P. T. A. HONORS MRS. KENDRIGAN

JORDAN MOST DISTANT FROM HOME AT CAMP

It has just been learned that on Mothers' Day, Private Gerard W. Jordan, who is a member of the Q.M. Detachment, 16th Air Depot Group at Duncan Field, San Antonio, Tex., was selected by the USO as the soldier farthest from home and permitted to make a telephone call at no expense to his parents, School Committee Chairman and Mrs. John Jordan, in Newmarket.

Private Jordan was surprised by a visit from Mrs. Benjamin Kendrigan of Newmarket, president of the New Hampshire Congress of Parents and Teachers, during her recent visit in the South. The soldier accompanied Mrs. Kendrigan to many historic spots around San Antonio and showed her the USO headquarters.

Mrs. Kendrigan says the soldier has made recordings at the USO which will be sent to Lamprey Grange of Newmarket, of which Private Jordan is a member, and to his parents. This is one of the many services offered by the USO which Mrs. Kendrigan says was described as "marvelous" by soldiers everywhere she went on her long trip.

Out of about 12,000 men stationed at Duncan Field, Private Jordan and an Ossipee boy, Carol Millikin, are the only Granite Staters, and both were delighted to meet someone from their home state.

Private Jordan, who is being elevated in rank to private first class, asked Mrs. Kendrigan to give his best regards to all his friends back home. He expects to be granted a furlough so that he can come to Newmarket sometime in June.

JOHN TWARDUS SEEKS STATE LEGION POST

John Twardus, prominent member of Robert G. Durgin Post, American Legion, in Newmarket, has announced that he will be a candidate for department vice commander from District 3, at the annual department convention to be held in Nashua, June 11 to 14.

He served as commander of Durgin Post in 1935 and for a number of years has been a leading figure in Legion membership drives. He was responsible, while serving as commander, for increasing the Newmarket membership to 106. In 1937, he organized six of the 11 posts chartered in New Hampshire by the Sons of the Legion, of which he was district chairman.

Mr. Twardus has served as junior vice commander of the local post, senior vice commander and commander. He has also served on the executive and membership committees and has been chairman of the Sons of the Legion and chaplain for District 3. He is a member of the Newmarket executive and membership committees.

Church Gets Its Tree Too Quickly

A tree mystery has sprouted at the Community Church in Newmarket.

The executive committee decided to improve the church grounds and set out an arbor vitae.

The following night, the pastor, Rev. Russell G. Schofield, found a small tree on the lawn and called George Hardy, committee chairman, to congratulate him on what he thought had been fast work.

It developed, however, that the committee knew nothing about this particular tree—not did anyone else connected with the church.

MILK DEALERS ACT ON VITAL ISSUES SUNDAY

Retail milk producers of Newmarket, Newfields, Lee and a part of Durham will hold an important meeting in the Newmarket Town Hall, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, according to an announcement by F. Albert Sewall, a prominent dealer and member of the Newmarket Board of Selectmen.

There will be a discussion of sentiment among the milk producers in this section regarding curtailment of deliveries and other wartime measures affecting their business.

This gathering will be preliminary to a public hearing to be held in Representatives' Hall in Concord, Wednesday, May 27, at 2:30 p. m.

Caillixte Baillargeon is president of the local milk producers' association.

First Aid Unit Stages Banquet For Coolidges

Eighteen first aid instructors from Newmarket, under the direction of Ernest A. Trottier, held a banquet at Lamie's in Hampton last week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Coolidge, both of whom are active in Newmarket's civilian defense activities.

As toastmaster, the Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor of St. Mary's introduced members of the party who were instructed in first aid by Mr. Coolidge. The latter was presented a gift and Mrs. Coolidge received flowers.

Robert Bennett awarded mock diplomas to the first aid group including the Rev. R. G. Schofield, Charles Burton, Louis Record, E. A. Trottier, Raymond Brisson, Miss Pauline Johnson, Mrs. Emma Ramsdell, Mrs. Hannah Webb, Mrs. Celia Fillion, Miss Marion Stevens and Mrs. Robert Bennett.

Defeat Hebron

The Phillips Exeter Academy nine, with Bob Conway again doing a masterful job on the mound, scored a 2-1 edge over Hebron Academy in Exeter, Wednesday. In the fourth inning, Oliver Moses singled with the bases full, scoring Forte and Schuster.

LEGION ASKS SERVICEMEN TO EXERCISES

Any member of Uncle Sam's present armed forces, who happens to be in Newmarket on Memorial Sunday, May 24, or on Memorial Day, is invited to participate in the programs to be held in town on those days, according to officials of Robert G. Durgin Post, American Legion.

On Memorial Sunday, the Legion post and auxiliary, as well as other patriotic organizations, have been invited to attend a special service in the Community church in Newmarket.

On Memorial Day, Legion members will report at Legion Hall at 8:30 a. m. and leave in automobiles for the Catholic Cemetery, where graves will be decorated. Servicemen who are in Newmarket on that day and want to participate in this ceremony will be furnished with transportation.

Returning from the Catholic Cemetery, the Legionnaires will join other organizations in forming a parade on Main street at 10 a. m. The procession will proceed to Riverside cemetery for the annual tribute to the dead.

NEWMARKET TRIO INJURED IN RYE CRASH

Three Newmarket men, Frank Rooney, Leo Portier and Merrill Tessizini, suffered slight injuries Monday in an automobile crash near Foye's Corner in Rye. They were taken to Portsmouth Hospital, but were released within a short time.

Mrs. John Wright, near whose residence on the Pioneer road the accident occurred, reported that apparently the car failed to negotiate a curve and overturned twice before coming to a stop.

Miss Roilman of the University of New Hampshire has been substituting at Newmarket high school for Elmore K. Putnam, language teacher, who is ill at his home in Claremont.

More Help Needed For Bond Canvass

A number of Newmarket residents responded to last week's appeal for 60 canvassers to assist Fred J. Durell, Newmarket chairman of the War Savings Committee of New Hampshire, in securing pledges from persons with incomes to buy war stamps and bonds during the remainder of the war.

This is a good start for the house-to-house canvass, scheduled for June 1, but still more volunteers are needed for this important assignment. There is little time left and volunteers are urged to contact Mr. Durell immediately at the New Market National Bank or at his home.

LIEUT. CAMIRE TAKES HIGHER ARMY TRAINING

Lieut. Edward Camire of Newmarket, who was commissioned some time ago from the Officers' Training School at Fort Monmouth, N. J., is now attending the Advanced Officers' School.

The lieutenant, who recently had a 10-day furlough at home, is a graduate of Newmarket high school and also attended the Radio Institute School in Boston. A former employe of radio station WHEB in Portsmouth, he was the first volunteer to answer the call to the colors from the Portsmouth area under the Selective Service Act. He was also the first local man to become a commissioned officer.

During his recent visit at home, he was accompanied by Lieut. Robert Bowen, a native of California and also a graduate of the Officers' Training School.

Supper Tonight

A public supper will be served tonight in the vestry of the Community Church in Newmarket to mark completion of the 20-hour course given to the local canteen class. The canteen workers have been offered use of the church kitchen and vestry as headquarters until the end of the war.

HEADS STATE LEADERS FOR ENTIRE NATION

Mrs. Benjamin Kendrigan of Newmarket, president of the New Hampshire Congress of Parents and Teachers, was presented a large corsage in honor of her recent election as president of the State Presidents' Conference, at the 29th annual convention of the state organization at The Carpenter in Manchester, Tuesday.

Mrs. Kendrigan, who recently returned from a tour through the South, Middle West and California, was named as head of the country's 48 state P. T. A. presidents, at a convention in San Antonio, Tex. During the session she represented all the state leaders in delivering an address which was broadcast over a western radio hookup.

She attended P. T. A. meetings in Salt Lake City and Denver during her long trip and also visited San Antonio, Tex., San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Washington, D. C., and numerous other points of interest. While in California she visited her brother, William Clapp, Jr., whom she had not seen for eight years.

At the Manchester convention this week, Mrs. Kendrigan read her president's report and delivered an address on "Tomorrow's Problem's, Today's Challenge," the theme of the convention.

She emphasized the need for assisting children in engaging in wholesome activities during the summer vacation. Neighborhood camps were advocated for youngsters who cannot go to regular recreational camps, and she suggested that neighborhood nurseries might be established for children of women who are employed outside the home.

Mrs. Kendrigan stated, however, that the first duty of parents is to the home and all other activities should be secondary. She asked that "we show our children we can take it in these trying times, that we teach them to live normal lives and do not show hate, and we give each child something to do."

Mrs. Kendrigan is starting the second year of her two-year term as state president of the P. T. A. Congress, and will have the privilege of a one-year-term of re-election. (continued on page four)

Students Win In Speaking Contest

The following students of Exeter high school were declared winners in the 45th annual Merrill Prize speaking contest:

First in declamation, Robert J. Richard, on the subject, "Portrait of an American;" second, John W. Jette, "American Smugglers;" and third, Gordon A. Ray, Jr., on "The Heroic Age Returns."

In composition, first, J. Gilbert Haley, Jr., on "How I Built My Camp;" second, Andrew J. Pelletier, "Told by an Immigrant;" and third, "Orville W. Cunningham, "Behind the Counter."

The committee on awards comprised Rev. Paul T. Martin, Dr. Lewis Perry, Principal James A. Pirnie of Robinson seminary, Robert G. Luckey and Supt. of Schools Clifton A. Towle.

CHAPTER 7 Intense Stillness

Still the path led upward. It was a stiff climb. The denseness of the forest gave way to a cleaner growth with little or no underbrush. The stillness was intense the greater part of the way. They neared the clearing in the midst of which stood the cabin with a marvel of color about the stumps and shrubs and the very logs of the cabin itself. Nasturtiums so late in the season! Yet, there they were, flowering as if it were mid-summer instead of September. Morning glory vines, too, and one syringa, all abloom and thriving. "Father loved nasturtiums," and I have had good luck with them so far. How much longer they would have blossomed I don't know. Here we are, Mr. Barton." And the boy slowly opened the door and stood aside to let the visitors enter.

Inside the cabin all was clean and in order. On the bed under the window lay the dead man, covered with a silken robe of deep blue color. A costly garment, no doubt, and on the left side near the chin a white cross appeared set on the upper edge. Lifting the square of cloth that covered the features of the dead man, the boy looked long and lovingly upon the face of his dead father. There were now no tears. The boy was a man, and men suffer without shedding tears.

Out in the morning brightness and seated on two logs just outside the door, evidently the seats where father and son had been used to sit in early morning hours, the boy began to talk, of himself, of his father, of their life together in the woods; of how much they both loved nature and how they had spent their time since they had found the cabin. His father had taught him Russian, some German and French. This last named language had been his favorite language. "Mother was French, and father had met her in Paris, and perhaps that was the reason for his liking the French language," the boy told him. And then he added, "What am I to do?"

"The first thing to be done is to get the body down to the house," Mr. Barton replied. "It can't be done today, for we alone cannot take it. Tomorrow we will have that done, and after the funeral we can talk things over. How will that do, Sonny?"

"Oh, but I must look around again for the money. I know it is somewhere, for father had quite a lot of money when we came, and we have spent very little since then," Sonny declared vehemently. "I cannot imagine where father put the big sum of money I saw in his hand day before yesterday; I must and shall find the place." Restlessly pacing up and down, back and forth, around the cabin and between the stumps, as he at last sat down again and, facing Mr. Barton, he told as much of their story as he could remember. It ran like this:

"My father called himself William Williams in New York. That was not his right name, what that is I do not know. Perhaps were I able to find his papers I would know, but there are no papers anywhere that I can think of, any more than I am able to find the money that I know we had. My mother died in Paris, France, when I was too young to remember her.

Father himself was never the same after her death, he said, and I can well believe it, for he loved her dearly. I often heard him say that he would wish that I resembled her instead of him." He paused a few minutes, and then he went on with his story.

"Anyway, we crossed the Atlantic and came to New York city. Father was very fond of horses and he liked nothing better than to care for them; and because he detested idleness he got a position as coachman to a wealthy New York family. I went to school when I had become old enough, and I soon learned to handle the English language better than father. I did teach him the parts of speech in it, and father was an apt pupil. I think that the English language is my pet hobby. My teachers gave me credit for a very good use of words and phrases. I have no desire for praise, but don't you think my English is good, Mr. Barton?"

"None better, my boy," answered Mr. Barton. "But go on with your story, Sonny."

"I like that name. I hope you will let me keep it when I go to live with you. And the cost of the funeral worries me terribly. You will let me pay off gradually, if the cost of the burial is not too much for you to spend just now. Tell me, is it?" The boy's eagerness faded.

"No, Sonny. I can stand that and much more for your sake. Never fear. All will be right. Is there more to be told? You need not hesitate to hold back whatever you may need to keep to yourself. I trust you." At this the boy looked his thanks.

The sky over the Berkshires had become alarmingly dull. A storm might be brewing. They hurriedly started for home. Still the boy worried about the money, and told Mr. Barton so.

"Leave that till later, Sonny, we must arrange about the funeral first. I and some of my neighbors shall carry the body down to the house, and I shall have our own doctor view the remains, as they say, and the funeral is to be from our house. Don't worry about money matters. I am to do that for the time being. And hereafter you are to stay at our house for as long as you like. Is that right, Sonny?" And the boy nodded gravely. "I shall repay you," he said, "never fear."

NOO MARKIT WONDERS...

If the Newmarket bigwig thinks he was not observed as he enjoyed himself with a certain gal in a Salisbury dine-and-dance joint about three weeks ago?

If a prominent Newmarket man's customers wouldn't be a little more patient if they knew he had been sleeping on the floor lately? Yeah, he didn't like a new bed that he bought, so he tossed the mattress on the floor and slept in greater comfort. He slipped a couple of times on the polished floor when he got up in the morning, and sprained his back a bit.

What an innocent chap thought in a Dover store when a Newmarket man slapped him on the shoulder and said, "You're under arrest." When the victim turned around, the localite discovered he was a perfect stranger—not a friend of his, as supposed. And the Newmarket man's face is still red!

Where all the dogs come from every once in a while to jam Newmarket's main stem, in barking and howling packs? We nev-

May 30, 1942

A weird contingent of bitter years,
Of strenuous effort, of unshed tears,

We face in the world of today.
We laud our heroes, deck their graves,

But make ourselves into Freedom's slaves,

If we neglect to pray.

With Freedom menaced, its life at stake,

We show our enemies what we can take

As did fighters for Truth of old;
And whether we don't or whether we will,

Our Father's purpose is with us still,

For Freedom to have and to hold.

We shame no hero of sixty-two,
When we give a tyrant his measure of woe,

"While fighting for Freedom's sake,

We do shame our heroes if helmets of steel

Do get the best of what we feel
When Freedom is at stake.

So, rest, ye heroes under the sod!
Others there are who have gone to God—

Fighting for Freedom's sake.
If Freedom is right, then Freedom is might,

And might is ever Freedom's right,
With Freedom itself at stake.

Do You Know . . .

. . . that the Ground Observer System is one of the largest volunteer organizations in the country . . . that from Maine to Florida alone, 9,500 Observation Posts are manned by close to 750,000 civilian Observers . . . that it would take an army of 50,000 soldiers working full time to do the same job . . . that similar armies would be required along the Gulf of Mexico, the Pacific Ocean and the Mexican and Canadian borders . . .

DO YOU KNOW that it is possible for one interceptor plane working in cooperation with an efficient Ground Observer System, to do the work of sixteen planes . . .

DO YOU REALIZE that the great number of men and planes released for action elsewhere by the Ground Observer System may mean the difference between victory and defeat for the United Nations.

Pvt. Charles LaBranche, who has been stationed in Chicago, has been on a 10-day furlough at the home of his father, Gideon LaBranche. Upon his return, he will be transferred to Fort Sheridan, Ill. The soldier is pretty well accustomed to army life now, having been in the service 14 months.

Annie Wilkinson, Newfields, Dead

Funeral services were held for Miss Annie H. Wilkinson, 84, a retired teacher, at her home on Main street in Newfields, Wednesday afternoon. She died at the Delano Home in Newmarket.

Miss Wilkinson was a native of Newfields, a daughter of James H. and Julia (Barker) Wilkinson, and had always resided in that town. She was a member of the Congregational church, where she had served as a Sunday School teacher. She had also taught in the public schools in Stratham.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary W. Crafts of Red Bank, N. J., and a nephew, Prof. Leland W. Crafts of New York.

Victory Forecast By P.T.A. Speaker

Confidence that America will overcome her enemies and that Christian principles will again prevail in the world was expressed by John Adams, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus and master of its Fourth Degree, in a talk before the Newmarket Parent-Teachers Association, Monday night.

Mrs. D. Perry Smith, Newfields, a vice president of the New Hampshire Congress of Parents and Teachers, installed the new officers at a ceremony during which Mrs. Mabel Schanda, retiring president, was given flowers as a token of appreciation.

Mrs. Julius Lank was inducted as president; Mrs. Dorothy DePreker vice pres.; Miss Eleanor Evans, treas.; Mrs. Burman, sec'y.; Mrs. Mary Abbott, program chairman.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elizabeth Brandt, Mrs. John Jordon, Mrs. Fred Philbrick, Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. DePreker.

Winners Named In 4-H Contests

Aristotle Bouras won first place in the ticket selling contest held in connection with the recent entertainment presented by the Happy Workers' 4-H Club of Boys in the Community Church vestry in Newmarket. Edmund P. Branch was second and Clifton Thompson, third.

Winners in the food sale were: first, Edmund P. Branch, Victory patrol; second, Duane C. Ayers, Fox patrol; third, Clifton J. Thompson, Eagle patrol.

Newmarket Items . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawton, 70 Main street, spent several days recently at their former home in Salem.

Guests from Lee, Nottingham, Newfields and Durham attended a Neighbors' Night program held by Lamprey Grange, Wednesday night. Mrs. Benjamin Kendrigan gave a talk on her recent cross-country trip and there were refreshments and dancing.

More Selectees Go From Area

Among a group of selectees leaving Portsmouth last Friday morning, for an induction center, where they were to receive physical examinations, were the following:

Ralph R. Raphael, William G. Cassano, Alphonse J. St. Hilaire, Longen J. Biskup, Harold B. Noel, Albert Camire, Newmarket; Francis C. Woods, Epping; Wendell C. Ring, Orville A. Gauthier and Arnold E. George of Hampton; George Hampton; George W. Chase, Edward E. Gynan of Seabrook; Alfred M. Carbonneau, Stratham; Robert Tarr Garland, North Hampton.

Robert Rousseau Navy Storekeeper

Robert Rousseau of Newmarket is now storekeeper, third class, at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Newport, R. I., and, according to letters received by friends, enjoys his assignment very much.

He is serving in the supply department where medical and surgical equipment is kept.

Vacation School

A Baptist clergyman will come to Newmarket to supervise a Daily Vacation Bible School to be held in the Community church vestry, June 29 to July 10, under auspices of the New Hampshire Baptist Association. The pastor, the Rev. Russell G. Schofield, will secure local teachers for the classes.

People
you may know

MONA LOGG holds the New England record for conversational endurance. She's modest about it, though. Says her husband can beat her when he talks fishing or golf—just give him a chance. Between them they really do a job on the telephone.

We telephone people deserve some of the credit, no doubt—the way we've sold people on telephoning, all these years. But now success proves a boomerang . . . the War program needs so much telephone service that champion talkers are a problem. You see, switchboards can handle only so many conversations at a time—and materials for building switchboards are on the priorities list!

If anyone had told us, a year ago, that we'd ever reach the point of suggesting that people cut down—No, we can't say it, even now! (Or have we?)

EASTER SEAL FUND PASSES LAST YEAR'S

The 1942 Easter Seal drive conducted by the New Hampshire Society for Crippled Children and Handicapped Persons brought 20 percent more funds for the work of the society than was collected in 1941, according to Jay H. Corliss, executive secretary of the society. The Lily Sale showed an increase of 33 1/2 percent over last year.

The officers of the society are very grateful to the people of New Hampshire for this expression of confidence in what they are doing for these handicapped people of the Granite State, and as a result, more people will be helped and greater opportunities of assistance will be available for these less fortunate citizens.

The chairmen in Rockingham County include: Mrs. Edna Wright, Atkinson; Mrs. Ida Davis, Auburn; Miss Marion Flanders, Brentwood; Mrs. Paul E. Sargent, Candia; Mrs. Mabel R. Finnigan, Chester; Mrs. W. C. Chappell, Danville; Mrs. Grace Sanborn, Deerfield; Mrs. Joseph Adams, Derry; Mrs. Alvin Foss, East Kingston; Mrs. D. Watson Ladd, Epping; Stephen Wheeler, Exeter; Mrs. Frank Cille, co-chairman of Exeter; Mrs. Melzar Stevenson, Fremont; Mrs. Russell Rolston, Greenland; Miss Evely Taylor Hampstead; Dr. Wayne P. Bryer, Hampton; Mrs. Rufus B. Floyd, South Hampton; Mrs. Agnes Greenwood, Kensington; Mrs. Laurence Sargent, Kingston; Mrs. Walter P. Mack, Jr., Londonderry; Mrs. Eloise Sheehy, R. MR. MERAS' REPLY

Mr. Guy Langley
Editor, Newmarket News
Newmarket, N. H.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your criticism of me in your issue of May 15th. I would like to reply at some length; but I could not well do so without considerable criticism of the liquor interests, and I understand that, right now, this is not permissible in your columns. So I will say only this—if you think it is more logical and patriotic to criticize one who believes that the legalized liquor traffic is Hitler & Co's strongest ally in America today, and for that reason spends considerable energy and money trying to stop or at least to some extent curtail its destructive effects, than to join in or at least say God-speed to such efforts, then your idea of being loyal and patriotic is, I think, indeed pitiful.

RALPH E. MERAS

Editor's Note: In our criticism of Mr. Meras' movement for restoration of prohibition during the war, we carefully pointed out that we believed his views on prohibition were really sincere, and we were not concerned at all over the moral phases of the liquor question.

We merely contended it was "poor logic" for Mr. Meras to advise people to promise to buy twice as many war bonds as they are now doing in return for wartime prohibition.

We must still insist that any patriotic American who can afford to buy $10, $1,000, or $10,000 worth of these bonds should not withhold half of the possible investment simply because of legalized liquor. War bonds and "bottled in bonds" are entirely unrelated at this crucial time.

YOUTHS RALLY TO VICTORY GARDEN CALL

New Hampshire youth are rallying in unprecedented numbers this year to produce "vegetables for vitality and victory," it is indicated by the 4-H Victory Garden enrollment reports received at the office of C. B. Wadleigh, state club leader, at the University of New Hampshire in Durham.

As of May 1, at least 3,593 Victory Volunteers had signified their intention of maintaining or helping with a garden during 1942. This figure was twice the enrollment of 1941 and more than three times the number in the 1940 garden project, Mr. Wadleigh said.

The Victory Garden enrollees represent 386 clubs or groups, although some of these units are not formally organized. More than 500 adult garden advisers have been obtained to work with the Victory Volunteers and it is planned to give each boy and girl enrolled at least two instruction or demonstration meetings before the first progress report is due June 1-15.

Grafton county led the garden enrollment on May 1, with 577 members listed. Rockingham followed with 569 and totals in the other counties were: Hillsboro, 484; Merrimack, 457; Carroll, 350; Belknap, 335; Sullivan, 300; Cheshire, 227; Coos, 150; and Strafford, 144.

Need Typists, Stenographers In Washington

A great task facing Government personnel officers is that of recruiting typists and stenographers for service in Washington. Hundreds of these girls are vitally needed by the War Department, the Navy Dept., the Office of Civilian Defense and the Maritime Commission.

The acute shortage of clerical personnel cannot help but interfere with the efficient functioning of our war plants. The Government cannot purchase supplies, plan its motor and rail transportation for troops, and commodities, get its orders to the Army and Navy stationed at distant points throughout the world without an ample supply of typists and stenographers.

Lurid accounts of crowded housing conditions have kept many girls from filling these necessary positions. These fictions which probably make interesting reading, must be contrasted with some of the facts about living conditions in Washington.

Recently the Defense Housing Registry listed more than 3,000 houses with available rooms in Washington. The majority of these were in residential areas thirty to forty-five minutes from Government offices. In addition 2,000 more rooms were listed as available in near by Bethesda, Md., and in Arlington, Va.

The average room rental in the national capitol is between $25 and $35 a month for single rooms, and $20 to $30 for double. Prices with board and room range from $45 to $55 a month.

The hundreds of girls going to Washington to work as stenographers and typists are assisted in finding rooms by several agencies.

These include the Defense Housing Registry, Washington Room Exchange, the Y.W.C.A., and the Jewish Community Center. In addition, the Traveler's Aid Society functions on a twenty-four hour basis at the Union station to help new arrivals.

The starting salary for typists and stenographers going to Washington is $120 a month. There are excellent chances for promotion.

Information in regard to Civil Service examination in the Durham and Newmarket District may be obtained at the Durham Postoffice from John T. Foley, local Civil Service Secretary.

Typists and stenographers help your country and earn $120 per month.

Newmarket POLISH CLUB Notes

At a club meeting May 10, three new members were accepted by a majority vote.

Pvt. Harold Noel, who was the club's cribbage champion until his Uncle Sam decided his talents were needed, has been home on a 10-day furlough. They say that Harold has already found out that army life begins at 4:30 a.m., and there is no maybe about it. There is also a report that heaven and earth were literally moved to secure Harold's furlough so that he could attend to business affairs.

Pvt. Stanley Miesowicz has been enjoying a 15 day furlough.

The club has received a nice letter from Pvt. Walter Lizak, who is stationed in Florida. His photo will be published in this paper soon.

Selectman Stanley Szack has been busy planting his garden.

It is hoped that Joe Pete will be granted a furlough soon, so that he can perform his annual job of putting the screens and awnings on the windows at the club headquarters. Otherwise the task would fall upon Chief Steward George Grochmal, who doesn't fancy climbing ladders.

John Dziedzic, the club's glamor boy, who is now a sailor at the naval station at Great Lakes, Ill., is expected to come home on a furlough soon.

The club has received a card from Pvt. Frank Shina, who is serving in a chemical warfare battalion at Edgewood Arsenal in the state of Maryland.

All club members have been requested to march in the Memorial Day parade. They are to meet at 8:30 at the club headquarters, where they will receive instructions. The officers want the organization to be well represented in the procession.

Stanley Wiernaz has quit his job at the Sam Smith Shoe Corp. to take up farming in Durham.

The boys are almost on the verge of forming a pool on John Ross' chances of being yanked into the army.

John Kustra was groping his way around in a mental fog for couple of days this week, but his colleagues finally learned what was worrying him. "Be more careful John in the future," is their advice.

The club detective is working on the mystery of what happened to something precious that disappeared recently from Misty Kustra's car. Misty thought the culprit's conscience would bother him by now, but apparently it hasn't, and he is offering a $10 reward to the first person who volunteers information that will lead to recovery of the bottle of perfume, with contents intact.

Chief Steward George Grochmal is encountering skeptics, but he asks everyone to please believe his story. The other morning, around 4 o'clock, out on the South Main street farm where he lives, he was awakened by a noise in the shed. When he got there he found a mysterious stranger who fled despite George's threat that he would cover him with a revolver. Later, George hopped into his car and overtook the stranger some distance from the house. He wanted to notify the police, but some of the other members of the household were in favor of forgetting the matter, so George is still wondering what the intruder was doing around the premises. George wants it clearly understood that he was chasing the intruder, not vice versa.

Rams Play Two Games Sunday

The Newmarket Rams' baseball team will play two games, Sunday afternoon.

The first contest, starting at 1:30, will be against North Hampton, while the opponent in the second game will be the Portsmouth Plainsmen.

NEWMARKET HIGH JUNIORS ENJOY PROM

Juniors of Newmarket high school held their annual prom in the Rockingham Ballroom last Friday night, with approximately 350 in attendance.

Andrew March, class president, and his partner, led the grand march, which ended in a patriotic V formation. Also in the procession were other class officers, class members and guests. The juniors were drilled for this feature by Miss Lillian Morin, girls' athletic coach.

The boys in the class wore white flannels and the girls, evening gowns. The beauty of the affair was enhanced by a large red, white and blue paper fan on the wall near the orchestra stand.

Chaperons included Headmaster Austin J. McCaffrey, Judge J. Bartlett Griffin, a member of the School Board, and William H. Malone, Miss Morin and Miss Dorothy Brewster, teachers.

The affair was arranged by the following chairmen: Prom, Andrew March; publicity, John Reardon; tickets, Maurice Proulx; grand march, Zylpha Morgan; and decorations, Audrey Phalen.

BUILDING MEN TO MEET AT UNH FOR INSTITUTE

The first New Hampshire Building Institute will be conducted on May 26, 27, 28 and 29 in New Hampshire Hall, University of New Hampshire, Durham.

The objective of the Institute is to provide an educational center where every member of the building industry may participate in the impartial study, discussion and solution of the common problems that confront the industry in New Hampshire. An Advisory Board which has assisted in the planning of the program and arrangements includes representatives of architects, engineers, producers of building materials, dealers, general contractors, sub-contractors, building trades, architectural education and the university.

Through conferences, lectures and exhibits, those attending the Institute will be offered the opportunity to (1) discuss current problems in building practice, (2) analyze new developments in materials, equipment, methods and design, and, (3) correlate the new developments with existing construction methods. The pertinent subjects to be discussed will include priorities, protective construction and concealment from aerial bombardment as they pertain to the building industry, new building methods, and current problems in building practice and training.

Newfields' Pupils Present Cocert

Pupils of the Newfields grammar school held a concert in the Newfields Town Hall last Sunday, under the direction of Wendall Hawkins, music supervisor, and with Mrs. Edwin Smith, pianist, as accompanist.

The program included: Mozart's "Lullaby", Schubert's "The Hedge Rose", Negro Spiritual "Go Down Moses", and the American Folk song "Eric Canal". Children participating were Madeline Nichols, Estelle Nichols, Doris Kelley, William Chick, Jared Rumford, June Glass, Marjorie Hankin, Barbara Morrill, Gordon Barker, Marcia Chesley, Merilyn Smith, Bessie Hayden, Lois Simpson, Richard Wiggins and Arthur Evans.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

You ought to meet my friend, Will Dudley. I suppose Will must be seventy-eight or nine... but you'd never know it. He's tall and lean and hard as a hickory. And although the only formal education he ever had was a few winters in the old red schoolhouse, I think that he's the wisest man I know in many ways.

For one thing, Will taught me the value of what he calls "Just a-settin!"

Come upon Will in the evening, when his hard day's work is done, and you'll find him "just a-settin," in a rocker on his porch. In one hand he'll have his old briar pipe and in the other, a tall cool glass of beer.

"Wholesome, appetizin' beer," says Will, "is standard equipment for proper settin! Puts a feller in an easy-goin' peaceful mood."

You see, Will holds the theory that in our present mixed-up world, a man needs a quiet hour every day. An hour in which to sit down quietly and restore his strength and courage.

Will thinks, and I agree with him, that a man ought to forget all his own and the world's worries during that hour-of-peace. And Will feels that a glass of fragrant mellow beer helps most to bring you quiet relaxation.

Show me the man who sits down quietly on an evening with his glass of beer and I'll show you a man who is wise in the ways of living. Such men, like Will Dudley, live to a ripe old age, unembittered by the troubles of the world. They seem to remain, all their lives, sweet-natured and kindly.

Time has a way of rendering accurate judgments on the value of the things men use and enjoy in the world. And Time... thousands of years of it... has handed down the verdict that beer is a pleasant and worthy companion for all men of good will.

tion in 1943, according to a change in the by-laws made at this week's gathering.

Two other women from this section also participated in the business session at the convention. Mrs. D. Perry Smith of Newfields read her report as state secretary and Mrs. Leila Mayo, also of Newfields, reported as chairman of the committee on by-laws.

Convention speakers included Dr. Garry Cleveland Meyers of Chicago, famous child psychologist; Fred Engelhardt, president of the University of New Hampshire, and Gov. Robert O. Blood.

In a plea for the best teachers possible, with salaries comparable with those of other skilled employes, Dr. Engelhardt declared: "You can't build democracy with second-rate teachers."

"The people have yet to give their best sons and daughters to the teaching profession," the university executive asserted. "But we must do it in the future. * * * Democracy will fail without the best of public education even if we do win the war."

Gov. Blood reminded the congress that everyone must do all he can in the war effort, "for you and I have homes to protect and if we fail in this everything we love will fail."

He also asserted that, although "we must act in the present, we must look to the future. If we don't write a better peace than we did in the past, our children, in addition to paying the tax burden of this conflict, will bear the burden of an other war in the future."

Pohopek Drops Hitler's Name

Adolph Pohopek, Newmarket Polish Club steward and fisherman, has disowned his first name for the duration of the war, out of disrespect for his namesake in Germany. From now on, he will answer to the monicker of "Dola."

To further prove his bitterness against the beast of Berlin, "Dola" has also shaved off his Hitler-type mustache.

Any further resemblance to Der Feuhrer will be purely coincidental.

Pop Concert Held In Vestry

A pop concert was held in the Community Church vestry in Newmarket last night under auspices of the Young People's Society.

Artists on the program included F. Clayton Record of Greater Lawrence, Ewald Franklin, violinist; Marilyn Harvey, reader; Evelyn Haller, pianist, all of Lawrence; Peggy Cook, vocalist, and Jack Cook, violinist, Newmarket.

Kingman Renamed To Masonic Post

Bela Kingman, of Newmarket was re-elected as grand treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Masons at the 153rd annual communication in the Masonic Temple in Concord, Wednesday.

Mr. Kingman, who has served in this capacity for many years, was unable to attend the session as he was confined to his home with a cold.

Hopey-Kartaszewicz

Miss Gertrude Kartaszewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kartaszewicz of Packer's Falls road, Newmarket, and Charles W. Hopey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hopey of Dover and a soldier stationed at Grenier Field in Manchester, were married at St. Mary's church in Newmarket, Tuesday. The Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor celebrated the nuptial mass.

"Steve" Slayton Declines To Accept Teach-Coach Position At Spaulding After Being Nominated By School Board; Students Crowd Lively City Hall Session

At the May meeting of the Rochester School Board last Thursday evening, Foster J. "Steve" Slayton, coach and teacher at Traip Academy in Kittery, Maine, for the past twelve years was elected as teacher and coach of football, basketball and baseball for Spaulding high school at a salary of $2000.

Monday of this week, Mr. Slayton returned his contract unsigned to Supt. Rollins.

Due to the absence of chairman Kendall of the Teachers and Salaries committee, Mr. Rollins was authorized to read a report of that committee which he said consisted of nine items. On the motion of Mr. Burbank, the items were read and acted upon separately.

When the motion regarding Mr. Slayton was read, Mr. Burbank moved that the nomination be laid on the table for further investigation. The motion was not seconded and was lost.

Mr. Burbank then asked how many applicants had been considered and Mr. Rollins replied, "Three, two of whom we put aside in favor of Mr. Slayton."

Mr. Burbank asked, "What are Mr. Slayton's qualifications?"

Supt. Rollins replied, "He is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and needs only two hours for a Master's degree. He has a fine background for teaching health and physical education, and is experienced in that line. Mr. Slayton is a successful coach and has been approved by the State Board of Education for a certificate to teach in New Hampshire."

Mr. Burbank asked, "What do you mean by a 'successful coach?' I don't recall of Traip having any outstanding teams in the past six years."

Mr. Rollins replied, "While every school wants to win all their games, there is more than that to successful coaching. There is the influence on the children to be considered."

At this point Mayor Wood rose and said he had a matter which ordinarily would come up under the item of New Business, but because it had a bearing on the matter under discussion, he would like the approval of the board to present it at that time. The board gave its consent and handed a petition to Supt. Rollins to present to the Board.

Supt. Rollins said, "This is a petition signed by 'Skip' Ferry and about 300 others which reads as follows:

"We the undersigned urgently request you to retain Mr. Stafford Connor as teacher and coach for the 1942-43 school year. We believe Mr. Connor to be capable as a coach and we also like and respect him as a teacher and gentleman". The petition was addressed to the mayor, the school board and Superintendent of Schools Rollins.

Mr. Burbank rose at the finish of the petition and said, "the contents of that petition is a pretty good example of the esteem and influence on children which our present coach has. If Mr. Slayton could get one half the acclaim, he would be quite a man I do not think we should hire Mr. Slayton at $2000 without looking into the matter further."

Mayor Wood remarked that it was a little unusual for one member of the board to hold the floor so often.

The motion to elect Mr. Slayton was then passed on a roll call vote with all members except Mr. Burbank voting in the affirmative.

At this point the group of students who had been occupying all available seats in the back of the council room got up and walked out.

Mr. Burbank rose again saying, "I accept your rebuke and have this last word to say. It looks to me as though something were set up before it happened. Otherwise why wasn't the March 18th session of a committee meeting of the Teachers and Salaries committee reported at the April meeting? If that meeting had been reported, a lot of this might have been avoided."

Mr. Dow of the Teachers and Salaries committee said he did not recall any action that took place. Mr. Burbank said there was, and on inquiry stated that for one thing Mr. O'Leary was appointed as baseball coach.

Mr. Dow went on to say that he thought it was best that some matters were not reported and cited his report for the evening on the Transportation Committee.

Mr. Burbank replied that what was the use of having a school board if the committees were to keep the rest of the board in the dark. He agreed with Mr. Dow that it might be best to keep things unreported once in a while where it would do harm, but that even then, the full school board should know what is going on.

Mr. Burbank moved that the record of the March 18 committee meeting of the Teachers and Salaries be read at the next meeting. The motion was not seconded and failed.

Mayor Wood then said that he had looked through the by laws and that there was nothing in them which obliged a committee to report to the full board. He added that the records of meetings were kept in the Superintendent's office and that they were open for inspection by any school board member at any time, and he made that ruling.

The other items recommended by the Teachers and Salaries Committee, which were subsequently passed, were:

1. Election of Mrs. Irene Wentworth Wight to teach English at a salary of $1553.
2. To accept the resignation of Miss Helen Stever, teacher of grade 3 at the Allen school.
3. To transfer Phyllis Bliss from grade 3 at School Street school to grade 3 at Allen Street school, at her request.
4. To accept the resignation of Edward Harvey, teacher of French at the high school.
5. To give a $50 increase to Douglas Stevenson and to give a $50 increase to Mrs. Coleman, for clerical services.
7. To elect Wilfred Creteau, teacher of French at Laconia the past year, as teacher of French at Spaulding high school.

8. To give Mrs. Anna S. Allen a year's leave of absence.

Mr. Dow reported for the transportation committee that they had investigated two complaints and that matters had been settled satisfactorily with no changes.

The committee on school houses and grounds submitted a report that they recommended the purchase of a flag and to advertise for bids for painting the East Rochester school house and part of Spaulding High school. On motion of Mr. Dow the recommendation of the committee was adopted.

The members present were Warburton, Parsons, McDuffee, Jenness, Beaudoin, Burbank, Daley, Dow and Marsh.

Penny Milk For High School?

During Thursday's meeting, Mr. Burbank inquired if anything had been done by the Superintendent about getting 1c milk for the high school, as had been arranged for the grammar schools. Supt. Rollins said that he and the government representative had decided that it would be best to consider only the grade schools at the start. Mr. Burbank made a motion that the Superintendent look into the matter of getting the 1c milk for the High school and report back at the next meeting. The motion was passed unanimously.

Newmarket Marine Believed Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Langlois of Newmarket have received no word from their son, Pvt. Eddie Langlois, for seven weeks, and believe that the marine, who was stationed at New River, N.C., has been sent to some overseas post.

Private Langlois was stationed at Quantico, Va., before being transferred to New River, and has made several excellent records as a sharpshooter.

His father is a well known barber in Newmarket.

Dear Sirs:
For the love of Pete, how fast do years pass in Rochester? You sent me a bill March 25, saying my (Newmarket News) subscription expired March 15th.

I paid this May 9th and now I get a bill for a subscription to start May 11th. Do you keep any books or is this a new way of collecting bundles for Britain?

I would thank you to send me a receipt telling me just what year and beginning on what day I have paid for.

J. B. GRIFFIN

Dear Judge:

Under the circumstances, it is little wonder that you're a bit confused.

During the recent illness of our bookkeeper, my daughter came in to the office to give us a hand. Being a zealous sort of miss, maybe she figured that a judge had money to burn.

Anyhow, the error has now been corrected, and we hope that the Newmarket News will give you pleasant reading for another year.

120 Rochester High Students Given Probation

The kids wanted Connor!
The School Board didn't!
Out went Connor!
Out went the kids!

Approximately 120 students at Spaulding High school have been placed on probation as a result of Friday's demonstration walk-out in protest to the School Board's nominating Foster J. "Steve" Slayton rather than re-nominating Strafford J. "Dutch" Connor, present teacher-coach.

Slayton, who is now receiving at Traip academy $2,000, the amount offered him to come to Rochester, and who has three coaches under him to assist in the direction of Traip's athletic activities at Kittery, Me., and who is apparently pursuing his normal course of duty in a calm and pleasant atmosphere, chose to remain where he is and returned Rochester's contract unsigned. Therefore no further action on the matter can be taken until a new nomination is proposed at the June 9 meeting of the School Board.

Following last Friday's protest march of students carrying "We Want Connor" signs about the city's main streets, they returned to the high school to discover they had been barred from re-admission. Consequent conferences between parents and Headmaster Carroll W. Peavey saw several students back at their desks Monday morning. On Tuesday, parents who had not arranged for their children's return received the following communication from Supt. of Schools Arthur S. Rollins:

"On Friday, May 15, a group of high school pupils, of which (name of pupil) unfortunately was a member, failed to report for class because of a hastily organized demonstration. The pupils who participated were unwisely advised. Nevertheless their action cannot be overlooked either for their own good or the best interests of their school. They were denied reinstatement in their classes until after parents or guardians have a personal conference with the headmaster. According to my best information no such conference in the case of your child has yet taken place. It, therefore, becomes necessary to submit this memorandum, although it is done reluctantly.

"1. If pupils of compulsory school age are not in their places at 12 o'clock Thursday, May 21, 1942, their parents will be subject to court action.

"2. Pupils beyond compulsory school age and not in their places at 12 o'clock, Thursday, May 21, 1942, will be indefinitely suspended from school.

"3. All pupils absent because of the demonstration will be placed on probation for the period ending, June 5, 1942.

"4. All pupils will be required to make up double the time they were excluded from classes on May 15.

"5. All pupils will be required to make up triple time for all time lost by such exclusion after Friday, May 15.

"I earnestly request your cooperation to the end that items 1 and 2 may not become operative in the case of your child.

"Very truly yours,
"ARTHUR S. ROLLINS"

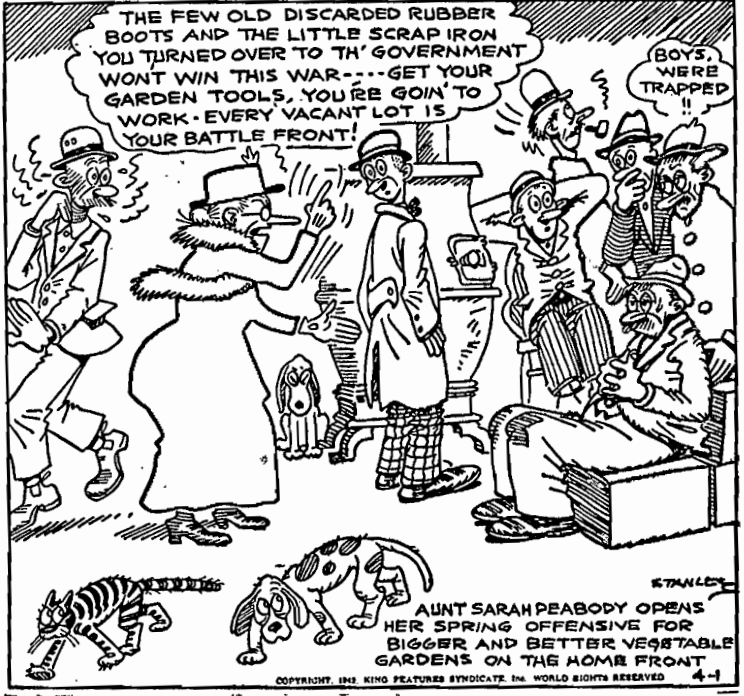

At noon time yesterday, all but eight students had returned to classes.

Coming on the heels of the above notice, was the following ultimatum concerning student punishment as drawn up by Supt. Rollins:

"All students who absented themselves from classes on Friday afternoon or participated in the demonstration are placed on probation up to and including June 5, 1942. They may not, therefore, participate in any contest, party, or other out-of-class activity of the school during this period.

"All students involved will be required to make up double the time

Since many students who happened to be out on regular lunch-hour time, but who did not participate in the demonstration, were also refused entrance to school on their return Friday afternoon, a storm of parent protest arose and it was some time before the paternal tempest was satisfactorily subdued, although a considerable group of citizens are still indignant at the treatment accorded their children by school authorities.

No Fireworks On Fourth Of July If Governor's Plea Is Complied With

If a request issued Tuesday by Gov. Robert O. Blood is complied with, there will be no shooting off of fireworks in this state on the Fourth of July this year.

Said the governor, "Under present wartime conditions the use of fire works should be eliminated as a matter of cooperation with U. S. military and civil authorities and as a matter of fire prevention, personal safety and economy." He added that money saved by not buying fireworks could be put to much better use in the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

At the May meeting of the Rochester City Council, Mayor Walter H. Wood pointed out that vendors of firecrackers, fireworks and other explosives used in the celebration of the Fourth must obtain a federal license this year under the Federal Explosives Act of Dec. 26, 1941.

Fraternities To End In Exeter

Fraternities will automatically cease to function at Phillips Exeter Academy on June 8, in compliance with a recommendation made by a special committee appointed to decide their future course, it was announced this week.

Returning students will also experience another radical change in academy life next year as they will be required to be their own chambermaids, and make their own beds. This is one of the economy moves of the school as it will dismiss all, or most all of the chambermaids, and chapel will be about 20 minutes later giving the boys time to do their chamber work.

Jeremiah Merrill

Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church, Exeter, Wednesday afternoon, for Jeremiah H. Merrill, 66, former Exeter and North Hampton resident, who died Sunday in Brattleboro, Vt. Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Olton Bennehoff of Washington, D. C.; a brother, William E. Merrill of Boston; and two sisters, Miss May Merrill of Boston and Mrs. Edward Poulin of Newton, Mass.

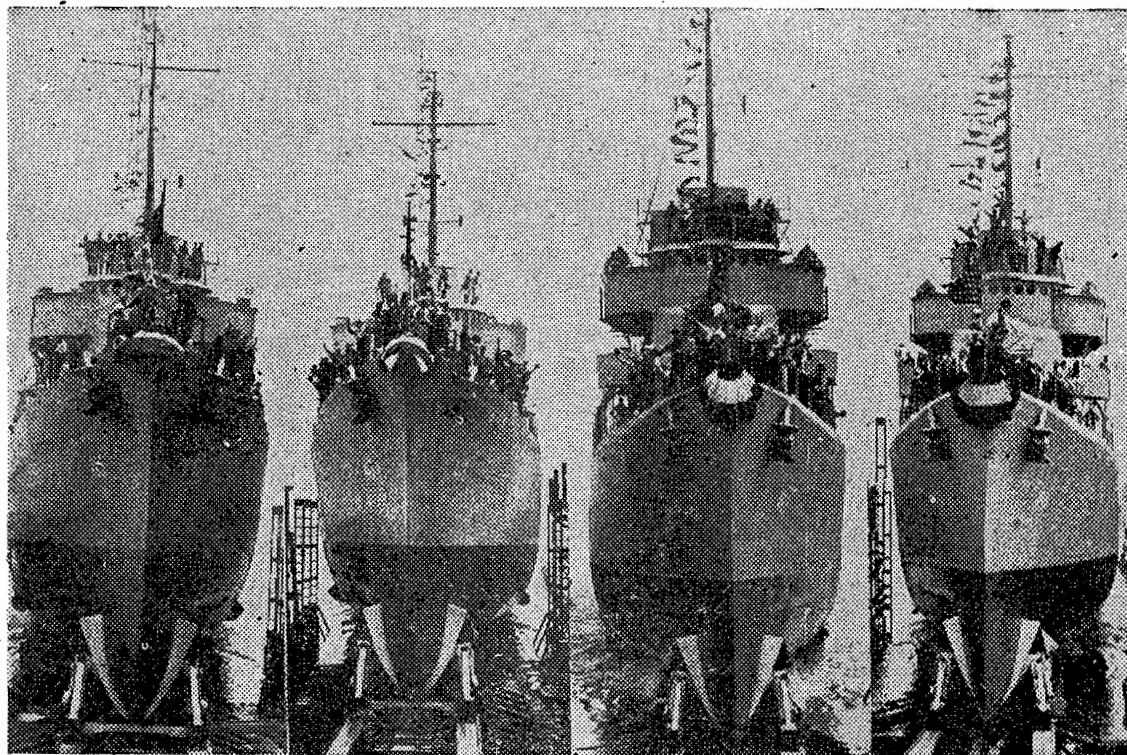

Exeter Nurse To Wed Army Officer

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Havey of 20 Brown avenue, Exeter, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice C. Havey, to Lieut. Charles Mantegani, son of Mrs. Mary Mantegani of Exeter. The wedding will be held during the summer.

Lieut. Mantegani, who enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1940 attended the Officers Candidate school in Aberdeen, Md., and received his commission as second lieutenant last January. He has recently been promoted to first lieutenant at Irie proving grounds, LaCarne, O., where he is now stationed. Miss Havey is a graduate of St. Joseph's Training school in Nashua, and for the past three years has been on the staff of the Exeter hospital.

The house at 12 Lincoln street, formerly owned by Miss Elizabeth Grounard, has been purchased by Herbert S. Barnard.

30 Vessels Go Downs Ways

Today, Friday, May 22 is National Maritime Day. 30 cargo vessels slid down the ways in American shipyards in what the Maritime Commission announced would be "the greatest mass launching of merchant ships" in modern times. As evidence of America's vast shipbuilding program, are the four new destroyers shown above which were recently launched within a 50-minute period at Kearney, N. J. The vessels are (left to right) the Fletcher, Radford, Mervine and Quick.

Crash In Epping Halts Electricity; Two Youths Hurt

Electric service was halted for nearly an hour in the western section of Epping, Sunday night, when an automobile skidded on the wet route 101 highway, crashed into a light pole and overturned, injuring two Epping youths.

The crash occurred in front of John Waugh's gasoline station and David Fecteau, who suffered a broken shoulder and minor injuries, and the car owner, Gordon Laframoise, who was shaken up, were pulled from the wreckage by Carol Bishop and Corington True, both of West Epping. Fecteau was taken to Mitchell Memorial Hospital, Brentwood.

Exeter High Loses

The Exeter high school baseball team was defeated 10-5 by Sanborn Seminary in Exeter, Wednesday. The winners kept in the lead from the start.

An unusual spectacle was witnessed on the south side of the Squamscott River, Monday, when a flock of wild geese halted in their northward flight and remained there for considerable time.

The Rev. Dr. J. Seelye Bixler, president-elect of Colby College, spoke on "William James and Religious Thinker" at the season's final meeting of the ministers of Exeter and vicinity in the Congregational Church.

G. C. BUMFORD

SPECIALIZING IN A
SPECIALIZED SERVICE

Hand and Power Lawn Mowers
Overhauled, Repaired and Sharpened

It is a conviction of people who appreciate that person engaged in a particular line of work that he offers the best of service in that given line. This is true whether it be the doctor or the mechanic. It is this type of service that G. C. Bumford, located at 10 Chestnut street, in Dover, phone 1507-W offers. To entrust work of 'this nature in the hands of others is not the part of WISDOM.

Poor mechanics are by no means the exception. The lowest priced lawnmower represents an investment. They are not by any means inexpensive. Now when it comes to the servicing of them—even the smallest adjustment it really does not pay to just let ANYBODY do this work. A good working lawnmower does a better job with much less energy.

A period checkup of your lawnmower is especially urged at this time—Spring is here—you'll be using it—you'll want to do a good job—then it may need a new part—get it NOW!
