Defeats Mrs. J. Loisel In Demo. Caucus Upset

One of the biggest upsets in local political history was registered at the Democratic Caucus on Monday night when Albert W. "Bud" Caswell, Sr. defeated Mrs. Jennie Loisel for the position of Tax Collector, by a vote of 143 to 114.

Mrs. Loisel has been tax collector in Newmarket for ten years.

The Democratic Caucus was opened by the town Democratic chairman, Arthur Beauchesne, who called for the election of a clerk and a moderator for the ensuing year. Robert Rousseau was elected clerk and John Jordan, moderator. The polls were then opened at 8:00 p.m. and closed at 11:00 p.m. Two hundred fifty-seven votes were cast.

There were no other contests on the slate and the following were elected by a single vote cast for each:

Nick Zuk for Selectman for three years; Robert E. Labranche for Treasurer for one year; Robert D. Rousseau for Town Clerk for one year and Roy Kent for Trustee of the Trust Funds for three years.

There has been increased interest in local politics this year with the local Republican party announcing a complete slate of candidates to be voted on at the Town Meeting.

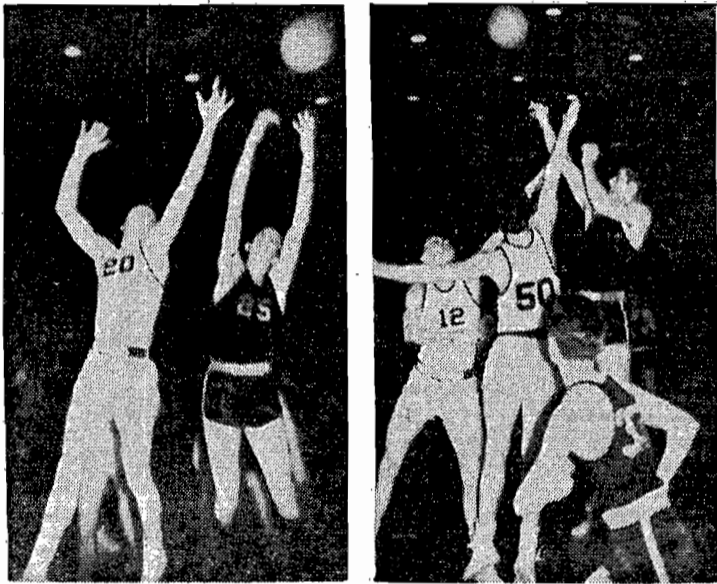

The following Republican candidates have filed with the Executive Committee for the Republican Caucus to be held Saturday, March 4, at the Town Hall.

For the office of Selectman: Armand Lepage; Town Treasurer, Donald Mullen; Tax Collector, David Moore; Cemetery Trustee, Roy Kent.

Miss Jordan Is Awarded Youth Medal

The Most Reverend Ernest J. Primeau, Bishop of Manchester, presented ten young people from New Hampshire, The Eagle and The Cross Medal for their outstanding service to God, country and fellow youth. Miss Marsha Jordan of St. Mary's C.Y.O. was among the ten so honored at the First Diocesan Youth Congress banquet held at St. Joseph's Auditorium, Manchester.

The purpose of the Eagle and the Cross Medal is to cultivate in our Catholic youth an appreciation of their faith and a lasting desire for personal and moral integrity. To reward, with proper recognition, young people who have shown particular zeal in the betterment of their own Catholic Youth program in order that they might courageously discharge their responsibilities in the service of God, country and fellow youth.

Marsha has been active in St. Mary's C.Y.O. for the past four years and has held the office of treasurer and secretary. Miss Jordan has been the parish delegate to the deanery for three years and she has represented the southeast deanery as a delegate to the Diocesan Youth Council during the past two years. Last May, Marsha was elected by her fellow delegates to the post of secretary of the Diocesan Youth Council.

Main Street Musings

BY THE INQUIRER

WE RECENTLY read a provocative article concerned with the serious problem facing each one of us in our present complex society, i.e.; whether to participate in the affairs of men or to be a passive by-stander. The author said, "How we choose to be involved is up to each of us individually. Surely to be men of our time, to be alive in the fullest sense of the word implies a willingness not only to stand by and be counted but also to engage in some activity in which we believe."

How easy it is to kick off the shoes after a busy day, settle back in a favorite chair and turn on TV, conveniently forgetting the budget hearings, the PTA meetings, town and school meetings and work with the Little League and Scouts.

It takes a little effort and courage to put aside these comforts, shake off the lethargy and show an active interest beyond the scope of the TV screen. It takes a lot more courage to stand up and be counted, to speak up and stick by one's ideals and convictions, for the truth is not always popular.

Enthusiasm is as contagious as lethargy and with a little effort on everyone's part an active participation in civic enterprises and town affairs would create a healthier and more vibrant community.

SPEAKING OF civic interest, our hats are off to the "faithful four" and their small handful of youthful scout assistants, who dedicatedly spent all their evening hours and weekends dismantling the old Brisson block.

It seems incredible that in a town this size, there are only four men out of the total male population willing to give their time and effort to such a worthwhile project.

DON'T FORGET the Little League meeting on this coming Monday, March 6, at the Town Hall. Here is a chance to volunteer a few hours a week for a wonderful cause. Let's see some new faces and give the kids a lift!

WE FINISHED off our first pint of maple syrup last Wednesday, Feb. 15, and in our syrup making annals this is a record. We're wondering if anyone beat us to it; if so we'd like to hear from you. Perhaps we rushed the season this year because we always feel once the sap begins to run, Spring must be just around the corner.

Stamp Collectors News

By Ione Kent

The Postmaster General Day has given to the press his ideas for his postal system. There is to be but one Postmaster General and he will be the one.

He has asked the Civil Service Commission to take the 15 jobs of postal regional directors out of Civil Service. "The regional directors must reflect our point of view", said Mr. Day. New management in the Postal business like new management in any big business needs new key personnel.

Also promotion standards are to be reviewed.

Resumption of twice daily mail in deliveries in residential areas are being considered.

A negro is to be named to highest position ever held by one of that race in the postal system.

He would reduce expenses by not spending 3 million in outside management consulting fees. There is expert advice already in the Federal Government.

He would cut down the "tremendous" number of movies made by the Department and lower cost for travel and publicity. (Evidently he means to curtail public relations.)

Though he intends to have an open door policy, he doesn't want a lot of people running around telling the Post Office what it ought to do.

Five stamps have been issued so far this year — but none of these were planned by Mr. Day. So one might say his year started after Feb. 3rd. Mr. Day has scheduled so far just one stamp for 1961, for the 100th Anniversary of the bombardment of Fort Sumpter, Apr. 12. He is planning four more stamps of the Civil War series but only this one will be issued this year. Many fans think he should issue two a year in the Civil War series.

We have been told that the "Dumas" Commemorative series of Haiti issued Feb. 28th is one of the more beautiful sets of stamps issued anywhere in recent years.

Two rockets carried mail recently from Clark County, Nev., over the state line into California — each rocket carrying over 1,000 envelopes. This was on Feb. 2, the anniversary of the first mail carried by rocket thirty years ago when 102 pieces were sent from one small town in Austria to the next small town. That rocket was launched by Frederick Schmiel.

Many advertisements are tempting to the young beginner. They offer free stamps with approvals. These young people should have their parents consent to send for these as approval stamps require care. Each person sending for these is responsible for the total cost of the stamps. Any stamps removed from the set must be replaced by the right amount of money. Also, if the stamp sent on approval add up to a large sum, they should be insured on their return — an added expense.

The same young people, if they are beginners, and have beginner friends, can send for mixtures and have much fun picking out what they lack and swapping their duplicates. If their friends send for different kinds of mixtures, the swapping should be fun. However, if later they want stamps of one country, they can send for mixtures all from that country. Some mixtures advertise, "No two alike."

Parents of children interested in stamps may help by buying for their regular postage use, commemorative instead of the regular 4c Sirecoln. Where they write frequently to some relative or friend, they could ask the friend of relative to please return the commemorative in their reply letter. Perhaps they have received others which they would enclose. By saving the current issues the children may have envied collections when they are grown up. The parents could also save a single mint stamp. If they bought the whole sheet of commemoratives they should save the plate numbers and the block of four adjoining it. (Each sheet you buy of commemorative stamps in P.O. has a number in one corner. The corner is not always the same, but just as valuable). A few collectors save blocks of 6 but most collectors are content with blocks of four.

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for member-at-large of the Oyster River School Board at the annual meeting on March 22. I have been a resident of the Town of Madbury for the past twelve years and have served in various town offices during that period. For five years, I was a member of the faculty of the Thompson School of Agriculture at the University and since that time have conducted my own poultry business here in Madbury. In the event that Dr. Everett Sackett decides to continue to serve the board by announcing his candidacy, I will withdraw my name in his favor.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Fifteen scouts were present at our meeting last Thursday evening. Meeting was opened by Senior Patrol Leader Gary Dubrioul at 6:30 p.m. The entire evening was spent in practicing knot tying.

The following boys participated in the Scout-A-Magundi that was held Feb. 22, at the Exeter Academy Calt: Larry Gowen, Gerry Eichholt, Robert Mariotti, Robert Loisel, Paul St. Pierre and Daniel Dziedzic. The Patrol placed third and received a Yellow Ribbon.

Ronald Bloom and John Willey, members of the Order of The Arrow, were judges in the knot tying contest.

We are progressing fairly well in the razing of the old Brisson Block but it could come down a lot faster if we had more help. So how about it — MEN and FATHERS — come on down a few hours each night and week ends and help us!

My Experience as a School Marm

After graduating from Newmarket High School, we were told that there would be an examination at the school for those who wished to become school teachers. Three of the graduates, Hattie Pendergast, Bertha Dame and myself, took advantage of the offer and took the examinations, which were not hard at all.

We all passed. I was told by the superintendent that I could have a school in Alton. In the meantime Hattie had been offered a position in the Electric Light office, which she accepted.

The day after Labor Day, I started for my teaching job, as school was to commence Wednesday. I had to change cars at Dover for Alton. When I arrived at my destination I was met by a nice looking man. He said his name was Glidden, and was I the new school marm? I said I was and then after taking my suitcase escorted me to a nice looking team.

It was a beautiful day and I enjoyed the ride. We went up a steep hill and stopped at a big white house, with a large lawn in front. A big black dog came to meet us and an angora cat and four kittens were playing on the lawn. Mrs. Glidden then came to the door and said for us to come to supper. It was a good supper and we did full justice to it.

After this Mrs. Glidden showed me my room. It was such a pretty room with three large windows. I then went out and played with the kittens until dark. Even the hens were friendly. They walked around me and decided I would "do." Dog Dick became my body-guard. He had to be shut in the shed the first day of school for fear he would follow me.

The school was at the foot of the big hill. I was there bright and early waiting for my scholars. Soon one came and then two more and finally I had six, and as it was past the hour of starting school, I called them to order. The next day two large boys came, George and Harry.

Mrs. Glidden had told me about George—that he was an awful kid. Well, for the first few days you couldn't find a better boy, but the next week he started. He began during school hours going to the out-house every two or three hours. I stopped that by telling him he would have to make up all the time he lost by staying after school. The result was I had a visit from "mama", and did she tell me something! But I won out in the end.

Then there was Ivan. He said his mother wanted me to teach him to read and she sent me notes at different time to that effect, so I had Ivan read, if you call it that, five or six times a day and even kept him after school and that was enough—I never heard another word about Ivan's reading.

Then there was Edie, a good little girl who had to go a long way to school. I decided we would give a concert, speaking pieces and singing, and invite the parents. The children liked the idea. By this time I had fifteen pupils. After the pieces were learned we would rehearse them in the afternoon.

Every time I asked Harry to rehearse his piece he refused, saying he would say it the next day. Finally I lost patience and told him to say his piece or stay after school. He said he would rather stay after school, so I told him to stay. I turned my back for a few minutes and hearing a noise looked around just in time to see Harry going head-first out the open window. I tried to pull him back but couldn't.

For heat in the school we had a square stove that would take large pieces of wood. The stove pipe ran along the top of the room so our heads were hot and our feet cold. The wood was given us and the boys were supposed to saw it and build the fire in the morning. It was Harry's morning to do this, and I didn't know as he would after his "set-to" but I found the wood cut and the fire built. As this was the day of the school concert, everyone came dressed in their best.

The show started at two p.m. and most of the mothers came. The children did well and Harry best of all, but just as they started to sing "America", a black streak came through the window and landed in the middle of the room. Some of the company were so startled they cried out. What was it? Why my dog, Dick! He saw the window open and decided to jump through and attend the concert too.

In those days it was the custom for the teachers to visit their scholars at their homes, so one Saturday I started out and thought I would visit Edie first. It was a long walk and the first thing I saw coming around the corner of the house was the biggest hog I ever saw. The kitchen door was open and I think he had been in there. Edie came running to meet me and took me in to see her mother. The house was not much more than a shack, with no screens in the windows.

Next I went to see Henry and his sister Mary. They lived in a pretty little cottage. I was invited into the parlor and Mary wanted me to come out in the kitchen and see Rosebud. I asked who Rosebud was and Mary showed me a dear little pig with a curly tail, skin like satin, all pinky pale.

As it was getting quite late in the afternoon I decided to put off the rest of my calls until later. One Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Glidden and I went to call on Mrs. Clark and her twelve cats. Mrs. Glidden asked if Mrs. Clark would show us her patchwork quilts, which she did. They were very beautiful.

Mrs. Glidden said if I wanted to go to church Sundays, to ask our next door neighbors, brother Thomas and his sister Ella, if I could ride to church with them in their "carry-all." I went over Saturday and asked them and they said they would be pleased to have me.

The brother had a large flock of Plymouth Rock hens and when they had chicken for dinner Ella always saved the feathers. She soon had a large pile. She sent them away to be made into a cape. When it came back it was a cape all right and it extended below her waist. Ella thought it was beautiful. The cape was all right when it was pleasant but when it rained it smelled like Sam Hill.

Mrs. Glidden's son Seldon worked in the box factory in Alton. He boarded at one of the houses during the week and his father would go for him every Saturday night with the old horse and buggy and take him back to work Monday morning. There was a young girl by the name of Addie where he boarded and she tried in every way to attract his attention, and almost every Saturday night she and her poodle would go home with Seldon for the weekend.

One Saturday night she had that pup all dressed up with a big "yaller" ribbon around his neck and the pooch had been scrubbed and perfumed and was she a sweet pup. Well, this night when they came home, Beauty wanted to stay out a while. Addie said, "All right, but don't get dirty." He was out quite a long time and finally scratched at the door to come in. Addie opened the door and what a sight! That pup was soaking wet and all mud and his beautiful bow was dragging in the dirt and "holy cats," what a smell! That blamed animal had found a nasty mess and rolled in it. Addie grabbed him, put him in the family wash tub out on the porch and scrubbed him with soap suds. All this time Dick sat looking at him in disgust.

It was nearing Thanksgiving and I decided not to go home but wait until Christmas and then go home and stay as there was no school January and February and when school opened in March, I could go back to my job. But I did not go back, as my mother needed me and I secured a job where I could go home every night.

Easter Seal Agency Lists Services Rendered During Record Year

Greater knowledge and skill in treating crippled children and adults and more direct services to the physically handicapped than ever before made 1960 a record year of progress for the Easter Seal Agency of New Hampshire reported Forrest M. Eaton, President of the Agency.

Eaton also points out that comprehensive rehabilitation services were rendered at the treatment centers, and homebound and speech programs and other projects under the Easter Seal banner during the past year.

The Easter Seal Agency of New Hampshire directly served 1,363 crippled persons, 17,175 treatments under doctors' prescription were given at the Manchester and Portsmouth Centers, serving all communities in the State. In addition to this, 746 home visits and contacts were made in behalf of the homebound patients. The Agency also gave substantial practical help to parents, families and professional persons who work with the physically handicapped, according to Mrs. Frances P. Fitzgerald, Executive Secretary of the Easter Seal Agency.

The broad scope of the services provided by the Agency include aid for persons crippled at birth, accident or disease, plus victims of strokes and those with speech defects. Among the services offered are, physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, vocational training and guidance, job placement, psychological evaluations and recreation.

"A large part of these services," Eaton said, "are financed by funds made available through public support of the annual Easter Seal Drive. This year's Easter Seal campaign opened March 2. We look to 1961 as being another record year of service by the Easter Seal Agency to the handicapped of our state.

"Additional funds could expand our present program to include all who need our services. It is my earnest hope that the 1961 Easter Seal Drive in New Hampshire will prove the best to date," said Eaton.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Taxpayers of Newmarket — it is nearing the day when the taxpayers of Newmarket will be asked to attend the Town Meeting March 14 at 8 p.m.

There are a few facts that should be brought to the attention of all citizens of this town. It is the only way to show how their taxes are being spent. I urge every citizen to read the Town Budget, Town Warrant and the School Board Budget. Careful study of these budgets will inform you of how your tax dollar is being spent.

If these budgets are approved and voted for at these meetings the expenses of the town will increase approximately $35,000. more than that of last year.

The school tax last year was $137,775.65 and if their budget goes through this year it will be $163,886.58.

Last year the cost per pupil in our schools were as follows: high school, $489.73 per pupil; elementary, $283.31 per pupil. I believe this is the highest in Rockingham County.

If all the articles in the Town Warrant are approved and passed, the town tax will be $16,000.00 higher than the budget the selectmen drew up. This total would be $142,997.00.

As was stated in THE NEWMARKET TIMES last week, approximately 40 people attended the Budget Committee meeting. I, as a citizen of Newmarket, cannot understand the lack of interest shown by the taxpayers of this town. When they receive their tax bill next September, and believe me it is quite certain to be a lot higher than last year's, they will seek out the selectmen and ask "how come my taxes are so high this year?"

The selectmen have no control over how you vote to spend this money. You, the voters of Newmarket — vote to spend this money. All the selectmen can do is find a way to raise the money to pay these bills and, of course, that is through taxation.

The selectmen of Newmarket were informed by the State Tax Commission last year that should the tax rate go to $80.00 per thousand, the town would have to use 50% of valuation instead of the 35% we used last year. I think you should give this a lot of thought.

My only reason in writing this letter is to try to get the voters of Newmarket to make a careful study of the proposed budgets and to attend these two important meetings.

The way you vote is your privilege.

Sincerely,
C. D. HALEY

Over 600 persons attended the Class L play-off basketball game which was held in the Newmarket High School gym Monday evening.

Spaulding High of Rochester won eighth place over Bishop Bradley of Manchester in a tight game, scoring 41-38.

Coach Johnny Parker of the Rochester Raiders protested the use of the St. Anselm's gym as previously scheduled, when he learned the Bradley team had been using the court for scrimmages with the St. Anselm's freshman squad.

The basketball committee of the state association therefore picked neutral Newmarket as the site for the play-off.

NATION 4-H CLUB WEEK TO BE OBSERVED MARCH 4-11

More than 560 young people in Strafford County will join in observing National 4-H Club Week from March 4-11. The local youth, 9 to 21 years of age, are among the 2½ million 4-Hers of America who belong to 4-H clubs in rural, urban and suburban communities.

Among the special 4-H Week activities planned for Strafford County are: Window displays by the different clubs in various stores throughout the county; Many of the individual clubs will be having special activities of their own during the week. One of these special club activities will be sponsored by the 4-H Junior Leaders Association which plans to hold an open meeting on Wednesday, Mar. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Police Court Room, Rochester. The topic of the meeting will be on Teenagers and Dating. Any teenager interested in discussing this topic will be welcome to attend.

What Is 4-H?

4-H Club work is an educational program for boys and girls, 9 to 2 years of age, who live in towns, cities and rural areas. There are now about 2½ million members in the United States.

Members belong to clubs of general or specialized interests and they carry out individual or group projects of many different kinds.

It's A Community Program - 4-H clubs were started in the early 1900's by community people for their boys and girls. It is still a community program. Events, activities and projects outlined or supervised on a county, state or national basis, are the result of suggestions made by residents of the communities throughout the land.

Organization of 4-H

Club work for young citizens is supported cooperatively by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the various state and county governments. Here in New Hampshire, and in Strafford County, 4-H is a part of the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of New Hampshire.

In Strafford County, the 4-H program is directed by two 4-H Club agents, Johnson T. Platt, County 4-H Club agent, and Mrs. Barbara B. Davis, assistant 4-H Club agent. These two agents cooperate with the County Extension Service Council in developing the program.

In the various communities of the county, responsible adult volunteer leaders work directly with the 4-H club members. At the present time, there are about 110 volunteer 4-H leaders in Strafford County, but there is still a need for many more.

How 4-H Works

Several tools are used to mold the 4-H program — the club, the project and the county, state and national events.

The club is composed of five or more youngsters and one or more volunteer leaders.

The club members elect their own officers, meet by their own schedules and plan their own activities. Meetings are devoted to project instruction, planning events and recreation. Leaders instruct and guide the members.

"learn, live, serve through 4-H"

The project is a basic tool. A member must agree to carry out at least one project outlined by the New Hampshire Cooperative Extension Service. Both members and leaders receive free instructional materials.

County, state and other events round out the program. These include judging and demonstration contests, dress revues, fairs, tours, officer training schools, 4-H camp, award programs and recreational activities.

Ex-Governor Dale To Head Regional WENH-TV Drive

Durham, N. H. — Former Governor Charles M. Dale of Portsmouth will head a fund drive in the Seacoast Region for WENH-TV, New Hampshire's educational television station. The station has opened a state-wide canvass which is to be conducted on a regional plan.

In accepting the leadership of the fund raising effort for WENH-TV in the Seacoast Region, Governor Dale states that he has done so because of a "strong conviction that any facility that widens the educational opportunity for our children deserves support."

This is no idle phrase on the part of Governor Dale as it was he who gave both the land and building for the WENH transmitter. His timely support proved a deciding factor in preserving Channel 11 for education. In actual value, it ran into many thousands of dollars.

Main Street Landmark Now Being Demolished

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In view of the fact that the Brisson building was one of Newmarket's oldest landmarks, we thought it appropriate to publish a short history of the structure before it was totally demolished.)

Joseph Brisson's Store
by Mary Richardson

Many years ago at the beginning of the Civil War two strangers came to town. They visited the stores and all the points of interest and seemed very pleased with what they saw. Everyone was asking who they were and what were they going to do, but no one seemed to know. They did not have long to wait. Soon carpenters were busy erecting a large building at the corner of Main and Church streets. The Arthur Brancomb tavern stood on the site of Turcott's Hardware store and the lot where the Branscomb store was, was where the large building was going up. The men who had been looking things over were S. A. and B. F. Haley. They were building a wholesale tailoring establishment. Shortly after the incorporation of the New Market Bank the senior partner, Samuel A. Haley, became cashier of the bank and retired from the partnership, the business thereafter being conducted exclusively by his brother, Benjamin Haley. Mr. Haley installed a custom tailoring department, in addition to the already large manufacturing business. This was during the Civil War and many of the uniforms of the soldiers were made there as well as band uniforms. Mr. Haley sold furniture, clothing and other articles on please his customers, as is shown by the following anecdote: A customer came in the store one day and said she wanted some potatoes and wanted them all the same size as she wanted them to bake, and so Jo took her into the back room, knelt on the damp floor and looked over the whole bag of "tatera" so she could have the right size to bake.

Mr. Brisson retired in March 1959. Everyone was sorry when he gave up and they still miss him.

After he closed his store, he used to come to town everyday and talk to his friends, but there came a time when he was unable to do so, and then we learned our friend had left us. He was 79 years old. He had lived in Newmarket for 74 years.

The Brisson building was sold to Robert Labranch, who sold it to Sgt. Eickholt for the sum of $1 and an agreement to tear down and dispose of it to make room for a parking lot for IGA customers.

Jo's friends will miss the old store as they pass through town. It has been there for many years and is like an old friend.

NEW FOR SPRING AND SUMMER

He's air-minded . . . and air-conditioned, too. His lightweight Hart Schaffner & Marx tropical suit is as cool as a jet stream. The styling is '61's new London Look, here, interpreted in an olive plaid with taste and talent by Hart Schaffner & Marx. The coat is slightly shorter, the chest area more full, the waistline subtly suppressed and the lapels a trifle wider—which, in total, create a new silhouette for spring and summer. Available in specially lightweight fabrics for the new season. Hart Schaffner & Marx' local dealer is Stuart Shaines' of Dover.

the first floor of his store. Following is a bill which Mr. Haley sent to Charles Young of Newmarket in 1871:— Bought of B. F. Haley, Manufacturer of fine clothing and dealer in silks, shawls, dress goods, clothes, hats, caps, furs, furniture; Charles Young, Dr., for two chamber sets, one wool carpet, and one straw matting. Amount owed for same, $100.

On the second floor hand sewing was done by the ladies and many took garments home and made the buttonholes in them. Some of those who were employed in the shop were Mrs. Sarah Chapman, Miss Esther Wheeler, Mrs. Lizzie Dame and Mrs. Bertha Smith.

Men working on the second and third floor pressing, cutting and putting together were Ernest Harvey, foreman and some who were employed there were Walter Ham, Fred and Charles Ellison, John Brown and Charles Demerett.

Business was rushing for a time with as many as 500 employed. One evening two Newmarket youths broke into the store and stole several articles. The parents of the boys made the loss good and nothing more was done about it.

Mr. Haley, after his business began to fall off, sold it to Louis Young of Newmarket. Louis borrowed the money from Charles Smith. He was not a very good manager, so after a short time he gave up and sold the building to Joseph Brisson.

At that time the second story was used for a bowling alley. The Fraternal Order of Eagles for quite a while used it to hold their meetings in.

Several years ago the large back room was used as a restaurant by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramsdell. Miss Florence Stevens was employed as a waitress. At one time Sydney Langley of Durham had a shooting gallery there.

Joseph Brisson operated the Brisson Market for 55 years. His daughter, Mrs. Alice Hawkins, worked for him as clerk for several years. It was a homey, pleasant store and Jo was not only your grocery man but your friend. He was always anxious to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota's famed Twin Cities will be host to the 1961 Grand Aerie Convention it was announced recently by the Board of Grand Trustees.

The convention dates have been set as August 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Centrally located and easily accessible from all parts of the United States and Canada, the convention site is expected to attract a record throng of visitors and delegates and it is expected also, that an unusually great number of drill and ritualistic teams will be on hand for competition.

Grand Aerie convention sessions will be held at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis. Preliminary commitments indicate that housing facilities for the convention will be more than adequate for all delegates. The convention parade is already scheduled for Saturday afternoon, August 12th in downtown Minneapolis in what is expected to be the biggest parade in F.O.E. history.

Many Aeries and states are already making arrangements to bring floats, musical units, uniformed ranks, and marching units to this big parade. Naturally, plans are being made early so that Eagle Aeries will have plenty of time to raise funds necessary to bring their marching units to this big affair.

As an additional attraction to potential participants, the committee in charge announced a rich prize list to be competed by all units in various categories, such as drill teams, marching clubs, Aerie officers, floats and musical units. Therefore this big parade seems to be the Convention highlight.

Further particulars on the convention and information on housing applications will be sent out later on to all Aeries.

We certainly hope that the Lamprey Aerie No. 1934 will send at least two delegates to represent Newmarket, N. H. at this big 1961 convention.

We look for the many faithful blood donors and are in hopes that new ones will be present at the March drawing.

The opening of a new regional blood center in Puerto Rico brings to fifty-five the number of regional programs operated by the American Red Cross. The collection of blood at the centers and through visits of mobile units to outlying areas annually supplies about 40 per cent of all blood used in the nation. Last year 2,422,000 pints were collected and distributed to doctors and hospitals for the use of their patients.

In order to maintain such a constant flow of blood to the doctors and hospitals it is important that every person understands the urgent appeals made for volunteer donors at every bloodmobile drawing.

American Legion News

By Fred L. Beale

The next regular meeting of the Robert G. Durgin Post will be held Monday, Mar. 6, with the 50/50 Club holding their drawing.

As a salute to the 42nd birthday of the American Legion, which will be celebrated Mar. 15-17, a special television feature film has been prepared by a nationally known newsreel firm for distribution to its clients.

More than eighty television stations in major metropolitan areas throughout the nation will receive this special tribute to the American Legion, prepared and distributed by Richard B. Morris, Inc., in association with Hearst Metro-tone Newsreel.

This news feature film, which will be shown under the title of "Almanac" is about five minutes long and incorporates excerpts from "We Who Serve", the Hollywood-produced movie which tells the American Legion Story. The TV birthday salute will present a panorama of American Legion service in the fields of Americanism, child welfare, rehabilitation and national security.

Meanwhile, requests for birthday promotional materials from National headquarters indicate elaborate plans are being made throughout the 17,000-post network of the American Legion for this gigantic 42nd anniversary party.

Demand has been great for the co-operative advertising mats as well as the suggested spot announcement scripts and slides for radio and television use. The mats, which come in three sizes, provide a ready-made salute to the 42nd birthday for use in newspapers and under the sponsorship of local merchants and businessmen or by the post itself.

Many posts are reported to be planning special initiations of new members as a part of the anniversary celebration. Others are planning dinners honoring post founders and past commanders. In thousands of post homes, American Legion Auxiliary members will join with their Legionnaire hus-

Junior High Tourney Eagles Win At Shuffleboard

The Junior High Basketball tournament games will again be held in Newmarket this year and will start Monday, March 6. Teams competing will include Durham, Newmarket, St. Mary's of Newmarket, St. Mary's of Rochester, two Jr. High teams from Portsmouth, Epping, Candia, Nottingham and St. Martin's of Somersworth.

Games will be played every evening next week with final play-offs scheduled for Sunday, March 12.

Tuesday, Feb. 21, at the Lamprey Aerie club room the Eagles' shuffleboard team were host to the Legion shuffleboard team. The league leading Eagles' team managed to capture four out of six of the points to maintain a two point advantage over the Polish Club team.

The most interesting game of the evening occurred when the Legion teams' high scoring man this season, Red White, came up with twenty points during the third match, only to go down in defeat 21 to 20, as Eddie Dostie came up with nineteen points for the Eagles in this same contest.

We have heard it rumored around shuffleboard circles that the outcome of this contest would have been different had Red's regular partner, Ralph "Jabby" Silver been on hand.

bands, sons, fathers and brothers to make the birthday a family affair with old-fashioned "pitch-in" dinners.

The Robert G. Durgin Post held their initiation Night on Feb. 18 and will hold their birthday party on Mar. 18 at the club. Only members are invited and their wives, sisters, mothers and daughters. The unmarried members will naturally bring their lady friends.

More on this in later issues of THE NEWMARKET TIMES.

Steel that loses its temper is worthless — so are men. The fellow who faces the music eventually gets to lead the band. Enough said!

L. O. Trottier Win Radio at Penny Sale

John Sakowski of Durham won a boys' bicycle and L. O. Trottier of Newmarket won a radio at the recent penny sale at St. Thomas Aquinas High School in Dover.

Many other area residents participated in the sale which was conducted by the St. Thomas Aquinas Men's Club and Ladies' Guild for the benefit of the school athletic program.

The students assisted in the program with 110 boys and girls selling tickets, parking cars and distributing prizes.

CIVIC DEPARTMENT FORMS SCHEDULE FOR PLAYGROUND

The summer playground program was the main topic of discussion at the last meeting of the Civic Department of the Newmarket Women's Club, held at the home of Mrs. Stella Waugh at Rockingham Junction Thursday evening.

There were ten members present and three guests; Mrs. Polly Polchlopek, WC president; Edward F. O'Connor, Jr., who has been secured as the playground director; and Mrs. Doris Paradise, who will again act as assistant playground director.

It was decided that the summer activities would start July 10 and run for six weeks.

The summer playground is sponsored every year by the Civics Department.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Mrs. Helen Mitchell, Mrs. Beatrice Geoffrion and Mrs. Stella Waugh.

Reported sightings of black ducks place these birds in some strange locations. A single black was spotted in the I.G.A. back yard, a pair were seen swimming happily in a puddle in the middle of Durham Point road. Others were seen on the railroad tracks, below the Lamprey River dam and in various fields and barn yards.

When you find blacks this far from their regular feeding grounds it points toward trouble in the Bay. The "Black" needs shallow flats to feed as he is a so-called puddle duck. The long, cold spell froze these flats solid so he must range as a sea gull to pick up his 3 squares. Many of these ducks will die before the ice leaves the Bay — so hope for an early ice-out.

Trout season is just around the corner as the season opens on the 4th Saturday of April which falls on the 22nd. Get your rods and lines ready and check your hook points. A few passes with an oil stone should remove the burrs. Spinning reels should be disassembled and dusted out as they seem to pick up fuzz through the summer. Touch up your favorite lures with some fresh dope or paint. The above list should keep you busy for a few hours if you can get your wife to do the dishes for one night!! I tried last night with very poor luck . . . now who ever heard of a true sport with dish-pan hands??

Some of the local salt water fishermen have had some fine luck bow netting Great Bay smelts. Catches well over 30 pounds a tide have been reported. These smelts were just loaded with spawn which may indicate an early run at the dam. As the ice has broken up quite badly in the river and bay it would not be advisable to try your luck with a net. Old-timers claim the smelt run will not start for another month. But the plumpness and color of the smelt spawn point toward an earlier date. Try the Oyster River around the 15th of March.

Hunting Bills to watch closely:

H.B. #71 — Ought to pass as amended. (Amended would remove coy-dogs from list of animals upon which bounty will be paid as called for in the original bill.)

H.B. #98 — Removes owls from list of protected birds.

H.B. # 179 — Prohibits Sunday hunting for deer. Divides the state into three zones with dates as follows: Northern Zone (above Route 2) from October 20; Middle Zone (Rtes. 25 and 113) — November 10-December 10; Southern Zone — December 1-21.

H.B. #181 — Limits loads to be used in shotguns to a "single ball" for hunting deer in those towns which are restricted to "shotgun only" deer hunting. Thus eliminates use of buck-shot in said towns.

H.B. #192 — Provides for a deer season from October 20 to November 20 in Coos County and from November 20 to December 10 in the rest of the state.

Mules Lose To Kennett Eagles In Tournament

by Ronnie Griswold

The Kennett High Eagles of the southeastern New Hampshire championship, which is fought for between Exeter, Oyster River, Somersworth, Holy Rosary, Hampton, Sanborn and Newmarket. The Mules won two games from each team and showed the fans in Newmarket that they were able to come up with a good season even if they are a small school. The Mules ended up with a 21-2 season which is an excellent record. The seniors played a terrific role in the games, with Byron, Szabo, Jordan, Gagne, Homiak and Sklarski, who will not be back next year. The team deserves much credit and Coach Mel Cross should be complimented on his fine job of developing such a great team.

Kennett moved ahead in the first period, 11-6. But, in the second period, the Red started to play better ball and had the mid-period tally at 14-13, thanks to two fouls shots by Denny Sklarski. To add to the Mules' problems, Denny had four fouls by the end of the second quarter which meant he would have to sit it out for a while. Bryon now had to play his best game as he didn't have any help from Sklarski who has about a ten-point average a game. Pit Marshall of Kennett started to pop shots from all angles and the Kennett team began to pull away from the Mules. From this time on, the Mules never caught them.

The Mules were only getting one shot at the basket while Kennett would shoot two or three times or until they made the shot. Losing 25-14 at the half, the Mules would have to play like pros to pull this one out. Sklarski went in in the third quarter, but came right back out with five fouls which hurt the Mules' offensive play. Rousseau and Homiak played great games, but then Rousseau fouled out and the Mules were using more subs than expected. Byron was playing a great game, and Szabo, who hurt himself in a previous play-off game, played with an injured hip, on which he landed several times. Charmin' Charlie Belmont did the best he could on rebounds and pulled down a good number. The Mules were outscored in the third period 19-11, but fought back to outscore Kennett 14-13 in the final quarter.

The Mules lost the State Championship, but they won the southeastern New Hampshire championship, which is fought for between Exeter, Oyster River, Somersworth, Holy Rosary, Hampton, Sanborn and Newmarket. The Mules won two games from each team and showed the fans in Newmarket that they were able to come up with a good season even if they are a small school. Roland Levesque is anxious to get his own coat back. Somehow during Saturday evening's dance he came in possession of the wrong coat. Would the rightful owner please contact him.

Mrs. Anna Wajda of Packers Falls road returned to her home after spending three weeks with her son and family in New Orleans, La. She was delayed two days by bad weather before she could take her flight to New Orleans, but once there she had a grand and glorious time.

Among the highlights of her trip was meeting her new granddaughter, Susie, and enjoying the Mardi Gras. Because of the airline strike, Mrs. Wajda was unable to fly back and came to Boston by train where she was met by her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Levesque. The whole family was fortunate to get tickets to the Ice Follies, which they saw before returning home.

The ever-popular Andy Fredericks and his orchestra will entertain at this Saturday's dance. Anyone with an anniversary or birthday is cordially invited to celebrate it at the club.

And don't forget to keep up our educational fund.
