26 Receive Shots At Child Clinic

The second in the series of Immunization Clinics given by the N. H. Public Health Department and sponsored by the Civics Department was held recently at the fire house. Dr. Gerald B. Shattuck was attending physician assisted by Barbara Doody, RN, public health nurse and Mrs. Norma Jarosz, school nurse.

Twenty-six local children received immunizations. Parents of children who missed shots in the triple-toxoid or polio series are urged to have their own physician give an immunization shot. Any interruption in the series will mean the child may have to begin again.

Mrs. Tillie Gazda, Mrs. Velma

Szacik and Mrs. Betty Philbrick assisted with registration and processing.

The next clinic in the series will be held at 9:30 at the fire house on May 17.

Central School Registrations To Be Held May 10

Registration for all children who will enter the first grade at the Central School in September, 1960, will be held at the fire station, May 10, 1960 at 9:30 a.m. Dr. Irving Brown, Jr., will be the attending physician. Vaccinations will be given on request as well as physical examinations.

All children must be 6 years of age before Jan. 1, 1961, and must have been vaccinated before school begins.

Parents are asked to please bring children's birth and vaccination certificates. If you have any questions, please feel free to call Mrs. Norma Jarosz, R.N., school nurse.

N.F.D. Responds To Shed Fire

The Newmarket Fire Department responded to box 65 at the corner of Main street and Dame road, Wednesday, May 4.

A small building at the rear of a tenement home owned by Mrs. Helen Silver was destroyed. Sparks from an incinerator ignited the shed and spread to a 50 gallon oil drum. The blaze was quickly brought under control.

At the critique meeting held following local participation in Operation Alert 1960, Civil Defense Director George Hauschel stated that the operation was nearly 100 per cent perfect. Cooperation from town agencies, schools and general public in Newmarket was the best, he said.

The alert climaxed a week of preparation by Hauschel and Edward Tourigny, co-director.

In preparation for the afternoon alert, Tidoe Beaulieu and Bill Cote of the Auxiliary Police, serving as ambassadors for Hauschel, visited all local schools and explained details necessary for cooperation and left CD literature for each pupil to bring home.

The Yellow alert was sounded at 2 p.m. when all radio and TV stations ceased operation and the Conelrad network began its function until 2:30 p.m. All units responded when the mobilization alarm was sounded and remained in readiness until the Red alert at 3:00 p.m., when unit heads opened, read and proceeded to carry out the most practical solution to the tactical problem assigned each group.

The Fire Department, which functions independently under the leadership of Chief Robert Keller, had a two-part problem; to respond to an alarm at the Brodhead Garage with the Durham side bridge impassable and to answer a call on Exeter street with a train wreck at the crossing.

Raymond Ripley and Kenneth White, Sr., in the Seagraves detoured up Packers Falls and Bennett roads and reached the garage indicated in 8 minutes. Roger Cardin, Ted Allen, Jr., and Jimmy Nisbet in the Chevy fire truck, travelled New road, then up Exeter street to cover that area. The remaining fire trucks and a stand-by crew were on duty at the fire house in the event of an actual fire during the practice period.

The Police and Auxiliary Police Departments, under the direction of Chief John Valliere, were stationed at the corner of Elm and Main streets with George Beauchesne and Richard Emond on opposite sides of the bridge, Roland LaRoche, Bill Cote and Tidoe Beaulieu manning the check-points at Exeter and Main streets. The junction of Main street and Gerry avenue was covered by Robert Pratt and Charles Clerk. Chief Valliere acted as a monitor between the three check points and later complimented the group on their efficiency.

The Engineering Unit under the direction of Richman Walker had a hypothetical break in the water main under the Durham side bridge. One truck with Adam Malek and Warren Sawyer was sent to provide a practical solution to prevent a serious loss of water and to provide a temporary water supply to that area. The second truck was held in reserve.

The Rescue and First Aid

Unit with Raymond Brisson, Mrs. Martha Elliott, Mrs. Lola Sewall and Mrs. Betty Harclerode was assigned to pick up two casualties from Turcotte's parking lot. The victims, Alfred Canney and Donald Turgeon, were placed on stretchers and transported to the fire house.

The Communications Unit manned by Mrs. H. J. Philbrick was responsible for receiving the Yellow and Red alerts and all clear instructions from state headquarters over the telephone fan-out system, for reporting unit readiness to area 7 officials following the Yellow mobilization alert and again reporting unit practice and completion after the all clear.

The communications unit problem was to travel the central area under alert conditions and report on action at the local level with constructive suggestions where needed.

Industrial officer Ben Richardson was stationed at the Macallen Company and witnessed 100% cooperation of the company's own trained CD unit, which can be considered one of the best industrial plant organizations in the state.

Through the cooperation of Thayer Wade, superintendent of schools, the Newmarket School Board, Leo Landroche, high school principal, Edward O'Connor of the Central and Stone schools and the Sisters of the Holy Cross at St. Mary's, pupils were detained at the schools until 5 minutes after the all clear sounded. The school buses, through the cooperation of Arthur Ploude, Roland Levesque and Joe Biron, were parked near the fire station ready for evacuation use if necessary.

Newmarket was one of the few towns chosen on a nationwide basis to monitor Conelrad, comment on its reception locally and to report verbatim and in detail the information broadcast. Mrs. Betty Harclerode was assigned to this duty and to report to George Moses, State Civil Defense Operations officer in Concord. Apparently, Mr. Moses office was in a slightly disorganized state because of the additional calls. When the local director stated that Newmarket was calling to report, the voice on the other end asked, "Where's Newmarket?"

In addition to the Conelrad monitoring, other broadcasts were monitored at the fire house on the fire department and State Police frequencies. Some difficulty was experienced at the beginning of transmission because of interference from the fire alarm in action. The radio-logical monitoring unit was inactive because instructions for its problem were interrupted by electrical interference.

The critique meeting was held after in the fire house with very little criticism of any department or individual noted. Refreshments were supplied by Mrs. Martha Elliot.

NEWMARKET'S CIVIL DEFENSE Unit was on public display this past weekend and was well attended despite the unseasonably cool and rainy weather. This is an unpaid job with most of the work of running the C. D. unit falling on a small but efficient group of local men and women. This unit may well hold the lives of every man, woman and child in their hands and in case of emergency, clear and efficient thinking will save many of these lives. (Birds-eye view taken from town clock by Joe Dix.)

Successful CD Field Days Held Here Despite Inclement Weather

The Civil Defense Field Day, the first on record in this area, was held Saturday and Sunday at Turcotte's parking lot, Main street, as scheduled despite a steady downpour and raw chilly weather on the second day.

The new police cruiser was displayed to the public for the first time. Sharing honors were the town trucks, fire trucks, police outboard motor boat, fire department portable generator, portable pump, equipped auxiliary police cars and numerous other items obtained through the Civil Defense purchasing program.

The two walkie-talkies lent the local unit by George Moses, State Conservation officer, were used for communication between vehicles of the Auxiliary police squad and Saturday night when the radio went dead on the Newmarket police wagon, one unit was used at police headquarters and the second in the cruiser to maintain constant touch with the office. They were also used while the auxiliary policemen stood watch over the display during the night.

The headquarters and First Aid station were set-up in one of the two new tents recently received from surplus, with the chow wagon set up in the entrance. The field range acquired through surplus was in place and used to heat foods offered for sale. The steamer was loaned by the Colonial Luncheonette and the coolers by Alfred Connor of Newfields.

The second tent contained a display of Civil Defense literature, many and varied small tools and other items used by water works and highway departments. The entrance to this tent covered the portable generator and floodlights which lit the parking lot Saturday night and which also supplied current for the main tent and display areas.

Visitors were given the opportunity to inspect the pumping station. Transportation was provided by members of the auxiliary police unit. A member of the water works staff, which is now on duty on a 24-hour schedule during the stand pipe repair period, conducted a tour of the facilities and explained the operation of the station and the processes the water must pass through from the beginning when it is taken from the springs until it emerges from the faucet of the householder.

In addition to the townspeople who took advantage of this opportunity to learn more of Civil Defense, its purposes and its benefits, heads of other CD units were guests, including George Moses, State Comm. officer, Wilfred Young, Epping CD chief, John Batchellor of the Durham CD unit and Staton Curtis, newly appointed CD director of Lee.

At the front of the parking lot stood the "Chief", an 8 ft. metal robot manufactured and loaned by the Lamprey Sheet Metal Works. He wore a regulation helmet, carried the approved gas mask and other tools necessary in the event of an alert. He carried no identification card, but wore many CD decals of varying sizes, certifying unit membership.

Manning the chow wagon were Mrs. Jennie Griswold,

Mrs. Bonnie Beaulieu, Miss Louise Emond, Mrs. Shirley Pratt and Mrs. Betty Harclerode.

Transporting visitors to the pumping station were Robert Pratt and Tidoe Beaulieu.

At the pumping station, Albert Gilbert conducted the visitors through the building demonstrated the processing and filtering of the water supply. Because of the weather the two tents were left in the parking lot to dry before being folded for storage and were dismantled by volunteers.

Serving on the auxiliary police unit are Tidoe Beaulieu, Roland LaRoche, Durham, William Cote, Charles Clark, Fred Harclerode, Robert Pratt, Alfred Canney of Lee, Albert Gilbert, Ronald Grant, Eddie Zick, George Beauchesne and Richard Emond.

HOME DEMONSTRATION GROUP Exams Offered LIST YEARS VARIED ACTIVITIES For Local P. O.

The Newmarket Day Home Demonstration Group activities have been varied in the past year.

Flag Day favors were made for the County Farm last May at Mary Bosinger's.

In September, a cookout was held at the home of the chairman, Jean Bloom.

A swing machine clinic was held at Elma Kitchin's in October at which time Ruth Stimson, Rockingham County Home Demonstration agent, directed members in the proper methods of cleaning, oiling and adjusting of machines.

At the November meeting at Mary Bosinger's, the fundamentals of rug braiding and lacing were shown by Alice Kent, Mary Bosinger and Pauline Brisson, who had attended a rug braiding class in North Hampton.

A well attended series of shirt-tailoring classes was held at the Library Hall in January with Ruth Stimson instructing.

The February meeting on birthday favors for the County Farm was canceled because of sickness. The favors were made by the members at their homes, each member making up her own design.

The March meeting was held at Nellie Anderson's at which time the Health Chairman, Pauline Brisson, directed the group in making cancer dressings — 96 were completed.

The April meeting, held at Jeannette Turcotte's, was devoted to "Hospitality in the Home" under the direction of Ruth Stimson.

Other classes attended by members of the Newmarket Day Home Demonstration Group outside of Newmarket included the following:

Re-upholstering, attended by Jean Bloom and Jeannette Turcotte; slip covering, attended by Alice Kent; rug braiding, Mary Bosinger, Alice Kent, Helen Dodds, Pauline Brisson, Elma Kitchin and Rena Young.

Lampshade making by Alice Kent and Mary Bosinger; casseroles by Pauline Brisson and Edwina Bennett; refinishing furniture, Jean Bloom, Alice Kent and Elma Kitchin; UNH Horticulture Day, Edwina Bennett and Pauline Brisson; Radcliff Pike's stalk on "Putting Your Garden to Bed", Alice Kent and Mary Bosinger.

Our Home Demonstration Group is a part of Cooperative Extension Service of the University of New Hampshire and is open to anyone interested. The above activities are but a sampling of the many that are going on throughout the country. The coming season will bring a brand new program of home making ideas to which the present members extend an invitation to anyone in the community.

The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the Manchester Post Office today announced an open competitive examination for Substitute Clerk and Substitute Carrier in the Newmarket Post Office which will close on June 3, 1960.

There are many excellent employee benefits such as paid vacation and sick leave, a group life insurance program with Government contributing part of the cost, a health insurance program and a model retirement system.

Application form 5000 A-B for applying in this examination and copies of the announcement may be secured from the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. ## St. Mary's CYO Win 1-Act Play Competition

Judge McGuirk Hears Two Cases

At the Friday session of Municipal Court, Judge Russell McGuirk presiding, Robert Balisdell, of 33 Lincoln street, Somersworth, entered a plea of guilty to operating a vehicle making excessive noise, using a Hollywood type muffler. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

In a second case, Assam A. Charabati of Durham, charged with speeding, entered a plea of not guilty. After the presentation of evidence, Charabati was found guilty and fined $10.

Before an overflowing crowd of about 200 people, St. Mary's CYO took top honors in the semi-final round of the CYO one-act play contest. Three parishes also presented their plays. They were St. Thomas More parish from Durham, St. Catherine's and Immaculate Conception, both from Portsmouth.

St. Mary's of Newmarket will now compete in the southeastern deanery finals Thursday night at 8:15 in the Dover City Auditorium. St. Mary's CYO of Dover will also present their play and the winner will then move on to the state finals to be held Sunday at the Dover Auditorium.

The Newmarket play, entitled "Mooncalf Mugford", is being directed by Miss Marcel Houle. The cast consists of Marsha Jordan, John LaBranche, Jacqueline Marden, Joyce Albee and Douglas Sklariski.

Assisting Miss Houle in lighting and makeup are Robert Langlois, Linn Carpenter, Robert Blouin, Gail Griswold and Carol Filion.

HE LOVES ME... HE LOVES ME NOT

The daisies do tell! Love and marriage are as much a part of the spring season as the showers and flowers, birds and sunshine that poets sing about. For this reason, the newest flatware pattern in Heirloom Sterling is named—quite aptly—"Sentimental." And since the word silver practically means bride, it's good to know a bit about latest silver design for the hope chest or trousseau of our modern lass.

"Sentimental," for example, has a space-age flavor very much in keeping with our times and the many years ahead for today's newly-weds. It is neither stark and angular, nor overly ornate. Its sterling simplicity has just a touch of flowing decoration that seems to soar like a wonder of our era. This new flatware design has fresh shaping, too, in the more V-like slope of the fork shoulders and in the sculpturing of the handles.

Surveys throughout the country show that brides and brides-to-be now prefer a "forever" kind of silver pattern in contrast to the ultraplain of yesterday and the ultra-fancy of yesteryear. In sterling, especially, they want a pattern that won't grow obsolete before they've finished building a complete service—place setting by place setting, or one serving piece at a time. It's this kind of thrift-mindedness that has fashioned the new sterling.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. Vira Spencer

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Vira Spencer, 53, wife of Lawrence K. Spencer of 29 Elm street, last Friday at the Brisson and Kent Funeral Home.

Featured on the program will be Melvin Cross, physical education instructor at the high school, who will present gymnastic events using a group of his students from grades 7-12. He will give a brief explanation of the type of physical education program conducted at the high school. Miss Jean Cutter, practice teacher from the University of New Hampshire, now instructing at the high school, will present a group of Junior and Senior high students in a demonstration of modern dancing. Louis Kasiaras will present a 15-minute sampling from the play being presented by the Junior class at the auditorium, May 20. The business meeting will be held in the old auditorium preceding the program in observance of Youth Physical Fitness Week. Prizes will be given and refreshments will be served.

DRESS REHEARSAL

A moment of make-believe provides an unusual picture opportunity. The introduction of props—such as articles of clothing, toys, or pets—will often prompt interesting response and expression from a youngster, and also help to divert his attention from the camera. Some of the most endearing shots of children are those which are not deliberately posed. Youngsters make particularly good subject-matter when they're absorbed in their own special activities . . . imitating grown-ups, playing school, washing dolls' clothes, feeding the cat. The trick is to keep a camera on hand, loaded and ready for action. A reliable box-type model, like the Brownie Hawkeye Camera, can be used quickly and easily for snapshots in black-and-white or color.

It's usually a good idea to shoot from as close a vantage point as the camera will allow, without eliminating important picture details. When background is essential to the picture, care should be exercised to include no more than is needed. With a box-camera, the closest shooting distance is about 6 feet. But if a close-up attachment is slipped over the lens, this distance can be decreased to about 3½ feet. In general, children should be snapped at their own eye-level, rather than from the photographer's height. And for the youngster on the move—walking, riding a bicycle, roller skating—a head-on view is far preferable to a side view. Moving subjects show less apparent motion if they come towards the camera lens rather than across its path.

But whatever the angle, or action, it's important to record those big events and little happenings now. Precious years deserve pictures.

H. D. Group To Attend Chan. 11 T. V. Program

The Newmarket, Day Home Demonstration Group held its meeting at the home of Jeanette Turcotte last week. The subject for the day was "Hospitality in the Home", with Ruth Stimson, HDA, as leader.

Members brought birthday favors for the County Home to this meeting.

We discussed the possibility of having a joint meeting with other organizations on the heart program in the fall.

It was voted that members attend the TV Channel 11 program, May 24 at 8:30 p.m., in Durham, at which time Miss Stimson will talk on refinishing furniture and show some of the pieces of furniture that were done at the classes held in Brentwood including some from Newmarket.

Election of officers was held with the following results:

Chairman Jean Bloom, Vice Chairman Jennette Turcotte, Sect. and Treas. Mary Bosinger and Health chairman Pauline Brisson.

It was decided that we should have a window display of our years work during National Home Demonstration Week, May 1-7, and Mrs. Turcotte offered the use of a window at Turcotte's Hardware store.

Some of the member expressed an interest in attending Family Life Day at Memorial Union Hall in Durham on May 12.

Stamp Collectors News

By Mrs. Ione Kent

The following news should be interesting to everyone — non-stamp collectors as well as collectors. The Mound Stamp Club of St. Louis in a monthly bulletin printed a portion of a letter from a schoolboy in England in 1840 (the year of the first stamp ever issued) written to his sister. It read:

"Have you tried stamps yet? I think they are very absurd and troublesome. I don't fancy making my mouth a glue-pot. Although to be sure you have the satisfaction of kissing or rather slobbering over Her Majesty's back. This, however, I should say is about the greatest insult the present Ministry could have offered the Queen."

This may seem childish and far-fetched until we consider the narrow-minded group of "super-patriots" which protested the appearance of the United States Flag on our stamps. Their objection was the placing of a postmark over the emblem.

Perhaps the following will clarify the importance of these '57 and '59 Flag Stamps to the peoples of the world.

The Lim's Weekly Stamp News received this letter after the Annual Derby in which the 1959 U.S. Flag Stamp led the list of stamps for 1959. Maryann Stefanik of Holyoke, Mass., wrote:

"I was pleased that the United States Flag stamp was named best. I would like to give my way of it. I don't know if you label me a "super-patriot" — it doesn't matter. But please take time to read from somebody who was not lucky enough to be born under such a flag.

"Many people think that a simple postage stamp has no meaning, but indeed the American stamps have a big meaning.

"I, myself, hope someday the Postal Administrator will issue stamp of the United States with an American Flag just to send to Europe. A stamp by airmail and regular mail, a stamp with a big red and white and blue and shiny stars.

"To you born in the U.S.A. the U.S. Flag stamp don't mean as much as to me and the people of Europe. To me 'America' is a magic word. The stamp is beautiful. For the people of Europe it is hope. Hope that they will have a government as we have. Believe me, they try!

"No one who hasn't lived in Europe between 1939-1950 can understand. Things like starvation of the body and soul and false promises, year after year. The idea of escape is always present. The flag of the United States helps to make them strong.

"The flag of the U.S.A will always remind me of dreams come true. A small and inexpensive postage stamp can give hope that freedom does exist.

"Call me anything you want. But thank God how glad I am today that I am a citizen of the United States of America."

So many ways to look at our stamps! How do you look at them?

The United States is issuing a stamp not previously listed. A 4c commemorative will be issued June 2, 1960 at Washington, D.C., and will honor "The American Woman". It is issued in conjunction with a conference on National and International topics under the sponsorship of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor.

The Philatelic Agency in Washington will no longer have on sale the 4c Lajos Kossuth, Champion of Liberty stamp; the 4c Journalism and Freedom of the Press stamp; the 3c Lincoln Sesquicentennial; and the $1.00 Postage Due of 1930.

The Greek Boy Scout stamps will soon be out. Put your order in now if you want the full set. Only 350,000 copies of the top value are to be issued. Speculators are already at work and the stamps have not yet been issued.

The government of Liberia has issued a special series of Refugee stamps and donated them to the United Nations High Commission for Refugees. The Postmaster General of this independent African Republic has been congratulated as well as his leader, President William Tubman.

The U. S. Postal Service is restricted, by law from giving any money from stamps to any cause. All the money has to go into revenue. However, aid which originates in Washington will reach the U.N. through other channels.

For plate block collectors: If there are position plate block collectors who read this column, perhaps some swaps could be achieved through this writer.

A Saga of the Old Newmarket Dump

Webster's Dictionary says a saga is a heroic narrative, and certainly the old dump had a very heroic history, as many things happened there and if being chased by skunks is not heroic, I would like to know what is — but more of this later on.

The road that went by the dump was called, and still is, the Dump road. It was a hard road to walk on, being covered with gravel and rocks, but a very handy road, as it was a much shorter way for most of the people than going through Central street and up Shackfords Hill, if you wished to go to the New Village. It was much easier for the school children also.

At night, after dark, the dump road was kind of spooky, as there were only a few lights on it. And most of the time there were no lights as the boys thought it great fun to fire rocks and break them. There was one place in particular where there were thick woods on each side, and you were afraid someone would jump at you. Tramps used to camp in these woods sometimes. A man by the name of Charlie Stilson used to own a camp in a clump of pine trees a short distance from the dump. It was quite a good camp and Charlie had a wood burning stove so he could keep warm during the winter.

One cold night in the late fall, the fire alarm sounded. Charlie's camp was on fire. The fire men came as quick as they could, and some of them burst open the door and found Charlie near the door, on the floor. They pulled him out but he was dead. It was thought he tried to open the door but was overcome by the smoke. The camp burned to the ground.

Gulls used to visit the old dump to find something to eat. They were quite tame.

Mary (we never knew her other name), also had a little home near the dump. She used to go over every day and pick up little pieces of iron, boxes, newspapers and other articles, which she sold. She was a good old lady and very interesting to talk to. She would tell of her life in Poland as a child before she came to this country with her folks.

Some of the young people of the town thought it would benefit Newmarket if a club was formed. This club was called "The Newmarket Recreational and Planning Council." Many of the citizens of the town joined, among them Rev. Ernest McKenzie, pastor of the Community Church and Rev. Gerald Joyal, curate of St. Mary's Church. Many of our citizens will remember the awful pictures, which were in the Sunday New Hampshire News, which were taken by a certain Mr. Davis.

There was a picture of Mary standing in the middle of the dump surrounded by rubbish. Some one who was a member of this club must have asked

Mr. Davis to take those pictures or how would he have known about it? One of the citizens of the town said if Mary wanted to live by the dump that was her business.

The result of the these pictures and the insulting article in the New Hampshire News caused all the good people of the club to resign from the club. This was in November, 1949.

Now here come the skunks. The Baptist Church had an organization called "The whatsoever Club." This was a social affair and met every Friday evening, at the home of its members or in the church vestry. The name was given the club by one of its members, Jessie Wentworth. We had suppers, played games and did other interesting things. One evening we were all sitting at a prettily decorated table having supper in the church vestry, when a rock came whizzing through the window and landed in Gussie Kimball's plate. We all rushed out but they had fled. After that the blinds were kept closed.

One evening in the summer the meeting was held at the home of our pastor, Rev. Herman Morison. All our members were there with the exception of Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Knight who lived in the New Village and usually came by way of the dump. We waited for them until about eight o'clock and decided they were not coming and the president was about to open the meeting when we heard them coming.

Mrs. Knight was all out of breath and Mrs. Andrews wasn't much better. After they had rested a while, they told us why they were so late. When they got almost to the dump, Mrs. Andrews cried out, "What is that? Is it a skunk?"

Mrs. Knight took one look and said in a shakey voice, "It is," and ran to the other side of the road. Sure it was a skunk, the prettiest woods pussy you ever saw. He was trotting down the road and so far minding his own business.

Mrs. Knight was for going home, but Mrs. Andrews said, "We better walk along and keep a long distance behind him." Just then that sweet little animal crossed the road and went into the woods. Our friends decided it would be safe now and started down the road as fast as they could go, until Mrs. Knight happened to look around and what did she see? Why, that dear little scent bag, or another just like him right behind her.

She was so frightened she screamed so loud she scared pussy so he ran past her into the woods again. The two ladies ran as fast as they could until they reached Mr. Filion's barn and decided they were safe.

Mrs. Knight kept looking back expecting the skunk would follow them, but he kept out of sight, and our friends reached their destination without any more trouble. They took the long way home over Shackfords Hill.

We have a fine new dump on Ash Swamp road. The old dump has been grassed over and the skunks and gulls have to go elsewhere for food.

Gregg Announces New Appointment

Former Gov. Hugh Gregg recently announced the appointment of Mrs. Ann Lockwood of Concord as Women's State Chairman of the "Gregg for Governor" State Committee. Gregg is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the September Primary.

Mrs. Lockwood was the Concord Women's Chairman for Vice President Nixon in the March Presidential Primary and has long been active in Republican campaigns at both the city and State level.

Mrs. Lockwood is a member of the Executive Board of the Concord Hospital Associates, a member of the Concord Hospital Corporation and a Director of the Concord Chapter of the American Red Cross. She is married to Arthur D. Lockwood, who is President and Treasurer of the Lockwood-Young Corporation, and the couple has four children.

ance of wild life around. The size of the local deer herd amazes this writer. How they escaped the army of hunters last December shows just how smart the deer are. I know, for I hunted that general area almost daily and saw only 2 deer.

I have heard about many nice trout being caught within a 3 miles radius of the town hall. Some of the more productive spots were at Langs Bridge, Browns, Rain Bows and Brookies, Dennett's Bridge on Ash Swamp road, Broad cove, the pumping station bridge and river. Several nice limits have been taken just below the upper dam on Packers Falls road (Brookies).

These spots are nice for the after work fishermen who do not feel like heading up country or out of town.

Well, pity my old Uncle Flub, for he is at the present time located at the Dover Hospital. It seems he likes sucker fish chowder, so he decided to hook a mess. As he balanced on a moss covered rock up along Swift river, a really big sucker headed upstream and Uncle Flub flailed wildly at the fish with a large gaff. Well, he missed the fish and hooked his boot. This tipped him over backwards and when the whooping and shouting died down, old Flub's bottle of bug repellent?, which he always carries in his hip pocket, had broken. Uncle Flub, being a large man, had a large cut just under his hip pocket. Old Flub didn't worry about the cut, for it would heal in time, but that insect repellent was 9 years old and you can hardly find that stuff anymore.

With the river dropping back to normal and little fresh water flushing out the clams flats, I think that this weekend will find that fine salt water tang back in the Great Bay clams. Flood conditions usually change the taste of clams so that the average clam digger finds he would rather wait until well into May to dig his first Newmarket peck.

Speaking of Newmarket pecks, Harry Dunn, from up Packers Falls way, once made up a batch of clam baskets. These were without a doubt the largest pecks this side of the Canadian border. I have one of Harry's peck baskets and when I head down to the flats, I look around kind of like a fox in a chicken yard.

On a trip from Epping road to Kirkwood Corners in Lee, starting at 4 corners, I saw 2 partridges, 3 deer and a beaver. The deer were in Plant's field, the partridge just below Bud Bently's house and the beaver was on the river bank across from Jim Phalen's corner. I took a picture of the beaver, but it might have been a bit too dark.

There seems to be an abundance

MEN BOWLERS HOLD BANQUET

The Newmarket town bowling league held its annual banquet at Simpsons Pavillion and a fine time was had by all. A choice of lobster or steak was the main course.

After the dinner, a league business meeting was held with President Gus LaPoint as M.C. election of league officials followed.

Bob Harney was elected president, Pete Simpson, treasurer and Bob Otash, secretary. Directly following the business meeting a team of Judo experts from Pease A.F.B. put on a lively demonstration.

The banquet proved to be a well-run affair thanks to Gus LaPoint, Dutch Shultz and Al Zych.

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

By Joe Dixx

As we all know, only so many kids can make the Little League teams and the hardest job the Little League officials have to face is telling the younger or inexperienced ball players that they have not made the various teams. A solution to this annual problem has been solved. This year the Little League will form a minor league. This league will take the overflow of ballplayers who are both young and without experience. This league will then show the kids a good time and at the same time, teach them some baseball. The only item holding up this minor league is coaches and managers.

If you are interested in taking over one of these minor league teams, drop down to the town hall next Monday, May 9th at 7:30. We can use all the help we can get, so if you are interested, see you Monday.

THESE THREE FISHERMEN tried the northern section of N. H. They didn't catch 30 trout but they did have a swell time. We sat down and figured out the cost per fish and came up with a whopping $3.25. Left to right are Norm LaBranch, Cliff MacDougall and E. MacDougall. (Photo by Joe Dixx)

Joe Dixx's Sport Corner

By Richard Schanda

The season on horned pout opened last week but until the nights get a little warmer, Joe Dixx will sit home by the fire. Most people connect horned pout fishing with night fishing, but if you can strike a good spot you can catch your limit at noon time. Old Joe Ladder-bush fishes horned pout daily and he has never failed to bring home a mess. Joe likes the area up around the Highland House Rapids. Just where he drops his line is a closely guarded secret. Knowing Joe, this spot of his will always be Joe's spot.
