the responsibility, for the conduct of the war, and, incidentally, if you please, knew one fraction as much about what is going on in the war, as President Roosevelt, he wouldn't have so much time for banquet speaking and party grand-standing.

Mr. Wilkie is quoted as saying in regard to the Philippine hero, "Keep bureaucratic and political hands off him." If Mr. Wilkie were President, how would he proceed with the situation, unless he became a dictator? If there is anything bad about democracy, it is that it must consist of politics. In dictatorships, of course, they take the short-cut and the bullet replaces the ballot. Under our pres-

It is to be hoped that the club will constantly increase in membership and receive the recognition and support of the townspeople that it well deserves.

Geared To The Times

One of the biggest war jobs is that of the medical profession.

Many thousands of doctors have been called into army service. Other thousands are giving a considerable part of their working time to governmental bodies of a military and quasi-military nature. In most cases, this involves a financial loss for the doctor. But you don't hear him complain. He realizes the responsibility that is his, and he means to discharge it, irrespective of his own individual welfare.

War also makes the task of guarding civilian health far harder. Millions of men will work long hours at arduous jobs. A considerable proportion of these men are leaving office positions which involved no particular physical strain, to take industrial work where muscle and stamina are required. Many of them will be exposed to the inclement weather, and to extremes of heat and cold. On top of that, plans are being made to enlist women by the thousands for certain industrial operations which once belonged exclusively in the male province. Keeping these legions of people healthy under the rigors of war conditions, is a mighty difficult undertaking.

The American system of private medicine will show the stuff it is made of. That system has given us the highest general level of health in the world. It has permitted every doctor to go as far as his abilities and ambitions allow. It is geared to the onerous demands of these discordant times.

Leave Cuffs Off Trousers To Save Wool, Clothing Representatives Suggest To WPB

Representatives of the men's and boys' clothing industry have submitted to War Production Board recommendations for style simplifications that they estimate would result in a saving of from 25 to 30 percent in cloth, based on last year's production.

The recommendations were prepared at the request of the Office of Production Management as a means of making the curtailed supply of new wool go as far as possible in meeting civilian requirements.

Worst Cut 50 Percent

Under the recent wool conservation order, the use of new wool for civilian needs for the first quarter of this year is cut 50 percent on the worsted system and 60 percent on the woolen system. Conservation can be attained through style simplification and the use of substitutes.

But, if they are so good, why should they be restricted to a comparatively small political gathering?

We hope Mr. Wilkie isn't following the path of disunity blazed by Col. Charles A. Lingbergh, who proved on one occasion to be quite a fier and then permitted his feat to go to his head to the extent of trying to keep America out of war while actually Japanese bombers were fueling up for the Pearl Harbor horror.

We believe that President Roosevelt is broad-minded enough, politically, to accept any ideas that his opponent of 1940 may have if they are as superior to all others as Mr. Wilkie would have us believe. After all many brilliant Republicans (including Knox and Winant from our own state) are in active service for the administration. Mr. Wilkie's place at this time should be in a similar capacity, and not at banquet tables where partisanship ballyhoo is the chief item on the menu. —GUY LANGLEY

Straight Shooters

Much interest is being shown in the new Pistol and Revolver Club which has been organized in Newmarket.

The new organization, which includes members of the local police force, as well as several state troopers, is a credit to the town for several reasons.

More than 20 men are being provided with an interesting pastime, police officers are keeping in practice as marksmen, and the knowledge that a community the size of Newmarket has or will have so many sharpshooters in these dangerous times is comforting.

While the guardians of the law naturally have the edge in marksmanship on most of the other members, the less experienced men are reported to be already getting a good eye on the target.

The Revolver Club meets twice a month in the Town Hall building, with State Trooper Frank Manning of Rochester, as the official instructor, and when the marksmen have gained more experience they are expected to compete with other teams in the state.

A number of Newmarket business men and other residents have shown a fine interest in the club by contributing materials which made it possible to construct what is declared to be New Hampshire's best indoor range.

The club is in capable hands, and besides Trooper Manning, the leaders include State Trooper Clifton Hildreth of Durham and Officer John Valliere of the Newmarket police department.

These men are to be commended for giving their time in developing such a worthwhile organization as home. There may be hazards in your heating system which can be easily and cheaply corrected by an expert. There may be frayed lamp wiring—always a potential source of disaster. In all probability, your basement, attic and closets contain old clothes, old magazines and newspapers, broken-down furniture and other accumulations of waste which need only a spark to start a destructive blaze. Call the junkman or some charitable organization and get rid of it. Check garage and work and storerooms for improper storage of varnish, paint, cleaning solvents and other flammables.

Next, go through your place of business and look for hazards there. Check on your extinguishers and other fire-fighting equipment. If you aren't sure of yourself, your local fire marshal or fire chiefs will tell you how to go about it.

Finally, join a local civilian defense group and participate in the volunteer organized effort to prevent and control fire. In most areas, scientific instruction is being given. Take advantage of it.

Doing this will help you—and help your country. The fight against fire is your fight and everybody's fight.

Exeter Five Wins 9th Straight Game

In its ninth straight victory, the Phillips Exeter five trounced Worcester Academy, 56-38, in Exeter last Saturday. Fred Green, who has starred in previous games, piled up a total of 28 points.

Meanwhile, the Exeter track team lost to the Harvard Freshmen, 57-29, but the Exonians managed to capture the swimming events from Worcester, 43-23.

tured in this country last year, 40 percent were two-trousers suits. Each pair of trousers represented an average of 1½ yards of cloth, or 15,000,000 yards for the 10,000,000 double-trouser suits. This 15,000,000-yard saving would make it possible to produce 17 percent more suits.

Some Vests Might Go
2. Elimination of vests on all double-breasted suits. Forty-three percent of last year's suits were double-breasted. Elimination of the vest is estimated to save 4 percent.

3. Limit the length of a coat to 29½ inches on a size 37 regular and a corresponding reduction on other sizes. This would reduce the length of a coat by about an inch.

Further ideas were: (4) Eliminate patch pockets; (5) Eliminate inside bellows pockets; (6) Eliminate all belted models; (7) Eliminate cuffs on trousers; (8) Eliminate pleats on trousers; (9) Limit overcoats to 43 inches. They now average around 46 inches.

The representatives also recommended reducing the size of swatches or samples to 6 by 9 inches and using a single ply backed on cardboard. They now range in size from 6 by 9 to 10 by 16 inches and are double-ply. Several hundred thousand of the samples are used annually and represent a total waste.

Only Recommendations
Other recommendations included the following on trousers: Eliminating extension waist band, limiting the rise to 11½ inches, limiting the knee width to 22 inches and the bottom to 18½ inches, eliminating the outlet on outside seam, eliminating self belts, and limiting the inside length of trousers to 35 inches.

Additional recommendations on overcoats included eliminating bellows pockets, patch pockets, cuffs on sleeves, and all belts and pleats.

"These recommendations do not necessarily represent the views of the War Production Board," said R. R. Guthrie, chief of the textile, clothing and equipage branch. "They are recommendations of some industry representatives and as such will be considered by us. The most careful consideration will be given before any action is taken by us on each of these recommendations."

A short story written by Shirley Evans, a former assistant in the University of New Hampshire Library, has received third prize in the national Quill Club contest. "Hop Scotch is Silly" is the title.

In the special one-day selective service registration at the University, more than three hundred faculty members and undergraduates were enrolled. Paul Schoedinger, an assistant professor of English, and Fred Jackson, associate professor of electrical engineering were among those registering.

outstanding "good citizen" among New Hampshire high school girls in the annual contest staged in Concord last Saturday by the New Hampshire Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Miss Tilton will represent the state in the Good Citizenship pilgrimage to Washington, D.C., in April.

David Crockett of New London, president of Mask and Dagger, will pinch hit for his friend, Allen Coe of Manchester, Conn., who was stricken with appendicitis, in the role of John the butler, when "The Man Who Came To Dinner" is presented at the University February 25, 26, and 27.

Dr. Fred Engelhardt was named to represent education on the executive committee of New Hampshire's defense savings organization at a luncheon in Manchester Wednesday.

It Costs Nothing To Publish News

A Newmarket woman sent this newspaper an item this week about the enlistment of her son in Uncle Sam's forces.

In her letter, she wrote, "If there is any charge, please send me the bill."

She will receive NO bill.

There is no charge for news of any sort which we publish, and no news is more welcome than that of a young man's patriotism, such as this mother so kindly submitted.

NEW PUMPER IS DELIVERED IN NEWMARKET

The new Seagrave fire pumper, which was purchased at a cost of $7,000, in accordance with a vote of citizens at the last town meeting, arrived in Newmarket, Monday, and immediately underwent testing preparatory to being pressed into service for the Newmarket fire department.

The town's old pumper, became inefficient, last May and a special meeting was held to definitely prepare for the new pumper's delivery, but war-time conditions caused a delay. Meanwhile, the fact that the department had only chemicals to fight fires made each alarm a real scare.

HAWAII WRITER SENDS WORKS TO PUBLIC LIBRARY

Wraps Volume In Recent Issue Of Honolulu Paper

Carefully wrapped in an issue of the Honolulu Advertiser, published Sunday, Nov. 16, just three weeks before the infamous assault of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese, an unbound volume of the flora of the Hawaiian Islands, compiled by Otto Degener of Waialua, territory of Hawaii, was received last week at the Rochester Public Library.

In a note enclosed with the volume, Mr. Degener, former botanist at the University of Hawaii, concluded his message with these words: "I plan to complete volume 5 and write about my botanizing in quaint and medieval Fiji just as soon as this war, fought by us to free enslaved whites and I trust also many talented brown and yellow peoples, will permit."

Mr. Degener's work includes several plates giving the description and classification of different plants and flowers of the Hawaiian region.

New books, both fiction and non-fiction, to be added Saturday will include Art Metal Work by Emil F. Kronquist, Chemical Age (the miracle of man-made materials) by William Ames, Fresh Water Fishing by Myron E. Shoemaker, Introducing Australia by C. Haryley Grattan, Pool of Memory (the life of E. Phillips Oppenheim), Rare Hooked Rugs by William Winthrop Kent, Return to the Future (in which Sigrid Undset the Norwegian novelist writes of her country's invasion), Unknown Country (Canada and her peoples) by Bruce Hutchinson, and Vitamins and Minerals for Everyone by Alida Frances Pattee.

Students at McIntosh Business College in Dover enjoyed a Voodoo party in celebration of Friday the thirteenth. Dancing, games and group singing were the main features with William Peek and Phyllis Madden acting as entertainment committee. Refreshments were served. For the faculty, Mr. Jalbert, principal, and Mr. Miller were present. The fun and frolic were held in the College Recreation Hall on Orchard street.

Spanish Dancer Delights Concert Audience

Last Friday evening, the Strafford County Cooperative Concert Association presented the second attraction of its current season at the Spaulding High School Auditorium in Rochester. The large audience of subscribers gave a warm reception to the artists of the evening: Carola Goya (shown above) in a program of Spanish dances, and Beatrice Burford, the talented young harpist. It was stimulating entertainment and the program was brilliant with color and vivid with action.

Senorita Goya amply demonstrated her versatility in her presentation of twelve individual numbers all of which were of her own choreography. These dances illustrated well the scope and development of the Spanish Dance. They ranged from the traditional classical and flamenco to gitana and contemporary ballet. La Goya's fame is well established and the spectacle she offered was in faultless taste and brilliantly executed. Her costumes, designed by Hortense d'Arblay were colorful and lavish. Goya's expert handling of the castanets in various numbers was worthy of special praise. The speed with which changes were made was remarkable, and the effective transition of mood before each number was due largely by the excellent blending of lights and particularly to the fine improvisations of Emilio Osta who was the talented accompanist.

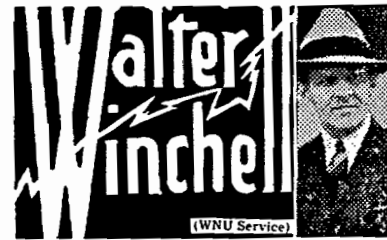

Beatrice Burford is a notable harpist and her groups of solos were particularly relished by the audience. Her selections were skillfully executed and included the opening movement of the Beethoven "Moonlight" Sonata, an Impromptu of Faure, Daquin's Le Melodieuse and impressionistic and modern pieces by Tournier. As a final encore Miss Burford played the beautiful arrangement of the London-derry Air by Marcel Grandjany the famous French harpist with whom she studied.

All three artists received many curtain calls and Goya added a gay Farucca to her program. The next concert in Rochester will be given by Raoul Jobin, the leading French-Canadian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association on the evening of May 1. Incidentally, Mr. Jobin appears under the baton of Sir Thomas Beecham during the Metropolitan's visit to Boston next month.
