HOME DEMONSTRATION DISPLAY

REGISTER TO VOTE!

On Saturday, June 14th and again Monday, June 6th, the supervisors of the check list will be in session from 7 to 8 p.m., for the registration of voters, correction of the check list and for Party changes.

Citizens! Be prepared! Be sure to vote in November of 1960. History is full of instances where people have staged revolutions for the right to vote, and mounted the barricades to obtain the ballot. The rallying cry of our American Revolution was "No Taxation Without Representation." It is a sad commentary on our American Democracy that although all of our citizens are entitled to cast their ballot, so few of them exercise that right. Certainly the failure of many voters to go to the polls is nothing less than shameful!

Remember, this fall's election is an important one. Throughout the United States candidates will be elected on local, state and national levels. Many important issues will be presented in referenda in various states and localities.

Be a first class citizen no matter if you are a Democrat or a Republican. But first, make sure you have qualified for the privilege by having your name legally on the town check list as provided by law. Then get out and vote for the candidate of your choice. These dates for registration are planned well in advance of election day so that there will be no complaints.

The Board of Registration advises everyone to check their voting eligibility while they are in session June 4th and 6th.

ON REFRIGERATORS

After editorializing about abandoned refrigerators and ice boxes in last week's paper, we were pleased to learn that the refrigerators in question had been dismantled and all danger to children eliminated.

Police Chief John Valliere had attended to the matter some months ago and it could not readily be seen at a quick glance. Our apologies to Chief Valliere who is to be commended on his quick action.

Bicyclists Cause Truck Mishap

Two teen age bicyclists riding truck, which land upside down, one on each side of the road, was extensively damaged. The accident took place at 6:30 Saturday evening on Rt. 155 near the Lawrence Hill farm. Police Chief Mike Menter, deputy policeman Staton Curtis and State Trooper Donald Buxton investigated the accident.

Local Veterans Affected By New Pension Bill

by JOHN TWARDUS

A comparison of the old pension bill with the new law shows that under the present pension plan, a veteran's pension is either $66.15 a month or $78.85 a month if he has been on the pension roll ten years or has reached the age of 65.

The single exception to the ruling would be that of a veteran in need of regular aid and attendance, who would receive $135.45 monthly.

Under the new pension law which goes into effect July 1, 1960, a veterans' monthly pension payment may vary from a low of $40 monthly to a high of $100 per month.

If the veteran is in need of regular aid and attendance, the amount can be as high as $170 a month. The variations in the new pension payments result from the use of a sliding income scale.

The larger pension payments go to veterans earning lesser incomes or those with more dependents.

The old pension law set limits of $1400 a year for a single veteran and $2700 for veterans with dependents. Once within the income limitations, the payments were the same for all.

The new law, however, provides payments of $85 monthly to single veterans whose annual income is $600 or less, $70 monthly to single veterans if income is not over $1200 and $40 monthly to single veterans whose income is not over $1800. The veteran earning more than $1800 is not entitled to pension assistance.

Veterans with dependents will also receive pensions on a sliding scale. No pension to those with incomes above $3000 annually, regardless of the number of dependents. Veterans whose income is between $2000 and $3000 are entitled to receive $45 monthly, those who earn between $1000 and $2000 receive $75 monthly and those with an annual income of $1000 or less with one dependent, will receive $90, with two dependents $95 and with 3 or more dependents $100 monthly. Veterans requiring regular aid and attendance would in addition be paid $70 monthly above the pension benefits listed.

Court Father Hector Benoit, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold their 14th annual banquet at the Exeter Inn in Exeter on Wednesday, May 25 at 6:30 p.m. Rev. Gerald R. Father Dunn, who is an excellent orator, is widely known throughout the state for his work with mentally retarded children.

PLAN FORMATION OF NEW HISTORICAL SOCIETY HERE

The Newmarket Women's Club held its final meeting of the season Tuesday, May 17th, in the vestry of the Community Church and elected officers for the coming year as follows: Mrs. Pauline Pochlopek, president; Mrs. Jennie Griswold, 1st vice president; Mrs. Laurence Beachesne, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Isabelle Dearborn, recording secretary; Mrs. Velma Szalik, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Theresa Mullen, treasurer; Mrs. Claudia Pitman, auditor. Directors; Mrs. Helen Dodds, Mrs. Elizabeth Gowen and Mrs. Elizabeth Philbrick.

A letter of resignation was read from Mrs. Doris Holt who now resides in Florida. The annual reports of officers and department heads were read and approved.

Mrs. Philbrick introduced George Griswold, president of the Newmarket Handtub Asso., who showed motion pictures of musters held during the past four years throughout the New England area, with many sequence demonstration techniques on the ability of the "Tiger 1" and her crew in muster competition. Mr. Griswold explained the history of the hand engine and the preparation involved in restoring it to its present day condition. He further added that the association is a non-profit group whose muster winnings are used to improve the old fire house, the use of which was given to the association by vote at the last town meeting. He suggested the possibility of forming a local historical society to preserve and retain in Newmarket many papers and objects recording the town history and that of many of the families who featured prominently in the annals of the town.

The old fire house could provide a suitable location for materials on an historic nature, because of the improvements made last year on the building and because it is under supervision and has adequate space for such a display.

Following his talk, Mrs. Griswold displayed pictures of the hand tub and its crew taken at musters and members were given an opportunity to see his extensive collection of reproductions of post cards showing many old Newmarket scenes. Many of these were from the collection of Miss Jennie Young and Miss Rena Young.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Katharine Rodrigues, chairman, Mrs. Pauline Brisson, Mrs. Ruthy Willey and their committee.

Jrs. Select Class Photographer

The Junior class has selected its official photographer. The Loring Studios of Boston has been chosen to record the class, yearbook and individual student pictures. The L. G. Balfour Co. will supply class rings.

C. D. Unit To Hold Outing

The Newmarket Civil Defense Unit held its final meeting of the season last Monday with unit chairman George Huschel reporting nearly 100% success at the recent Alert 1960. Hauschel also expressed the satisfaction of George Moses, State CD Operations Officer, with the test and with the Civil Defense Field Day held recently in Turcotte's parking lot. Moses, who attended the display, complimented the local group on the manner in which the various departments of the town have utilized the items obtained through the CD program.

The unit voted to hold an outing at Watsons' grove July 10th. This will be financed through the silver collections taken at each meeting and through private donations from members. A committee was appointed to plan for the event including Herbert Philbrick, George Griswold, Ronald Grant, Warren Sawyer and Howard Getchell.

Hauschel announced that information has been received from a firm which processes water for storage. The water, which is canned, is suitable for use in a fallout shelter and will remain palatable for a period of years. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mr. Hauschel.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Robert Pratt showed films taken at the field day and also illustrating the damage at the recent fire in Derry N. H.

Refreshments were served by members of the Auxiliary Police unit, with Mrs. Lola Sewall contributing the dessert.

The Auxiliary Police unit will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m., in the CD room at the town hall.

American Legion News

By Fred L. Beale

National Commander Martin B. McKneally of the American Legion has reproved those U.S. citizens who, by their abandonment of "certain basic values" and subsequent criticism of certain hallowed American traditions, are attempting to erode the nation's spiritual defenses.

Speaking before the 69th Continental Congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Comm. McKneally cited the danger of Communism near to American shore as he said, "We see at our doorstep a government that is headed by a revolutionary named Castro who is doing the Communist business. And yet, we also see a number of Americans who have achieved a certain celebrity, apologizing and praising this government."

"One extraordinary thing about these men and woman who find it easy to socialize and fraternize with tyrants is their distaste for organizations such as yours and mine," he declared. "You have found as we have, that organizations devoted to God and Country and the maintenance of America's traditions and a forthright devotion to their Country, are targets of those extremists. There is, therefore, a great gulf between our thinking on the basic issues facing America, and certain highly articulate well-placed critics, important in the fields of propaganda."

Comm. McKneally declared that there is hope for this nation to withstand the powerful and dynamic pressures of Communism through hard work and a positive stand in the traditional modes of American thinking which support the retention of the student loyalty oath, the Connally Amendment on the World Court, the rejection of "Hollywood producers as the arbiters of our morals and our thought patterns," and in turn would proclaim our own beliefs, "our own faith in our country."

Next weeks issue of THE NEWMARKET TIMES will have the lineup and listing of the Memorial Day ceremonies with the Memorial Day Parade starting at 11:30 p.m. All organizations Newmarket have been asked to participate. All veterans whether affiliated with one of the veterans organizations or not are invited to join with us in memory of those departed veterans of all wars.

Transportation Needed For Bantam League

Parents of children between the ages of 7 and 12 not as yet registered for participation in the summer Bantam Bowling League and who desire their children entered in the league, should call Mrs. Nellie Anderson at OL 9-3738, or Mrs. Norma Otash at OL 9-3330 before Monday, May 23.

Transportation plays an important role in the organization and function of the league. Parents able to supply transportation to and from the bowling alleys are urged to come forward and volunteer their services.

It is hoped that enough parents will provide sufficient transportation for the first Newmarket team to begin its season on or about June 1st.

NEW TYPE DAIRY HOUSING BUILT ON KENSINGTON FARM

Recently a number of dairy-men from Rockingham County took the opportunity to visit the Dairy farm of Cleveland Webster in Kensington.

Probably many people have wondered what was being built on Route 108, Kensington. This is a new type of dairy housing called loose housing or a pole barn system.

The system has three separate units. 1. The loafing shed, a three sided building where the cows bed down at night and can find shelter from rain, wind and snow. 2. The hay barn, where all the hay is stored at ground level and the cows are self fed along one side; and 3. the milk house. This building can be made to suit the needs of the owner. It will include a milking parlor; where the cows are milked, a milk room where the milk is stored in refrigerated bulk tanks or cans and has sinks for washing all of the milking equipment. There might also be a boiler room to supply heat and hot water. Over head bulk grain bins will hold about 4 tons of grain for the cows.

The buildings are built L-shaped and will have a paved area in front to allow the cows to get some exercise and sunshine. It is felt that the general herd health improves along with milk production, under these conditions.

Herd conditions, barn conditions and work conditions have improved a great deal over the old conventional barns where everything had to be taken to the cow.

Dairy men are showing more interest in this type of housing for a number of reasons:

1. It is a more economical means of construction.
2. It can be adapted to suit an individual farmer's needs.
3. It is planned so that the farmer can use his present equipment for doing more of the daily chores.
4. By using farm equipment it lessens the miles of walking and tons of carrying that a farmer must do.
5. Herd size can be increased without a large increase in building cost.

All this means that there is and will continue to be a place for the dairy industry in Rockingham County. It means that the farmer will be able to keep his production costs down; provide summertime jobs and plenty of fresh milk which can be consumed by people living in this area.

Besides this it creates many jobs in business and industry allied to the dairy industry. This all helps to create a better economic climate in the country.

How many times have we heard old time clam diggers say that the over digging of clams on the Shackford's Point flats would sooner or later clean them out. A good digger can still fill his peck and possibly help his buddy fill his, but where this took only 10 or 15 minutes 5 years ago, now takes a full slack tide if you are lucky and hit a good spot. On a good weekend with a 9:00 or 10:00 a.m. tide, you could count up to 30 or 40 clam diggers. This represents around 10 bushels of clams. Multiply those figures by days, weeks and years and you come up with tons and tons of clams.

A good eating clam, say 1 1/2" long, takes at least 3 years to reach that size. While we plow up the flats almost daily, we must interfere with the reproduction of the clams. The only way out of this mess would seem to be to close the Shackford's Point flats for at least 2 years. There are still many places to clam in the bay so we would not have to give up claming completely.

Some good news for local fishermen this week. The Fish and Game Department gave in and stocked some of our local streams. It is almost as hard to find out the location of these brooks as it would be to find out what the Russians are up to. I do not have a U-2 plane but I have noticed more fishermen at these usually unproductive brooks:

Moonlight Bridge, Haines Bridge, Rum Brook, the upper

Lamprey near Charlie Mills house and the lower end of North River. These brooks and rivers always produce some fish but this year there seems to be more trout in them. Fish deep for the big ones.

The Fish and Game Department reports that they will release approximately 1,250,000 fish during 1960 and as the level of the brooks has been high, due to the heavy rains, the stocking will swing into high gear shortly as the water runs off.

Those heavy rains of the weeks past may have a poor effect on the game bird situation. This is the nesting season and as the brood hen must leave her nest to eat, this exposes the eggs to the chilling rains. With perfect weather the egg hatch runs around 70%.

With cold rainy weather the hatch drops sharply. As these rains were not of a local nature this may well spell out a lower partridge, native pheasant and wood cock population for the bird gunners. I have not yet spotted any partridge broods, but when they show up the number of chicks with the hen will tell the story.

A normal hatch should number from 8 to 13. This large brood usually drops down to 4 or 6 as the mortality rate is high. Cats, hawks, and owls claim a large per cent of the young chicks. All in all, the young game birds have a tough row to hoe.

Horned pout fishing is now in full swing with some nice catches being taken. The season was lengthened this year to help control the spread of these tasty fish. As a horned pout eats a lot of food which the F & G department would like to go to the "favorite son", the trout. His increase in ponds like Lucas or Swains is usually looked upon with disfavor. Do not be alarmed if the catfish is loaded with eggs. This is the spawning season and one female horned pout can supply enough eggs to make up for the fish you catch. If you catch a mess of fish and do not know just how to cook them, try this recipe.

Prepare catfish for single serving, dip each piece in buttermilk. Then roll in a mixture of half and half cornmeal and flour with a touch of paprika. Fry in deep fat heated to 350. Serve with hot corn bread.

Need for better fire protection of the town dump in the way of a larger water hole and a better access road was the main topic of discussion at the Lee fire department meeting Thursday evening. Chief Stevens discussed a new type of fire radio receiver now being manufactured by a N. H. firm and it was voted to have a demonstration of same at a future meeting.

Following the business meeting at which ten members were present, Nelson Evans, fireman, educational TV teacher and waterfront counselor, gave a talk and live demonstration of mechanical and manual artificial respiration methods with special emphasis on the advantages of the mouth-to-mouth resuscitator recently purchased by the fire department.

Adult Polio Clinic

A free polio clinic sponsored by the Lee fire department auxiliary has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 24 at the Lee Vestry from 7 to 8 in the evening to accommodate working men and women. With summer approaching, every adult not immunized against polio is urged to take advantage of this opportunity. No appointment is necessary.

Through The Years . . .

With Mary Richardson

My Experience as a Peddler

While I was employed in the Cloth Hall of the Newmarket Manufacturing company, some of the girls started a Larkin Club. We met at Jessie Wentworth's house and Jessie was appointed secretary of the club. There were ten of us and we had an old hat, with slips of paper on which were numbers. The hat was passed around and each one closed their eyes and took a number. Everyone paid a dollar and when your turn came everyone handed you their dollar and you had ten dollars worth of goods and some extra coupons and your premium and all the others had the same. We ran our club a long while.

I then started selling all kinds of jello and my friends liked this. Now to be a good peddler there are two things you must have; plenty of nerve and the gift of "gab." Yours truly did not make much on the jello and so started selling the California Perfume company's products, which is now the Avon company. I did very well at this because everyone wants to be beautiful.

When any peddler came to my door all I had to do was start my spiel about the wonderful products I was selling and before I was half through that peddler would be way down the road. One young man came selling magazines to get money to go to college. About two weeks after this there was an awful barking on the porch and upon investigating I found a young man squeezed into the corner of the porch with my neighbor's dog barking and growling at him. He was scared all right. He told me to call my dog off. I said, "That thing isn't mine."

I told that animal to git after showing him the broom and he went all right. I then discovered that the young man was the same that had been here awhile ago, but that time he was going to be a doctor. He must have forgotten that he had been here before. We never liked the blamed dog anyway. He was a coach dog, a great big calf and every chance he got he chased my cats but he did a good deed that day.

The next thing I tackled was the Minard remedies which were good for what ailed you and if nothing was the matter, use them just the same so there wouldn't be. My school mate, George, who resided at Rockingham Junction, called one morning and when I told him I was out of a job, he said I could help him selling the Minard remedies. I said would like to but didn't have any cart to take them around in and he agreed to furnish me with one, so the next week he brought the Minard remedies and the cart, which he had fixed.

I think it was a Thursday morning early in June when I loaded my little cart and started out. I was very successful. The next day I decided to call on one of my friends, who resided on Shackfords Hill. It is quite a hill and my cart was heavy and when I got half way up I spied my friend sitting on the porch and when she saw me and my cart laboring up the hill, she cried out, "I don't want any of your bug medicine, liniment, rat poison or perfume. I would like to help you out but just can't."

I said, "Madam, you are making a big mistake. You are not conferring a favor on me but I am conferring a very great favor on you in offering you my wonderful remedies known in the United States, Canada and in all parts of Europe and especially that wonderful worm medicine guaranteed to cure either man or beast. Yes, Madam, I am going," and I went down much quicker than I went up.

Another interesting experience—was when George took me in his car to Lee. We decided that he would take one side of the road and I the other. One house looked as if no one was living in it, but I thought I would try it and see anyway, so I knocked at the door and a nurse came flying out and said, "Didn't you see that sign?"

I said what sign. "Why the scarlet fever sign on the door." "No, I never saw it. I will go down into the driveway and from there tell you about my wonderful remedies." I did this and she ordered a bottle of alcohol. When I got back to the car I found I had sold more than George.

A friend of ours told about a young man who peddled most everything from tooth picks to looking glasses. We will not tell his real name but call him Charlie.

Now Charlie thought he would go and visit some of the poor people in the mountains, so he loaded his old car with a lot of merchandise and started out. He finally came to a place on the side of the mountain, where a man was cutting wood. He looked as if he never had a shave. Charlie stopped his car and the man asked him to come in and meet the family, which consisted of his wife and two little girls, one ten and the other twelve years old. We must not forget the big white hog walking around and there was a dozen hens and a big rooster.

Charlie was invited to stay to supper and he accepted the invitation. All they had was potatoes. His host said, "Take a tater, take another one, take nigh all of them." After supper, Charlie showed them his wares, all but the looking glass which was in the bottom of the suit case.

As it was getting late he said he had better get going, but his friends urged him to stay all night and he finally consented. Charlie arose early the next morning and his friend gave him his breakfast. He said his wife and kids were out hoeing the garden.

Charlie offered his host money for his board, but he would not take it. Then Charlie took out some fancy calico and needles and thread for his wife and children and he discovered the looking glass which he had missed the day before.

His friend did not know what it was as there wasn't a glass in the house. He looked into it and said, "Oh, what a fine picture of my grandpappy." Charlie did not tell him what it was but gave him the picture. By this time the mother and two children had come in and were much pleased with their gift, but daddy didn't show them his gift. He wanted the "picture" all for himself.

He hid it up in the hay loft and looked at grandpappy every day. After a while his wife got wise and said to the girls, "I wonder what your pa is doing so long in the barn?"

So one day after he had been gone quite a while, she went out and found him in the hay loft. She climbed the ladder and looked right into the glass. She exclaimed, "So that's the hussy you have been sparkin'."
