TOWN MANAGER IDEA DEBATED

NEWMARKET GIRL BRIDE AT ST. MARY'S

Miss Anna Cecile Baillargeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baillargeon, 6 Charles street, Newmarket, became the bride of Joseph Eugene Ducharme, son of Mrs. Rose Ducharme, 394 Rimmon St., Manchester, on Saturday morning, May 9, at St. Mary's church at 8 o'clock.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Hector A. Benoit, D. D. The altar boys were Lionel Rousseau and Victor Baillargeon, a brother of the bride. Miss Antoine Goulette rendered vocal selections during the mass.

The bride wore a white gown of flowered velvety sheer. It extended into a long train. Her long veil was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms.

She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. She was given away by her father.

Mrs. Bernard Gagne, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore an aqua blue chiffon gown with matching meline tiara hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his uncle, Joseph Brien, and by Wilfred Carignan of Manchester, who acted as best man.

A buffet luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Numerous beautiful gifts were presented to the couple and were attractively displayed.

The couple left in the afternoon on a wedding trip to New York. On their return they will reside at Newberry street, Watertown, Mass., where the bridegroom is employed in the Watertown Arsenal.

SUGAR CARDS EXCEED LAST CENSUS LIST

Approximately 2,900 persons were registered for sugar rationing in Newmarket, according to a report from School Site Administrator Austin J. McCaffrey, who had supervision of the listing.

Since the last census gave Newmarket a population of 2,640, it has been concluded that about 300 new residents have moved into the town, or else more families from the surrounding towns are trading in Newmarket.

The family of Arthur Mongeon of Main street, Newmarket, which includes his wife and 12 children ranging from less than a year to 24 years old, received 14 cards—the largest total for a single household.

Registration officials reported signing several other families with from 10 to 12 members.

Austin J. McCaffrey, headmaster of Newmarket High School, has selected Doris Marcotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marcotte, to represent Robert G. Durgin auxiliary at the Girl's state in Durham, July 5-11.

U. N. H. Graduate

EDYTHE M. KENNEY

Newmarket girl who received a Bachelor of Science degree in bacteriology at the University of New Hampshire commencement, May 10.

MANY IN ARMY AFTER GETTING UNH DEGREES

War clouds cast a solemn shadow over Field House as 416 seniors, who had been awarded their degrees more than a month before the usual date, marched from the building for the last time Sunday at the annual Commencement exercises of the University of New Hampshire.

The ceremony lacked the gaiety that customarily follows among graduates who linger on the campus for final chats. Congratulations were heaped upon the class by relatives and friends and the graduates hurried away for home.

The Army immediately claimed 56 members of the class, all graduates from the advanced R. O. T. C. course, who were sworn into military units Saturday, received commissions as second lieutenants Sunday, and departed immediately to begin their assignments for Uncle Sam. Ten young men were commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. Air Corps.

"The United States can win the war soon, and at a small human cost, if it now has or can develop the necessary military skill," declared the commencement speaker, Ralph E. Flanders, president of the New England Council.

Because of the telescoped school year, the commencement activities were concentrated in a one-day program. Class Day and the traditional exercises for the most part were done away with completely.

Immediately following the baccalaureate address in the Field House by Dean Rockwell H. Potter of the Hartford Theological seminary, the seniors paraded to the Hamilton Smith library where the traditional ivy planting took place. The ivy oration was delivered by Ashley D. Nevers of Whitefield, a prominent member of the well known U. N. H. debating team.

Degrees were awarded in a ceremony at the Field House right after dinner.

Among those receiving degrees were the following from this section:

EXETER NAVY MAN LOST IN PHILIPPINES

The Navy Department has informed Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Morissette of 176 Front street, Exeter, that their son, Chief Quartermaster Roy Morissette, U.S.N., who figured in the thick of the Philippine engagements, is missing in action.

Chief Morissette, who had been on duty in China two and one-half years before the United States was forced into the war in December, saw service on Bataan, in Manila Bay, Savite and Corregidor.

Mrs. Morissette returned to Long Beach, Calif., from China when all women and children were ordered to leave at the time of the Japanese attack on the Philippines. Morissette had been in the navy for 19 years.

Newmarket Needs Bond Canvassers

Fred J. Durell, cashier of the New Market National Bank, needs 60 canvassers to assist him, as local chairman of the War Savings Committee of New Hampshire, in securing pledges from all persons in Newmarket having any incomes to purchase stamps and bonds for the duration of the war.

This is a large and important assignment which has been given to Mr. Durell, and it is hoped that the necessary number of Newmarket residents who are familiar with their various districts will volunteer their services immediately.

The house-to-house canvass has been scheduled for June 1. Work must be accomplished on that day, with the following day for check-up and completion.

All residents desiring to aid their country in this manner are urged to volunteer for assignments with Mr. Durell at once.

The funeral of Fred Olin Brackett, a former Newmarket resident, who had lived in Andover, Mass., for the past 35 years, was held last Sunday. Mr. Brackett, who was 71 years old, leaves his widow, Jessie, and two sons, all of Andover.

POOR LOGIC, MR. MERAS

Ralph E. Meras of Exeter is one of our advertisers and a staunch friend of the newspaper, for which we are indebted in gratitude.

He is also a prosperous businessman, a good fellow and a prohibitionist who is really sincere.

We cannot, however, agree with his logic in publishing the following advertisement on the front page of last Saturday's edition of the Manchester Union:

"Drunks are increasing rapidly. Sale of liquor most damaging to war effort. Make effective protest and plea for action. When asked to buy bonds, say yes, if you can, and say you will double when the government has reverted to prohibition, at least, for the duration."

Whether Mr. Meras' views on alcoholic beverage sales are right or wrong is entirely beside the point to us.

But what does concern us is his plea for people to promise to buy twice as many war bonds if prohibition is restored, at least until the war is over.

Well, all we have to say is that if this sort of whip has to be cracked over the heads of Americans to force them to buy as many bonds as they possibly can—

EITHER WE'VE CEASED TO BE A NATION OF PATRIOTS—OR THE PROHIBITIONISTS ARE EXTREMELY DESPERATE.

Rises In Rank

GILBERT C. VALLIERE

G. C. VALLIERE ADVANCED IN ARMY RATING

Gilbert C. Valliere has been advanced to the rank of private first class in Co. A, 83rd Tank Destroyer Battalion at Camp Hood in Killeen, Texas, according to a letter received by his parents, Police Officer and Mrs. John Valliere in Newmarket.

The soldier reports that he has acquired a fine southern tan; is in the pink of physical condition and getting a lot of pleasure out of serving Uncle Sam.

He was a representative of his company in a recent tour that took him to a number of interesting points away from his regular base. Among the areas visited was the Mexican border where the Newmarket soldier enjoyed considerable sight-seeing.

Students Protest!

Spaulding High school students paraded through Rochester's main streets today in protest to the appointment of Steve Slayton of Traip Academy, rather than re-nominating Coach "Dutch" Connor, as athletic coach. At a pre-arranged time, hundreds of pupils left their class rooms to take a vacation until further notice.

MAYOR'S AIDE IN HAVERHILL CITES FAULTS

Doubt as to whether a town manager plan would be more desirable for Newmarket than the present form of town government was expressed this week by Frank J. Spofford, Haverhill attorney and secretary to the mayor of that city, where, he pointed out, an unsuccessful attempt was made in 1940 to create a city manager system.

Although admitting the Newmarket situation is "none of my affair," he thought that readers of this newspaper might be interested in some of his observations during the Haverhill controversy, which raged for 10 months.

In a letter to the editor, Mr. Spofford also expressed profound regrets that wartime conditions have caused a hitch in plans for the pistol championship between Syd Langley and 'Two Esses' Humphreys. Wait until he learns in this issue that Humphreys has claimed the title by default! That will be tough news to spread among the rivals' rooters in the Bay State.

Atty. Spofford's complete letter follows:

"Mr. Guy H. Langley
"Editor, Newmarket News,
"Newmarket, N. H.

"Dear Sir:

"So, I see the pressure of War, and all that goes with it, has postponed that pistol match. This is really too bad, as that would have been a real stellar attraction! Barnum & Bailey's, Ringling Brothers, or what have you, would be but minor, secondary attractions, compared to this. But, at whatever price victory, it is still less expensive than defeat. So, let 'Little Syd' do his bit on the farm and in the Navy Yard. But warn him against the perils of 'Farmerettes'. Remind him that Adam got along pretty well in the Garden of Eden until he went looking for a farmerette. What Eve accomplished for him is history.

"And now, to pass from such a patriotic discussion to one of sordid matters. I note that there is a movement on foot to make a town manager's job in Newmarket. In 1940, our local Taxpayers' Association tried — unsuccessfully — to put over a city manager here.

"Frankly, I feel that a town manager, if he be trained as an engineer, would be of some advantage. How great an advantage depends upon the amount of local talent available, and the way in which things are now being run. Most towns could use a good engineer to advantage, and the only way that the extra expense of hiring him can be justified is by a concentration of authority in his hands, such as giving him all town departments to run. Usually the work is of such amount that a capable engineer can do this, without harm to any department.

"But, if one expects that the employment of a town manager will of itself correct all, or even a substantial number of your troubles—and I don't even know if you have any—then one is bound to disappointment. In our city, the manager had to be chosen under our Massachusetts laws. He would have had no definite term of office, but would have been subject to the

A Novel by

CHAPTER 6
Tragedy

About the time the lone rider on the Warwick road had reached the Reed home, a tall slim boy was running along a narrow path that led down from a small clearing in the dense forest near a country place not far from Albany. He was bareheaded and wild-eyed, running he knew not where. Out of breath, he stopped and peered between the trees; he thought he had seen a farmhouse.

He had. At the end of the path was a very big white house, just beyond the clump of willows. He had not been very far down the path before this, but was glad to see the house.

The house was in the wooded section of the little town. The path that he had followed on his run was one used by negroes on their way to Canada so as to escape capture by vengeful masters in the South. No slavery existed in the British empire, and when in Canada the fugitives were safe.

Woods stretched endlessly to the North. Footpaths in these woods were many, and abandoned lumber camps made good shelters. The camp in the clearing where the boy came from was one of them. But after the war was over these paths had been little used except by hunters.

The boy shook his thick, wavy brown hair from his eyes. He had to make a somewhat decent appearance when he went into the house just ahead. Looking toward the house again he saw a man carrying a pail of milk from the barn. At the porch he met him.

"Say, mister, what is your name?" he asked.

"Barton, Sonny. And what can I do for you?" was the answer.

"Well, Mr. Barton, my father has been dead since early morning, and I don't know what to do. Can you help me?"

"I don't know whether I can or not. Come into the house with me and tell me what's wrong." The boy looked up at the kind-hearted farmer, and knew him for a friend.

In the large kitchen everything looked comfortable. A woman stood in the doorway between the kitchen and an inner room. "Good afternoon," the boy felt no sense of shyness in her presence.

"How do you do?" she responded cordially.

The milk strained, Mr. Barton offered the boy a glass filled to the brim with warm milk. He drank it eagerly.

"Lydia, this young man tells me that his father died this morning. I don't know where, but he asks me to help him. Let us go into the sitting room and talk it over."

"Please, Mr. Barton, couldn't we stay in here?" he asked quietly.

"Sure, Sonny. Now what is it you want me to help you with?"

His story was an unusual one. The two, father and son, had been staying in the cabin way up in the woods since May. They had hoped that his father, Mr. Williams, would get well up there among the pines, but he had got worse, and now he was dead. The boy choked while telling the story. Then he fell in a heap on the floor.

Toward noon of the next day the boy woke up. Motherly Mrs. Barton had put chairs in front of the sofa, a pillow under his head and several patchwork quilts on the rough surfaces around him. A bedspread covered him up. He had evidently not stirred all night.

He arose with a start. Where was he? Ah, now he remembered. "Hello, Sonny," greeted Mrs. Barton. "How are you feeling this morning? All tuckered out last night, weren't you?" Again the look of fright leaped into his eyes.

"Can you let me work for you, Mr. Barton?" he asked.

"Why yes. You are just the kind of chap I have been looking for, if you can do small chores around the house for mother and myself. Do you want to stay?" The boy looked eagerly at his kind host. "Oh Mr. Barton, could I work here? I can learn almost anything. But just now I am terribly hungry."

With a sunny smile, Mrs. Barton came in from the kitchen, carrying a tray. "Just what I like to hear from a man like you," she said. "Here, eat these," and the plate of nice brown pancakes with maple syrup looked a festive board to him. A generous glass of milk after the cakes had disappeared made a good breakfast for a hungry boy. He sank back on the sofa, and the tears would come.

After a few minutes, seeing the boy's grief, Mr. Barton tried to question him once more.

"Now, Sonny. Suppose you tell us about how you came to be as you are. We are your friends, you know."

"Yes, Mr. Barton, that I know. I can't tell you very much, for there isn't much that I know. My father was an invalid before we came up here. The doctor told him that a summer up here in the woods would set him right. We tried and failed. Father is dead. He died early yesterday morning. I cannot tell you who we are nor where we came from, for I do not know that myself."

"And your mother, where is she?" asked Mrs. Barton. "I don't remember her. She died when I was too young to remember her," sobbed the boy.

"And what about your father?" asked the Bartons.

"I put him on the bed and straightened him out the best way I knew how," he said. "I put something on to cover him while I went to find someone to help me. I came here as soon as I could after he died. I know we have some money somewhere, for father had some, but I can't find any, and burying a person costs. Father just sank to the floor. When I lifted him up as well as I could he was dead."

"I am going up to the cabin now. I want to look for that money. When I didn't find any yesterday I thought that if someone would give me work I could pay for his burial and that is why I asked you to let me work for you. I have some good clothes up in the cabin, too, and I am going there now."

"And I am going with you," said Mr. Barton. "Wait a minute, Sonny," and hastily calling his wife into the kitchen, he talked with her on some project to which she gave a cordial assent, then followed the lad on the path that led into the deep forest.

"It is a long way to the cabin, Mr. Barton," said the boy, and all weakness had disappeared from his voice and his whole appearance. "The cabin is so far from everybody, but we were quite comfortable there. Of course, it might not have been easy to live there through the winter because father was getting weaker every day. We had planned to stay there until we had to get out; now father has gone and as long as I am alone I can leave things just as they are and stay with you. I can keep an eye on our belongings, if you don't mind, Mr. Barton."

And Mr. Barton realized, that the boy walking ahead of him was a boy no longer. He had suddenly grown into a man.

MISS SMART, NOTED SINGER, PIANIST, DEAD

Miss Elizabeth Smart, 85, formerly of Newmarket, who was a well known singer, pianist and organist for 75 years, died in a convalescent home in Exeter, Monday night, after two years of failing health. The funeral was conducted Thursday afternoon at the Brown and Trotter funeral parlors in Newmarket.

She was a native of Newmarket, daughter of the late George Kittredge and Sarah Wiley Smart, in whose honor Kittredge Square in Newmarket was named, and started studying music at the age of eight years.

By the time Miss Smart was 16, she had gained prominence as a piano teacher and vocalist, and sang alto in the old Newmarket Congregational church quartet. The late George and Charles Joy and Mrs. Lizzie Willey were also members of the group. For a number of years, Miss Smart also served as organist at the Catholic church in Newmarket.

After leaving Newmarket, she served for 14 years as organist and chorister at the Washington Street Baptist church in Dover. Later, she was engaged in a similar capacity for eight years at the Community church in Durham.

She had resided in Exeter for the past 40 years, taking part in musical programs at the First Baptist church there when her health permitted. She also gave piano lessons to a large number of pupils, usually as many as 50 a week. She started reducing this number about 10 years ago and had only a few when her sight failed in June 1940.

She studied with private teachers, including the late George W. Chadwick, at the New England Conservatory of Music. She composed several sacred numbers which are used widely in the state churches and several of which have been published.

Miss Smart is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles B. Edgerly, Exeter, with whom she made her home for the past 19 years, and a niece, Mrs. Wendell L. Peterson, Sr., York, Me.

Raymond Given Surprise Alarm

Following a surprise blackout in Raymond last Sunday night, Chief Air Raid Warden Robert E. Eccleston reported there were no accidents or violations and the test proved highly satisfactory.

Two auxiliary police officers handled a slight traffic tieup on Route 101. About 100 cars, heading north toward Manchester, were halted.

Bob Conway Stars

With Pitcher Bob Conway allowing only five hits, the Phillips Exeter Academy baseball team shut out Tilton, 6-0, in Exeter, Wednesday. Conway also made three hits in four trips to the plate.

NOO MARKIT WONDERS . . .

Who the slightly wobbly gal was the other night, with presence of mind to pick up a brick at the mill wrecking site and tuck it under her arm for protection against possible lurkers in the night?

Whether some of these same bricks will serve as weapons in another brawl as occurred one p.m. recently, with a Marine as one of the participants?

Whether Syd Langley has found a farmerette to grace his expansive farm in Durham?

Whether the weather is beginning to soften up Elmer for a sudden disappearance?

How one of Newmarket's dashing young soldiers liked the experience of having a fair damsel introduce him to the art of horseback riding while on a recent trip to Oklahoma?

How many brook trout Sam Langlois has tucked in his basket since the season opened?

Why a lot of miserable localities still fail to seek the fraternal benefit of becoming regular members of the Miserable Club? Doesn't misery like company any more?

Why a popular member of the Polish Club talks a great fishing expedition, but never fails to wind up behind the eight ball?

Why one of the older shoe shop sheiks suddenly stopped, as he was reading aloud a note a woman sent to him before he started for Dover to pick up a bottle of ginger ale last Saturday?

Why the tonsorial genius decided to go back to shank's mare after trying out a special chauffeur for one day ONLY?

Exeter Items . . .

Robert P. Hulburd of Exeter, a lacrosse player, has been elected secretary of the Princeton University Varsity Club.

The funeral of William G. Clark of Brentwood was held last Friday morning at the Brewitt Funeral Home in Epping, with the Rev. George W. Wiesen, pastor of the Brentwood Baptist church, officiating. Bearers were George McGary, LeRoy Schofield, Gerald Hayes and William Clark.

John R. Gardner, 32, of Penacook, who is alleged to have shot Edgar Stone of Exeter in a hunting accident last October, has been fined $200 and costs of $15 in Coos County. The fine was suspended, however, on payment of costs. Stone is still confined to a Boston hospital.

A Daughters of Suzanna committee has purchased rugs and furniture for the Methodist parsonage.

The Water Works Department has completed the repainting of the water-gate boxes, in compliance with civilian defense plans.

Mrs. Florence Wight, Court St., was visited by Mrs. Ivy R. Morton and Miss Kathleen Richardson during their trip from Southern Pines, N. C., to North Bridgton, Me. Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Wight are sisters.

Elliot G. Fish, French and Bible instructor at Phillips Exeter Academy, has joined the U. S. Naval Reserves.

Staff Sergt. Ernest Harris has been home on furlough from Georgia.

BENEFIT OF TOWN MANAGER FOR NEWMARKET DEBATED

'Hump' Snatches Pistol Title by Default As Syd Gets Tangled Up In Too Many Jobs

FLASH! FLASH!

Stewart Humphreys claims the Newmarket pistol championship from Syd Langley by default.

He claims the insurance man, in taking a job at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, has in effect taken a run-out powder on him. He doesn't question Syd's sincerity in wanting to help push out fighting ships for Uncle Sam, but on the theory that all is fair in love and war, he claims the title just the same.

"Syd, with his Navy Yard job, insurance business and big farm to run—certainly couldn't find time to meet me in a match during the summer," he explained. "I have regulated my training with the expectancy that we'd fight it out pretty soon now. I might go stale if forced to wait until fall for the battle.

"In justice to himself—to save my reputation as a pistol-shooting demon—I've got to claim the title by default. I shall expect the respect that becomes a champion from Syd henceforth."

POLISH CLUB FETES GROUP OF INDUCTEES

Six members who were scheduled to leave for induction into the armed forces this week were honored at a farewell party by the Polish Club in Newmarket last Saturday night.

The honored guests, each of whom was presented a purse of money, were: Harold Noel, Leo Lavoie, Roger Lavoie, Longen Biscup, William Cassano and William St. Hilaire.

About 100 persons attended the gathering, over which Stanley Szacik presided as master of ceremonies. Musical selections were offered throughout the evening and refreshments were served. Adolph Pohopek was in charge of whim of a City Council. In which case, he would simply be the willing tool to carry out their will—or else!

MAYOR'S AIDE TELLS OF TEST IN HAVERHILL

"How would yours be fixed? And if the selectmen could not remove him at pleasure, what checks are there upon him? Also, what officials now drawing salaries would he replace?

"Frankly, the test of desirability of one of these officials seems to me to be in the nature of the complaint that is to be remedied. If your selectmen are capable men of good repute and ability, then the advantage to be derived is only in that you will be getting a trained man to build your streets; plan your drains and sewers; look after your public buildings, and take care of your protection.

"If your selectmen do not measure up to these standards, and I do not know of them by name or otherwise, then the selection of a town manager to be dominated by that Board of Selectmen, will not solve your problem.

"Again, if you already have competent, well trained men in charge of your various departments, there is little or no advantage to be gained from a manager. I know none of these men, either.

"One thing to be always kept in mind is that there is a powerful organization that is working to advance the cause of city and town managers. I mean the National Municipal League, and its subsidiaries. They will furnish you with an abundance of literature, speakers, a model form of ordinance, and last, but not least, names of would-be town managers who meet with their approval. This organization has a job to do—place managers—and it is well organized and equipped to do this job well.

"Personally, I feel that there is no more simple, easily operated form of local government than our own New England town meeting. When this fails to function properly, it is usually because a majority of the citizens are not doing their civic duty.

"So long as the people of Newmarket exercise their franchise wisely, they will get good government under their present form of government. And if the troubles they hope to correct are troubles caused by an unwise use of their franchise, it will take more than a town manager to correct them!

"I hope that I am not intruding into what is none of my affair, but I really couldn't resist speaking my piece on this, which was the subject of a ten months' controversy here not so long ago.

"With best wishes—and don't let those oversized shooters (or what?) get away with a thing!

"Sincerely

"FRANK J. SPOFFORD"

Deerfield Fair Dates Changed

Deerfield Fair will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 2 and 3, according to an announcement by the Deerfield Fair Association, Inc. In past years, the annual event has been held on Wednesday and Thursday.

Carl M. Fogg, president of the association, said the change would increase revenue from school children, who are admitted free on both days, but have been permitted only one day's suspension of passes to attend.

Mr. Fogg declared it was also believed that adult attendance would be larger on a Saturday than on a Thursday.

Newmarket POLISH CLUB Notes

Pvt. Chester Kruczek, who was given a farewell party himself not so long ago, was a guest at the gathering last Saturday night in honor of six more members who were leaving for induction.

Pvt. Joseph Miesowicz has been transferred from Mobile, Ala., to Los Angeles, Calif.

The club requests that members in the service give notification of changes in address, so that the Newmarket News will follow them, no matter where they may go.

The boys are eager to greet Pvt. Stanley Miesowicz, who is expected home during this week-end from Camp Gordon in Georgia.

During the past week, about 20 cards were received from members who are serving Uncle Sam.

Adolph Pohopek, who is supposed to be a fisherman in his spare time, is presiding as steward for a couple of weeks. After his turn, Chief Steward George Grochmal will again step to bat.

The boys are wondering if Uncle Sam isn't overlooking a good bet in the person of Misty Kustra.

Revival of club ball games is being considered. In the near future, the bachelors and married men may clash in softball competition. The last rivalry was about three years ago.

Never a morning was more gloomy for Misty than last Sunday's. Who got away with that one element of cheer that might have been his is still a great mystery. Everybody sympathizes, but nobody can solve the puzzle.

Just when it appeared that "Fish" Pohopek was the most famous fisherman in the club, along came Vic Morin and Jake Gazda, who sought piscatorial conquests near Slide Rock along the Lamprey. Vic invested a good part of his week's pay in equipment and had every reason to believe the expedition would be a great success. Jake had high hopes, too. It is rumored that Vic had the advantage of a new invention which electrifies eels, and apparently it worked on the first one, which wasn't anything to brag about in size, however. It wasn't long afterward that the two anglers found they had run out of the last drop of "inspiration" which they took with them, and from then on, things went from bad to worse. They were thoroughly soaked when they returned. Of course, there had been some rain in the meantime.

Children's Day Closes Season Of Clubwomen

At the final meeting of the season, Saturday, in the Community church vestry, the Newmarket Women's Club observed Children's Day, with Mrs. Bessie Sinclair, past president, as hostess to the little guests.

There were songs by the Junior robed choir of the church directed by Eugene Watson, who opened with "God Bless America." Marjorie Hale played piano solos. There were dances by Paula Longa; a recitation, John Cook; "In a Monastery Garden," Junior choir; recitation, Lionel Rousseau; "My County 'Tis of Thee," entire group.

Mrs. Fred Doe presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Sinclair was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Mattie Durgin, Mrs. Lucy Sewall, Miss Laura Sewall, Mrs. Ralph Longa and Mrs. Harold Knight.

ROBERT CARON EARNS EAGLE SCOUT BADGE

A number of scouts of Troop 200, Boy Scouts of America, were given awards at a Court of Honor held in conjunction with a Parents' Night Program in St. Mary's School Auditorium in Newmarket last week. The highest award was the coveted Eagle award rank conferred on Robert J. Caron, a member of the Sea Scout ship, John Barry. Eagle Scout Caron made rapid advancement both in the scout troop and Sea Scout ship, winning the admiration of leaders and fellow scouts.

The Rev. Hector A. Benoit, D.D., chairman of the troop and ship committees, presented the Eagle Certificate and read the letter of greeting and congratulation sent by the Chief Scout Executive James E. West of New York city. The Eagle badge was pinned on Caron's uniform by the Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor, scoutmaster and skipper. The new Eagle Scout pinned the miniature Eagle pin on his mother, Mrs. William Caron, while fellow sea scouts formed an honorary escort.

Field Scout Executive William Richards of Exeter presided at the Court and made the Life ranks award to Scout Richard Taurigny. Fr. O'Conner awarded merit badges to Robert Caron, Stanley Herman and Stanley Jarosy. Troop Committeeman John L. Jordan presented first class certificates to Scouts Karl Schanda and Robert Bebout; second class certificates to Scouts James Corliss, Daniel Dziedzic, John Jordan, Raymond Lapointe and John Russell.

Demonstrations were given as follows: First aid bandages and transportation by the Sea Scouts; signalling by the Fox Patrol; rescue work by the Panther Patrol; stars by the Eagle Patrol; camping by the Cubs.

Woman, 89, Falls, Breaks Wrist In Newmarket Home

Mrs. Helen E. Fielder, 89, suffered a fracture of her left wrist when she fell Tuesday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross DeMerritt, at 70 Main street, Newmarket.

She was taken to Exeter Hospital by Dr. George G. McGregor of Durham and is expected to be discharged Sunday.

Mrs. Fielder, who is remarkably spry and keen of mind for her years, came from Massachusetts several weeks ago to reside with the DeMerritt couple. She is Mrs. DeMerritt's grandmother.

The DeMerritts were preparing to move to Rochester the following day, when the unfortunate accident occurred.

Gingras Reaches Naval Station

(Official Navy Dispatch)
Great Lakes, Ill.—John Philip Gingras, 17, son of Mr. Alfred J. Gingras of 4 Bay Road, Newmarket, N. H., has been received at the U. S. Naval Training Station here and will undergo several weeks intensive training in the fundamentals of seamanship.

Upon completion of this training and upon the basis of aptitude tests, he may receive further specialized instruction at one of the Navy's numerous trade and service schools, or be sent directly to sea for service afloat.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large—but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Kept Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting at the dinner table.

He told them he was tired of checking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to check up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right... but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch... sort of like a wayward kid.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "clean up or close up" offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do... particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

Siren Accepted By Newfields

The town of Newfields has accepted the fire-air raid siren, which the townspeople voted to purchase at the March town meeting. The device proved satisfactory in tests which were given for several weeks at the firehouse.

In case of fire, there will be two blasts of the siren four times, with one long blast as the all-out signal. Fourteen blasts will be sounded in the event of an air raid, with two long blasts for the all-clear.

Inshore Patrol Needs Volunteers

George I. Michaud of Newfields, chief commissary steward and officer in charge of the navy recruiting station in Haverhill, Mass., is calling for men to volunteer for enlistment in Classification M-2, the Inshore Patrol of the Naval Reserve.

The following men are needed: Chief boatswain's mates, cooks, seamen, boatswain's mates, first and second class; experienced electricians, motor machinists, machinists, seamen strikers for signalmen, and quartermasters, and men with a working knowledge of Diesel engines.

Candidates must be between 17 and 50 years of age, and should apply at the Haverhill Recruiting Station, located in the Post Office Building, as soon as possible to fill the many vacancies now available.

Friends have received cards from Harry Cohen, former chief accountant at the Rockingham Shoe Co. in Newmarket, who is serving in Battery B, 10th Battalion, at Fort Eustis, Va.

He says he is on anti-aircraft duty and enjoys the assignment very much.

Brentwood Man Settles Suit

A settlement out of court has been announced in the civil case of William J. Burns vs. Mrs. Mabel Collins of Lawrence, Mass., which had been on trial in Rockingham County Superior Court in Portsmouth.

The action resulted from an auto accident which occurred in Brentwood, where Burns resides.

Sugar Cards Hint Population Gain

Figures on the recent sugar rationing registration disclose that the number of applications filed in Exeter were 105 per cent of the 1940 population census figures. In Greenland, it was 97 per cent; Kensington, 95 per cent; Newfields, 93 per cent, and Stratham, 103 per cent.

Court Street school had the largest number of applications of any of the four Exeter schools.

Veteran I.O.O.F. Members Honored

The 123rd anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in the United States was observed by Columbian Lodge, I.O.O.F., in Kingston, by presenting jewels to five members who have belonged to the order 50 years or more.

Those honored were John D. Goodwin, Horace G. French, Daniel W. Garland, Dr. Z. Willis Kemp, Thomas P. Barnes. Assisting in the presentation were Herbert C. Nason, Frank A. J. Avery, Ernest D. Clark and Harry S. Clark, all past noble grands. Noble Grand Edward B. Clark presided.

President Thanks Spaulding Pupils For Trout Chest

President Roosevelt

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, through his personal corresponding secretary, Grace G. Tully, has written expressing his pleasure at receiving his annual mess of May 1st trout, from Erbon W. Wood's Mystery Pond in Ossipee, packed in a container made by Spaulding students under the direction of Wilfred H. Eddy, shop instructor.

The White House

Washington, D. C.
The Observer May 7, 1942
Rochester, N. H.

Dear Sir:

Please tell the students of Spaulding Junior High school that the President is delighted with the fine chest in which the gift of New Hampshire trout arrived. It is a marvel of artistic and sturdy construction and reflects the great skill of those who achieved its completion. The President will appreciate it if you will extend his thanks to all.

Very sincerely yours,
Grace G. Tully

Exeter Girl Is Vassar College Choir Official

Miss Ann Cary Stuckey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Stuckey of Gilman House, Exeter, has been elected vice-chairman of the Vassar College Choir for next year, and will also serve as treasurer of the Classical Society. Miss Stuckey, a sophomore, attended Northfield Seminary before entering Vassar, which is also her mother's alma mater. Her major field of study is English.

Miss Stuckey has sung for two years with the choir, taking part in its program at the Sunday evening chapel services at the college, as well as concerts of Christmas and Easter music, and recitals given at Vassar and Eastern Men's colleges in combination with their choirs. The choir's study of a variety of sacred music is directed by E. Harold Geer, professor of music and college organist.

The Classical Society of which Stuckey will be an officer is an extra-curricular activity of students interested in Greek and Roman life who meet during the year to hear lectures by members of the faculty and guest speakers and to discuss literary or archeological work in the classics.

On Sept. 26, 1789, the first United States attorneys were appointed, one for each of the 13 state districts. First to be named was Samuel Sherburne, Jr., of New Hampshire, to serve in that district.

Australians on Alert for Enemy

With the Japs concentrated on New Guinea bases, only 400 miles from the Australian mainland, the continent "down under" is making feverish preparations for the coming struggle with the enemy, particular attention being given to anti-aircraft defenses. Hundreds of posts, like this one outside Melbourne, are springing up everywhere.

Telephones rationed too?

NOT RATIONED, exactly, but the new order of the War Production Board may result in some restriction of telephone service.

Neither the War Production Board nor the Telephone Company wants to restrict telephone service, but telephone plant requires rubber, copper, lead, zinc, tin, aluminum, and other metals. These days, every pound of copper and every ton of steel available is being diverted to the war job.

Copper, for example, goes into the wiring system of every bomber, fighter plane, cruiser, destroyer, submarine. It also goes into shells and cartridges. It is more useful there, to you and to the Country, than it would be in telephone cables for any but the most essential needs. These essential needs, including those of the Army and Navy, of war industries and of Civilian Defense, of Public Health and Safety, are being fully met and will continue to be.

How will it affect you? Perhaps not at all, perhaps to a great extent. Extension telephones, for example, can no longer be installed except in a few essential cases. If you move, you may not be able to have telephone service or, if service is available, it may be on a line shared with neighbors.

So, if you learn through our local Business Office that it is impossible to give you the service you want, we hope you will know that our regrets are sincere, and that every pound of copper saved will help speed Victory.

While telephone service may not be available to all who want it, that is something that neither the Government nor the Telephone Company can help. Your cooperation with us and with your neighbors will help to keep service available to as many people as possible.

Cocheco Bottling Co. Has Annual Banquet • Hungry Hearts

Shown above are officials and employees of the Cocheco Bottling company of Summer street gathered Wednesday of last week at the City Hotel in Rochester for banquet. Thirty-two persons were present to enjoy their choice of a lobster or steak dinner.

Company proprietor, A. W. Lagasse, discussed the sugar situation in full and explained why there is a definite shortage of the commodity. "To help win the war", he said, "everyone must do their part and conserve not only sugar, but all materials." The soft drink industry, as well as others have been curtailed, and to meet the emergency, it was absolutely necessary that Cocheco Bottling eliminate the Cheeco 12 oz. flavors completely, resulting in a reduction of 30 percent of the company's volume of production, said Mr. Lagasse.

Herve Lagasse, manager of the company, outlined briefly changes which have come about since last year. Inasmuch as the country is at war, he paid high homage to his two brothers, Raymond and Rene, who enlisted some weeks ago in the Army Air Corps, Raymond being stationed at Langley Field, Virginia, while Rene is at Dover, Delaware, in the Armanent Division.

Manager Lagasse stated that while the sugar situation is critical, Cocheco Bottling foresaw the difficulties and had eliminated certain brands, thereby leaving more sugar for the main line of Cocheco Club beverages. He also stated that at no time will the quality of Cocheco beverages be changed. "To do so, would be to throw away the prestige the company has been building for the past fifty-two years," he said.

Manager Lagasse asked the cooperation of every employee to conserve all equipment and asked for the fullest cooperation in deliveries. To conserve gas, tires and trucks, all deliveries must be made on schedule he pointed out, and asked all salesmen to notify their customers accordingly. Wilfred Lagasse, production manager, likewise asked for the fullest cooperation and with the support of all employees, he stated that everything will come along satisfactorily.

Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

During the latter part of the evening, Mr. Barrette, pianist for the celebrated Tenor Raoul Jobin, who appeared last Thursday at Spaulding High school, arrived at the City Hotel and as he heard a few people speak French he introduced himself to some of the Cocheco group as they passed through the lobby. He was invited in and after enjoying himself with the group, he very willingly entertained with piano selections.

The following persons were present at the banquet: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lagasse, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lagasse, Mr. and Mrs. Herve E. Lagasse, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rumazza, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heher, Mr. and Mrs. Girard Rainville, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cullinane, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Desmarais, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Courteau, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Levesque, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. William Coran, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Palioca, Mrs. Olive Marden, Miss Nora Lambert, Harry Johnson, Fred Lover, Everett Gray and Leon Gile.

J. C. McAllister

A high mass of requiem was held this morning in St. Michael's church, Exeter, for James C. McAllister of Parker street, who died Wednesday in Exeter Hospital. He was born at Hampton Falls, June 9, 1874, and moved to Exeter from Stratham 25 years ago. He was a lumber worker and brick mason.

"Of bread I will say nothing," wrote a refugee in France, formerly a Communist. "Also, nothing of money. But of Bibles we still have need." To the hungry heart the Bible is "daily bread." Christians know that the Bible and the Christ it presents offers the only answer to the hungry hearts of millions in this dark year.

At its 126th annual meeting in New York City today, May 14, the American Bible Society will report a circulation of 8,096,977 volumes of Scripture for 1941. Some hungry hearts have been fed.

But the terrible peril of the hour, according to the Bible Society, is that, just when this sense of need is so acute and so universal, the very processes whereby men can get the Bible are now breaking down. Many do not generally realize it, but virtually all of Asia, Africa, Latin America, are dependent upon the Bible Societies for the Bible; and within Europe and North America there are millions of people who will not have the Bible unless it is brought to them by these organizations.

What is this breakdown? It consists of the crippling effects of the war upon the Bible Societies. To speak of but one. The great British and Foreign Bible Society is entirely cut off from Europe where it annually distributed over a half million copies of Scriptures before the war. Similar conditions afflict other European Societies, with the result many European countries are almost Bibleless. Latin America is crying out for copies that cannot be supplied. In China, the demand is rising faster than the supply. The Christian people of America have, through the past year been the only group able and free to provide this bread for hungry hearts. Their channel for this ministry has been the American Bible Society. This Society, an honored American institution organized over a century and a quarter ago, has through the years endeavored to supply the Scriptures to every man in his own tongue. With the help of those who believe the answer is in the Book, the Society will continue to supply that spiritual food which alone can bring understanding and comfort to those who hunger and thirst.

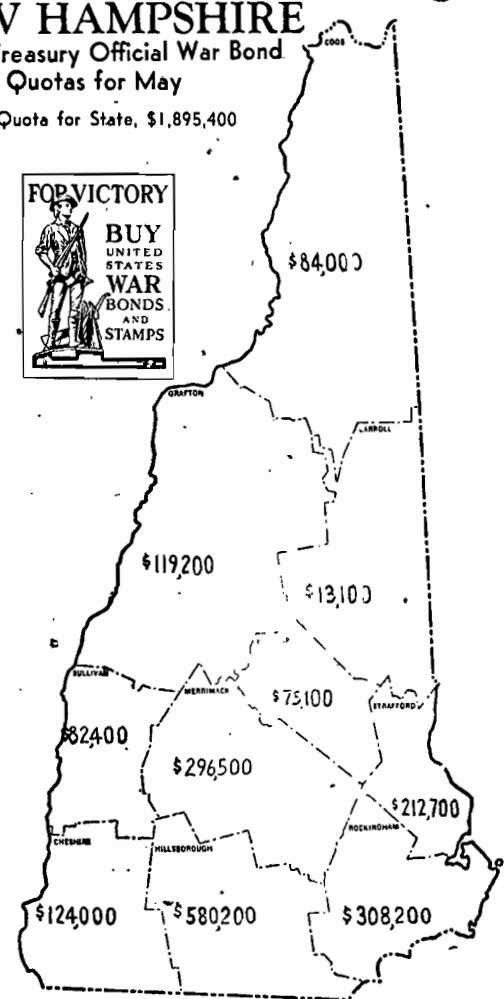

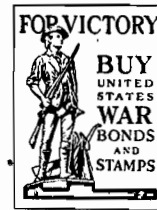

New Hampshire has a law which prohibits an employer, any of whose employees are on strike, from soliciting other workmen without specifically mentioning the strike in his advertisements.

First state to draw up a constitution was New Hampshire, on Dec. 28, 1775. It was passed at Exeter on Jan. 5 following.

The above map of New Hampshire shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of May, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the State is $1,895,400. Every income earner in the State is expected to step-up War Bond purchases on a basis of ten per cent or more of income. This is necessary to help America's armed forces take the offensive against the Axis powers. The American voluntary method of War Bond purchases must be successful in reaching the quotas set by the Treasury Department for every county in the nation. The job of every American now is to stop spending and save dollars to help win the War.

RELEASES RECOMMENDATIONS FOR DEFENSE RENTAL AREAS

Rochester Among Cities In District Effected By New Housing Ceiling

The following recommendations from the Office of Price Administration have been made effective in Defense Rental areas. Strafford County is designated as a portion of the Portsmouth Defense Rental Area announced Mayor Walter H. Wood, Tuesday.

"Recommendations. It is the judgement of the Price Administrator that by April 1, 1941, defense activities had not yet resulted in increases in rents for housing accommodations within any of the defense-rental areas designated in Section 1388.1201 inconsistent with the purposes of the Act. Accordingly, the Price Administrator has ascertained, and given due consideration to the rents prevailing for housing accommodations within each of the designated areas on or about March 1, 1942. The Price Administrator has considered, so far as practicable, relevant factors deemed by him to be of general applicability, including fluctuations in property taxes and other costs. It is the judgement of the Price Administrator that the recommendations hereinafter set forth are generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Act.

Recommendations with reference to the stabilization or reduction of rents for housing accommodations within each of the designated defense-rental areas are as follows:

(a) The maximum rent for housing accommodations rented on March 1, 1942 should be the rent for such accommodations on that date. Appropriate provision consistent with such maximum rent date should be made for the maxi-imum rent for housing accommodations not rented on March 1, 1942. In appropriate cases, including those relating to new construction or substantial changes of housing accommodations, provision consistent with the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 should be made for the determination, adjustment, and modification of maximum rents of housing accommodations, but in principle such rents should not be greater than the rents generally prevailing for comparable accommodations in the particular area on March 1, 1942.

(b) Appropriate provision should be made with respect to the restraint of evictions and other actions relating to the recovery of possession.

(c) Appropriate provision should be made to prevent the circumvention or evasion of maximum rents by any method whatever.

Maximum rent regulation. If within sixty days after the issuance of this designation and rent declaration, rents for housing accommodations within any defense-rental area designated in Section 1388.1201 have not in the judgement of the Price Administrator been stabilized or reduced by State or local regulation, or otherwise, in accordance with the foregoing recommendations, the Price Administrator may by regulation or order establish such maximum rent or maximum rents for such accommodations as in his judgement will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942."

Throughout the sketch, Duane C. Ayers gave the 4-H Club, pledge, as suggested by the titles of the various parts of the sketch.

A food sale also marked the entertainment, the tables being decorated with lilacs.

The affair was under the general supervision of Milton Kimball, leader of the 4-H group which sponsored the entertainment.

EXETER YOUTH GIVEN DEGREE AT DARTMOUTH

Charles Renfrew Thompson of 178 High street, Exeter, a graduate of Phillips Exeter and a medical student at Dartmouth, was among the 435 seniors who received degrees as bachelors of arts at the 173rd Commencement in Hanover last Sunday morning. His degree was conferred by Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, president of the college, in Webster Hall.

This commencement for the first class to be graduated during the present war was held earlier than any other in Dartmouth history. It had been advanced five weeks to permit the scheduling of a year-around war program.

Thompson, who will continue studies in medicine, achieved the honorary Alpha Kappa Kappa and also the secret senior society of Sphinx. He won his numerals in both freshman hockey and football. His fraternity is Alpha Delta Phi.

BIG SUM GIVEN IN SALVATION ARMY'S DRIVE

James A. Purington and Earle R. Stockbridge, chairman and treasurer of the recently concluded Salvation Army Maintenance Appeal in Exeter are receiving congratulations upon the unusually successful campaign. Generous donations received have helped to swell the fund to $1,200, the largest amount yet collected for the Salvation Army in this area. A proportion of the amount will be left in Exeter and district for the local needs.

Already the Exeter committee is considering a project for the coming year of visual aid and dental care in Exeter. The group includes: Rev. James W. Bixler, Charles W. Caldwell, Thomas R. Chrysler, Cecil A. Comfort, Howard T. Easton, Otis E. Hoyt, F. Leroy Junkins, Hervey Kent, Rev. Paul T. Martin, Fred A. Moore, Lewis Perry, Henry Phillips, Jr., James A. Pirnie, Willard I. Rowe, Mrs. M. W. Souders, Harry B. Thayer, Jr., Clifton A. Towle, Rev. Howard P. Weatherbee, F. Everett Winslow, and Harry Wise.

Chairman Purington, on behalf of the committee and the Salvation Army officials, has requested through this medium to express gratitude for the fine support given the campaign.

Mrs. Mattie Durgin and Mrs. Ione Kent provided flowers at the Community church last Sunday in memory of their mothers.

Eugene Watson has concluded his duties as soloist at the Community church, but will return in the fall.

Mrs. Mary Shelton and infant daughter are reported to be doing nicely in Exeter Hospital.

Mrs. Lillian LaBranch has been visiting in Canada.

YOUR CAR How to Get the MOST out of It

Note: Every motorist needs to know how to get the most out of his car—for his own and for his country's sake. Following is the first of a series of articles on car conservation. They are based on material just published in a book, Automobile User's Guide, which was prepared by the Customer Research staff of General Motors in cooperation with General Motors engineers, Proving Ground experts, research technicians and service specialists.

To make your car serve for the duration, you must be both a careful driver and a careful owner. You must (1) operate your car sensibly and (2) see that it is kept in top-notch condition.

A careful driver, from the point of view of your car, is not just a good driver. Many things that a good driver can do under normal, peacetime conditions, a careful driver would be foolish to do today. A careful driver would not drive fast today even on the best and safest road in the country unless saving a few minutes time were of paramount importance.

Similarly, the rules of car maintenance have changed. Points that were of minor importance before Pearl Harbor now must be given first consideration. Under-inflation has always been bad for tires, yes. But some were willing to pay in decreased tire mileage for a more cushioned ride. Today that price has become prohibitive.

It will be worth your while to review your motoring habits and decide how they must be changed to meet changed conditions. The next two articles in this series will discuss how to operate your car to squeeze every ounce of mileage out of it. Tires, lubrication, motor, brakes, instruments and car appearance will be dealt with in subsequent installments.

Newmarket Items . . .

Charles Humphreys was in Boston, Wednesday, taking his examinations for the Coast Guard Academy.

The 4-H Club members in Newmarket will join in the observance of Rural Life Sunday, May 17. On that day, which is set apart for "emphasizing the spiritual values of the open country and of growing things," the Rev. Russell Schofield will have a special program in the Sunday School at the Community church. Milton Kimball, 4-H leader, is assistant superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Nettie Graham was a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. Frank Whidden in Newington.

A master's degree in arts and history was received by the Rev. Russell G. Schofield, pastor of the Community Church, at the University of New Hampshire commencement exercises.

"QUICK PICK-UP"

FOR STUDENT and ATHLETE

BOTTLED Carbonated Beverages are an ideal "pick-up" for the student, the athlete, the tired business man, his stenographer, the worker generally, in fact, for anyone who feels the strain of mental or muscular fatigue.

These wholesome and palatable beverages, because of their pure sugar content, quickly relieve muscular tension and restore work power.
