Robert Rousseau New President Of Newmarket Service Club

The November meeting of the Newmarket Service Club was held last Monday evening at the Exeter Inn with twenty members in attendance.

The Nominating Committee presented the slate of officers for the 1960-61 year and they were accepted by the Club. Officers elected were as follows:

President Robert Rousseau; Vice Pres. Robert LaBranche; Treas. George Bergeron; and Secretary Allen Wright.

Richard Houle, Richard MacDonald, Jacques Gagnon and Roland Coker were accepted as new members of the Club.

Hank Soper was the winner of the monthly jackpot.

President Rousseau led discussions regarding the various projects that the Club has been supporting. The Club will again provide two ice skating rink for the use of the town. A committee was appointed to investigate means of raising additional funds to more fully support the Club's projects.

Program Chairman Soper showed two films provided by the N. H. Fish and Game department regarding gun and hunting safety.

It was voted to suspend the December meeting because of the conflict with the Christmas holidays. The next meeting is to be held on January 30, 1961.

Civil Defense Display At Electric Company

In observance of National Civil Defense Day, the Newmarket Civil Defense organization will have a display of radiological monitoring equipment, miniature models of radioactive fallout shelters and other CD equipment at the N. H. Electric Co. on Main street on Dec. 9.

The public is cordially invited to observe the latest in Civil Defense equipment.

New Company Formed; Production Starts Soon

In an exclusive story to the Newmarket Times it was learned today that the former Royce Shoe Company has been sold to Mr. George Vinecour, who, as sole owner, will begin production in less than two weeks.

The new company will be known as the Hampton Shoe Corporation. Samples have been made and orders have been taken for shoes to be made by the new company. They will continue to manufacture women's novelty shoes.

According to Mr. Vinecour they now have received valid orders for shoes and expect to produce 60 cases per day to start. It is hoped that production will start an upward trend from this beginning.

The re-opening of the former Royce Shoe Co. is good news to the entire town after being closed for a period of approximately eight months. At one time Royce was the largest shoe shop in town and had the largest payroll. Many persons employed here were forced to seek work out of town after the closing but with the new optimistic outlook is it hoped that many local shoe workers will soon be on the job again.

Newmarket has long been noted for its skilled workers in the shoe manufacturing business. The re-opening is certainly coming at an opportune time at the start of the Christmas season.

FIVE ACCIDENTS AT RAILROAD BRIDGE

Five separate accidents occurring within 20 yards and 20 minutes of each other were directly attributed to the first ice condition of the season.

According to the Newmarket police, starting at 6:55 a.m. Tuesday morning, the five cars, all driven by Newmarket men, skidded on the same icy patch on the railroad bridge at Rockingham Junction. The men were all on their way to work and driving alone.

First to skid was Robert J. Pratte driving a 1960 Dodge that hit the curbing with no damage resulting. Gerald Plante who was driving a 1950 Plymouth, went over the curbing damaging a left front fender, parking light and bumper guard.

Roger Labranche driving a 1956 Plymouth beach wagon, skidded and hit the fence, damaging front end, bumper and fender and blowing a tire.

Edmond Nichols skidded over to the left of the road, bounced back across the road, through the fence and down the embankment. The car, which had to be towed back onto the road, had a damaged grill and bumper.

Dean Russell, who was driving a 1959 Renault, skidded. The car was knocked from curb to curb with considerable damage being done to the wheels on the front end.

Nobody was injured and all proceeded on to work, shook up, but grateful to be alive.

On Sunday, Nov. 27, a car operated by Joseph Krol of Deerfield, road, Nottingham, struck a parked car while traveling south on South Main st. The parked car, which sustained slight damage, was owned by Harold E. Meserve of Exeter road.

Crash Takes Life Of Exeter Youth

Robert C. Metcalfe, 18, of Bow street, Exeter, was killed instantly in a head-on collision Friday night near the Stratham Town Hall. Two occupants of the Metcalfe car and also the driver of the second car were pinned in the wreckage, one for 50 minutes.

S/Sgt. Jesse McDay, 24, of Minden, La., stationed at Pease AFB, had to wait until Stratham firemen cut away part of the front seat of his car before he could be removed from the wreckage.

Occupants of the Metcalfe car were Patrick Martin, 14, of South street, Exeter; his brother Dennis, 11; and John F. Willett, of 28 Franklin street, Exeter, all were seriously injured.

This was New Hampshire's 36th fatality of 1960 and came on the eve of a new crack-down policy initiated by Frederick N. Clark, Motor Vehicle Commission.

Former Local Resident Dies

Word has been received by Mrs. Ralph Kent of the death of former Newmarket resident, Betty Welch.

Miss Welch was a former teacher in Newmarket and is well remembered by many of the town's older citizens.

She died very suddenly in Willoughby, Ohio, where she had been teaching and living with her sister Mrs. Helen Welch Mulvanity.

NOTICE

The Town Ordinance Law forbidding all-night parking on all streets of the Town of Newmarket is now in effect, Dec. 1 to April 1.

This will be enforced by Police Dept.

For any car that will have to be removed, the towing service charge will have to be paid by the owner to recover his car. We are in hopes that this year the public will co-operate so as not to have the difficulty of last year, when a few had to pay a $10 recovery charge for removing their cars.

Per Order,

Stamp Collectors News

By Ione Kent

We may be entering a new era in transportation of mail. This new idea based somewhat on the V mail of World War II, is called speed mail. It may prove efficient for big business and government but might be discouraging to individuals and philatelists.

It is being tried between Washington, Chicago and Civil Defense headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich. The new system uses microwaves to send a letter between cities and then facsimile reproduction equipment to convert the wave impulses into the printed letter again.

We'd surely miss familiar hand writings, the facsimile is never like the original to old friends. The matter of postage has not been discussed. This part of the letter would concern all stamp lovers.

As for the subject of privacy, each letter gets a code number before it is opened. It is opened and read by a "Brain" and sent by microwaves to P.O. of destination. There it is reprinted into original form automatically, folded and sealed and sent to addressee without content noted by any living person. Each machine can send one letter every four seconds.

Perhaps a marvelous scientific achievement but a method

we hope will be limited to Civil Defense and government emergencies.

Starting Jan. 1, 1961, the Postal Administration requires envelopes containing other envelopes to be serviced on first day issue of a stamp, to be postmarked five days in advance of date of issue.

The 1 1/4c regular postage stamp was printed primarily to be used in pre-cancelled form for non-profit organizations. However, they were used on first day covers in the uncancelled form so must be legitimate.

Some postal clerks have refused to accept these stamps, uncancelled, for postage. The clerks must be wrong because of Postal Bulletin #20207, dated July 14, column 1 page 1, where validity is discussed.

Through The Years . . .

With Mary Richardson

In The Good Old Days

In 1831, what was known as Lovering's Orchard was divided into nine house lots and these were offered for sale by the Newmarket Manufacturing Co. Benjamin Watson bought lot #1 and built the Creighton house, now the Congregational parsonage.

Benjamin Tuttle bought lot #2 and built the Tasker house. Vincent Torr bought #3 and built the A. H. Place house. Ephraim Day bought lot #4 and built a house for himself, now owned by Thurman Priest.

Nancy and Thomas Cheswell, Orlando Langley and Susan Mathes bought the remaining lots and built houses in what was part of Lovering's Orchard. The last apple tree in this orchard was blown down in the front yard of Mrs. Z. Dow Creighton, in 1876.

In the spring of 1831 the people of Newmarket petitioned the selectmen to lay out a street from Tenney's Corner to the southern end of Lovering's Orchard. It was thought this short street would be of great benefit to those who had bought land and were building houses. Some of the taxpayers didn't like the idea and called the road "the new road to Boston."

The low land through which the "new road to Boston" was laid out, is now the northern end of Exeter street. For many years after this street was laid out, every year when the melting snow filled Solon's Brook to overflowing the lower part of Exeter street was a river.

Boats were frequently in use for a brief time. About 60 years ago a flood of unusual proportion swept away a section of the railroad south of the station and its force carried the iron rails, twisted and bent, through Exeter street leaving them at the foot of the hill in front of Nathan Stackpole's blacksmith shop. Cellars and foundations were flooded.

It was this disaster that caused the Boston and Maine Railroad to build a substantial stone culvert better to control Solon's Brook in the future.

Following is a list of Newmarket industries and institutions with dates of incorporation: Newmarket Social Library, incorporated in 1821; Newmarket Manufacturing Co., 1823; Newmarket Sacred Musical Society, 1825.

Newmarket Savings Bank, 1832; Eagle Manufacturing Co., 1833; Newmarket Iron Foundry, 1834; Newmarket Aqueduct Co., 1834; Newmarket Machine Co., 1847; Fire Engine Company, No. 1, 1852; Newmarket Gas Light Co., 1859.

Women had very little leisure. Such a thing as a baby-sitter was never heard of.

It was hard sometimes to get a doctor and our great grandmothers knew what to do. They always had an herb chamber. This was located up the back stairs.

In this unfurnished room, hanging from pegs, were bunches of motherwort, thoroughwort, St. John's wort, catnip, spearmint, mullein, tansy, wormwort, yarrow, pennyroyal, sage bay leaves, witch hazel, slippery elm, goldthread, pirola, balm o'gilead buds, snake's root, blood root and other roots and herbs.

We must not forget the large bowl of Goose oil which was used to rub the children's noses when they had a cold. There was pop corn hanging in traces from the rafters, walnuts spread on the floor to ripen and there were dried black berries and blueberries, dried apples and dried sweet corn.

The people of those days were very superstitious. Even now rapping on wood is well understood. If a horseshoe is found we pick it up for luck. If the new moon is seen over the right shoulder and if you have money in your pocket you know what to expect. If a mirror is broken you will have seven years of bad luck.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. Leo Hessler

Mrs. Leo Hessler died at her home in Washington, D. C., after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Hessler, the former Margaret O'Connor, was a resident of Newmarket for many years when she and her family resided on Pine street.

She is survived by her husband; four sons; a daughter; several grandchildren; a sister, Miss Regina O'Connor of New Britain, Conn.; two brothers, John and the Reverend Joseph O'Connor of Nashua, N. H.

Burial was in the Gate of Heaven Cemetery at Silver Spring, Maryland.

Practical Gift

A practical and educational Christmas gift for any youngster in your family is a bank savings account of his or her very own. Having a personal bank passbook makes small-fry feel important and it teaches the thrift habit at an early age.

Also, make sure your child has his own coin bank, cash box and money ledger — and you'll be amazed at the interest he'll take in his new "money collection".

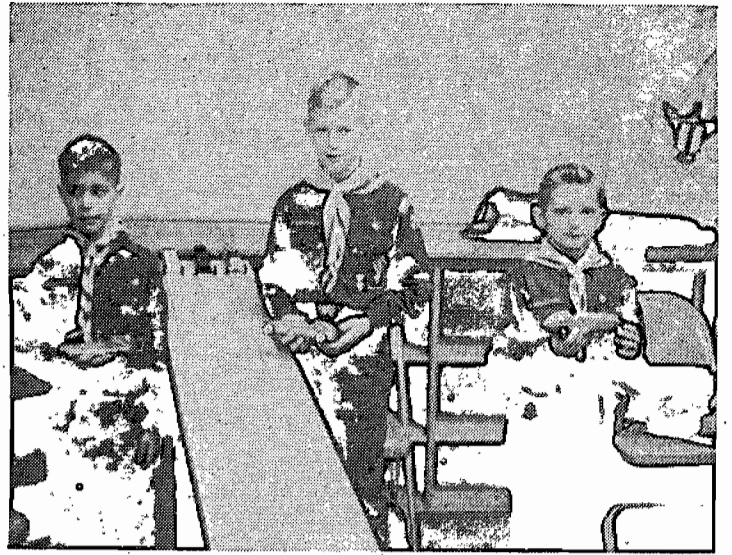

silver coin should be placed in its first bath. No one must be allowed to pass the baby on its way to the christening. He must have a clear line or folks will always get ahead of him.

Every town used to have its tailoress. She took the measure cut out and made the clothes of the men of the family, boarding where she worked. The town dressmaker was also in great demand. She went to work early each morning with a yardstick in one hand and a bag of sewing accessories in the other.

When she was fitting a person she always had her mouth full of pins, but this did not bother her much as she could talk, pins and all. She didn't even need a yardstick as from the tip of her nose to the end of her outstretched left hand was one yard.

CUB'S PINE DERBY RACE WINNERS

LOCAL CUB SCOUTS HOLD EXCITING PINE WOOD DERBY AT LIBRARY

The Pine Wood Derby, an exciting annual event enjoyed by the Newmarket Cub Scouts, took place Nov. 22 at the Newmarket Public Library.

Members of the three dens made their own racing stock cars which measured approximately 7 inches in length and weighed not more than 5 ozs. Each car had to meet rigid standard requirements before entering the derby. The track was loaned to the Newmarket boys by the cub scout pack committee members from Pease Air Force Base.

Track officials were as follows: Joseph Silveria, finish flagman; Robert Turcotte, starting flagman; Raymond LePage and Clarence Hodsdon, mechanics on duty with tool kits and drills to repair any damages occurring during the races; and Francis Piascik, inspector, whose responsibility was to weigh in the cars.

Judges for the races were Mrs. Francis Piascik, Kenneth Anderson and Frank Wheeler.

Races were run by dens with the following results: Winner of den #1, Richard Harclerode with a bright green and black model; winner of den #2, Bruce Hodsdon with a flashy red car; and winner of den #3, George LaPage with a blue and white car. Grand champion for the second consecutive year was Bruce Hodsdon.

Previous to the derby, den #2 opened the pack meeting with a flag salute and group rhythm clapping. Pack master Adelbert Clark then awarded Robert Nelson a one-year service star. Committee chairman Philip Mitchell explained the rules of the derby and track officials were then appointed.

Following the races, den #3 presented the closing ceremony.

The next pack meeting will be the Christmas meeting.

An urgent appeal is issued for more den mothers and committee men as there is a waiting list of boys anxious to join the cub scouts and unable to do so due to the lack of leaders. Anyone interested in providing the boys with such an opportunity is cordially invited to call either Mr. or Mrs. Philip Mitchell at OL 9-3488.

This method has proved so successful that it was adopted by the Exeter Amateur Radio Society when it recently started basic radio classes.

Radio amateurs in the Portsmouth area are reporting an upsurge of foreign contacts as the seasonal improvement of the radio spectrum, which accompanies winter, are being noted. Several stations in the Portsmouth area have reported multiple contacts with Russian amateurs recently. Restrictions were loosened in Russia about two years ago to allow their hams to make outside contacts.

Anyone interested in ham radio is urged to come to a club meeting at 7 p.m. on Thursday evenings in the club headquarters at the clinic building on Church street.

Leo Boisvert Of Newmarket Named Asst. Com. Manager

The club welcomed a new assistant leader, Mrs. Wyman Smith and a new member, Alan Smith.

Members who participated in the Deerfield Fair exhibition received their premium money.

Following the business meeting the members worked on their projects.

EAGLES ACTIVITIES

With Arthur J. LaBonte

Local Eagle leaders recently received a big assist with the publication and distribution of a brand new edition entitled "Our Aerie In Action", a handbook for local officers. This edition, covering the autumn months, was recently mailed out to Aerie presidents and secretaries and from now on will be published four times a year.

This new handbook, authorized by Judge Bob Hansen, seeks to outline the basic organizational structure of an Aerie, any Aerie, and to suggest special activities in various fields. It is a very handy reference book in which to list the officers, committee chairmen and committee members of the individual Aerie.

According to a special survey in the past years, this edition, called "Our Aerie In Action", has proved to be invaluable as a blueprint for activities in individual Aeries and also many local officers have found it helpful in charting a course of program activity for the year.

Many F.O.E. leaders have stated that if a local Aerie president would organize his Aerie's structure as suggested in this handbook and try at least some of the ideas proposed in it, he could not fail to have a successful year. So why not try? As progress is our password, I believe we could learn a lot in this new edition to better our own local organization.

At the Grand Aerie convention last June, another thing has been voted on and approved for next year. Beginning with the January, 1961 issue, the Eagle Leader, a monthly newspaper, will go only to sponsors of new members. Therefore, all other free subscriptions will be cancelled.

So the new rule is as follows: "Eagles who turn in a new member before Dec. 31, 1960, will automatically receive a free subscription to the Eagle Leader for the following six months and can renew that subscription for another half year by signing up another new member in that period. Anyone who has not signed up a new member in the designated six months span will receive the Eagle Leader in the next half year."

Editor Art Ehrmann states that this periodical will in the future have a new format and will be expanded to include many additional features of general Eagle interest.

So its up to the local members to try hard to sign up at least two or three candidates each year and receive this interesting periodical and we should remember also that in order to have a progressive Aerie we must look forward and attain our net gain each year. So let's all try to be an active F.O.E. member!

series, so we hope that more players will be present to win the fine prizes.

Later on, it is possible that another 10-game series will start after the holidays, which will be announced by the chairman, Eddie Dostie.

Last Sunday's winners were: floating prize, John A. Schanda; door prize, Lela Stanton; special prize, Helen Silver.

Game winners were William Colcord, Claire Hamel, Alice Bonefant, Yvonne Caswell and John A. Schanda.

Mark fragile gift packages "Handle With Care," paste your Christmas seals and "Do Not Open Until Christmas" stickers on the back of your Christmas cards and gift parcels so that the address label is easy to read.

Be sure you use first-class postage on all Christmas cards. When your cards go by first-class mail you can include written messages, and you will be sure that they will be forwarded or returned if the addressee has moved.

Mail the out-of-state cards by Dec. 10 and all cards for local delivery at least a week before Christmas. Cards to Canada and Mexico 4c.

Follow these simple suggestions regarding your Christmas mailing and everyone will have a much merrier Christmas.

Up to Nov. 28, deer hunters have tagged 3,435 deer. The total 1960 kill has dropped behind the 1959 kill which was 3,654.

The 1960 total is broken down as follows: 1,923 bucks, 1,483 does and 29 unclassified due to poorly written tags.

Residents have taken 2,472, non-residents 897 and minors 66. The kill ratio, comparing resident with non-resident hunters, shows that three residents to one non-resident make up the 1960 deer kill.

There are roughly 20,000 non-resident hunters and 45,000 resident. The figures show that out-of-staters enjoy a higher percentage of hunter success.

The reason for this higher percentage is probably due to the fact that out-of-staters put in more time with regular hunting vacations in choice deer country.

The bear kill up to Nov. 28 was 96, with 59 bears, 36 sows and 1 unclassified.

The mild weather we have been enjoying will drive the 1960 bear kill above 1959 as the bear have not started to den up.

With the opening of the southern counties to deer huntings, more hunters will see and get bear. Look for a new high in 1960.

The Fish and Game Commission has sent out its annual partridge survey cards to various hunters.

This new type card survey may prove to be the answer to an accurate grouse tabulation. Who knows better then the partridge hunter!

Duck season is just about over and with no ice in the rivers and ponds you can still bag a limit up in the fresh water holes.

The fresh water boys enjoyed a good season. The mild weather and no ice drew the ducks out of the bay. The bay boys had a slow year. The bay is still loaded with blacks and geese, but they have been staying out of gun range. What the salt water boys want is a good stiff northeast storm which will stir up the ducks.

If old Hod Atherton had to depend on the ducks he has shot this year to stay alive I am afraid he would be as thin as old Uncle Flub's coon dog. Getting Hod to hunt fresh water is as hard as getting a dry fly trout fisherman to use night crawlers.
