

Letters to the Editor

Dover, N. H.
February 20, 1960

The Editor
Newmarket Times
Newmarket, N. H.

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter primarily to correct an injustice to one of your leading citizens; Mr. Robert LaBranche.

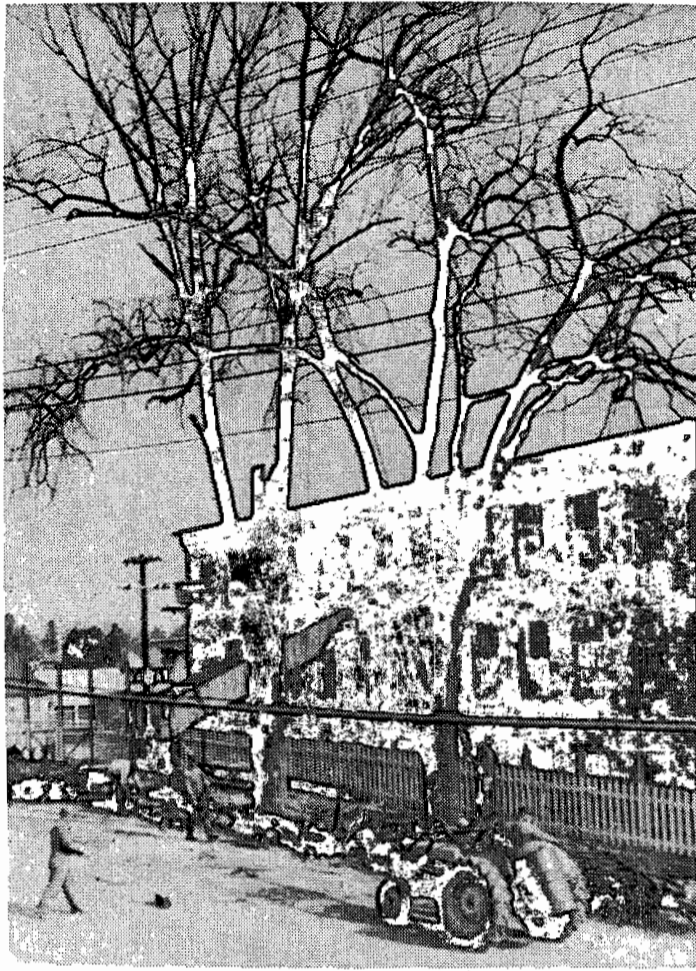

In our discussions concerning the opening of a coin operated amusement center in Newmarket Mr. LaBranche was concerned for the welfare of young people in Newmarket. He felt that the answer to rising juvenile delinquency lay in providing a safety valve for youthful energies. He believed that a place conspicuously located in the center of town, at all times accessible to parents would be exactly what the name implied — an amusement center.

He wanted the place to be well lighted with no cubby holes or secluded corners, no booths or chairs to encourage loafing, no beverages stronger than coco-cola, and no gambling devices. Every one of these requirements was met. There was nothing underhanded in this amusement center.

Mr. LaBranche should be commended for doing something about delinquency.

Concerning myself, I am a leaser of coin operated equipment and by implication have become maligned by letters published in your paper. I would like to make the following observations: (1) both the State and Federal governments have clearly defined what types of games are for amusement and recreation and the machines placed in Newmarket pass these requirements, (2) a coin operated bowling alley, stereophonic music equipment, amusement-type pin ball machines can by themselves create no environment. Management creates that. Responsible management along with an alert public can make any medium of recreation clean and wholesome. I believe as surely as you drive any legitimate source of recreation out of business you will create the atmosphere

OLD ELM TREES REMOVED

Seen above is the last picture to be taken of a scene that will never again be seen as these stately elms fall to the sound of the saw. Time has taken its toll, as these elms had rotted to a point where they were termed unsafe and a possible danger to pedestrians and traffic. Shown removing the second of three trees is the town crew under the able direction of Dick Walker, superintendent.

in which your racketeer thrives. Surely, prohibition taught us that!

There is the ever present problem of most towns and cities today of providing a good education for its children with den for property owners; then its resulting high financial burden for property owners; then after carrying this burden see the spectacle of young people living for the day when they can leave for the big city where they can find the entertainment they want. It is a rare community that can afford good education and still find the revenue to provide recreation. Those that do, sometimes find that adult planned recreation programs or facilities fail to interest their young people. It is difficult to convince a young person of the unsuitability of playing miniature pool or shuffle boards or other amusement equipment when the present mark of success among business and professional people is the joining of clubs whose principal endeavor is the pursuit of a little white ball around large abandoned farms. As for an empty store on a main street being less of an eyesore than a recreation center filled with happy people I believe this to be debatable.

The establishment of any business enterprise carries the inherent financial risk that the product which it sells, or services that it renders will not meet the approval of the public. This is as it should be. However when hysterical and pre-formed judgments (perhaps applicable to our major cities in which racketeers and other undesirable characters manage to control certain industries) are the basis for an individual or group to suffer a major financial loss than I say that this is unjust and contrary to all that Americans hold dear.

It is my intention at the writing of this letter to discuss with Mr. LaBranche my complete ownership and management of the amusement center. If this can be arranged I hope for the good will and patronage of the people of Newmarket.

Yours truly,
Donald Cochrane

Girl Scout Troop To Organize Soon

At the Girl Scout organizational meeting held last Thursday at the Legion Hall Mrs. Joyce Beirsto and Mrs. Barbara Myers of the Swiftwater council spoke of the purposes of the scouting movement to the local women in attendance.

A troop will soon be organized with Miss Shirley Varney as leader and Mrs. Doris Winn as assistant leader. Thirty-six Newmarket girls from grades 5 to 8 have expressed their eagerness to be Girl Scouts. These girls are requested to attend the first meeting to be held Tuesday

Budget Hearing Well Attended

The Public Budget Hearing was held Wednesday night in the Town Hall instead of the Town Police court room because of the large attendance of taxpayers. It was the largest turnout ever at this meeting.

Principal items inviting discussion were the playground appropriation of $2000 which currently includes $300 for the Little League.

The fact was revealed that a new ruling permits trust funds to be used, unless otherwise specified, for general maintenance and upkeep for the Riverside cemetery.

Additional discussion was centered around reducing the 1959 deficit of $11,500. Selectmen recommended using the method suggested by the state auditors which was that of reserving the sum of $3,500 for the next 3 years to eliminate the deficit. This amount might be automatically cancelled by any surplus accrued during the next fiscal year.

The Newmarket School District Budget was read. This remained fairly stable with an increase of approximately $5,200; $4,200 of this being devoted to an increase in teachers salaries and $1,000 marked for use at the Stone School to improve the grounds, either by grading or the addition of a retaining wall and whatever other improvements will be most economical from a long range point of view. Mr. Kenneth Varney, school board member, explained that a question will be inserted in the school warrant to determine the general opinion of the voters regarding the organization of a cooperative school. He explained explicitly that this article does not empower the school board to proceed with such action, but merely requests the voters to signify their willingness to participate.

THREE-WAY BATTLE LOOMS IN FIGHT FOR SELECTMAN POST

Three local men have registered as candidates for Selectman at the Democratic Caucus next Monday, Feb. 29.

Albert W. Caswell Sr., known by most people as "Bud", is a life-long resident of Newmarket and is running independently for the nomination. He feels that the budget committee should function in the manner for which it is designed. Caswell plans no sweeping reforms but is concerned with the manner in which the tax dollar is spent and wants to give the town fair return for its' tax dollar.

Caswell is retired and has the best interests of the town at heart. He has been a member of the Newmarket Fire department for 37 years, nine of which was spent as fire chief. During his term of office, the fire department began working with other town agencies, and the department acquired the Chevrolet tank truck, the base station and 2-way radios were installed during his term of office.

Caswell is a retired mail carrier and holds membership in the Polish-American Citizens Club.

A second candidate for the nomination is Clinton D. Haley. He is a life-long resident of Newmarket and is retired from the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Mr. Haley announced his candidacy in the January 17 issue of The Newmarket Times and has actively campaigned since that date.

He feels campaign promises are often impossible to fulfill, but intends to increase the efficiency of town government if nominated.

The third candidate for the nomination is Harold A. Mastin. Following is a letter written by Mr. Mastin concerning his candidacy:

"After personal conversation with voters of Newmarket for the last month, I will try to sum up briefly what some of the voters feel.

"We should have harmony on our Board of Selectmen to get the best results for our Town affairs of which we are not getting up to date.

"We should take more interest in our budget committee and help them make wise decisions.

"We should sell all unused properties at Public Auction so as to raise all the funds possible and to cut all expenses on this property not in use.

"With our new revalued tax list, we must save every dollar possible in order to help keep down any possible raise in our property taxes.

"And that the Selectmen should report to the voters of the town what is going on more than the waiting for the Town Report to come out.

"This is written by a voter and candidate."

Each of these men has one thing in common — all have the time to devote to performing the duties of selectman.

The Governor Wentworth Gun

This gun is one of the collection of Andrew Gordon.

There were 3 members of the Wentworth family, all men of ability, who were appointed by the King as Governors of the Colony of New Hampshire. These were John, Benning his son, and John his nephew. It is the last who owned the Governor Wentworth gun.

The gun was originally a flint-lock, of course. It came into the possession of the Robinson family in this manner. In 1776 the last Governor, John, who owned it, had to clear out and leave most of his possessions behind him, including the Wentworth gun, because the patriots of Portsmouth Square no longer could tolerate a Governor that owed his appointment to King George the Third. So, one night, Governor John was rowed out to a British man-of-war in the lower harbor and eventually reached England.

New Hampshire was changed from a colony of Great Britain to a state. A new government was quickly set up in Portsmouth Square, and it quickly ordered all of Governor Wentworth's possessions sold at auction, which was done in 1776.

Among those who attended this sale was a great uncle of my grandfather Robinson. He made a bid for the gun, and obtained it. Later he settled in York, Maine. During visits at his uncle's house in York, my grandfather Robinson saw and admired the long-barreled gun and longed to own it. This happiness was complete when he received a letter from this uncle saying that he could have the gun if he would come to York and get it. He was then about 17 years old. He told me about sculling a log float across Great Bay to the Newington shore, and the long walk to his uncle's house in York and the trip back with the precious Wentworth gun.

This was about 1835. He attempted to modernize the gun to that time by ripping off the flint-lock and sawing 4 inches off the barrel. My great uncle, George Robinson of Newfields said the gun was a success in shooting game on Great Bay. It would carry far.

DOUBLE BARREL 6 GAUGE MUZZLE LOADING SHOT GUN

Pictured above is Andrew Gordon, holding a gun from his collection. The gun is a fine example of early American Craftmanship. It is fitted with fine Dolphin Hammers with extra heavy side locks. This gun, originally, was made for John Winnacutt who lived in Greenland, N. H. He owned and operated a combination powder and grist mill in the town of Greenland on the banks of the river which today carries his name. The gun had many owners but being a big bore gun, and very heavy, it has not been used too much and has weathered its 142 years well.

It is probably older than the date 1776, since we do not know who owned it before that date. I am inclined to believe it is older.

Stamp Collectors News

by Mrs. Ione Kent

Each country has its own ideas of subjects on stamps and its own way of issuing the same.

The U.S. stands out from other countries on one important ruling — we do not use pictures of living people on our stamps — not even our Presidents. (Example: Herbert Hoover's picture has not been on a stamp and yet Franklin D. Roosevelt, a later president, has been depicted on a set of stamps).

Great Britain's stamps center around the portrait of the ruling King or Queen. The British Colonies have the rulers portrait on some part of each along with pictures of local interest. The larger part of the Netherland stamps picture their Queen. They not only use living people, they offer have the same picture on all their regular stamps. We have our Presidential Series for regular stamps but each value portrays a different person — none of whom are living. Some people have been used as models, but their faces have been changed.

The Credo Stamps have a new and unique format for our country. They are to remind us of the wisdom of our past leaders and to let the world know about our ideals. These stamps are worth saving for their subject matter and for their value among stamps.

Has anyone the 4c Washington Credo with the Plate number 26489? The government did not intend to have any stamps printed from that plate. Evidently it was used. They have been bought in Boston and some suburbs in Mass., in Ohio and in Maine. Did N. H. sell any? Their scarcity increases their value.

The Third New Hampshire District held their monthly meeting with the Epping Post last Friday night. Although the weather was bad, a quota of Posts attended.

From the membership roundup, it was found that to date the District had 2,870 members or about 85% of their quota. In the last report from Department we were second in percentage standing and had the largest number of paid up members of any of the eight districts of the Department. Seven of the seventeen posts were over 100%.

The next District meeting will be held with the Milton Post on the 22nd of the month.

The Third New Hampshire District Degree Team will put on the work in Dover on the 20th of March and at Loudon on the 10th of April.

The Installing Officers will hold a rehearsal on Sunday, March 6 at the Newmarket A.L. Hall and to start promptly at 2:30 p.m. Following are the list of Installations as assigned to date.

The Robert G. Durgin Shuffle Board Team is getting into shape after a weeks practice and lost a challenge game with the Newmarket Polish Club, 4-2. Not bad, considering we have just started and the P.C. have been playing at least a month.

We have about 75% of our membership in. How about it fellows — let's get the dues in and become the eighth Post with 100% in the District. The next meeting will be Mon., Mar. 7 and the 50/50 Club awards will be made that night.

Lee Congregational Church Lee Hill 4-H News

A meeting of the Lee Church last Monday evening was held at the Lee Vestry to act on a four article warrant. It was voted to offer for sale to the town the land on which the fire station rests and another parcel of land for a library should the town vote to have one. Mr. Thomas Brown was elected as chairman of the new building committee and authorized to appoint his own members. The article to erect a Sunday School addition was tabled until the building committee could investigate costs and present recommendations to the church for approval. The trustees were authorized to purchase a course given by the Congregational Christian Conference in house-to-house canvassing methods.

The Inter-Church Council met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jennison in Madbury on Feb. 19.

Seventh Grade Science Students Explain Balloon Launching To Club

The Newmarket Woman's Club held its regular meeting in the vestry of the Community Church recently. The club voted to donate $5 to the Lamprey Aerie Eagles to help defray the expense of its recent children's party, and also welcomed a new member, Mrs. Martha Elliott.

Mrs. Betty Philbrick introduced Daniel Antonopolos of the high school teaching staff and three of his 7th grade science students, who had been responsible for the preparation of the gondola and equipment of Project X-Y, the release of an 8-ft. helium filled balloon. James Grochmal, John Carpenter and Leo Geoffrion displayed photographs taken during the initial preparations, others of the launching, the captive balloon and gondola and the picture of the terraine near the high school which was taken by the gondola camera while aloft and which was the focal point of the display. Each of the three students explained the phase of the project which had been his responsibility.

Arthur Beauchesne of the Newmarket Planning Board explained the town warrant and illustrated the manner in which a planning board can function efficiently in regard to proposed area developments. Beauchesne also spoke of the map of the town accepted recently by the Planning Board, which will soon be available to the general public at cost.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Norma Otash, Mrs. Mary Hodsdon, Mrs. Mary Labranche, Mrs. Theresa Walker, Mrs. Mildred Rooney, Mrs. Rose Dondero and Mrs. Theresa Mullen.

News From St. Mary's School

Grade One

Nearly all of us are now acquainted with Our New Friends in Reading.

Among related activities we have been practicing how to give complete answers and how to write them.

Some time was given to preparing, signing, addressing and distributing Valentines to our classmates.

Grade Two

The second graders were very busy these past two weeks preparing for the third marking period, anticipating a fairly good report card. Due to so much sickness, they may not have done as well as in the past, but the marks are still very encouraging.

Grade Three

Many in our class are also absent with current illness. We hope that all will return after this vacation.

Much work and interest is found in table matches. We know them very well now and therefore can enjoy our problem and workbook studies so much more.

We are now ready for Third Term report cards.

Grade Four

The boys are really defeating the girls team with the matches in the different subjects this week. But the girls are convinced they will catch up when we start again in March.

With the marking period coming soon, the boys and girls prepared an attractive cover for their tests. Many are anxious to take these home and show their progress while others promise to do better in the future.

Grade Five

Science Activity by Paul Ducharme and David Ledgere.

During the past two weeks, the 5th grade has been studying meteorology. Patrick Lavoie conducted some experiments to measure air pressure. Paul Ducharme made some experimental weather instruments. Barbara Wojnowski made a weather chart on which some children tried to make some forecasts.

Some of the instruments are: the anemometer, weather vane, barometer, hygrometer and rain gauge. The purpose of the anemometer is to measure the speed and pressure of the wind. The weather vane tells which way the wind is blowing. The barometer measures the wind pressure from 32° to 0°. The hygrometer will tell if the air is moist or dry. The rain gauge tells how much rain has fallen.

So far these experiments have been successful and we plan to use these instruments again.

Grade Six

Robert Loiselle is our champion in French.

The following pupils made the Honor Roll in Mid-Term exams:

Religion: Louis Turcotte, Alfred Poliquin, Anne Baillargeon, Robert Loiselle.

English: Robert Loiselle, Anne Baillargeon, Lionel Arsenault, Louis Turcotte, Nancy Pease.

Arithmetic: Douglas Pratte, Robert Loiselle, William Lebranche, Alfred Poliquin.

Reading: Douglas Pratte, Robert Loiselle, Claudia Mardoux, Nancy Demers, Anne aillargeon, Louis Turcotte, Edward Pelczar, Robert Gazda.

Science: Lionel Arsenault, Louis Turcotte, Alfred Poliquin, Nancy Demers, Craig Grochmal.

Grade Seven

Thursday, the 28th of January we had a table match the third graders on multiplication factors. Since they outnumbered us we figured the score by percentage. It came 90% to 72% in our favor. But the youngsters tried very hard and were very good sports.

We enjoyed rivaling them and wish them good luck for they are promising for the future.

A JOURNAL AND A STAGE COACH STORY

Rev. Sullivan Cicero Kimball was born in Hopkinton July 21, and died in March, 1924, at the old home place which belonged to the Kimball family for many years. Rev. Kimball was the proud possessor of a Coat of Arms, proving that he was a direct descendant of Godfrey de Boulyn. The first Kimball to come to this country, from England, was Richard Kimball in 1634. He died June 2, 1675.

The old home has been in the family for many generations. Rev. Kimball's grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kimball, are now residing there. The home is in Durham Point. It is a very pretty place, surrounded by green fields, and beautiful trees. His great grand child, and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dowe, resided there for a while with their children, which were the eighth generation.

Rev. Kimball was a fine scholar. Among the papers in his journal is a copy of a letter written in Latin to one of his college friends. He attended college, and studied for the ministry. He preached his first sermon at the Congregational church in North Weare, N. H., Jan. 17, 1864. The text was from Luke 15:17. He was the pastor in Newmarket Baptist Church from Aug. 1867 to Mar. 1869. While here he baptized many converts, as is told in his journal of Baptisms, marriages and deaths. Baptisms Feb. 9, 1868, Plummer H. Day, aged 24; Chauncey Cheswell, 16; Adie Harvey, 9 years; Alburn Leroy Willey, aged 15 years; William E. Harvey, 14 years; Chas. W. Chapman, aged 10; Carrie M. Bennett, 17; Fannie Bunker, 18; Fannie Durell, aged 35; Susan Clay, 30; Andrew Thompson, 32; Lizzie Tuttle, 45; Sarah Thompson, 17; Clara Doe, 55; Martha Folsom, 4.

August 2, 1868: Abbie Watson, aged 14; Fannie C. Thompson, age 23. October 4, 1869: Hattie B. Sawyer, 18 years.

Rev. Kimball joined many in marriage and officiated at many funerals.

Stage Coach Story

During stagecoach days my great grandfather, Isaac Furber, was the proprietor of the Newmarket House, which used to stand where Turcotte's parking lot now is. "Ike" was a very patriotic man. It was near Town Meeting Day, and the Democrats wished very much to put a certain man in office and were asking everyone to vote for him. They even got some of the Republicans to vote for him. Some one who had been in the town only long enough to vote, suggested that Ike be approached and offer him some money.

They therefore sent someone to do the job. Ike listened to their proposals, getting madder and madder. Finally he said, "You miserable skunk, are you asking me to sell my vote?" He told the man to get out, in no uncertain terms and followed him up to see if he went — and the language — it was far from elevating, but he went!

Whenever there was a meeting of any kind, such as a bank directors meeting or a meeting of the Town's officials, they always went to Ike's. The meetings were generally held in the morning and Ike served dinner at noon. We are told he set a very fine table.

The stage coach drivers often had dinner with Ike.

The stage for Dover left the office at four o'clock each day, connecting with the stage for Portland and towns along the route east. The stage for Boston started from the Newmarket House at 8 a.m. each Monday, going by way of Lowell; Wednesday by way of Haverhill and Friday by way of Newburport.

The first stop was at Stinson's — not to change horses but for the convenience of passengers who felt the need of a "bracer" to give them strength for the long ride.

A day "Call Book" was kept at the stage line office in Newmarket in the years 1839 to 1841. In this Call Book strangers are listed as "Gents" and "Ladies", but residents are easily identified.

As an example . . . "One seat for Major Seth Walker at the counting room; one seat at John Speed's near the woods, Benjamin Carter for Lowell, Dr. Priest for Dover, one seat at Churchill and Folsom's store. George Horn at the Old Ark."

The Mules, who were champs last year, won't even get a chance at the tourney this year as they got beat by Woodsville last Saturday night, 44-35. The game started with the Mules taking the lead, but this was short-lived as the Engineers tied it at the end of the first quarter 9-9. This Woodsville team didn't seem to have much as the star player Campbell bell wasn't doing anything. Then in the second quarter the Mules put on a show to out-score their opponents, 10-3 at the half and lead 19-12. It looked as though the Mules would get a victory as the Engineers were not really rolling. Then after a rest, the green came out and ran circles around the red and started to look a little like a ball club. The Mules seemed to give up in this quarter as they were outscored 18-8 and were behind by three. This didn't seem to bother the Mules as they came out fighting but were again outscored by 14-8 and thus went down to defeat in the hands of Woodsville, 44-35.

GIRLS 8-2 FOR SEASON

The Newmarket High girls basketball team had little trouble in taking another victory to boost their record to 8 wins and 2 loses for the season. This was one of the best records the girls have had in a number of year and it looks as though they may repeat next year.

The game started with Grochmal and Griswold taking the lead as they both scored 7 apiece and Kleczek got 2. The girls now led 16-7 and it looked as though they were off to another fast start as they kept building their lead throughout the next quarter and at this point, Grochmal took over for the red with 10 points while Griswold and Kleczek got 7 and 1 to put the Mules up to a 34-20 lead at halftime. The next quarter, the girls took over again as the subs went in for N.H.E., excepting Grochmal. Joyce took over again as she racked up 17 big points in the third quarter while Sharples got 3 and Albee and Melendy got 1 each. The lassies were way ahead now as they led 55-33 after out-scoring the yellow 21-2. The final period didn't last long as all of Nute's squad fouled out.

At the shuffleboard tournament, held last Monday night at the Eagles Hall, winner of the first game was the Eagles, with a score of 21-25; 2nd game won by the Polish Club, 21-12; 3rd game by Eagles, 21-18; 4th game by Polish Club 21-13; 5th game P.C., 21-20 and in the 6th game, the Eagles soundly beat the Polish Club by a score of 21-0.

High scorers for the Eagles was a triple tie with Kenneth White, Jr., John Schanda and Bob Audette with 14 points each. High scorer for the P.C. was Jack Haley, 15 points and 2nd Ted Allen, Jr., with 13.

The next game in the series will be played Mon., Feb. 29 at the Polish club. The P.C. won the unscheduled challenge game on the new Legion court by a two-game advantage. A return match will be played at the Polish club.

The heavy deep snows which may have skipped our southern section did not miss the northern deer covers. Up to 36 inches of snow has measured up around Twin Mt. and Pinkham Notch. This could spell a lot of trouble for our northern deer herds. This new snow brings the total up to around four and one-half feet.

The moist snow combined with the following cold snap formed a thick crust. As we all know the deer cannot travel on crust as they punch through. The crust will generally support wild cats and dogs which will raise all kinds of heck with the younger deer. Of course this usually happens every year but we also lose 4 or 5 hundred deer to cats, dogs and starvation. If tying up one dog would save only one deer all the words written on the dangers of deer running dogs would not be wasted.

Our southern herd has had a fair winter. Not too much snow and no real cold weather. Keep your fingers crossed for the next three weeks for if the weather holds out we can look for a better deer and bird season.

Salt water regulations found in the new salt water law book.

If you are being overhauled by a game warden do not throw anything over the side of the boat because it is an automatic $100 fine or 60 days in the pokey or both if the judge is unhappy. The reason being that the warden may think you just got rid of a few short lobsters which must be over 3 and one-eighth inches from the rear of the eye socket to the rear of the lobster shell or strippers which must be 16 inches long or longer.

No more digging clams with any tool except a standard flat tined clam digger which is usually known as an Ipswich clam fork.

Last Friday I received a letter from Fred Harvey, former local boy, who is stationed in North Carolina and he writes that he receives the Newmarket Times and being interested in hunting he remarked on the southern style of deer hunting. In South Carolina the deer hunters use dogs to run the deer to the hunter. He commented that a northern hunter finds this type of hunting rubs him the wrong way. I find the idea of using dogs to run deer is distasteful myself. Fred and I both agree that we would not enjoy this variation of a fine sport.

The gale winds of last Friday dumped a good many smelt shacks into the bay and also opened up the bay all the way from Pound Rock to Portsmouth. It looks like the eel spearing is finished for the year. The smelts should be running up the river in a few more weeks. Good old Great Bay smelts, the best tasting fish in the ocean.

Letters to the Editor

Dover, N. H.
February 20, 1960

The Editor
Newmarket Times
Newmarket, N. H.
Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter primarily to correct an injustice to one of your leading citizens; Mr. Robert LaBranche.

In our discussions concerning the opening of a coin operated amusement center in Newmarket Mr. LaBranche was concerned for the welfare of young people in Newmarket. He felt that the answer to rising juvenile delinquency lay in providing a safety valve for youthful energies. He believed that a place conspicuously located in the center of town, at all times accessible to parents would be exactly what the name implied — an amusement center.

He wanted the place to be well lighted with no cubby holes or secluded corners, no booths or chairs to encourage loafing, no beverages stronger than coco-cola, and no gambling devices. Every one of these requirements was met. There was nothing underhanded in this amusement center.

Mr. LaBranche should be commended for doing something about delinquency.

Concerning myself, I am a leaser of coin operated equipment and by implication have become maligned by letters published in your paper. I would like to make the following observations: (1) both the State and Federal governments have clearly defined what types of games are for amusement and recreation and the machines placed in Newmarket pass these requirements, (2) a coin operated bowling alley, stereophonic music equipment, amusement-type pin ball machines can by themselves create no environment. Management creates that. Responsible management along with an alert public can make any medium of recreation clean and wholesome. I believe as surely as you drive any legitimate source of recreation out of business you will create the atmosphere

Seen above is the last picture to be taken of a scene that will never again be seen as these stately elms fall to the sound of the saw. Time has taken its toll, as these elms had rotted to a point where they were termed unsafe and a possible danger to pedestrians and traffic. Shown removing the second of three trees is the town crew under the able direction of Dick Walker, superintendent.

Budget Hearing Well Attended

The Public Budget Hearing was held Wednesday night in the Town Hall instead of the police court room because of the large attendance of taxpayers. It was the largest turnout ever at this meeting.

Principal items inviting discussion were the playground appropriation of $2000 which currently includes $300 for the Little League.

The fact was revealed that a new ruling permits trust funds to be used, unless otherwise specified, for general maintenance and upkeep for the Riverside cemetery.

Additional discussion was centered around reducing the 1959 deficit of $11,500. Selectmen recommended using the method suggested by the state auditors which was that of reserving the sum of $3,500 for the next 3 years to eliminate the deficit. This amount might be automatically cancelled by any surplus accrued during the next fiscal year.

The Newmarket School District Budget was read. This remained fairly stable with an increase of approximately $5,200; $4,200 of this being devoted to an increase in teachers salaries and $1,000 marked for use at the Stone School to improve the grounds, either by grading or the addition of a retaining wall and whatever other improvements will be most economical from a long range point of view. Mr. Kenneth Varney, school board member, explained that a question will be inserted in the school warrant to determine the general opinion of the voters regarding the organization of a cooperative school. He explained explicitly that this article does not empower the school board to proceed with such action, but merely requests the voters to signify their willingness to participate.

THREE-WAY BATTLE LOOMS IN FIGHT FOR SELECTMAN POST

Three local men have registered as candidates for Selectman at the Democratic Caucus next Monday, Feb. 29.

Albert W. Caswell Sr., known by most people as "Bud", is a life-long resident of Newmarket and is running independently for the nomination. He feels that the budget committee should function in the manner for which it is designed. Caswell plans no sweeping reforms but is concerned with the manner in which the tax dollar is spent and wants to give the town fair return for its' tax dollar.

Caswell is retired and has the best interests of the town at heart. He has been a member of the Newmarket Fire department for 37 years, nine of which was spent as fire chief. During his term of office, the fire department began working with other town agencies, and the department acquired the Chevrolet tank truck, the base station and 2-way radios were installed during his term of office.

Caswell is a retired mail carrier and holds membership in the Polish-American Citizens Club.

A second candidate for the nomination is Clinton D. Haley. He is a life-long resident of Newmarket and is retired from the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Mr. Haley announced his candidacy in the January 17 issue of The Newmarket Times and has actively campaigned since that date.

He feels campaign promises are often impossible to fulfill, but intends to increase the efficiency of town government if nominated.

The third candidate for the nomination is Harold A. Mastin. Following is a letter written by Mr. Mastin concerning his candidacy:

"After personal conversation with voters of Newmarket for the last month, I will try to sum up briefly what some of the voters feel.

"We should have harmony on our Board of Selectmen to get the best results for our Town affairs of which we are not getting up to date.

"We should take more interest in our budget committee and help them make wise decisions.

"We should sell all unused properties at Public Auction so as to raise all the funds possible and to cut all expenses on this property not in use.

"With our new revalued tax list, we must save every dollar possible in order to help keep down any possible raise in our property taxes.

"And that the Selectmen should report to the voters of the town what is going on more than the waiting for the Town Report to come out.

"This is written by a voter and candidate."

in which your racketeer thrives. Surely prohibition taught us that!

There is the ever present problem of most towns and cities today of providing a good education for its children with den for property owners; then its resulting high financial burden for property owners; then after carrying this burden see the spectacle of young people living for the day when they can leave for the big city where they can find the entertainment they want. It is a rare community that can afford good education and still find the revenue to provide recreation. Those that do, sometimes find that adult planned recreation programs or facilities fail to interest their young people. It is difficult to convince a young person of the unsuitability of playing miniature pool or shuffle boards or other amusement equipment when the present mark of success among business and professional people is the joining of clubs whose principal endeavor is the pursuit of a little white ball around large abandoned farms. As for an empty store on a main street being less of an eyesore than a recreation center filled with happy people I believe this to be debatable.

The establishment of any business enterprise carries the inherent financial risk that the product which it sells, or services that it renders will not meet the approval of the public. This is as it should be. However when hysterical and pre-formed judgments (perhaps applicable to our major cities in which racketeers and other undesirable characters manage to control certain industries) are the basis for an individual or group to suffer a major financial loss than I say that this is unjust and contrary to all that Americans hold dear.

It is my intention at the writing of this letter to discuss with Mr. LaBranche my complete ownership and management of the amusement center. If this can be arranged I hope for the good will and patronage of the people of Newmarket.

Yours truly,
Donald Cochrane

The Governor Wentworth Gun

This gun is one of the collection of Andrew Gordon.

There were 3 members of the Wentworth family, all men of ability, who were appointed by the King as Governors of the Colony of New Hampshire. These were John, Benning his son, and John his nephew. It is the last who owned the Governor Wentworth gun.

The gun was originally a flint-lock, of course. It came into the possession of the Robinson family in this manner. In 1776 the last Governor, John, who owned it, had to clear out and leave most of his possessions behind him, including the Wentworth gun, because the patriots of Portsmouth Square no longer could tolerate a Governor that owed his appointment to King George the Third. So, one night, Governor John was rowed out to a British man-of-war in the lower harbor and eventually reached England.

New Hampshire was changed from a colony of Great Britain to a state. A new government was quickly set up in Portsmouth Square, and it quickly ordered all of Governor Wentworth's possessions sold at auction, which was done in 1776.

Among those who attended this sale was a great uncle of my grandfather Robinson. He made a bid for the gun, and obtained it. Later he settled in York, Maine. During visits at his uncle's house in York, my grandfather Robinson saw and admired the long-barreled gun and longed to own it. This happiness was complete when he received a letter from this uncle saying that he could have the gun if he would come to York and get it. He was then about 17 years old. He told me about sculling a log float across Great Bay to the Newington shore, and the long walk to his uncle's house in York and the trip back with the precious Wentworth gun.

This was about 1835. He attempted to modernize the gun to that time by ripping off the flint-lock and sawing 4 inches off the barrel. My great uncle, George Robinson of Newfields said the gun was a success in shooting game on Great Bay. It would carry far.

DOUBLE BARREL 6 GAUGE MUZZLE LOADING SHOT GUN

Pictured above is Andrew Gordon, holding a gun from his collection. The gun is a fine example of early American Craftmanship. It is fitted with fine Dolphin Hammers with extra heavy side locks. This gun, originally, was made for John Winnacutt who lived in Greenland, N. H. He owned and operated a combination powder and grist mill in the town of Greenland on the banks of the river which today carries his name. The gun had many owners but being a big bore gun, and very heavy, it has not been used too much and has weathered its 142 years well.

The gun is a 6 bore, and uses 1/4 lb. of shot in each barrel, 15 drams of black powder produced a good solid thump and the gun weighs 20 pounds. The overall length is 5 feet, 9 inches.

It is probably older than the date 1776, since we do not know who owned it before that date. I am inclined to believe it is older.

Stamp Collectors News

by Mrs. Ione Kent

Each country has its own ideas of subjects on stamps and its own way of issuing the same.

The U.S. stands out from other countries on one important ruling — we do not use pictures of living people on our stamps — not even our Presidents. (Example: Herbert Hoover's picture has not been on a stamp and yet Franklin D. Roosevelt, a later president, has been depicted on a set of stamps).

Great Britain's stamps center around the portrait of the ruling King or Queen. The British Colonies have the rulers portrait on some part of each along with pictures of local interest. The larger part of the Netherland stamps picture their Queen. They not only use living people, they offer have the same picture on all their regular stamps. We have our Presidential Series for regular stamps but each value portrays a different person — none of whom are living. Some people have been used as models, but their faces have been changed.

The Credo Stamps have a new and unique format for our country. They are to remind us of the wisdom of our past leaders and to let the world know about our ideals. These stamps are worth saving for their subject matter and for their value among stamps.

Has anyone the 4c Washington Credo with the Plate number 26489? The government did not intend to have any stamps printed from that plate. Evidently it was used. They have been bought in Boston and some suburbs in Mass., in Ohio and in Maine. Did N. H. sell any? Their scarcity increases their value.

U.S. Stamp notice:

March 7th 4c and 8c Thomas G. Masaryk. Champion of Liberty Series at Washington, D. C.

March 23rd 4c American Credo, Benjamin Franklin at Philadelphia, Pa.

April 7th 4c World Refugee Year at Washington, D. C.

United Nations Notice:

February 29th 4c and 8c "Buildings".
