Industrial Group Seeks New Industry For Town

The Newmarket Industrial Group met Thursday evening, April 20, at the Court Room in the Newmarket Town Hall, to hear Attorney Stanley Burns of Dover discuss the benefits and problems of the Dover Industrial Group and how it might relate to the Newmarket organization.

Don't Forget!

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect at 2 a.m., Sunday morning. All clocks should be turned ahead one hour and you will lose an hour's sleep. So if you want to be on time for church—don't forget!

He pointed out that miracles should not be expected overnight. Adding, that in Dover, the industrial group started in 1954 to entice new industries into the city and only recently succeeded in securing the first good sized industry which gives the City of Dover about $1,000,000 taxable valuation.

He also stressed that in order to lure a new industry into a town, it is absolutely imperative that the whole town want the industry; this means the people, the selectmen and other industries. With any one of these not cooperating, a potential industry will not be interested in locating.

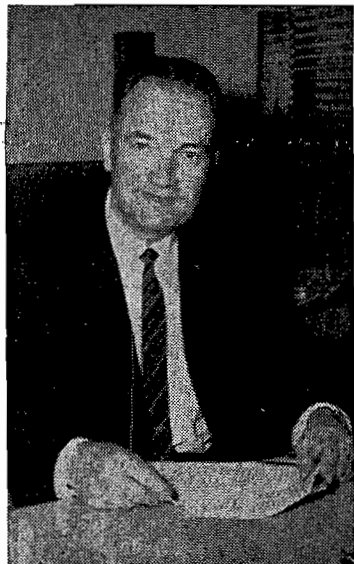

Attorney Burns stated emphatically that a good industry wants to locate only where it is "wanted" and not just because it provides jobs or reduces the taxes in a community.

An interested industrial company conducts a survey of the prospective town to be assured that the whole community approves of the move, and that it isn't just being pushed by a chamber of commerce or the town selectmen.

Attorney Burns urgently recommended that the Newmarket Industrial Group meet with the State Industrial Commission to discuss the whole problem.

A committee was formed to arrange said meeting as soon as possible. Richard Gallant was selected as chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee include Harry Marelli, George Bergeron and Arthur Beauchesne.

NEW HEAD OF DOVER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Fred E. Easter, executive vice president and cashier of The Merchants National Bank, for a number of years a leader in civic affairs, was elected late Tuesday afternoon as the tenth president of the Dover Chamber of Commerce by the board of directors during their annual election meeting.

New vice presidents named by the board include Hugh G. Hamilton, president of Eastern Air Devices and chairman of the New Hampshire Port Authority, and Louis Stocklan, president and general manager of Dover Hardware and Plumbing Supply company and co-chairman of the Chamber's industrial committee.

Raymond O. Winters, manager MAC Finance Plan and one of three new Chamber directors, was re-elected as treasurer for the third year, while James H. McAdams, executive manager for several years, was again re-elected.

NO INJURIES IN TWO CRASHES

A car operated by Roland A. Brooks of 91 Marcy street, Portsmouth, and a car operated by Ronald Griswold of Main street, collided on Main street on April 21. Brooks was traveling north on Main when Griswold pulled out of the mill yard near the Town Hall.

Brooks was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision. The left front fender, hood, grill, hub cap and bumper of the Griswold car were damaged, while the Brooks car sustained a damaged front bumper and grill.

Mrs. Laretta Mitchell of 2 Lamprey street, reported that on April 22 she struck a pole on Elm street. The accident occurred when she was coming out of Nichols avenue, making a left turn onto Elm and the lights of an oncoming car blinded her, causing the car to veer far to the right.

American Legion News

By Fred L. Beale

The big night of the year will become history this coming Saturday night. District Commander William Robitille and District Director Rita MacLeod will be present with the district officers for the purpose of installing the officers of the Robert G. Durgin Post and Unit.

We have just finished an exceptionally active year in all our programs and the officers would like to see a show of appreciation for the efforts they have given for the benefit of the Post and Unit members.

A fine program will be seen by those who attend and if you have never attended an installation you should see this one. The ceremonies are in no way tiresome and each member of the district teams have his or her own part.

We will cap the event with refreshments and dancing till midnight. We hope that you will all attend and welcome the new officers into office and bid a fond farewell to those who are going out of office. They deserve that appreciation.

William Robitille a past commander of this Post, is being proposed by this Post as a candidate for the office of department vice commander, and Mrs. Phyllis McKenna of this Unit is being proposed for the office of district alternate, at the coming department convention in Portsmouth. The two Newmarket organizations have always taken an active part in the workings of the district.

With the coming of school closing the usual school awards will be made by the Robert G. Durgin Post and we also have been given a list of four boys who are qualified to attend the New Hampshire Boys State at Durham and we are looking for sponsors for some of the boys.

This week we have two installations; the first being on Friday, April 28, at the Exeter Town Hall and the other is at Legion Hall, Newmarket. We plan to start right on time and ask our members and their friends to please plan to get here before that time so that the floor will be clear for the floor work that goes with the installation.

Don't miss it as it helps the officers if they have a large attendance and a record of the attendance is always taken after an installation and we have one hundred twenty-four to beat if we want to be our usual top rank in attendance.

Our membership to date is four hundred seven. Had we made our quota of four hundred seventeen we would have won the McLin Memorial Trophy.

U. S. NAVY BAND AT EXETER MAY 2 FOR 2 PERFORMANCES

The famed United States Navy Band will make its only appearance in northeastern New England on May 2 at the Academy Cage in Exeter. Sponsored by the Rotary Club, all proceeds above expenses will benefit the senior and junior bands of the Exeter High School.

On Inauguration Day, March 4, 1925, President Coolidge signed a special act of Congress designating the Washington Navy Band as the official United States Navy Band. In the fall of 1925, the Navy Band made its first annual tour. Except for the years of World War II, the Navy Band has made annual tours, playing before countless thousands.

Today, the United States Navy Band is composed of approximately one hundred individual artists; each of whom could take his place with the world's greatest symphony orchestras. The Navy Band contains within itself a complete symphony orchestra, which presents works of the great masters as skillfully as any group in the country. On the other hand, its ultra modern "swingphonette" section gives sparkling personality to light operas and the latest "hit" tunes. Commander Charles Brendler, who has conducted the band since 1941, was the first Navy musician to attain the rank of lieutenant commander in the Regular Navy, and now holds the permanent rank of full commander, by special act of Congress, 1953. He has conducted the band before tremendous audiences throughout the United States, Canada, and elsewhere around the globe.

The United States Navy Band has made thousands of radio broadcasts during the past quarter of a century—the best known of these broadcasts is the United States Navy Band Hour. The band is no stranger to television audiences, having appeared on several national telecasts.

Tickets for the afternoon and evening concerts are now on sale at Batchelder's Bookstore, Grant's Pharmacy, the Exeter Academy Bookstore and the Chamber of Commerce.

LEE STUDENT SELECTED FOR ADVANCED STUDIES

William Pierce of Fox Garrison road, Lee, was one of two students recently selected from Oyster River High School to attend the advanced studies program at St. Paul's School in Concord this summer, according to George Pasichuke, Oyster River High School principal.

The advanced studies program, the first of its kind, was started in 1958 by the Ford Foundation and St. Paul's School for superior New Hampshire high school students. Its main purpose is "to provide talented high school students with challenging educational opportunities otherwise unavailable to them".

Competition was extremely keen this year with over four hundred applications received for the six-week summer course. Approximately one hundred twenty-five students were picked to attend the 1961 season.

The studies offered are not in the regular high school curriculum. A year's specialized subject is concentrated into the rugged six week's program.

Bill has selected "Concepts of Mathematics" as his subject, while George Howe, the other Oyster River High School candidate, will study "Modern European History".

The boys will stay at St. Paul's for the whole summer session where they will live and work in a highly challenging academic atmosphere.

Bill, who resides with Mr.

and Mrs. Walter Preston, is a junior at Oyster River. He has maintained a superior scholastic record as well as participating in extra curricular activities, particularly the Student Council, of which he is vice president this year.

George Howe, the other candidate, is a junior at Oyster River and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howe of Bagdad road, Durham.

N. H. S. Junior Class To Hold Work Day May 27

The junior class of Newmarket High School is sponsoring a work day on Saturday, May 27. Class members will do odd jobs and housework with rates depending on the particular job.

Anyone wishing to acquire the students services are asked to call any of the following Oldfield numbers: 9-3712, 9-3755 or 9-3271.

Somersworth Couple Win Spring Festival Vacation Award

A Somersworth couple, Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Lucier of 122 Indigo Hill road, have won the Dover Spring Festival all expense three-day New York vacation which was awarded by the forty-seven participating members of the Dover Retail Board of Trade following registration at the many stores during last week-end.

The drawing was made late Tuesday afternoon from thousands of registration coupons which were deposited at the various stores during the spring festival.

When informed of their good fortune late Tuesday evening, Mr. Lucier, who had signed the winning coupon, expressed complete surprise and said that he and his wife would have to make arrangements for the trip which is being planned by the C & P Travelscope of Dover.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucier will travel to Logan International Airport, fly Eastern Airlines to New York where hotel accommodations will be ready at the beautiful Waldorf Astoria hotel.

A busy schedule awaits the vacationing couple for they will enjoy tours of the United Nations with a stop at the International Gift Shop, the Book Shop and the United Nations Postal Administration in the visitors concourse. Visits to lower New York, Chinatown, the Bowery and the Battery, a harbor tour and a trip to the financial district are also scheduled.

The vacationers will have their choice of tickets for an evening musical or theatre, followed by after show reservations at the Village Barn for a floor show, dancing and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucier will conclude their bonus vacation with an Eastern Airlines flight to Boston and a return to Dover with lasting memories of a story-book vacation as winners in Dover's Spring Festival.

Grade-school children in four New England states will benefit from a new art series planned by WENH-TV, New Hampshire's educational television studio. Representatives from Vermont, Maine and Massachusetts are also helping in the project.

Beginning in September, the new program will be a once-weekly supplement to classroom teachers in the skills, history and appreciation of art. An instructor for the series will be announced this month, according to Keith Nighbert, WENH-TV manager. More than ten art teachers from New Hampshire and Maine were auditioned for the full time post.

Art Series Telecast to Benefit Grade-School Pupils

"With four states cooperating in the planning stages," Nighbert said, "we can cut down on duplication and raise the quality. Our goal is to telecast those art experiences which are not normally available to the classroom, including visits to art galleries, studios and craftshops."

Many New England school districts have no art supervisors," Nighbert explained. Other schools have the services of a teacher only three or four times a year in each classroom.

New Hampshire and Massachusetts have educational TV stations now in operation, while Vermont is planning one. In Maine, several commercial stations pick up the programs of WENH-TV and telecast them to schools in northern New England as a public service.

The program will be prepared at the WENH-TV studio in Durham by a full time instructor and an art consultant, Nighbert said. The series will cost an estimated $40,000 for its first year of operation. The budget includes thirty classroom lessons and eight workshops to train teachers to use the new program. Regional and national foundations are now being approached for funds.

Great Bay Pomona Holds Initiation in Lee

The Great Bay Pomona Grange met at the Jeremiah Smith Grange Hall in Lee Thursday evening, April 20, to initiate a class of twelve candidates into the mysteries of the fifth degree. There were sixty-one members present to witness the ceremony.

Candidates from Jeremiah Smith Grange who were initiated were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fogg Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, Aaron Chadborn Jr., Miss Joan Chadborn, George MacDonald and Miss Alice Dudley.

Grange to Hold Sale

The Jeremiah Smith Grange will hold a rummage and food sale at the hall on Lee Hill, Saturday, April 29, starting at 10:30 a.m.

Civil Defense Alert

Lee Civil Defense Director Miss Alice Dudley asks residents to take note that on April 28, Lee will take part in the nation-wide Civil Defense Alert. The yellow alert will be rung in at 4 p.m., the red alert which means take cover will ring at 4:15 and the white alert will come at 4:30.

Traffic will be stopped on Lee Hill and at the Lee traffic circle from 4:15 to 4:30 during the red alert, by order of Governor Wesley Powell.

Director Dudley would appreciate hearing from Lee residents following the alert, informing her whether the alert signals, which will be rung on the fire house siren, were heard throughout the town. Her telephone number is OL 9-3621.

She also suggests residents tune in on Conelrad during the alert for Civil Defense directives and information. All radio stations except those authorized to carry Conelrad will be off the air between 4 and 4:30 p.m. WWNH in Rochester is the nearest Conelrad radio station.

Lee Hill 4-H Meeting

The Lee Hill 4-H Club held its monthly meeting at the Lee Town Hall, Thursday, April 20, at 7 p.m.

Leader Ralph Granger announced that eighty-seven applications had been received for the Lee Hill Club this year. He also pointed out that the club year ends in June, so that any members carrying on projects during the summer will not receive credit for them on this year's reports but will get credit for them for the year 1962.

Mr. Granger also reported that applications for 4-H camp must be returned to the county office immediately if members wish to be accepted.

It was announced that the club's president, Ralph Granger Jr., was leaving Friday, April 21, for a week in Washington, D. C., as a delegate to the National 4-H Conference.

During the business meeting President Ralph Granger Jr. announced that the next monthly meeting of the club will be the annual cookout and clean up.

Judy Byers and Dianne Wenant sang a duet for the club members. These two girls won the county talent show and will enter the state talent show.

Joan Chadborn announced Lee Hill members who participated in the county demonstrations. Members of the following 4-H projects gave reports: Jane Moore on the horsemanship project; Jaye Hull, beginner's clothing; Nancy Taylor on advanced clothing; Becky Randall on food preparation; Lenny Walden, George MacDonald and Leader Tom Brown on the three groups of shop and handyman; Mike Main, tractor; Ann Bowley, dog husbandry, and Mike Kennard, forestry.

Following the reports, junior leaders, Dianne Wenant, Carolyn Granger, Judy Byers and Sally Willard, led the members in games. Refreshments were served following the entertainment.

Lee Riders

The Lee Riders held a meeting at the home of leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Dennis, Tuesday, April 18, with sixteen members present.

It was decided that the Lee Riders would be divided into three groups to make it easier to work with, and the groups would meet on different weeks with a general meeting on the fourth week.

It was decided that the group would hold a trail ride on Friday, April 28. Riders are to meet at the Dennis farm on Mast road before 1 p.m.

Members were introduced to the new rules for horsemanship project winners at Eastern States.

Mr. Dennis ended the meeting by having a spelling bee on horsemanship terms.

By-Pass Hearing

A public hearing on the proposed Durham by-pass as it will affect Lee property owners was held at the Lee Town Hall, Monday evening.

On hand to explain the new proposed route through north Lee was Robert Whitaker, deputy commissioner and chief engineer of the New Hampshire Department of Public Works and Highways. Lee property owners were assured the highway department had taken into consideration and acted upon their requests to change the proposed route so as not to take any homes.

A discussion and question and answer period followed the presentation.

Andrew Jarvis of Portsmouth, representing the Governor's Council, moderated the informal hearing. Also present were: Selectmen John Randall, who arranged the meeting; Selectmen George Bennett and Robert Keniston; Highway Agent Lloyd Stevens; Malcolm Chase of Durham, state highway department; Derek Seeley, Lee member of the Oyster River School Board, and interested citizens of Lee.

Selectmen Attend Hearing

Lee selectmen, John Randall and George Bennett, attended the hearing set by Governor Wesley Powell concerning the Bellamy Dam project in Concord, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Randall is also a member of the Seacoast Area Water Commission.

The Governor invited government officials from the towns and cities in the seacoast area to discuss the controversial issue of who will control the Bellamy Dam and reservoir; a matter of deep concern to all the towns in the southeastern watershed district.

Lee Brownies

For the last two weeks the Lee Brownies have been working on gifts for Mother's Day.

They have also been learning the correct methods of building camp fires.

Girl Scout cookies were received and distributed to the girls.

There will be no meeting of the Brownie troop during school vacation.

Community Club

The Lee Community Club will hold its annual luncheon and election of officers on Wednesday, May 3.

The affair will take place at Flagstone's Restaurant in Newington, starting at 11 a.m.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson recently spent a week with their daughter, Mrs. Dennis Haine, and family of Concord road. The Johnsons, who have been spending the winter in Clearwater, Fla., are on their way to their summer home in Whitefield, N. H.

Motor Boat Registrations

Gilman (Mike) Menter, public utilities commission inspector, reminds Lee residents that all power boats must be registered each year before putting in the water.

Registrations may be obtained from Menter at his home at Lee Hill after 5 p.m. during the week and anytime during Saturday and Sunday.

Exeter Academy to Admit Girls at 1961 Summer Session

For the first time since its founding in 1781, The Phillips Exeter Academy will admit girls as students. According to an announcement by Phillips E. Wilson, Director of the Summer Session, girls will be attending classes as day students in the forty-third Summer Session which opens July 3.

Mr. Wilson explained that the new policy applies only to the Summer Session. The step was taken by the Academy, he said, to meet the increasing demand of able students, both girls and boys, to use a part of the summer for enrichment in courses already being studied and for work in new academic fields.

The seven-week Exeter Summer Session offers programs of study in English, mathematics, foreign languages, science and history. This year, for the first time, double courses are offered in English composition, the History of China, and a course in French at an advanced level, particularly stressing speaking and reading the language. A course in music appreciation is also being added. The music classes will be held in the new Lewis Perry Music Building dedicated last May.

The Summer Session enrollment last year had representatives from twenty-six states and five foreign countries.

PEA ALUMNI AT BOSTON POPS

A typical program of popular symphonic music has been announced for the fourth annual Exeter-Andover Night at the Boston Pops on Thursday, May 4, at Symphony Hall, Boston.

Arthur Fiedler will conduct the Boston Pops Orchestra, and will play the fourth performance of a special medley of Exeter and Andover music arranged for the event.

Earl Wild, pianist and recording artist, will be the soloist of the evening, accompanied by the Boston Pops Orchestra in two selections.

A number of floor table tickets have been set aside for the alumni of Exeter and Andover. The New England Alumni Scholarship Funds of both Exeter and Andover will benefit from the performance. Tickets may be procured from the alumni offices in Exeter and Andover, Mass. Local Exeter alumni may still make reservations by phone, PR 2-3422.

Bees, Bugs and Insects

There are several kinds of bees; honey bees, bumble bees, wild bees, sewing bees, husking bees, quilting bees, apple bees and others. Some bees are good, like the Italian bees, and others will sting if you go within half a mile of them.

One dark evening we heard a truck coming and on looking out saw the truck coming with all the lights on. It went into my neighbor's yard near his garden and stopped about fifteen minutes and went out again.

The first thing in the morning we looked out to see what had happened and there in our neighbor's back yard was a large bee hive with bees buzzing around it. I was afraid of the things and kept away from them and one day, while I was weeding my garden, three or four bees came buzzing around. I kept perfectly still and they buzzed away and after that I was no longer afraid of them.

Mrs. Nella Wojnar invited me up to see her new bees. I said I was afraid of strange bees, but she said they wouldn't sting so I went up and the bees seemed to be quite a ways off, but something hit me in the mouth and Nella said, "He will die. He has left his stinger in." I said, "I hope to Heaven he does."

I had a very exciting experience with bees. My house leaked upstairs. I got Mr. Hersom to come and fix it. That night when I got home from work I found not Mr. Hersom but a stranger on the roof with a bee hive. He told me why he was there, that Mr. Hersom went to fix the roof when, as he pulled a board away, he was met with an army of bees. It didn't take him long to get down that ladder. He got this Mr. Smith to come, but they wouldn't go in the hive.

They didn't sting Mr. Smith as he knew how to handle them. He took most of the honey and none of the bees. When I went upstairs that night to go to bed I found my room full of bees. I went downstairs, pulled an old sweater over my feet and tied it around my waist and then put on another sweater over my arms, grabbed my Gulf spray gun and sprayed those bees and my muslin curtains, which were not curtains then but rags, but a lot of the bees were gone.

Just as I was sweeping up the last dust pan full of bees, someone knocked at the door and was I a mess! I went to the door and two of my neighbors stood there. They stared at my fancy clothes and I explained.

Mr. J. asked if I didn't want to sell my house. I gave them a very decided "No."

John Lewis came in one evening and said he would get rid of the pests and I told him to go ahead. He took a long hose, hitched it on his car and gassed them and that settled them.

The bumble bee is a pretty cheerful little fellow. He will not sting if treated right. If one lands on you just stand very still. He will not sting.

We used to have a fine time at the apple bees. One of the members of the church would invite us to their home to string apples. We would peel and quarter the apples and string them and then they would be hung on the back of the house to dry. Bees, flies and bugs would roost on them and thus improve the flavor. The apples would make wonderful pies.

In those days, everyone was making patchwork quilts, and they were all very pretty. We would make name quilts. We would all be given a square of white cloth and we would have ten names on each square, at ten cents a name, worked in red and the quilt would be bound with red. When we finished the quilt it was generally given to the minister's wife. The quilt would be tacked at the home of Miss Jennie and Miss Rena Young.

There are a lot of bugs in the world; little bugs, big bugs, kissing bugs, and the worst kind of bug, the hum bug. June bugs make quite a noise but don't do any harm. We must not forget the lightning bug with his bright lanterns. The hum bug is one who tried to make out he is something when he isn't. We haven't heard of the kissing bug lately—he must have gone out of business.

When we speak of insects we think first of ants. There are big ants, flying ants and red ants. They are very interesting to watch.

When I was a little girl I saw my black and white cat Ira lying on a rock near Aunt Hattie's house and I went and sat down beside him but didn't stay long. Something was crawling all over me and biting. I ran for the house and mother discovered I had sat in an ant hill.

The Fish and Game Department has adopted a hands-off policy concerning the changing of the deer hunting season. The department voted this hands-off last January but from published news releases, one would gather that they favor the split season with the north-south line running through the White Mountain National Forest.

This split season would seem more reasonable than the extended season which recently passed the House. The split season would open the season up-country for fifteen days and fifteen days locally.

This would do away with the over-hunting in the southern county and also cut down Massachusetts-New Hampshire border concentrations.

At times, a hands-off policy is fine, but in this case the Fish and Game Department would do well to point out the advantages and disadvantages of all the proposed fishing and hunting laws, hunting and fishing will always be the Fish and Game Departments business.

The first day of trout season, as usual, opened with a nice hard rain shower to start things off in typical New Hampshire fashion. After the rain stopped falling and the fishermen got on with the fishing, things livened up.

Some real good catches were reported, high water or no high water. About the best brook trout I saw over the week-end was laid in Bruce Atherton's creel. This trout was fully 13" long, 4 1/2" around and weighed about one pound. I asked Bruce where he caught the trout and got that familiar cold look.

Several fishermen took full limits locally and one party of three true-blue fishermen drove up beyond thirteen mile woods, above Berlin and caught twenty seven 8" to 9" brookies.

Best results locally were had in beaver dams, old and new. This tip should provide some fine fishing.

By the way, northern brooks and most rivers are low and ice free. No black flies out yet and the trout are taking worms and black gnat flies. The ponds and lakes are still iced up tight, but are expected to go out between May 3 and May 8.

The Fish and Game Department has released its booklet on their ten-year study on the grouse population. This booklet is complete but quite involved and takes some careful reading to understand its contents.

All totaled, there are twenty pages of tables and opinions but no definite cures or true patterns as to the rise and fall of the grouse population can be found inside its cover. However, this booklet would make a valuable addition to your hunting and fishing bookcase.

If you wish to send for this book, address your request to Fish and Game Division, Concord, N. H. Book title: Preliminary Analysis of Grouse Population.

A young buck has been seen hanging around Sewall's field up on the Ash Swamp road. His new set of horns are just poking up through his head and he looks like he is wearing some sort of black hat.

I hope to see at least three or four does in this area as at least four were left here late last fall.

The local warden reported that a big doe was found killed by dogs up in the Big Diamond field. This is probably the doe which has been seen with twins in that area for the last three or four years.

Pete Russell, from the New Village, found and reported this deer, which is the proper thing to do as the state likes to keep track of these unlawful killings and check the causes of death.

If the weather cooperates this coming week-end will be a fine time to start off the deep sea fishing season. Big cod and haddock should be close inshore, fat and hungry.

The seas should start calming down and warming up. If you head outside the light, kept an eye out for thunder heads out of the northwest as it is a lot harder to swim back than to ride back.

Also watch the southeast for the spring fog banks, which are

C. D. ALERT IS PLANNED

New Hampshire will take part in "Operation Alert", a nation-wide Civil Defense exercise, April 27 to April 30.

The "attack phase" of the massive plan will be held from 3 p.m., April 28 till noon, April 29.

All motor vehicle traffic will be halted, streets and sidewalks will be cleared and air raid wardens will guide pedestrians to the nearest available shelters.

The Conelrad radio system will be in effect from 4 to 4:30 p.m., April 28. Only authorized radio stations will remain on the air and they will switch to 640 or 1240 kilocycles to broadcast Civil Defense information. All regular radio and television programs will be off the air during the half-hour period.

Both Newmarket and Lee Civil Defense units will take part in the exercises. It would be advisable to keep this schedule near at hand to keep informed.

thick enough to drink at this time of the year.

News from Concord:

HB 51, as amended, provides for an open season in all counties but Coos, Carroll and Grafton for the taking of fisher by the use of dog and gun and/or traps for the month of November.

SB 111—Before a hunting license is issued to someone not previously licensed to hunt in this state, he must pass such examination as to his qualifications to safely handle firearms as the director shall prescribe.

Ed. Note: SB 111 looks like a start toward safer hunting. HB 51 would take law off fishers which were nearly extinct in this state not over ten years ago.

Work Begun on Ball Park; Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed to help ready the Lee community ball park and playground for final seeding, according to members of the Lee Men's Club who are sponsoring the project.

Four trucks are needed; two for Saturday afternoon and two for Sunday afternoon and volunteers with rakes and shovels would be most welcome to help rid the field of rocks before seeding.

It is hoped that the ball park and playground will be ready for use by the summer season. It is located right next to the new Mast Way School and will be available for use by the whole community.

Anyone willing to help boost the project to completion is invited to come to the park grounds either Saturday or Sunday afternoons starting at one o'clock. Any help will be sincerely appreciated.

The Granite State Gardener

By J. T. Kitchin

Extension Horticulturist

Cooperative Extension Service, University of New Hampshire

Placing young, vigorous, sturdy Fireball tomato plants into the field early and covering them with a plastic row hood early in the season has resulted in harvesting ripe tomatoes earlier and in larger quantities.

The project was carried out at the Horticulture Research Farm of the University of New Hampshire.

A row hood is something like a small temporary greenhouse built in the field or garden over the row of plants. The hoods are about two to three feet tall and about two feet wide.

Row hoods may be easily made of wire. They look like croquet wickets but are much larger. These support the plastic. A wicket about very four feet along the row and straddling it is adequate. Clear plastic, either 2 or 4 millimeters thick is placed over the wickets. To hold the plastic in place a furrow is made along each side of the row and at the ends, in line with the outside of the wicket. The edge of the plastic is placed in the furrow and covered with soil.

Be sure the plastic is fairly tight so it will shed water and will be held away from the lants within the hood. The hoods must be opened for ventilation during the day and can be closed at night. Unless the hoods are ventilated during the day, the temperature within the hood will get high enough to damage the plants. Opening each end of hoods twenty-six feet long provides adequate ventilation.

Three different treatments were compared for their influence upon early and total yields. Plants in Treatment A were five weeks old when put into the field on May 10. They were covered with a row hood until May 27.

Plants in Treatment B were six weeks old when put into the field on May 17. They, too, were covered with a row hood until May 27. The difference between Treatments A and B was that Treatment B plants remained in the greenhouse one week longer than those in Treatment A. Although the plants were the same age, plants in Treatment B were larger on May 17 than those in Treatment A.

Treatment C plants were five weeks old when they were put into the field on May 31. They were not covered with a row

Nursery Shower for Mrs. Alice Marden

A surprise baby shower was given for Mrs. Alice Marden by Mrs. Velma Nisbet on Saturday evening. She received many lovely and useful gifts.

Mrs. Marden was presented a beautifully decorated cake topped with an infant in a swanboat by Mrs. Nisbet.

Many friends and relatives were present from Spencer and Haverhill, Mass., Newmarket, Exeter, Lee, Newfields and Rye Beach.

Mrs. Marden is the former Alice Plouffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Plouffe of Spencer, Mass.

Great Bay Stamp Club Meets May 2

The Great Bay Stamp Club will hold its May meeting in cooperation with Phillips Exeter Stamp Club on Tuesday, May 2 at the main academy building on the campus at Phillips Exeter.

All stamp collectors are cordially invited to attend and bring their stamps and materials to swap or sell.

hood. This is the normal time for home gardeners to put their tomato plants into the garden in this vicinity.

The first ripe tomatoes were harvested on July 22 and came from Treatment A plants. By Aug. 1 the tomatoes in Treatment A had produced eleven times as many ripe fruit as Treatment C. Plants which were put into the field when five weeks old on May 10 (Treatment A) had produced nearly three times as much ripe tomatoes through Aug. 1, as plants which remained in the greenhouse an additional week and were put into the field on May 17 (Treatment B).

For large, early yields from Fireball tomatoes it is more desirable to put a smaller, five-week old plant into the field than to wait another week and put a larger plant into the field.

Based upon these research results and the results of other research at other experiment stations, a desirable tomato plant for home gardeners to put into their gardens is described as follows. The plant would be five to seven weeks old, preferably five weeks; five to eight inches tall, sturdy and with a comparatively thick stem. It also would have on it no open flowers or small fruit.

If you want to add to your gardening fun in 1961, why not try to get some ripe tomatoes before your neighbor does? A row hood and half a dozen tomato plants of the proper quality may bring you lots of fun and, perhaps, some early tomatoes.
